GERMANY'S PROPOSAL

Will Be the Means of Peacefully Settling the Samoan Muddle.

Joint High Commission Practically Agreed Upon.

Conferring of Authority Which Will Obviate Further Deadlocks and Delays.

Washington, April 1.—A modus vivendi for the settlement of the Samoan trouble has been proposed, and is now under favorable consideration by the three governments concerned. It contemplates the creation of a joint high commission, consisting of one member from each country, to pass upon the recent clash of authority and resulting disorder. The proposition was put forward by Germany, and is the second one submitted for the settlement of the entire question. The first proposition was that the United States and Great Britain join with Germany in removing all the officials now serving in Samoa through whom the trouble had arisen. To this the United States and Great Britain replied that as their respective officials were not regarded as having acted in the wrong, it could not be conceded that they should be withdrawn and thus discredited. Now the new proposition is presented, to leave the whole question to the high commissioners, one from each government, the high commission to have supreme authority in reaching a settlement.

As the proposition emanates from Germany, her approval of course is assured. This high joint commission, it is felt, affords a pacific solution to the whole trouble at the moment when Samoan affairs began to look the most threatening.

The new plan has been fully gone over by Secretary Hay and the British and German ambassadors here, and its essential details worked out. Each nation is to be represented by one member on the commission. It is to have practically unlimited authority without the necessity of referring its decisions back to the several governments for approval. It is felt that by conferring such complete and final authority on the high commission the danger will be obviated of any further deadlocks and delays. Still another important provision under consideration is that King Oscar of Norway and Sweden shall be the umpire in case the three high commissioners should fail to reach a determination.

The plan of inviting King Oscar to referee a disagreement meets the approval of the British and German authorities, and doubtless will be approved also by the United States as a means of ensuring finality of decision, though it is not known just how far this has been considered by the Washington authorities. King Oscar was agreed upon between the United States and Great Britain as a final arbitrator in connection with the proposed Anglo-American arbitration treaty, as well as in the Venezuela matter. He is also mentioned in the treaty of Berlin as the one to name a chief justice of Samoa in case the three signatory powers fail to agree on a chief justice. It was this that led to the suggestion of his name at the present time to act as final arbitrator.

The expectation is that the sittings of the commission will be in Samoa, where for the time being they will have complete authority over the whole range of Samoan affairs, so far as the high commission may think fit to act in order to fully restore order and establish affairs on a stable basis. It will require no treaty to bring the commission into existence, as the acceptance of the United States and Great Britain will complete the agreement.

It is understood that the men selected for the mission will be of high standing, so as to give added weight and dignity to their findings, such, for instance, as the consul general of Germany, whose jurisdiction covers the whole range of Pacific affairs. He is a man of complete information on Samoan and other Pacific island subjects, as well as a man of political influence. The United States and British commissioners, it is understood, would be drawn from the same high rank, with a view, however, to their information on international matters of this character rather than their political standing.

As showing that the acute phase of the Samoan question is past, Baron Speck Von Sternberg, first secretary of Germany, left here last night for New York, whence he sails on the 6th for London and Berlin. He has been a most active factor throughout the Samoan controversy, having made that question a special study and thus being able to render the ambassador material assistance. His influence at all times has been toward maintaining the friendly relations between the two countries, and overcoming the causes of irritation. His trip to London and Berlin has no significanse whatever in connection with Samoan affairs, but is entirely personal.

Brewster's Card.

New York, April 1.—Eugene V. Brewster has given out the following statement: "To dispel all doubts in the mind of the public, friends and admirers of the Chicago platform, and those who have forwarded money for tickets for the Jeffersonian dinner, we, the only authorized arrangements committee of 15, in order to avoid all disputes in future hereby desire to announce that the Jeffersonian dinner will be given by Chicago platform Democrats on Wednesday, April 19, at 7 p. m., in the Grand Central palace, at which Mr. Bryan will be present and make an address."

Old and Tired of Life.

Stamford, Conn., April 1.—William H. Meyers, aged 68, a war veteran, who formerly was an inmate of the soldiers' home at Noroton, but who was discharged a year ago at his own request, was found dead yesterday in a barn in Noroton with a bullet wound in his heart. He had committed suicide. A note written by Meyers stated that he was tired of living and requested that none of his friends should mourn for him.

AGRICULTURE PROSPERS.

Editor Myrick's Rosy View of Present Conditions in the West.

Springfield, Mass., April 1.—Herbert Myrick, editor of The New England Homestead and American Agriculturist, who has just returned from a trip through the west for the purpose of investigating the present state of industry and public opinion in that region, says in an article which The New England Homestead publishes today:

Industrial conditions throughout the country are in fine shape. The rosy view that has been so often expressed of late is fully justified. The agricultural depression, which began at the east late in the 70s, and at the west some years later, has passed away since 1896. The readjustment incident to the unprecedented development of the west during the three decades following the Civil war is now practically complete. Western farmers have largely paid off their debts, and quite generally have a modest surplus in cash or improved real estate that makes their credit gilt-edged. The spirit of the people is sanguine, and justifiedly so.

While the height of the "boom" in industrial revival has probably been reached, there are the best reasons for confidence in a continuation of sound prosperity for legitimate enterprise. Wages are now generally above the high plane of 1890-92. Money is now being loaned on good farm property in the central west at 5 percent net to the borrower, and at the same rate on improved city property west of the Missouri river and on the Pacific coast.

Another Counterfeiter Bagged.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 1.—Charles Moses was arrested here for counterfeiting, and jailed in default of $6000 bail. A big counterfeiting outfit was found hidden in an outhouse at his home. It is the apparatus used by a gang of men who have flooded New Jersey and the eastern part of this state with counterfeit dollars and half dollars. George S. Czepapias, the leader, was arrested recently, and is in jail at Pittsburg. Others are now under surveillance, and more arrests are expected.

A Month's Record.

Trenton, April 1.—Papers were filed with the secretary of state yesterday increasing the capital stock of the American Tobacco company from $35,000,000 to $70,000,000. The number of companies incorporated during the month was 250, on which there were paid filing fees amounting to $126,000. There were 35 companies whose authorized capital exceeded $1,000,000 each, and the aggregate authorized capital of these 35 companies was $1,111,750,000.

Lineman's Bad Fall.

Salem, Mass., April 1.—James F. Denehy, a lineman employed by the Salem Electric Light company, received a shock of 1000 volts while fixing a wire last night. He had grasped a wire and was unable to let go for some minutes. A fellow workman finally cut the wire and Denehy fell headlong to the sidewalk, a distance of 25 feet. He was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition, but it is thought that he will recover.

Howison In Command.

New York, April 1.—Rear Admiral Howison, who has been assigned to the command of the South Atlantic squadron, took command of the flagship Chicago yesterday at the government anchorage off Tompkinsville, S. I. The usual rear admiral's salute was fired and the rear admiral's pennant was hoisted. A handsome new American flag was also flung to the breeze from the stern of the Chicago.

FEELING OF UNCERTAINTY

New York, April 1.—Bradstreet's says: There is a quieter tone in several lines of business this week, independent of the reduction in volume of distributive demand, resulting from continued unfavorable weather conditions in a large section of the country. The strength of quoted values, however, fails to show that any material slackening of underlying movements has as yet become apparent in leading lines. Less is doing naturally in leading eastern textile markets on the current season's account, but an encouraging element is found in the readiness of buyers to place orders for fall delivery. While leading western markets note that the edge has been taken off demand, and that bad roads and weather have retarded retail distribution, and hence affected collections in some sections, results of the first quarter's trade with wholesalers been so good that their sanguine cheerfulness as to the outlook is especially notable.

Industrial conditions continue of a most flattering character, with advances in wages still a prominent feature in the iron, steel, machinery and allied trades. In some lines of manufacturing, it is true, talk of projected or possible combinations has made for some uncertainty. Notably in this respect has been the glass trade, in which, however, plans for combination seem to have temporarily failed of accomplishment.

Iron and steel are in less active demand at nearly all markets, but this, in some measure, appears to be the result of scanty stocks or possible supplies offering, and not so much of any curtailment of needs of small consumers. Prices of material are firm.

Cereals are irregular, wheat notably so, on see-sawing between bulls and bears, who have pitted reports of winter wheat damage against large Argentine shipments and indifferent export demand. Flour, corn and oats are higher on the week, while wheat shows a very slight decline. Sugar is notably firm on large demand.

There is some shrinkage in the dry-goods demand, but there is reported a rather better outlook in woolen goods. Talk of combinations in the woolen manufacturing trade has softened wool quotations at Boston.

Boots and shoes tend higher at the east, generally on firmer tone of leather and hides.

Past reports of prosperous trade conditions find confirmation in the smallest number of failures for the first quarter reported for 17 years past, while liabilities are lighter than for 12 years preceding. The percentage of assets to liabilities, too, is as low as that reported in the most prosperous years. Decreases in number are a feature in all parts of the country, with the sole exception of New England, and even here the liabilities are lighter than a year ago, and there is nothing to indicating any notable weakness in special industries as in some past years. The number of failures in New England during the first quarter of 1899 was 682, liabilities, $9,609,022; assets, $3,886,249; against 654 failures, liabilities, $9,849,518; assets, $5,299,896, in the first quarter of 1898.

Powder Probably Defective.

Washington, April 1.—Captain Babbitt, in command of the ordnance proving grounds, Sandy Hook, has made a report to the war department concerning the explosion of the 10-inch gun, when one man was killed and several injured. Smokeless powder was used, and Captain Babbitt says the accident "points to some condition in the powder that will require careful and exhaustive investigation." It is supposed that the nitroglycerine in the powder had not been thoroughly mixed with the other ingredients and caused detonation instead of the usual powder explosion.

Poor Fellows!

Chicago, April 1.—More than 200 members of the Eighth Illinois colored volunteers, who will be mustered out of the service next Monday, intend to file claims for pensions as compensation for physical disability, received as a result of their sojourn in Cuba. In one company all but five claim to be disabled. The men say that their health has been ruined by the tropical malaria, and that they are in no condition to resume the positions they held prior to going to war.

Germany and China.

London, April 1.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times says: Under orders from Berlin, the Germans will occupy Si-Chau-Fu and I-Chau-Fu, in the province of Shan-Tung, until China is able to give the requisite guarantee of her ability to preserve order within that province. Since she is unable to give such guarantees, Germany's action is equivalent to effective interference in administrative control within the German sphere of influence.

At Loggerheads.

Concord, N. H., April 1.—The deadlock between Mayor Martin and the city council over the question of appropriations still continues. The mayor wishes to cut down the police force and the council refuses to concur. Norwich, Conn., April 1.—Daniel J. Donovan, drummer for J. C. Perkins, confectioner of this city, left here some two weeks ago in company with a friend. PLAN FOR A COZY HOME.

Compact, Comfortable and Equipped With Modern Conveniences.

The age of reason has arrived in the matter of architectural style and tradition, and the tyranny of the past is left behind. We now move on in new and more enlightened ways, and instead of copying first principles we boldly strike out to create new things, reasoning them out as we go along and thus developing ideas of graceful fitness in works accomplished which enable us to contrast the present with the past and draw conclusions befitting the advancement of the art of building.

In this age of experience, with so much of good done before us, with proper reasoning faculties the architect is enabled to discriminate and select the good from the bad, and from the standpoint of the good he can forge onward and upward to attain the highest degree of perfection possible. The last few years have been prolific in the rapid advancement of everything pertaining to architecture, not alone in the construction of buildings, but in their equipment. The comforts and conveniences of today were unknown a few years ago. The small cottage home is now equipped with every improvement, and the cost is such that it is easier to have it than to do without it; hence the home of modern times must be replete with all known helps befitting its station, and even though it is entirely self contained, as every isolated country or suburban home is likely to be, this is no barrier. Sanitary plumbing and drainage, gaslighting, steam or hot water heating, electric bells, speaking tubes, gas for heating or cooking purposes—all are possible. Science and invention have created all these, and they fit just such isolated cases, and those who do not avail themselves of them miss the actual comforts of life and are bordering on mediæval times.

In the home building of today the reasoning architect takes all items into account, from the site to the family methods of life, and weaves them together into one practical whole. And when this subject is properly considered the experienced architect will hardly ever err as to the cost or the fitness, for he does everything with a purpose—to fill a want, to satisfy a position—with the end in view of his own advancement, which at the same time advances the best interests of those who employ him, showing that age, reason and experience count for most in this art and that they are necessary qualities.

In this design reason holds sway, the plan and its embellishments being suited to special needs and surroundings. The first floor consists of parlor, dining room and kitchen, two large pantries, vestibule and front hall, with a fireplace in each room. The dining room has two corner closets, where the more select china may be kept on exhibition. A large closet in the back hall, where children may keep their boots, rubbers, coats and skates, is also a very desirable feature.

The second floor contains three good bedchambers, each provided with a fine closet, a most important factor in modern planning. The bathroom is located centrally and of easy access, fitted with all modern improvements and appliances. This design is well worthy of consideration by all those who contemplate building a home.

Measuring Window Shades.

In measuring for an outside shade on a flat casing give the length from the middle of the casing to the window sill, and for the width measure two inches on each side. If the casing has a molding, find a place suitable for a bracket when measuring. In measuring the width of the window for an inside shade be exact in the measure. Either the top or the bottom of the window should be measured—never across the middle. State whether the shade is going on the stop bead or in the run of the window; also the thickness of the stop bead. State whether there is a beading on the window for the inside sliding screens. A shade for a sweep window should go inside. Take all measures with a foot rule if possible.—American Homes.

Public Buildings.

A renaissance in the beauty of municipal life is directly traceable to Ruskin, Morris, Rossetti and their followers. The dignity and beauty that may be embodied in a public building are coming to be appreciated. St. George's hall in Liverpool is representative of the beauty and grandeur of municipal life.—Exchange.

STRUCK ROCK

The Stella Was at High Speed In a Fog.

At Least Seventy Persons Went Down With Her.

Vessel Was Crowded With Easter Excursionists.

Captain Calmly Gave Last Orders as He Went to His Doom.

A Marine Horror Which Has Caused Intense Excitement In England.

Southampton, April 1.—The passenger steamer Stella, plying between this port and the channel islands, crashed upon the dreaded Casquet rocks, near the island of Alderney, Thursday afternoon in a dense fog, and foundered in 10 minutes. It was first reported that 60 were drowned; a later report made it 120, but more conservative estimates put the figure at 70.

The cause of the accident was Captain Renks' losing his course. The day had been pleasant until about 4 o'clock, when the vessel ran into a fog. The captain, thinking that the fog would be found in banks, as is usually the case at this season of the year, kept ahead at full speed, and the fog continuing thick, he lost his course. The next thing he knew he was on the rocks. He paid for his mistake with his life, standing on the bridge coolly giving orders until the explosion of the ship's boilers rent her in twain and sent all on board at the time to their doom.

When the fog was found to continue so thick there was some apprehension among the more timid of the passengers, and before the more experienced ones had begun to remark it the vessel struck. Immediately there was great excitement, but the crew, under the directions of Captain Renks, went about their work calmly and succeeded in calming the more excited ones.

The captain ordered the lifeboats lowered and that the women be given the first chance at them. This was done after life belts had been distributed. Every member of the crew apparently stood by his post, a fact that is apparent when it is known that of all the officers only one, the second mate, escaped.

According to the latest estimates of the officials of the London Southwestern Railroad company not more than 70 persons were drowned out of the 220 on board the Stella when she struck the rocks. Other reports, however, place the number of drowned much higher.

The Stella, which belongs to the London and Southwestern Railway company, left Southampton at noon Thursday, conveying the first daylight excursion of the season to the Channel Islands. There were about 185 passengers on board and the crew numbered 35 men. The weather was foggy, but all went well until the afternoon, when the fog became dense.

At 4 o'clock the Casquet rocks suddenly loomed up through the fog bank and the steamer almost immediately afterwards struck amidships. The captain, seeing that the Stella was fast sinking, ordered the lifeboats to be launched. His instructions were carried out with the utmost celerity and the women and children were embarked in the boats. Then the captain ordered the men to look after themselves.

A survivor states that he and 25 others put off from the Stella in a small boat. The sea was calm, but there was a swell around the rocks. When this boat was a short distance away from the wreck, the boilers of the Stella burst with a terrific explosion, and the vessel disappeared stern foremost in the sea. The last thing that the survivor saw was the figure of the captain of the Stella, standing calmly on the bridge and giving his last orders. The captain perished with the vessel.

The disaster caused intense excitement on the island of Guernsey and here. There were harrowing scenes at the offices of the London and Southwestern railway at both places. Many Guernsey families lost one or more relatives. Husbands are inquiring for their wives, and wives are asking after their husbands; parents are seeking news of lost children, and children are making inquiries for missing parents. All the flags are at half-mast at St. Peter-le-Port. Up to noon yesterday 120 passengers had been accounted for.

The scene at the moment of the sinking of the vessel was heartrending. Women were screaming and praying, and people were clinging to spars and other wreckage in other directions.

The voice of Captain Renks, from the bridge, was frequently heard urging the rowers to pull for their lives. The boats were adrift for 15 hours, during which time their occupants were without food or water, and, as their clothes were drenched, they suffered greatly.

The disaster is generally attributed to the high rate of speed at which the steamer was travelling in the fog.

Many most pathetic incidents are reported. In several cases men lifted their wives and children into boats and then perished themselves in their presence. One wife, who was thus bereaved, lost her reason.

A large number of survivors arrived here without any clothing, clad only in blankets.

When the Stella struck there was a terrible sensation—a noise of metal and woodwork being torn bodily away, the vessel passing over the jagged rocks at full speed and her sides being ripped open like matchwood. When she slid off the rock she turned completely over, carrying a lot of people with her.

The steamer Stella, which belonged to the London and Southwestern Railway company and ran in connection with its land service, was built at Clydebank by Messrs. J. & G. Thompson in 1890. She was 253 feet long, 35.1 feet width and 14.8 in draught. Her gross tonnage was 1059 and her horse power 495. She was steel built, had two screws, eight compartments, water ballast and triple expansion engines, with schooner rig.

The Ehrland Wrecked.

San Francisco, April 1.—News has been received here of the loss of the steamer Stella E. Ehrland, which sailed from here Feb. 26 with a party of scientists sent out by the Smithsonian institution to investigate animal and marine life in the tropics. The little vessel was commanded by Professor A. W. Anthony and was wrecked off the coast of lower California. All on board were saved, but the valuable collection of specimens gathered by the party was lost. Professor Anthony was once wrecked on the Central American coast when he was on a scientific expedition in the schooner Whaleberg. The Ehrland party is now safe at a southern port.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 1.—In the house yesterday an order that sessions hereafter begin at 1 o'clock instead of 2 o'clock was adopted. Mr. Odlin secured the reconsideration and recommitment of the bill regarding the rights of abutters in objecting to the granting of liquor licenses, rejected Thursday. There was a hearing on the bill for incorporation of the International Construction and Power company, for constructing street railways and lighting plants in foreign countries, in the forenoon, but there were no remonstrants.

The committee on ways and means reported favorably these bills: To allow the labor of prisoners in reclaiming waste lands; for repairs at the state reformatory; for summer institutes for teachers; for the abolition of East Boston grade crossings; for the printing of 12,000 copies of the blue book for 1899; for the salary of the assistant register of probate for Worcester county; fixing the duty and salary of the inspector of gas meters; a resolve appropriating $5000 for motors at the state reformatory, and for the equipment of the Worcester insane asylum with an electric lighting system; also for an appropriation of $18,000 for the Lowell textile school.

Ought not to pass was reported on the bill providing that when the premiums paid on a life insurance policy equal its face value a paid-up policy shall be given the insured. Ought not to pass was reported on the bill to amend the street watering act.

The time of the senate was largely occupied in discussing the bills authorizing the city of Boston to pay to the families of deceased employes the salaries which would have been earned had decedents lived to the end of the year in which they died. The bills were finally rejected by an overwhelming vote. Among them was one providing for the payment of money to the family of the late Colonel Bogan of the Ninth regiment.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the petitions of the Boston park commissioners for authority to control the height of fences and advertisements on streets and boulevards abutting the parks.

Bills were engrossed to provide that the auditor of expenses incurred in abolishing grade crossings in Hyde Park and Dedham may report the amount to be paid by each town; to authorize the Essex institute to hold additional property; appropriating money to the eye and ear infirmary.

A Peculiar Accident.

Utica, N. Y., April 1.—Lieutenant Governor Timothy Woodruff and a party of friends came upon the Central yesterday on an observation engine found for Fulton Chain, where they are to spend Sunday. Between Frankfort and this city a crow struck the window of the engine and shattered it. Some pieces of glass struck the lieutenant governor in the face and the dead body of the bird hit him on the forehead. Upon reaching this city the lieutenant governor visited a drug store, where a liberal application of court plaster put him in fit condition to continue the trip.

Charges of Fraud.

Chicago, April 1.—Franz Fahrig filed a bill yesterday asking for an accounting by the United States Brewing company and the appointment of a receiver. The petition alleges fraudulent and irregular doings by the officers of the corporation in conjunction with the Milwaukee and Chicago breweries, limited. The complainant says the officials have squandered $2,500,000 in bad investments and repairs to breweries that the Inter-city company has absorbed since its organization, to the detriment of the stockholders. Fahrig owns 100 shares of stock.

Raise In Cocheco Mills.

Dover, N. H., April 1.—Notices were posted in the Cocheco mills here yesterday to the effect that an increase of wages would go into effect April 3. The amount of the increase is not known as yet, as the schedule has not been arranged, but it is thought probable that it will about offset the reduction of January, 1898.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:25; sets, 6:11.
Moon rises—12:21 a. m.
High water—3:30 a. m.; 4 p. m.

There are no disturbances of consequence on the map, although the pressure remains low from the upper lake region eastward on the gulf coast and in the Atlantic states. The temperatures remain quite high on the Atlantic and gulf coast, while in the central valleys and west clear and comparatively cold weather is general. Fair weather generally in all districts will probably continue during Sunday from the Mississippi valley eastward.

AGUINALDO AND DEWEY

Rebel Said to Have Asked the Admiral to "Stop the Firing."

Statements That Thousands of Filipinos Were Slain.

Interesting Stories From People Who Knew About Affairs at Manila.

Washington, April 1. — A Japanese newspaper, published at Tokio, contains an interview with an American named Crocker, who may be Professor Crocker of Columbia college, who was an eye witness of the first two days' fighting about Manila, which began Feb. 5.

He indicates that the Filipinos in the city undoubtedly contemplated rising en masse, but failed to carry out the plan of co-operation with those in arms outside the city. He says if the rebels had destroyed the water supply of the city it would have entailed great hardships upon the Americans and attributes their failure to do so to their regard for the well-being of the Filipinos in the city.

"During the fighting, Aguinaldo," says Mr. Crocker, "who is supposed to be at Malolos, communicated with Dewey. He sent him a message in which he said: 'For God's sake, stop the firing,' and disclaimed all responsibility in connection with the starting of the trouble. Dewey, however, refused compliance, and I think Aguinaldo is now accepting the situation. There was some talk of Aguinaldo resigning and washing his hands of the whole affair, but I do not think he will do so. The opinion is that it was not Aguinaldo who precipitated this thing, but his followers, whom he could not control."

The press reports made no mention at the time of Aguinaldo's appeal to Dewey to stop the firing. Mr. Crocker left Manila while the fighting was still in progress, and his estimates of the casualties are very wild. He says there were from 5000 to 10,000 Filipinos killed and wounded, and tells of the terrific destruction wrought by the shells from our warships. The shells from the Monadnock, he says, killed 20, 30 and sometimes 50 natives at a time.

A copy of the Japanese Times of the 16th contains a copy of a dispatch received by the Filipino junta at Hong Kong describing "The unexpected attack of the Americans upon the Filipino quarter of Manila." It describes the indiscriminate slaughter of 1800 men and women, old and young, without distinction, and says in view of the extreme violence of the Americans the Filipinos are resolved to fight to the death. This communication the Japanese Times regards as a fair sample of the sort of reports with which the junta is attempting to feed the outside world.

Another Story.

Wheeling, April 1.—Lieutenant Braunersreuther writes an interesting letter from Manila to Augustus Pollack of this city. He is now captain of the port at Manila, and has under him some 500 Filipinos, whom he finds easy to control. He says:

"The native himself, left to his own intentions, will never prove troublesome. They would be only too willing to earn a meagre living and get a few dollars. They are not hard to hande at all. I employ several hundred in my department, and find no trouble whatever, though I have often to work them at night in docking and undocking vessels. During all the fighting the hundreds in my employ remained loyal and faithful. I lost only five or six in all, and these I believe were frightened off for fear of subsequent molestation should the rebels (as they contended they could do) wipe the Americans off the face of the earth.

"Heretofore, when fighting with the Spaniards, the rebels have been badly organized and much worse armed. Notwithstanding this condition they had in a general way a success out of every engagement with their natural enemies. Since that time they have been much better drilled, better armed and better organized, and they naturally concluded they could easily succeed in exterminating the Americans. They tried it two weeks ago yesterday at 9 p. m. Oh, my, what a surprise! Thousands of them are dead (cremated and buried) and the hospitals are filled with the wounded. Many of them will never recover. They have lost in and about here over 10,000 men. Our loss has been less than 100 men; to be exact 68 officers and men killed and 275 wounded. Our wounded people have a much better chance of recovery than theirs, as the Mauser ball makes a cleaner and smaller wound than do our Remingtons and Springfields.

"The city is so well guarded that it would be suicidal to attempt to create an uprising here."

Treasury Is "Shy."

Harrisburg, April 1.—The March statement of State Treasurer Beacom shows a balance in the general fund of $512,552, the smallest balance in the state treasury since the close of the Civil war. Mr. Beacom says the claims now due and payable aggregate at least four times this amount, and that it will be impossible to accumulate enough money by June 5, when the school appropriation of $5,500,000 for the fiscal year becomes due, to pay any part of the appropriation during that month. He also says that it will be fortunate if the receipts are sufficient to pay expenses of the legislature, make the quarterly payments to the charitable institutions and return the personal property tax yet due to Philadelphia and Allegheny counties.

Played For Big Game.

New York, April 1.—Frederick King, who has been falsely representing himself variously as a member of the firm of Michaels & Wundt of San Francisco, was yesterday held in $5000 bail on the charge of swindling merchants of this city on an unusually large scale. His scheme, it is alleged, was to go to a prominent merchant and buy a large bill of goods and then have a fraudulent draft on San Francisco cashed.

The flowers, the appearance of which presages death to the tree, are inclosed in a tall spathe, which bursts with a loud report, disclosing a huge plume of beautiful blossom. The inflorescence is succeeded by equally conspicuous bunches of fruit. Good Afternoon.

Perhaps the only objection to the petition of the Quincy & Boston street railway, for a double track on Washington street at Quincy Point, will be as to location. The proper place for a double track road seems to be in the centre of the street.

An important hearing will be given by the City Council next Monday evening on the order laying out a new street from Granite street near Goffe street, through the meadows near Town brook to Fort street near its junction with School street, and thence along the brook to Water street. It is said the Sewer Commissioners desire to utilize this route for a sewer main from West and South Quincy. There is no question but what such an avenue would be a convenience to many, but there seems to be no demand for it. The public do not yet know the attitude of the large land owners, but if they stand ready to give the land there are other small owners who could not be expected to, and the cost would be considerable. The argument may be advanced that the city will receive quite an income from the sewer assessment which can be levied if a street is laid out, but the new street will want water pipes, lights, etc., which would be likely to offset the revenue. Then again the land owners may not be so willing to give the land if they are required on top of it to pay a sewer assessment.

They can, however, afford to pay good betterments to have a nice street built. There is nothing to prevent the Sewer Commissioners laying mains through this valley if they desire, and it is not necessary to buy the land.

The high level of the proposed South Metropolitan sewer may have escaped the attention of land owners at Houghs Neck. It is said an embankment will be required a considerable of the distance, especially at what are now low spots like the causeway and marshes. The sewer is a large one and the bottom is said to be above the present level of the marshes. Then again, if this large sewer is laid in Sea street it will block the street to travel a whole season. Perhaps here is a chance to get a new street to Houghs Neck, more direct, an elevated boulevard.

Those who want to attend the Company K banquet for $1, probably are thinking more of themselves than they are of giving Company K a reception.

George W. Huntress was in town today. He was a resident many years ago

At St. Johns church last evening the sermon on the Passion was preached by the Rev. Fr. Herlihy of Holbrook.

The Sons of Veterans will attend the men's meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, when Dwight Leete Rogers of the Sixth Massachusetts regiment, U. S. V., will speak.

It is expected that a large number will attend the Easter Monday night ball of the Knights of Columbus and certainly judging by the pleasures of last year, those who attend this year will have no cause for regret. The decorations will be in charge of Patterson and the music will be by Stone's Military Band of Boston.

Another large whist party was held last evening in Wilson's hall, under the auspices of the N. E. O. P. First prizes were won by Emma E. Newcomb of Quincy and Cornelius Driscoll of Braintree and second prizes by Mrs. Bradford of Quincy and F. P. Bennett of Braintree.

GRANITE MEN BUSY.

A Large Amount of Work in Quincy Sheds.

Joss Bros. and Co. are a firm of hustlers, and as a result they get a large number of orders. Some are above the ordinary size, and some are of the medium size, but whether large or small each receives the same amount of care and the same quality of workmanship.

Thomas & Miller have some fine finished monuments set up in their yard about ready for shipment to their destinations.

Milne & Chalmers, who do a retail business, report that they are rushed with orders to be delivered before Memorial day.

The Quincy Paving and Edgestone Co., which was organized under the laws of Maine several years ago, is trying to wind up its affairs and go out of business.

The Merry Mount Granite Co. has a large number of orders on hand for medium sized work.

Alex Marnock & Co. are cutting an all-polished shaft job of dark Quincy granite. It will consist of three bases, die, cap and shaft. Every particle of the job is to be polished including the sides of the raised letters of the inscription.

Fred Barnicoat the sculptor is cutting among other work a sitting figure of "Faith," two standing figures of "Hope," a kneeling figure of "Memory," and a standing figure of "Memory."

The Lavers Granite Co. of Copeland street are making extensive alterations to their sheds so as to admit of the installing of a polishing plant.

W. T. Spargo & Co. is cutting a large cross job. The cross is seven feet high and three feet across the arm. It will be elaborately carved.

The granite shipments from Quincy during the month of February, as returned by the agents was: from Quincy Adams, 1,095,600 pounds; West Quincy, 2,333,960 pounds; Quarry railroad, 5,683,800 pounds.

Swingle & Falconer have recently enlarged their office and say that if their business continues to increase in the future as in the past that they will soon be obliged to enlarge their plant. Every part of a monumental job, aside from the quarrying of the stock, is done at their works.

James F. Desmond does a large business, and just at present is rushing with work that must be set before Memorial day. Most of his orders are of the sarcophagus design although he has one or two square jobs an hand.

Wedding Reception.

The wedding reception given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. James Marr at their home on Intervale street, will stand with the foremost of social gatherings this winter. About 8.30 the house was filled with their friends whose congratulations and beneficent wishes, if they were the only requisite to insure happiness in their married life are certainly with them in the step they have taken.

After the formal reception the party adjourned to the dining room where a most sumptuous banquet was served.

During the evening the company was favored with songs by Mr. Fraser baritone; Mr. William Dickie, tenor, and comic songs and sayings by the always jovial Mr. William Pratt. Mr. William Milne told with dramatic effects, Mark Twain's stories of "Sam Smalley's dog General Jackson" and "The Leaping Frog."

On leaving for home all declared it one of the most enjoyable parties ever attended, which was very pleasing to Mr. and Mrs. George Esson, parents of Mrs. Marr, whose whole desire was that it should be so.

☞ The Fifth Regiment is coming home without arms, but their friends, will give them an open arm welcome that will compensate in some measure for the disappointment. All the towns and cities represented in the regiment are preparing to give the boys a good reception.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

Commencing today the hours at the Mt. Wollaston bank are from 8.30 A. M., to 3.30 P. M.

Work has begun this noon decorating the Greenleaf block for the welcome to Co. K next Monday.

A meeting of the Board of Health will be held Monday evening, at which an inspector will be elected.

Quincy Clothing Co. we see advertise all wool boys long pant suits at $3.00 today. How can they make them for that money.

A number of the stores in the centre have begun to decorate their show windows in honor of the home coming of Co. K.

The Norfolk grand jury will come in at Dedham next Monday for the April sitting. Isro M. Whittier will represent Quincy.

The adjourned annual parish meeting of the First Universalist society, held on Thursday evening, was again adjourned for four weeks.

The battalion of which Co. K is a part, and which is commanded by Major Morrison, was in the third section which left Greenville yesterday.

The home coming of Co. K together with the meeting that evening of the City Council and the several dances that are announced to be held in the city will furnish enough entertainment for one day and evening.

A syndicate of prominent members of the Quincy Yacht club are to build a 21 footer to defend the $500 challenge cup. The new boat will be built from designs of Arthur Keith and will be sailed by Henry M. Faxon who is at the head of the syndicate.

The central station combination was called out on a still alarm shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, to extinguish a grass fire on Third hill, Wollaston. The chief's call of three blows which was sounded at 1.20 was mistaken by many as an alarm from Box 21, which sent a crowd flying up Granite street.

According to the morning papers Private Mead of Co. K did not accompany the regiment home, being left behind in the hospital. Among the patients who are in the hospital car, which is attached to the train that is bringing the 5th home is Private Frank A. Gannon of Co. K.

What has become of that bronze tablet that was to be placed upon the Adams Academy building, to mark the birthplace of John Hancock? The tablet was to have been in position Jan. 12. The lateness when it was ordered, however, prevented it being completed by that time, but it was promised in a few days. That was the last heard of it, and it looks as though the tablet had been lost in the shuffle.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Reguiarly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

HEADACHES

Are almost invariably the result of defective eyes, and a common and serious defect is Astigmatism, the amount and axis of which is not always perfectly corrected by the methods in ordinary use.

We use the opthalmometer to discover astigmatism. This instrument is relied on by oculists and will reveal the trouble where other tests fail.

If you have a difficult case consult us. We will give your case careful and special attention, and we feel sure that you will not be disappointed at the result.

THE FORECAST

Though the hopes and the dreams that I cherished in blindness
You have striven to slay in me, cruel in kindness,
To leave not a dream, not a hope, I can cling to,
You are mine still to pray for, to long for, to sing to.

I shall love the few years out with hope undiminished,
For death's not the end, and the tale is not finished;
I shall take the old thread up, relight the old ember,
And if you have forgotten me I shall remember.

Reject me while living, forget me when dying—
Perhaps the next chance will be more worth the trying.
What's amiss in my love will have time to be mended,
For I shall not give up till eternity's ended.
—Pall Mall Gazette.

TRIED TO ESCAPE.

She stood leaning against the deck railing of the steamer Priscilla. For some moments she had been listlessly watching the last of the baggage bundled on to the boat by the burly freight handlers, and now she gave a little sigh of intermixed relief and suppressed excitement as the big hawsers that held the boat to the wharf were loosened and flung into the water. She waited until the men drew in the wet rope; then she turned to the scenes about her. What a labyrinth they seemed to be passing through! Tugs, pilotboats, ferries, all seemed to be crossing and recrossing in a most reckless manner as the Priscilla plowed along independently, as if the whole river were clear of obstructions.

The sun was just setting, and New York's tall buildings shot skyward, black against the pink glow. There were familiar domes and spires, but she turned hastily from them and cast a glance at Liberty, silent and impassive with her upstretched arm.

A slight frown rose to her face as she recalled that day they had landed there from the yacht, and she bit her lips in vexation at the reflection. "At any rate, it is all right now," she said to herself, while a peculiar light stole into her eyes. "This is the end of it all. I couldn't do better than to go at once and not let him know where. It will save all fruitless discussion. And—and I hate a scene."

She stared steadily at the buildings on Blackwell's island. They were very misty and indistinct, and she passed her hand rapidly over her eyes.

The deck was filling with passengers, and she moved to a more retired spot, where she sat back and watched the shore grow dark and the lights come out one by one. She pushed up the veil she had worn and looked about her. It was a curious crowd, it seemed to her. She had never traveled this way before. What a mixture of refinement and vulgarity! There were a man and a woman eating out of some brown paper bags, and just beyond them a man and wife apparently of her own set.

Well, she could go to her stateroom early and so be by herself. She would go down to dinner now. Alone? It gave her a peculiar sensation to think of it. Well, it was part of the penalty of running away, as it were.

She rose to go.

"Am I just in time to take you down?" a familiar voice said close beside her.

Her hand grasped the back of the camp chair. The motion, together with a swaying of the boat, made her stagger for a moment, but a strong hand hely her firmly. "I shall be very glad if you will go down with me," he repeated.

She sat down again suddenly. "Did you get my note?" she demanded.

"Of course," drawing a chair and speaking in a low voice as he readjusted the wrap that had slipped from her shoulders. "But you didn't suppose I would obey, did you?" He smiled as he spoke.

"It was horrid of you," she replied, giving her shoulders a shrug so that the wrap loosened again and fell to the deck, where it lay unheeded, "perfectly horrid."

He made no reply to the charge.

"You knew we couldn't keep on this way," she continued in a grieved voice. "It was misunderstanding, misunderstanding, all the time, and of course that wasn't—wasn't love." She hesitated and glanced quickly at the figure beside her. His eyes were on the passing landscape.

"And I didn't want any scene. It's horrid and common to make a scene." She swallowed hastily. "And so I wrote the note and ended it all, and just came away, so as to get rid of all this. And now you've followed me." She spoke indignantly and beat a tattoo on the deck with her foot.

He looked at her gravely for an instant, then turned again to the darkness outside. "I don't think you can realize what it is," he said, his eyes on a distant revolving beacon, "to ask a man to give up what is more than life to him."

The light from the powerful lens blazed full upon them, rested for a moment, and then left them in darkness once more.

"I couldn't give you up that way," he went on, his hand impulsively stealing out and taking hers. "For if I did it would be for all time, and so I was bound to make one more fight. When I found that you were gone I just risked the chance of it being this way, because you had always insisted on never going by this line, and so, being a woman, I thought you'd take it now."

The hand in his made a feeble attempt to withdraw, but he held it close.

"It wasn't nice of you," she said suddenly, as if a new thought had struck her, "because I'm alone, you know, and if any one we know should see us together"—

The darkness covered his smile. "Nice women can travel alone," he replied, "but then, I thought that perhaps we might turn this into sort of an antewedding journey, you know. We can get off at Newport—the boat touches at 4—and be married early and then keep on to the mountains. In fact, I wired to your aunt to meet us—and Bennett too."

There was a moment's pause.

"I thought this looked like you," a woman's gay voice broke in. "Dear me, how nice and secluded you are. I've been trying to convince Richard that it was you." She turned and beckoned to her husband on the other side of the deck.

"Awfully jolly to find you two, don't you know," Mr. Clifford rejoined as he drew up a seat for his wife and handed Miss Wentworth her fallen wrap. "The Browns are back there and the Folsomes in the saloon. Lots of people we know."

"Your vacation, Elton?"

Mrs. Clifford's next question precluded an answer. "Your aunt is inside, I suppose?" she queried. "It is damp out here, and I suppose she likes to prove a lenient chaperon." She smiled teasingly.

Miss Wentworth's face flamed a vivid scarlet, and she half turned to her lover.

"Yes," he responded quickly for her. "We—that is in fact, Mrs. Ashley is not with us."

His eyes dropped, and a peculiar smile played about the corners of his mouth. Miss Wentworth moved uneasily and gave a little gasp under cover of the darkness.

Mrs. Clifford broke into a sharp little laugh. "Of course," she said. "How lovely, and how dreadfully stupid of me not to think! It is your wedding journey, and you didn't want any of us to know."

"Yes," replied Elton, with a suppressed thrill in his voice as he boldly took again the white hand that he had dropped in confusion. "Only if you'd as lief not say anything about it. We didn't mean any one to know of it yet."

"It was unexpected and rather unconventional," said her aunt as she kissed the bride the next morning. "But, then, young people are strange creatures sometimes when they're in love, and I must say you two do seem to be dreadfully so. You've really been engaged a long time and not a single quarrel!"

She smiled approvingly at her new nephew.

"It was perfectly lovely," the bride said impulsively. "Ever so much better than if we had planned"— She stopped, bit her lip and glanced hastily at the others.

Bennett was handing her aunt into her carriage and appeared not to hear. She settled back into the seclusion of her own carriage.

"I think so, too," her husband replied as he bent and kissed her.—Springfield Republican.

OUR WEEKLY FASHION PLATE.

NEW GOLFING COSTUME FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

The new golfing costumes are nothing if not sensible and free from all superfluous trimming. The model, which we print to-day is taken from HARPER'S BAZAR and cut paper patterns of it are furnished by that periodical of fashion. It represents a plain circular skirt of plaid cloth which may be opened in the centre of the back or under the flapped front breadth. It is a full ankle length, and amply wide. The material here employed is Scotch plaid, of which 4 1-2 yards will be required to make the skirt. This quantity of 54 inch goods will allow for the careful matching of the plaid pattern. If plain material be used a much smaller quantity will be sufficient. The jacket, of plain cloth (scarlet) is almost tight-fitting, and is shaped to the form by single darts on each side of the front. The bottom of the jacket is finished in shallow scallops, and the fly front conceals the button fastenings. The small turn-over collar is of green velvet, and the cuff is outlined by simple stitching.

Age of the Deer.

Romance has played a prominent part with regard to the longevity of deer. What says the highland adage?

Thrice the age of a dog is that of a horse.

Thrice the age of a horse is that of a man.

Thrice the age of a man is that of a deer.

Thrice the age of a deer is that of an eagle.

Thrice the age of an eagle is that of an oak tree.

This is to assign the deer to a period of more than 200 years, and the estimate is supported by many highly circumstantial stories. Thus Captain Macdonald of Tulloch, who died in 1776, aged 68 years, is said to have known the white hind of Loch Treig for 50 years, his father for a like period before him and his grandfather for 60 years before him. So in 1826 Macdonald of Glengarry is reported to have killed a stag which bore a mark on the left ear identical with that made on all the calves he could catch by Ewen Maclan Og, who had been dead 150 years. Analogous stories, it may be noted, are told in countries on the continent of Europe, where deer are to be found in any number. But the general opinion among experts would seem to be that 30 years or thereabout is the limit of a deer's life.

Won Her a Diadem.

How did the French come into Sicily? A woman did it. At a festive entertainment held at a French court Beatrice, countess of Savoy and wife of Charles of Anjou, the brother of Louis IX of France, was removed from the superior range of seats occupied by her two younger sisters, the queen of France and the queen of England. Mortified by the humiliation, she returned to her apartments and burst into tears.

Upon learning the cause of her chagrin and her saying that she would be able to give up her life to confine her tresses for one hour beneath a diadem Charles embraced her affectionately and said, "Set your heart at rest, countess, for before long I will make you a greater queen than either of your sisters."

So he promised her. He defeated Manfred, the last of the Norman kings, and caused Conradino, the great-grandson of the Emperor Frederick, to be mercilessly slain, he himself and Beatrice witnessing the scene. Upon the death of his brother Charles became king of Naples, thus fulfilling the cherished desire of his wife for a diadem.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 2—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—The birthday of hope.—I Pet. i, 1-9. (An Easter meeting.)

The birthday of the Christian hope here referred to was Easter day, the day on which Christ arose from the dead. Both the topic and the reference suggest a study of the hope born into the world when Christ overcame death and the grave.

The hope of Easter day is based upon a historical fact. It was the resurrection of Christ which begat this hope. "Blessed be God * * * who * * * hath begotten us again into a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead." The hope is founded, therefore, upon the resurrection of Christ. And this is a historical fact. No fact in history is more fully attested than the fact of the death and resurrection of Christ. It is proved by "many infallible proofs." The New Testament is one continuous witness. The gospels record it; the Acts present it as the one chief theme of the apostles' preaching; the epistles base upon it the Christian life and doctrine. The Lord's day and Eastertide stand as constant witness to the accuracy and genuineness of this historical fact.

The hope of Easter day is a living hope. It is a hope that will be fulfilled. This follows naturally and necessarily from the fact that the hope is based upon a fact. Many hopes of life are illusions. They are based upon fancy, and not upon fact. When the time of their fulfillment arrives, like the mirage of the desert they disappear. Touch them and like the apples of Sodom they vanish away. Not so the Christian's hope, based upon the resurrection of Christ. The foundation is firm and secure. The hope based upon it must be realized.

The hope of Easter day is the hope of eternal life in heaven. It is a hope "to an inheritance, incorruptible and undefiled, that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven." It is a hope for eternity both for our friends and our loved ones. Christ arose. This begets in us a lively hope that our loved ones shall arise, that we shall arise and that we shall inherit the home prepared for us.

Blessed hope of Eastertide, first heard when the angels announced the glorious fact that Chirst was risen from the dead and never to cease to be heard till earth and sea shall give up their dead and those who have died in Christ, having arisen, shall reign with Him forever and forever!

Bible Readings.—Job. xix, 26, 27; Ps. xvii, 15; Isa. xxvi, 19; Dan. xii, 2, 3; Math. xxii, 31, 32; Luke xiv, 1-14; John v, 28, 29; xi, 19-27; Acts iv, 1, 2; Acts xxvi, 8-23; Rom. vi, 1-11; I Cor. xv, 12-20; II Cor. iv, 17, 18; Col. iii, 1-7; I John iii, 1, 2.

The Advantages of Yesterday.

Yesterday is no mausoleum of dead deeds, no storehouse of mummies. Memory is a granary, holding seed for tomorrow's sowing; memory is an armory, holding weapons for tomorrow's battles; memory is a medicine chest, with balms for tomorrow's hurts; memory is a library, with wisdom for tomorrow's emergency. Yesterday holds the full store of today's civilization; contains our tools, conveniences, knowledges; contains our battlefields and victories; above all, gives us Bethlehem and Calvary. But alone man's yesterday is impotent, his tomorrow insufficient. The true man binds all his days together with an earnest, intense, passionate purpose. His yesterdays, todays and tomorrows march together one solid column, animated by one thought, constrained by one conspiracy of desire, energizing toward one holy and helpful purpose—to serve man and love God.—Newell Dwight Hillis in "The Investment of Influence."

Their Part In History.

A Greek historian desired very intensely to say a word about the people of the city where he was born. He felt he could not write his history without saying something of his own native place, and accordingly he wrote this, "While Athens was building temples and Sparta was waging war my countrymen were doing nothing." I am afraid there are too many Christians of whom, if the book were written as to what they are doing in the church, it would have to be said they have been doing nothing all their lives.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

Thinking With God.

One great student described his work as thinking God's thoughts after Him. That is what all true study is. No one can really think God's thoughts while out of harmony with God. We may be thinkers with God as well as laborers with Him, but we cannot think with Him and not think of Him.—Christian Endeavor World.

Christian Endeavor In Egypt.

Christian Endeavor has found a place in the army in Egypt and has marched into the Sudan with General Kitchener. A soldier Endeavorer from Cairo, who was assigned to hospital work at Darmales camp, has organized a society.

The Snow.

How fair and beautiful appears the snow,
Hanging like jewels on the leafless trees,
Which now stand motionless, unstirred by breeze
Or lightest breath of wind that heaven can blow!
Like wondrous picture does the grand earth show,
Painted by hand divine with marvelous ease,
As if it knew it could not fail to please,
And o'er each soul a rapturous transport throw.
Would that our lives might be as bright and pure
As is the snow that all things now infold!
Then would our destiny be no more obscure,
And hapless fate would lose her iron hold,
And man, with face that might high heaven allure,
Would tempt bright angels from their harps of gold.
—Christian Work.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

BROTHERS KILLED.

Were Volunteers in Philippines and have Relatives in Quincy.

James P. and Ambrose Ryan of 38 Smith street mourn the loss of two brothers in the war in the Philippines. Both were killed on Monday of this week in the brilliant charge of Gen MacArthur's troops beyond Marilao. They were Matthew, aged 25 years, and Peter 19 years, the former of Co. D, and the latter of Co. E of the South Dakota regiment. Matthew visited his brothers in this city about Christmas time in 1897, spending about a month here.

The home of the young heroes was in New Bedford and the local paper of Thursday says they have relatives and a host of friends there. Their father and an unmarried sister resides there.

Peter went to California several years ago and it is understood served with the regular army. At the outbreak of the war with Spain, according to letters received from his brother, he was appointed a corporal in the 1st South Dakota volunteers, although he is reported as a private in the official dispatch of casualties.

Matthew Ryan left this city Jan. 24 of last year to visit relatives who reside in California and incidentally, as he said at the time, to seek a fortune. Before that time he had been employed as a mule spinner in the Rotch mills.

Yesterday the following letter was received from Matthew, by Mr. James P. Ryan, having been about forty days, and is of interest.

Philippine Islands, Feb. 16, 1898.
Dear Brother Jim:

Not having heard from you for some time I thought I would write you a few lines. The Y.M.C.A. man just came past and left me two sheets of paper. I don't know how the soldiers could ever get paper to write home if it were not for the Red Cross and the Y.M.C.A. Societies.

I suppose you have heard of the war with the Filipinos, before this. The trouble started on Saturday night Feb. 4, and has been going on more or less ever since. Our regiment has been in it all the time, and even as I am writing this the Negroes and pickets are having a skirmish.

On Sunday, Feb 5, the South Dakota regiment made a famous charge, and took one of the blockhouses. The Pennsylvania and Colorado regiments on our right and left stood up and cheered our regiment as we went up the hill past them.

We have lost about 7 killed and 16 wounded. So far "Pete" and I have been lucky enough to escape, and are well at present, but of course we dont know what may happen, so hope for the best.

The Filipinos have a new general and our officers expect an attach tonight in force. They do all their fighting at night, and are armed with modern Mauser rifles, so we don't have things all our own way.

The American loss so far has been about 75 killed and 250 wounded, while the enemy have lost about 4,700 killed and wounded.

Best regards to all,
MATT. RYAN,
D Co., 1st South Dakota U. S. V.

Castle Square Theatre.

The Easter week attraction at the Castle Square theatre will be the famous military drama "The Girl I left Behind Me," written by Franklin Fyles and David Belasco a half dozen years ago for the opening of the Empire Theatre of New York. The play has been made familiar to Boston audiences by its earlier production in this city, and the success of this revival may be assumed from the excellent work of the Castle Square players in similar productions in the past. Some special engagements have been made to strengthen the production, the cast announced being as follows: General Kennion, J. L. Seeley; Major Burleigh, Charles Mackay; Lieut. Edgar Hawkesworth, J. H. Gilmour; Lieut. Morton Parlow, William Humphrey; Private Jones, N. H. Fowler; Sergeant Dix, Lindsay Morison; Orderly McGlynn, Giles Shine; Dr. Arthur Penwisk, Tony Cummings; Kate Kennion, Lillian Lawrence; Lucy Hawkesworth, Marian A. Chapman; Wilbur's Ann, Mary Sanders. "The Girl I Left Behind Me," will be followed by a production of C. Haddon Chamber's modern play, "The Idler," presented at the Hollis Street Theatre eight seasons ago by the New York Lyceum Company.

Boston Museum.

Viola Allen begins the fifth week of her wonderful success in "The Christian" at the Boston Museum next Monday evening, April 3d. There is yet no sign of abatement in interest in this new star of her production, and she will undoubtedly continue several weeks longer at this theatre, playing to audiences that test its capacity. Many inquiries are made as to the time Miss Allen will remain here. No definite period can yet be fixed, but in the meantime, seats may be secured in advance for every perfomance in the next four weeks, including the extra matinee which will be played Thursday afternoon, April 13th. "The Christian," as a novel, has been read by over 7,000,000 people, As a play it has been seen by more than 250,000 persons since first presented, September 23d last. Over 180,000 people saw it in 22 weeks in New York City, where its receipts exceeded $225,000 two dollars being charged for orchestra chairs, for which only $1.50 is asked in Boston. A feature of the audiences at every performance is the large number of people who are seeing "The Christian" for the second or third, or even the fourth time.

Keith's Theatre.

The programe at Keith's for the week of April 3 will include Joseph Hart, one of the most popular and original comedians on the stage, and Carrie DeMar, singing and dancing soubrette, in a delightful sketch called "Dr. Chauncy's Visit" Reno and Richards, eccentric trick tumblers; Neilson Sisters, vocalists; Riley and Hughes, blackface comedians, singers and dancers; McAvoy and May, eccentric comedians; the Reid family, in a new comedy, singing and dancing sketch; Lizzie and Vinie Daly, step dancers; Burroughs and Hall, comedians, and Charlie Case, blackface monologue entertainer, the man who tells the funny stories about his father. The Phasey troupe, eight beautiful English girls who sing' dance and play upon musical instruments, will be the leading attraction for the week of April 10.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

Rear Admiral Carpenter Shot Himself In a Boston Sanitarium.

Suffered Many Years From Nervous Disorders.

Had For Nearly Half a Century Been In Active Naval Service.

Boston, April 3.—Rear Admiral C. C. Carpenter (retired) committed suicide in a sanitarium in this city. Admiral Carpenter was called from the retired list to active duty, in charge of the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H., during the war, while Commodore Remey was on duty at Key West.

Admiral Carpenter for the past six weeks was an inmate of the Adams nervine asylum, in the Jamaica Plain district, and it was at that place that the unfortunate affair occurred. The details of his death, at the earnest request of his family, were withheld from the public, and while the suicide took place Saturday morning, the medical examiner, although reviewing the remains has not made his report. As usual in such cases the police were notified, but even they were kept from knowing of the affair until 24 hours after.

For a number of years previous to his retirement Admiral Carpenter suffered severely from nervous disorders, and soon after being released from service sought medical treatment. He had apparently recovered, but six weeks ago there came a relapse and he was again placed in the asylum. Again he seemed to improve, and the family had considerable hope that he would recover, but their hopes were rudely shaken when they were notified that he had taken his own life.

F. M. Sise of Portsmouth, a son-in-law of the admiral, who has been in this city for some time, carried the sad news to his home in Portsmouth, and yesterday returned to make the necessary arrangements for the removal of the body to that city.

Admiral Carpenter had a brilliant record, covering nearly half a century. The following briefly tells of his services:

Midshipman, Oct. 1, 1850; lieutenant, Jan. 23, 1858; lieutenant commander, July 16, 1862; served with honor through the Civil war, taking a prominent part in the three attacks on Charleston, 1863; Portsmouth navy yard, 1868-70; commander, March of 1869; North Atlantic squadron, 1875-76; Portsmouth navy yard again, 1878; captain, March 25, 1880; Boston navy yard, 1880-82; commanded receiving ship Wabash, 1888-90; commander Portsmouth navy yard, 1890-94; commodore, May 15, 1893; rear admiral, Nov. 11, 1894; commander-in-chief of Asiatic squadron, 1894-95; retired, Feb. 27, 1896; commanded encampment of Spanish prisoners at Portsmouth, 1898.

Love, Murder and Suicide.

Point Pelee, Ont., April 3.—James La Blanche, a young French Canadian, yesterday killed his sweetheart, an Indian girl named Olga Postami. The Frenchman lived on the mainland, and had not seen the girl during the winter. When he went to her home, he learned that she had given her love to another, an American. He begged the young woman to talk a walk with him. When they arrived at "Lovers' Rock," a spot made famous because an Indian chief had there murdered a French girl who refused to marry him, La Blanche stabbed Miss Postami. He threw the body into the lake, and then drove the knife with which he had killed the girl into his own heart, falling dead into the water after her.

A Spring Blizzard.

Pierre, S. D., April 3.—A furious snowstorm is raging here, about six inches having already fallen, with more in sight. It is drifting badly and the temperature is falling. This, in connection with the snow already on the ground in this section of the state, created a serious condition for stockmen to face, as the long period for which winter has held on here has prevented the cattle from grazing and the hay supply is practically exhausted. The present snowfall is general in this part of the state.

Governor Raised Objections.

Lincoln, Neb., April 3.—Governor Poynter sent a message to the legislature vetoing the senate bill which commends the First Nebraska regiment in the Philippines. The language in the bill objected to by the governor is as follows: "That we acknowledge with gratitude and joy the debt that the state owes them by the reason of the honor conferred upon it by their valor while defending in the Philippines the principles of our government and adding new glory to our flag."

Street Railway Changes Hands.

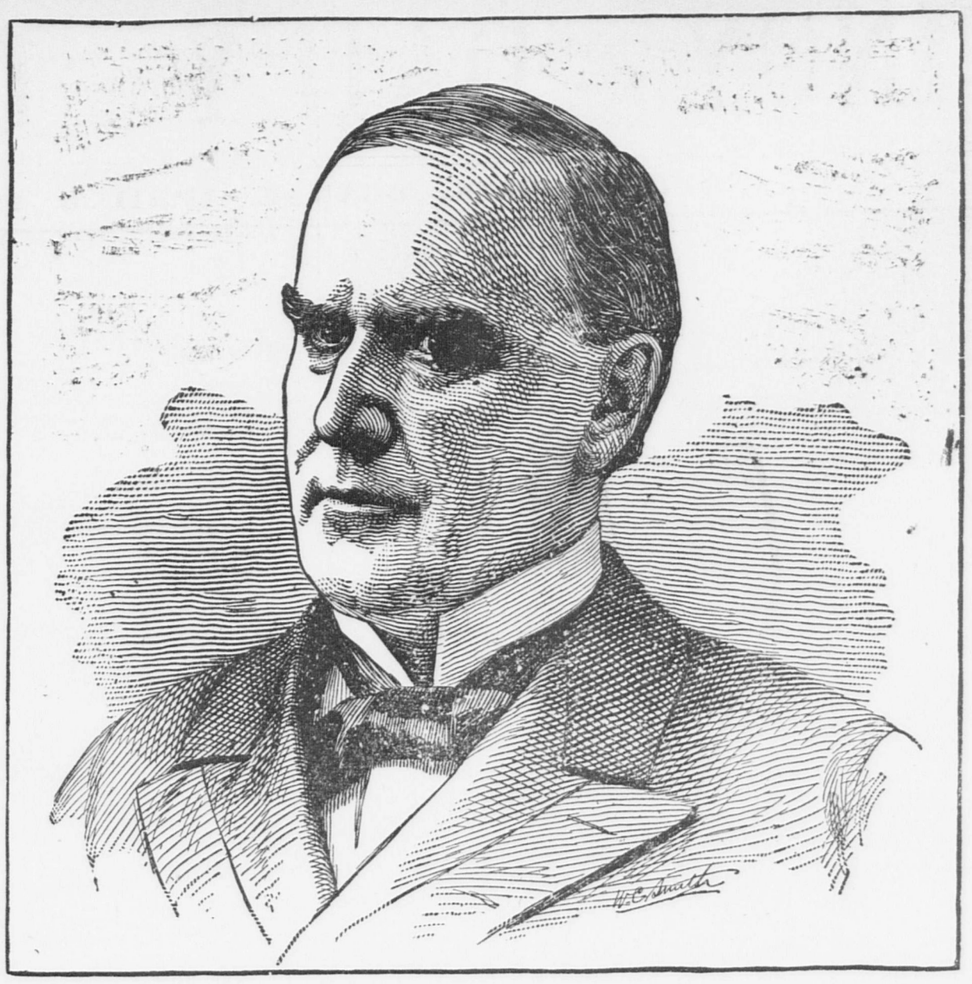

Lawrence, Mass., April 3.—The Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill Street railway line has been purchased by New York people, said to be a syndicate of which J. P. Morgan is at the head. The portion of the stock bought was that held by the Industrial Improvement company, which company owns the majority of stock. The deal was effected through Boston firms. It involves the transfer of the greater part of $3,000,000 worth of stocks and bonds.

Will Be Kept Busy.

Boston, April 3.—Secretary Baer of the United Society of Christian Endeavor today started upon a journey 3000 miles in length, which will take him in 18 states in 22 days, and in which he will deliver 26 addresses. His speaking points are: Rochester, Columbus, O.; Louisville, Memphis, Meriden, Miss.; New Orleans, Tuskegee, Ala.; Birmingham, Ala.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Savannah, Union, S. C.; Salisbury, N. C.

Dr. Hall's Successor.

New York, April 3.—At a meeting of the pulpit supply committee of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday it was unanimously decided to recommend that Rev. Alexander Connell be called as pastor of the church, to succeed Dr. John Hall, and that he be paid a salary of $10,000 a year.

HON. WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

THE HONORED DEAD.

Bodies of Bay State Heroes Consigned to Their Last Resting Place.

Boston, April 3.—With all the honors due to a soldier, all that was mortal of 10 who gave up their lives in the Santiago campaign were taken to their last resting places yesterday. Seven of the men were members of the Ninth, the others of the Seventh infantry. Eight were buried from the armory, Artificer Brady from his father's home in South Boston and Private Monahan from St Patrick's church.

The funeral at the armory was attended by a large number of their late comrades and citizens. Six of the men were members of the Ninth Massachusetts, U. S. V., while the other two were Boston boys who enlisted in the Seventh United States regulars. The men were Hospital Steward Briener and Privates Saunders, G. P. McLaughlin, E. P. McLaughlin, Murphy and Moriarty, all of the Ninth regiment, and Privates Crocker and McGuire of the Seventh regulars. The two regulars were killed in the famous charge at El Caney, while the men of the Ninth were killed or died of disease before Santiago. Rev. James Lee, chaplain of the Ninth regiment, conducted the services and pronounced a most eloquent eulogy. Two squads from companies A and E of the Ninth regiment, M. V. M., and 15 marines from the navy yard, acted as escorts. Four of the bodies were interred at the Holy Cross cmetery, and the others at Calvary.

Two other military funerals of soldiers who died in Cuba were held in South Boston and Roxbury. The first was that of Artificer Leo J. Brady of company C, Ninth Massachusetts, U. S. V., at his home on Dorchester street. After a brief service the remains were interred at Hollywood cemetery. A detail from the Ninth regiment, M. V. M., acted as escort.

The second funeral was that of Private Patrick T. Monahan of the Seventh regulars, U. S. A., the services taking place at St. Patrick's church, on Dudley street. A number of Hibernian organizations and veterans were present, while the firing squad was a detail from company C, Ninth regiment, M. V. M.

Northampton, Mass., April 3.—Unusual and impressively sad services were held in the Academy of Music yesterday over the remains of four Northampton soldiers who died in Cuba during the Santiago campaign, and which were brought to this country a few days since. Three of the dead—Corporal Belleville and Privates Barbour and Cole—were members of company I, Second Massachusetts regiment, and Private Barrett was a member of company E, Seventeenth United States infantry. Barrett died July 4 from wounds received at the battle of El Caney on July 1. He had been in the regular army five years, and his term of service expired on the day he died.

Clinton, Mass., April 3.—The funeral of the three members of company K, Ninth Massachusetts, U. S. V., Corporal Jennings and Privates O'Malley and McNamara, who died in Cuba, and whose bodies were brought here on Friday, was held in St. John's Catholic church yesterday. It was the first triple funeral ever held in this town, and was attended by the different orders of which the deceased were members, and by a large concourse of citizens. Rev. Father McCaughton deliverd an eloquent eulogy, after which the bodies were interred in the new St. John's cemetery.

Springfield, Mass., April 3.—Four military funerals were held in this city, also that of Lieutenant Fields in Greenfield and of Major Bowen in Westfield, all being very imposing events. The services were in honor of soldiers of the Second Massachusetts regiment, whose bodies were brought home from Cuba last week.

THE FASHION PLATE.

In checked goods the pretty shaded effects differ from those worn last spring in so far as the lines are finer and run diagonally in both directions, forming small check patterns.

Some of the novelties among French poplins are slightly craped in their weaving and have cross bars of gay color, as for example, craped ground of briar roses, pink crossed with russet and mignonette green.

Cyrano red has lost favor, and its place is taken by new shades called ponceau d'Espagne (Spanish poppy), the brilliant dye called Roman red, and a handsome English current red. These colors will be used both as dress accessories and in millinery.

It is quite the mode now to have a different effect on either shoulder, a flat insertion trimmed band of velvet or jeweled gimp on one and on the other a trailing spray of roses or a knot of upstanding velvet or satin ribbon, or a cluster of ostrich tips.

A silk petticoat, much decorated on the lower half, with full corded frills and flounces, is now an actual necessity, since the clinging dress skirts, made without stiffness, require this extra fullness beneath to give them the proper outward flare from the knees down.

The pretty golf costume cloths will be used both for gowns and capes. The new weaves have a genuine Scotch look and show beautiful color blendings. These goods are not expensive, although they are double width and very closely resemble high priced tartans in silk and wool mixtures.

Shepherd's check fabrics will be in marked favor for two seasons to come. They are found in both simple and elaborate fabrics, in 20, 30, 40 and 50 inch widths, and they range in price from 29 cents to $1.50 a yard. They will be used for dress skirts, shirt waists, petticoats, dress accessories, linings and velvet trimmed gowns entire.—New York Post.

THE ROYAL BOX.

Queen Victoria's annual trips to and from Scotland alone cost her close on $25,000 a year.

Emperor William's bed is narrow, almost a camp bed, but his sheets are of the finest linen, and he loves a silk counterpane. He goes to bed at 11, gets up at 5 and is restless and agitated during his sleep.

The Prince of Wales is following the example of the Duke of Wellington and saving garments which he has worn on special occasions. The prince's collection will be as interesting as the duke's store of ancient trousers and swallowtail coats.

Queen Wilhelmina goes to bed about 11 o'clock and gets up early. Like her father, on rising, she takes a stroll round the park and visits the stables. Her bedstead is of monumental size, being broad enough for six, and proportionally deep. It is whispered that her youthful majesty snores slightly.

Queen Natalie of Servia is following in the footsteps of Carmen Sylva, queen of Roumania, having secluded herself in a charming villa perfumed with the odors of roses near Florence. She is writing a romance of personal reminiscences which has its beginning in Servia and its epilogue in Biarritz.

REPORTS "ALL QUIET."

But General Otis Is Evidently Keeping Sharp Eye on Insurgents.

Conflicting Opinions as to Duration of War. .

Rumors That Pio Del Pilar Will Desert Aguinaldo and Join Americans.

Washington, March 3.—It is believed that General Otis desires to ascertain now just where the forces of the insurgents are located and in what number. It is thought very probable that in the advance that has been made from Manila to Malolos the insurgents have not all retreated along the railroad track but some have gone off into the rough country to the right of the railroad, and may now be lying in wait to set upon small bodies of American troops, or perhaps again destroy some of the bridges on the railroad and for a time cut off communication between the advance of the American army and Manila. General Otis will take measures to prevent anything of the kind, and no doubt will ascertain the number of the insurgents before making further advance in pursuit of Aguinaldo and his fleeing army. It is evident that while General Otis reports everything "all quiet" he has had a part of his army active in reconnoitering along the line of railroad by which he has been advancing.

Yesterday's advices from Manila say that the American troops under General MacArthur are still resting at Malolos, where everything is quiet. Hostilities elsewhere—so far as officially reported—have been limited during the last 24 hours to an occasional exchange of shots between the insurgents and the troops forming the lines of Generals Lawton and Hall, extending from the waterworks to Laloma. But this shooting has been just active enough to make the lives of the soldiers a burden and to compel the officers to sleep in trenches, clothed and in readiness to repel possible attacks.

GENERAL PIO DEL PILAR.

Most of the Americans are becoming convinced that the backbone of the insurgent opposition is broken. There are numerous rumors pointing to an early collapse of the insurrection. One of these is that General Pio Del Pilar, the best fighter among the Filipinos' officers, will desert Aguinaldo and give his support to the Americans.

The Spaniards, reasoning from their experience with the natives, refuse to believe that the rebellion is anywhere near put down. They declare that the Filipinos will not take their defeat at Malolos with the loss of the city and the removal of their so-called government, seriously to heart. On the contrary the Spaniards predict that the insurgents will hover near the American lines, bothering them as much as possible, and, when attacked in force, dissolve, only to reappear at other points. This sort of tactics—the Spaniards say—will be followed until the wet season compels the Americans to be housed in barracks, and then the Filipinos will return and reoccupy such towns as the United States troops do not garrison.

With the next dry season a repetition of the present operations will begin. Time alone will show how much there is in this theory; but, as against it, it must be borne in mind that the Spaniards in all their domination of the Philippines never gave the inhabitants a demonstration of power comparable in effectiveness to that given them by the United States.

A priest and two members of the so-called Filipino congress, who hid themselves in the woods during the fighting which preceded the capture of Malolos, returned there yesterday and declared that 2000 of the Filipino soldiers were anxious to give up fighting and would do so but for their officers, who keep them under arms.

The whole country between Malolos and Caloocan is now full of friendlies, mostly women, children and old people, who are returning to their homes, carrying white flags. The Americans are trying to gain the confidence of the inhabitants by proving to them that if they will return and attend to their ordinary work peacefully, no harm will befall them. Two hundred and fifty civilians came back to their homes in Malolos last evening. Two thousand women and children, with a sprinkling of unarmed men, supposed to be warriors, came to the outskirts of Malolos on the sea side of the city and afterwards sneaked away, carrying all the goods they could.

There has been no little good natured rivalry as to which regiment—the First Montana or the Twentieth Kansas—is entitled to the honor of having raised its flag first in Malolos. Colonel Funston and 20 men of company E, Kansas volunteers, claim the distinction on the ground, as already cabled, of having entered the town at double-quick and raised the company's flag, but the first flag to be recognized officially was that of company G of the Montana infantry.

More From Agoncillo.

Paris, April 3.—Agoncillo, the agent of Aguinaldo, in the course of an interview published in La Patrie, says: "The capture of Malolos is not as important as the Americans are trying to make it appear. The Filipino government had already determined upon removal to San Fernando, and a small detachment of troops was left with orders to burn the town and thus to draw the Americans inland. Two months of rain and fever will save the Filipinos their ammunition and a good deal of trouble; and the war will not end while a single Filipino remains to bear arms." He charges Major General Otis with opening the hostilities, and holds the Americans responsible for the transfer of the Spanish prisoners and for preventing the Filipinos negotiating a treaty with Spain. Agoncillo is confined to his room with the influenza.

SOMEONE YELLED "POLICE."

False Alarm at a Cocking Main Resulted Disastrously For Sports.

Worcester, Mass., April 3.—Men from Boston, Providence, Worcester and other places assembled in a dance hall at Echo Grove, Hopkinton, yesterday for a cocking main. The principal battle was between Blackstone and North Purchase birds, best two in three. The North Purchase birds won. There were about 30 birds to be fought, but the decision in the battle between the Blackstone and North Purchase birds caused such a wrangle that to quiet the disturbance someone shouted "police." Then there was a wild stampede through the narrow windows, which were about 10 feet from the ground. In the crush more than a dozen sports were injured, some of them seriously. One Milford man had his leg broken, another from the same place fractured his ankle, and a third injured his spine. A Hopkinton man fell on his face on the frozen ground, and others who jumped landed on his prostrate form. He was unconscious when picked up, and his nose was almost torn from his face. Broken wrists and fingers and internal injuries were numerous.

Strike In Prospect.

Clinton, Mass., April 3.—A strike is threatened among the weavers at the Lancaster mills, notwithstanding the fact that the company has issued a notice of a raise in wages today of 7 percent. The weavers are, however, dissatisfied with the amount, and notified the agent Saturday that a greater amount was desired. The agent stated that the company made but one cutdown during the hard times, while nearly all the other large companies made two, and the increase of today is a restoration to the wage level of 1894. The younger element among the weavers is urging the strike, while the elder portion opposes it.

Disturbance at Havana.

Havana, April 3.—Late yesterday afternoon a conflict occurred at La Machina wharf between the police and some marines and sailors of the Resolute. The appearance of General Ludlow and the police reserves quelled the disturbance. It is asserted that the marines were more or less intoxicated; that one of them raised a row; that the police interfered and thereupon the companions of the intoxicated marine set upon the police. Several shots were fired before the arrival of the military governor and the police reserves under Chief Menocal. The marines returned to the Resolute. One policeman was wounded in the affray.

An Old Bunco Game.

Lawrence, Mass., April 3.—A well-dressed man went into J. H. Gurdy's confectionery store and asked the bookkeeper for a $20 bill in exchange for that amount in small bills, saying that he wished to send the money away in a letter. The lady accommodated him, and while she was counting the money the man pretended to put the bill in an envelope, which he sealed. The bookkeeper found out that the stranger had given her only $19. He told her to keep the envelope until he went out to secure another dollar. He did not come back, and on examination the envelope was found to contain only a blank paper.

Norseman Still Stranded.

Marblehead, Mass., April 3.—Thousands of persons made an Easter pilgrimage to this town yesterday to see the stranded steamer Norseman on Tom Moore's rock. The visitors had considerable bravery, for the wind was bitterly cold at the Neck. There was little to be seen, as no efforts were made to move the big craft. A stern line was put out for protection, and several tugs at high tide took a bight on this as a precautionary measure. The steam pumps were kept going all day, but little headway in diminishing the water in the hold was made.

A Break For Freedom.

Brunswick, Ga., April 3. — Twelve negro prisoners broke jail Saturday night and one was mortally wounded while resisting capture. The criminals broke an iron bar in their cage and with it knocked down Jailer Rudolph. They then rushed to the street and were seen escaping by a member of the fire department, who gave an alarm. One of the fugitives attempted to strike Fireman Smith. Smith fired and the ball penetrated the negro's forehead and he fell in his tracks. Nine were captured. The three others are still at large.

Aggressive Turks.

Vienna, April 3.—A serious collision has taken place between Bulgarian and Turkish frontier guards at Kozyi-Agob. According to a dispatch from Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, the Turks attacked a weak Bulgarian outpost; but the Bulgarians, aided by armed inhabitants, repulsed their assailants after a four hours' fight. Both sides suffered losses of killed and wounded. The Turks, the dispatch says, were seeking to secure a position hitherto held by the Bulgarians.

The Stella's Death List.

London, April 3.—This morning's papers publish approximate lists of the saved and drowned passengers of the steamer Stella of the London and Southwestern Railway company, which was wrecked upon the Casquet rocks, near the island of Alderney, last Thursday afternoon. These show the death roll to include about 80.

A LACK OF INITIATIVE.

Had Demoralizing Effect Upon Cervera's Men at Santiago.

Situation Just the Reverse on the American Side.

Commander Jacobson Thinks a Fleet Could Leave Santiago Unobserved.

Washington, April 3.—The last of the interesting series of sketches of the Spanish-American war deals with the condition of the Spanish ships after the battle of Santiago. This portion of the sketch, written by Commander Jacobson of the German navy, contains a number of observations regarding the technical effect of our gun fire which will interest naval officers.

The most interesting observations to the laymen are those upon the strategy, or lack of it, displayed by Cervera. The Spanish admiral, having been ordered to leave the harbor to remove the main object of the attack upon Santiago, Commander Jacobson says his position was most difficult. He did not dare make the attempt at night, and he decided to go out in broad daylight.

"The whole crew," he says, "fell a victim to this fatal decision. Instructions for the sortie and the western course were issued. The admiral was entirely convinced of the impossibility of defeating the enemy or of reaching another Cuban harbor, even if he should succeed in steaming right through the hostile fleet. It is to this feeling of helplessness and impotence more than to anything else that I attribute the defeat. The Spanish ships had spent a month and a half in the harbor without even attempting to attack the blockading fleet when a favorable opportunity presented itself, or even of harrassing it. The two torpedo boat destroyers were not used for the purpose for which they were intended. This inactivity and lack of initiative must have had a very demoralizing effect on the officers and men. If we add to this the certain knowledge that the opposing forces were much stronger it will be readily understood that the idea of general flight after coming out of the harbor entrance was the only acceptable one, especially in view of the possibility of beaching the ships, thereby rendering them unserviceable, and eventually rescuing the crews. From the very moment that this feeling of impotence took possession of the Spanish and led to the above reflections, their fate, psychologically speaking, was sealed. We do not mean to disparage their valor and tenacity in the midst of the hostile fire; but, on the other hand, it is quite natural that the admiral, seeing that everything was happening as he had foreseen, was the one who set the example of running his ships ashore. All the other commanders followed this example.

"On the American side the situation was just the reverse. Admiral Sampson's fleet was fully conscious of its power. The blockade was being conducted in accordance with carefully prepared plans, as were also the arrangements in case of the enemy's attempt to escape. Frequent engagements with the Spanish forts had given commanders and crews that calm assurance in the handling of their weapons which guarantees success. The long blockade service, exhausting and monotonous, hardly interrupted by any action on the part of the Spanish, had strung the nerves to the highest pitch, and everybody was anxious for the end to come. Suddenly the enemy attempts to escape. All the passions that had been smouldering under the ashes broke forth. The welcome opportunity for settling accounts with the enemy had come at last and with a wild rush the American ships fell upon their victims. At the beginning the American fire, owing to the excitement of the personnel and the great distances, was probably not very effective; but when the Spanish admiral turned to the westward and the other ships followed him, the moral superiority of the Americans reasserted itself. The commanders, calm and coolheaded, had their ships follow the same course, and the Americans, having every advantage on their side, recommenced the fire on the fleeing ships, which soon resulted in their total annihilation.

"I have already spoken of the lack of training of the Spanish crews, the neglect of gun and torpedo target practice, the inadequate education of the commanders of the ships and torpedo boat destroyers. It is mainly due to these deficiencies that the defeat was hastened and that the American ships sustained so few losses.

"The training of the engine personnel also was totally unreliable, which is not surprising in view of the fact that Spanish ships, as a rule, are not sent out on extensive cruises. The bottoms of the Spanish ships had not been cleaned for a long time, and as they had been lying in Santiago harbor for a month and a half, they were considerably fouled. Thus the criusers Maria Teresa, Oquendo and Vizcaya, which in all official books are credited with 18.5 knots speed, went into the battle with a speed of from 10 to 12 knots at most, and the Cristobal Colon, which is the latest ship, and was to run 20 knots, hardly attained a speed of 13.5. Under these circumstances, in every way unfavorable for the Spanish, whose crews were insufficiently trained and physically and morally enervated by long inactivity, whose ships were inferior in number, speed and fighting efficiency, it is no wonder that the victory of the Americans was easy and paid for with insignificant sacrifices.

"There was only one chance for the success of the sortie. It should have been made at night in scattered formation. After a personal investigation of the locality, it is my opinion that it is entirely practicable for a fleet to leave Santiago harbor at night. The wreck of the Merrimac did not constitute an obstruction. It is true that Admiral Sampson's report on the night blockade states that the lightships were lying from one to two miles from Morro castle, according to the state of the atmosphere, and that they lighted up the channel for half a mile inside. Even the best searchlight, however, does not reach farther than one mile. Therefore the illumination could not have been very effective. Moreover, the shore batteries, by opening fire upon the lightships, could have compelled them to change their positions, but, strange to say, this was never done. The dark nights at the time of the new moon, about the middle of June, would have been best suited for the enterprise.

"If the fleet did not dare attempt a night sortie, and was nevertheless compelled to leave the harbor in obedience to orders, then the ships should have headed straight at the enemy. All weapons, including the torpedo and ram, should have been used. A bold attack in close formation was the only chance of success against the superior hostile fighting forces, who would have hardly found time to form their lines."

The lessons Commander Jacobson derives from the battle, briefly stated, are: Abolition of all woodwork; no unprotected torpedo tubes; protection for all gun crews against shell fire; smokeless powder; greatest possible rapidity of fire; good speed of vessels under normal conditions and thorough training of the crews in all branches of the service.

Commander Jacobson also gives some of his observations of the Porto Rican campaign, but these contain nothing of special moment.

A Tip For "Assembly."

Washington, April 3.—It is reiterated by two members of the cabinet that no consideration will be paid to any proposition for money for the Cuban army outside the $3,000,000 fund now awaiting their acceptance, and furthermore, it is hinted that if too much trouble and deliberate delay occurs, preliminary to that amount being turned over to the Cubans, the $3,000,000 may be withdrawn and no payment of any sort made by this government on account of the Cuban troops. No proposition for an additional sum will be considered in any form and the statement to that effect by Secretary Hay in the unofficial interview with the two delegates from the assembly will stand. It is also stated by cabinet officials that no attention will be paid to the project for authorizing a Cuban loan.

Crew Saved.

Halifax, April 3.—Schooner Gleaner, from Parrsboro, N. S., for St. John, N. B., laden with coal, was last week given up as lost with all hands. Yesterday the crew reached Parrsboro with the news that their vessel foundered in the Bay of Fundy during last Wednesday's hurricane, the men being barely able to take to the boats and abandon the schooner before she was engulfed by the high running waves. They were then four miles from Isle Haut, which they reached after eight hours of hard rowing through the howling storm.

Over Three Feet of Snow.

Concord, N. H., April 3.—The official report of the weather observer at St. Paul's school states that snow fell during the month of March to the amount of 38 inches. The record of March has been exceeded but once in the last 50 years. The depth of snow at the end of the month is estimated at 28 inches. Sleighing has been good from Nov. 27, a period of 125 days, and still continues, though the snow is now fast disappearing.

Iron Miners on Strike.

Birmingham, Ala., April 3. — Two thousand iron ore miners employed at Musdoda, Fossil, Redding, Wades Gap and Alice and the coal miners working at Hargrove and Belle Ellen, in Bibb county, are on strike. The cause of the trouble is said to be inaccuracy in the check system. The coal miners struck because the day laborers did not receive the advance accorded the miners on March 1.

Wound Proves Fatal.

Burlington, Vt., April 3.—Charles Murphy, who was shot by George Doherty during a quarrel at Bolton on Feb. 20, and who was brought to the hospital in this city for treatment, died Saturday night. Doherty has been confined in jail at Montpelier awaiting the outcome of Murphy's injuries. The charge will probably be that of manslaughter.

Was an Ex-Clergyman.

Boston, April 3.—The man killed by an express train at Medford Friday night was identified yesterday as John E. Pattengale of South Lancaster, Ont. Pattengale was once an ordained clergyman in Montreal, but business reverses caused him to drift about earning a precarious living. Among his effects were letters from President McKinley.

Where Is Sweeney?

Boston, April 3.—The Boston police are looking for Jack Sweeney, who is wanted in New York city in connection with the case of Charles Beasley, for whose murder Eddie Wise was sentenced to death. The police have been told that Sweeney was in Boston as late as last Wednesday. He has relatives living in Jamaica Plain.

Troops Going to China.

London, April 3.—According to a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Hong Kong serious disturbances have recently occurred in the vicinity of Canton, and a British torpedo boat destroyer has been sent there to protect British interests. The destroyer will soon be followed by other vessels carrying troops.

Good Afternoon.

It is a great day for Quincy and the "K's, Not only Co. K, but Mayor Keith, Captain Kincaide and Chief Marshal Keating, It has been one of the most enthusiastic days in the history of Quincy, and the Ledger rejoices to see it.

Not only has the Daily Ledger kept the people of Quincy well posted on the doings of Co. K, and kept alive an interest in "the Dandy Fifth," but it has sent several free copies daily to members of Co. K, so that they have kept in touch with the city. While the boys have suffered many privation, they will not recount these when they know that their services have been appreciated.

The effort of the publishers today has been to issue a souvenir Ledger, which would be prized by members of Co. K and Quincy generally. If other current events seem to have only minor mention, the fact should be overlooked as so much of our time and space has been required.

It will be with considerable pride that Quincy people read the following editorial from the Greenville News:

ADIOS, Fifth Massaahusetts! We were glad to see you come, we have enjoyed your visit as much as anybody could enjoy anything in the horrible weather provided for us and we are sorry to see you go. We are doubly sorry because we have had to mourn with you so many of your dead. You will carry with you the respect and good will of all Greenville and you have deserved them. We have learned not only like but to honor you. You are collectively a credit to your fine old State and individually good boys with the stamp of good people and homes on you. We will miss you in many ways and we will remember you kindly. Don't forget us.

We are also pleased to learn that members of the Fifth Massachusetts behaved themselves after the muster out and while en route home. After the military restraint of nine months a little hilarity over freedom is but natural, but some regiments have disgraced themselves and their States. We read in the Charlotte (N. C.) Observer:

Mustered out New York volunteer soldiers who passed through this city Saturday, March 25, behaved on the train and here like barbarians, disgracing their uniforms, their States and themselves. They were drunk and disorderly, and their firing of pistols, destruction of property and theft of edibles was not as bad as their outrageous profanity and obscenity on the cars in the hearing of ladies. Certainly they are brutes when sober and whiskey only developed the vileness already in them.

The arrangements made for a hearty welcome home for the Massachusetts companies were undoubtedly a power for good, and to be encouraged by all loyal citizens for this reason. Make the welcome as hearty as possible, and when the boys have enjoyed the vacation they have well earned, and seek employment, aid them in securing it. Well done, boys.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ That peace congress which is to assemble at The Hague will afford one of the most signal proofs of the humane progress of the race. What a grand thing it would be if this proposal of the czar should crystalize into a compact between the powers that would eliminate war from the civilized stage of the world. One can scarcely hope for as much as this, but there is no doubt of the beneficial effect of the deliberations there.—Brockton Times.

CO. K WELCOMED HOME.

Quincy Out En Masse to Do Honor to the Soldier Boys.

A Grand Gala Day for the City of Presidents.

Received in New York and Boston by Committees, and at Neponset and Quincy by Thousands.

Everybody in Quincy turned out today to give Company K a royal welcome home, after its tour of duty for the United States. Flags, large and small and hundreds of yards of national bunting were in evidence everywhere, which gives the city an appearance of being in holiday attire.

Young America was about early, and few were here who did not have a flag. These were supplied by Councilman Hultman who with 3,000 minature flags stowed away in his pockets appeared in front of City Hall, where he was kept busy giving them out.

It was announced that the special trains having the regiment aboard would pass through Quincy about 9 o'clock and at that hour there was a large crowd at the depot to get their first view of the returning soldiers. The first section consisting of twelve cars passed through at 8.50. The second section, in which was Company K, passed through at 9.12 and many of the boys were on the platform of the cars waving their hats and flags to acquaintances whom they recognized on the platform.

Many took the 9.12 train for Boston but the large majority remained at home to welcome the boys here.

It was a very hearty greeting which the Fifth regiment received in Boston. Thousands were in the Terminal station an hour before the arrival of the trains. Police cleared the midway with difficulty just before the trains arrived. They came practically on time, and there were hurrahs when the boys embarked. Committees from Quincy, Braintree and elsewhere met the different companies.

The companies quickly formed and took up the line of march. It was with difficulty that they could get through the crowds in the Terminal, and beyond all the streets and buildings along the line were crowded.

They passed the State House and were reviewed by Gov. Wolcott, and then countermarched on Beacon street, and delivered the Regimental and State colors to the Governor.

Many of the Quincy Citizens' committee joined the boys on Beacon street including W. F. Hoehn, F. F.

LIEUT. SPEAR.

Prescott, C. F. Pettengill, Elisha Packard, C. F. Knowlton, George H. Wilson, Fred W. Tirrell, E. H. Doane, H. L. Kincaide and others.

The first five of the committee then escorted Co. K via. Beacon and Charles streets to Park Square.

After waiting some time for the City Committee special cars were taken for Neponset, where they arrived before 12 o'clock half an hour a head of time.

The cars had not arrived and the band was not expected for some time, hence a delay.

CAPT. KINCAIDE.

THE SCENE IN QUINCY.

Long before the time at which it was expected the boys would arrive people began to arrive at City Square and at 1 o'clock thousands had gathered ready to shout out their welcome to the returning defenders. It was an animated sight, and will long be remembered by the younger generation as a lesson in patriotism, for nothing makes so lasting an impression upon a young mind as the sight of returning soldiers. True, the boys of Company K did not have an opportunity to fire their guns in defense of their nation's honor, but that was not their fault. They were ready and willing and had they been sent to the front, Quincy, the state and the nation would have no cause to believe that Company K would not do its duty and do it well.

Quincy feels proud of its returning soldiers and the welcome it gave them would remove all doubt if any existed that the citizens were glad to see them return safe and sound.

The first notice that the citizens had that the boys were once more in their native town was at 11.55 when the fire alarm sounded 4—4—4, the militia call, which was a signal that the boys had arrived at Neponset. This was earlier than expected, however. From that time, everybody was in a state of nervous expectancy and the old town clock was watched as it slowly marked off the minutes, each of which brought the boys nearer home.

It was just 1.20 o'clock when the special cars containing the company pulled into City Square. At that time the church bells were ringing out their welcome, the whistles in the quarries were sounding, and the old Pilgrim fog horn on the street railway building was being worked by relays, so that it kept up a continuous roar. Add to this the boom of a canon, and you have the racket complete.

With difficulty the company worked through the crowd and filed in the Y. M. C. A. rooms where Caterer Nash served a lunch. In the meantime the procession was being formed in City square.

Lunch over the line of procession moved in the following order:

BUCK SHEEP KILLED A FOX.

After a Battle Reynard, the Marauder, Was Neatly Dispatched.

Edward O. Denton, a Somerset farmer, has a flock of Dorset sheep which he is willing to pit against a whole pack of foxes. He went to Lockport, N. Y., the other afternoon with a big fox, which, he declares, his sheep killed a few nights ago. The hired man corroborates his story.

About 11 o'clock he was aroused by the bleating of the bucks, and he recognized it as a challenge on the part of the old warriors. He frequently had seen dogs attack the flock, and the bucks invariably drove them off. The Dorsets have long, straight horns, that are as sharp as needles, and the breed is pugnacious.

A number of lambs had been born recently, so Mr. Denton ran out to the fold. When he entered, he saw the oldest ram standing guard over a red fox, just killed. The fox had heard the bleating of the lambs and jumped into the inclosure. The bucks apparently gave the intruder battle, and a horn had pierced the fox's neck near the skull. The sheep had then trampled on the prostrate animal, penetrating the hide in no less than 50 places.

Apparently there had been a battle royal in the inclosure, from which reynard could not escape. Two or three of the sheep had been badly bitten, but they outnumbered their enemy.—New York Press.

The Portrait of the Century.

Sargent's portrait of Mr. Wertheimer will be placed side by side of the most famous masterpieces that have come to us from the days when painters could afford to be true to the very highest purposes of their art. It will be placed there, and it will not suffer by comparison. The hand of man never painted a portrait that more completely embodied the character, the mind, the feeling, the history, of the subject.—Atlanta Constitution.

NINE MONTHS AWAY.

Interesting Daily Chronology of the War and Co. K Movements.

Not until one attempts to summarize the events of the Spanish war and the daily doings which interested Co. K of the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment, U. S.V., does one realize the length of service and history which "our boys" have made. It was on July 1, 1898, over nine months ago that Co. K was mustered into the United States service. During all this time the Daily Ledger has kept the people of Quincy well informed by daily letters of the movements health, duties and rumors concerning the command. From these daily letters we have attempted to record the most important items of each day, and found it too great an undertaking for one issue. We have however covered about one half of the period up to the time of the departure from Camp Mead for Camp Wetherill, and will complete the chronology in Saturday's issue. The list of daily events will doubtless prove of interest to Co. K and relatives, of the future as well as today, and the Ledger should therefore be saved as a souvenir.

☞ The General Secretary of the National Sound Money League says that if any large party adopts the principles of the Chicago platform in 1900 the league will be well prepared to do splendid work to defeat the candidate nominated on that platform. Unless there is a most radical change in the political sentiment in the next 12 months, of which there is no indication at present, the league will have the opportunity of girding on its armor.—Lynn Item.

☞ The House has decided that 1000 liquor licenses in Boston are quite enough. At first blush this would seem to be a very sensible view of the question to take. Boston is big, but a thousand thirst parlors can keep a drought away from an awful lot of people.—Brockton Enterprise.

CANCER CURED

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

Swell
Bicycles

To ride a bicycle means the modern way of building brains and muscle. Mr. Pickwick used to say, "Always shout with the crowd, and when there are two crowds, shout with the largest."

His wisdom you can apply to the bicycle situation, for people everywhere are riding bicycles, and if you desire to be up to date, enlist at once in the bicycle army.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

LIFE IN PORTO RICO.

Interesting Facts About the Conditions In the Island.

SPECIAL COMMISSIONER'S REPORT.

Dr. Beard Says the Natives Live on Bananas, and Only 12 Per Cent Can Write—No Buildings Are Specially Set Apart as Schoolhouses—Meat Rarely Eaten.

Dr. A F. Beard, who was sent to Porto Rico as the special commissioner of the American Missionary association, has made a report of the conditions in that island, as related to population, education, homes and opportunities for a new Americanism, such as the association has represented for more than half a century. Following is a summary of his report:

"A census of Porto Rico lately taken gives the population as 890,000, which may be divided in round numbers as follows: White, 500,000; colored, 390,000, of whom about 90,000 are blacks. This gives a dense population of nearly 243 to the square mile. The whites comprise the Spaniards and Porto Ricans of Spanish blood. The colored are of all shades, chiefly burnt sienna, and mostly straight haired. The blacks are negroes, pure and simple. The whites may be divided into the ruling class, numbering perhaps 100,000, and the peasants, or gibaros, 400,000. The colored are mixed (mestizos). The peasants, or gibaros, with the mestizos and blacks, together form the class of unskilled laborers. They are miserably poor, and literally live from hand to mouth. Their cabins, or "shacks," are set on poles driven into the ground, the floor being raised a few feet. The average household furniture consists of a few dishes and utensils made of calabash shells, or gourds, with some rude earthenware. A little patch of land for the plantain grove, or some corn or sweet potatoes, possibly a cow, a pig and a diminutive horse of Gothic architecture form the property and provision for life.

"The people seldom get any meat and but little bread for food, as none of the cereals grow well there. As a result, they are as a class anæmic and hungry looking. Their staple food is the banana, which, for steady diet, does not put a great deal of iron into the blood. Most of their food grows on trees. Here they are, more than one-half of the population, in dense ignorance, too ignorant to be discontented with this existence, which in its condition is pitiful beyond expression.

"Out of 890,000 there are 111,380 who can read, but of these 14,513 cannot write. Nearly 800,000 are without knowledge beyond that of their own hut. In every town there are certain people with varying attainments in education, who hold the more responsible positions in life, but they have entirely failed to realize any responsibility for this appalling mass of ignorance about them. One-half of the population is in towns. All of the towns are built on the same general plan, and in most of them four of the five senses are constantly offended. Odors are always in evidence. As to feeling, the opportunities for the study of entomology are unbounded. As to taste, everything is saturated with garlic. The sight is hurt constantly in the wan and pinched faces of the poor and in their apparently needless poverty in a land where plenty would come easily and in their ignorance of the fact that the lower animals are God's creatures. They lash their stunted horses without mercy; they prick their oxen cruelly with goads. They do not, however, mean to be cruel. They are very humane people to their own neighbors who are sufferers. They show affection for children, though not care for them.

"As to government, the island is divided into seven districts, with a county seat in each. These are as yet under Spanish laws and governed by local authorities. Each town has now, however, a United States commandant and a garrison of soldiers to make sure of good government in this time of transition. We found these commandants high toned officers, seeking the betterment of the people. They furnished us with interpreters and introductions to the schools and gave us every facility in our investigation. We visited many schools in many places. With one exception we found no building constructed and set apart for educational use. Public schools are in private houses. In every town the Spaniards had substantial buildings for the military, which kept the people down, but no schoolhouses. Certainly Spain went away none too soon.

"The teacher of the private school is paid from the public fund, but he furnishes the schoolroom and all that therein is, and this does not require much wealth. Seldom did we find in any schools desks, and there were only backless benches. One reading book sufficed for a class, being passed from one pupil to another. The schools are ungraded and but a small fraction of the pupils got beyond reading and writing, and these pupils were the exceptional few.

"The military governor, General Henry, gives his position and influence to all things that are good. He is an able administrator for civil improvements. The large theater in San Juan is secured for religious services and well attended. Sunday school is held there every Sunday morning. Sermons are preached in Spanish and English. American officers and their wives sing in the choir. The American Missionary association has already voted to plant three schools in three different interesting centers of Porto Rico, to be in full operation in October next. One of these schools will be in the north, another in the center and the third on the west coast of the island."—New York Press.

BARRELS OF SAMPLES.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Quincy Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder, and Blood Rheumatism Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler let it stand 24 hours if it has a sediment or if it is pale or discolored, milky or cloudy, stringy or roppy your Kidneys or Bladder are in a bad condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy speedily cures such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it, frequent desire to urinate especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous affects on the system produced by the use of whiskey, wine or beer. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 for a large bottle; six bottles for $5.00

Easter at First Church.

At the First church the decorations were simple, being confined to a number of handsome Easter lilies placed in front of the desk. Although simple they were most appropriate to the eloquent address of Dr. William Everett which was about flowers and the lessons to be drawn from them. Dr. Everett took for his text these words: "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, but the word of our God shall stand forever."

Flowers, he said, were the type of beauty as far as earth can realize it, never repulsive, never anything but delightful. They were the idea of complete developed organized perfection. In working for perfection we are working for beauty. If we follow out the lessons of the flower we follow it to perfection. The work of God is no more perfectly manifested than in the flower. Before it perishes it stores in its bosom the seed for many plants for years to come. They are as little the symbal of spring as the symbol of beauty is perfection, frailty and decay. It is that which takes us from earthly to heavenly thoughts. Easter was the true central day of Christianity. The musical programe was finely rendered by a mixed quartet. At the vesper services Sunday afternoon the talk was by Rev. Dr. Littlefield of Neponset. A throat trouble prevented the pastor Rev. Mr. Butler from taking part in either of the services.

INTENSE SUFFERING

FROM DYSPEPSIA AND STOMACH TROUBLES

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable cure of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach; he had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night.

I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose As an experiment I finally bought a fifty cent package of Stuarts Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances, fully cured.

There was no more acidity or sour watery risings, no bloating after meals, the appetite was vigorous and he has gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are avertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invlids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but fruit and vegetable essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal.

Without any question they are the safest, most effective cure for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and all derangements of the stomach, however slight or severe." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are made by the F. A. Stuart Co., of Marshall, Mich., and are sold by druggists everywhere at fifty cents per pacakge.

Easter at Bethany Church.

A congregation of over 700 assembled at the Easter service in Bethany church Sunday morning, filling every seat in the auditorium and gallery. The platform was banked with ferns and Easter lilies, and there were other flowers.

Rev. E. N. Hardy preached an appropriate sermon from 2d Timothy 1:10 and the music was a feature of the service by Mrs. Jennie Hocking Hunt, director and organist; Miss A. Eastelle Powers, soprano; Miss A. Louise Holbrook, contralto; Mr. Rolland N. Van Buskirk, tenor; Albert L. Hayden, bass; Mr. Fred M. Hawes, violinist.

The same musicians assisted at an Easter concert in the evening.

Surprise Party.

About thirty of the friends of Miss Dora Good tendered her a surprise party Saturday evening at her home on Granite street in honor of her birthday. The evening was passed in a pleasant manner with games, music, etc. During a lull in the festivities Edward B. Brown, in behalf of those present, presented Miss Good with a handsome clock.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Should Be Heard Before Taking Irrevocable Step In the Philippines.

"Imperialism" Violates Declaration of Independence.

Further Argument by Senator Hoar Against Administration's Policy.

Boston, March 31.—Senator Hoar, in a letter made public yesterday, again states his opposition to the policy of imperialism. He denounces it as a policy which, if persisted in, will turn the republic into an empire.

The letter is in reply to one sent him by ex-Governor Boutwell and many other citizens, asking him to be present at a meeting of the citizens of Boston held for the purpose of expressing their sense of obligation to him for his "courageous and patriotic defense of the principles upon which our government was founded.

In his letter Senator Hoar says it is not worth while to hold a meeting just now, though it will be advisable to hold many of them later, preceding this decision with a statement to the effect that "the time has not yet come for any servant of Massachusetts to say anywhere what he thinks is right or what she thinks is right." Senator Hoar says:

"An attempt has been made to persuade the American people that the resistance to our arms by the people of the Philippine islands has been due to those who oppose the attempt to subjugate them, and who opposed the ratification of the treaty by which sovereignty over them was purchased and paid for as an article of merchandise. There was never a more unfounded or a more foolish calumny. A strict military censorship was exercised over the cable to the Philippine islands during the whole period."

After quoting some personal experiences growing out of his position, Senator Hoar says: "The blood of the slaughtered Filipinos, the blood and the wasted health and life of our own soldiers is upon the heads of those who have undertaken to buy a people in the market like sheep, or to treat them as lawful prize or booty of war, to impose a government on them without their consent, and to trample under foot not only the people of the Philippine islands, but the principles upon which the American republic itself rests."

Continuing, Senator Hoar refers to the pledges of the country toward Cuba, and the president's declaration that any other conduct on our part would have been 'criminal aggression.' The law of righteousness and justice on which the great and free American people should act, and in the end, I am sure, will act, depends not on parallels of latitude and meridians of longitude or points of the compass.

"It is the same yesterday, today and forever. It is as true now as when our fathers declared it in 1776. It is as binding upon William McKinley today as it was upon George Washington or Abraham Lincoln. The only powers of government the American people can recognize are the just powers, and those powers rest upon the consent of the governed.

"No man during this whole discussion has successfully challenged, and no man will successfully challenge, the affirmation that under the constitution of the United States the acquisition of territory, as of other property, is not a constitutional end, but only a means to a constitutional end, and that while we may acquire and hold territory for those purposes, the governing of subject peoples is not a constitutional end, and that there is therefore no constitutional warrant for acquiring and holding territory for that purpose."

Mr. Hoar further says that to leave our own country to stand on foreign soil is in violation of the warnings of our fathers, and of the farewell address of Washington; that there was never a tropical colony yet governed with any tolerable success without a system of contract labor. The trade advantages of the Philippine islands, if there be any, he argues, must be opened alike to all the world, and our share of them will never begin to pay the cost of subjugating them by war or holding them in subjection in peace.

Aguinaldo and his followers, he says, before we began to make war upon them, had conquered their own territory and independence from Spain, with the exception of a single city, and were getting ready to establish a free constitution. While they are fighting for freedom and independence and the doctrines of our fathers, we are fighting for the principle that one people may control and govern another in spite of its resistance and against its will.

Senator Hoar concludes his letter as follows: "The question the American people are now considering and with which they are about to deal is not a question of a day or of a year, or of an administration, or of a century. It is to effect and largely determine the whole future of the country. We can recover from a mistake in regard to other matters which have interested or divided the people, however important or serious. Tariffs, currency and revenue laws, and even foreign wars, all these, as Thomas Jefferson said, "are billows that will pass under the ship." But if the republic is to violate the law of its being, if it is to be converted into an empire, not only the direction of the voyage is to be changed, but the chart and the compass are to be thrown away. We have not as yet taken the irrevocable step. Before it is taken let the voice of the whole people be heard."

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

AN ADVANCE IN WAGES

Close to 140,000 Operatives Are Benefited Thereby.

Some Dissatisfaction Where Advance Was Not Large Enough to Suit.

Boston, April 4.—It is estimated that close to 140,000 operatives were benefited by the advances in wages which went into effect in various New England mills yesterday, the number affected being approximately as follows:

Worcester	2,000
Fall River	30,000
Salem	1,500
New Bedford	9,000
Fitchburg	1,400
Lowell	20,000
Taunton	500
Amesbury	800
Manchester, N. H	14,000
Nashua, N. H	3,000
Concord, N. H	1,000
Somersworth, N. H	2,200
Biddeford, Me	4,000
Brunswick, Me	700
Waterville, Me	1,400
Augusta, Me	1,200
Lewiston, Me	4,800
Various Rhode Island mills	40,000
Total	137,500

The increase averaged from 7 to 10 percent, and in most cases it was simply a restoration of the schedule which existed before the general cutdown made by the mills at the beginning of last year.

Besides the mills which entered upon the new schedule yesterday, many New England mills began last week to pay the increased wages. Among them were some Lawrence, Manchester and Rhode Island mills.

Yesterday's advance went into effect in most of the cotton mills in Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Maine, as well as a large number in this state, including the corporations of Fall River, which employ about 27,000 hands, the mills of New Bedford, employing about 9000, and those at Lowell, with about 20,000 operatives. Of the New Hampshire mills, the Amoskeag corporation of Manchester has about 8000 on its payroll. The 15 mills of Robert Knight, the big Rhode Island manufacturer, who has several plants in this state, are included in yesterday' advance.

The following mills scattered throughout Massachusetts and Connecticut have also granted their employes restoration: Naumkeag of Salem, Parkhill of Fitchburg, Hamilton of Amesbury, Lancaster of Clinton, Whitinsville, Linwood, Saundersville, Fisherville, Rockdale, Northbridge and Slater mills of Worcester county, Corr of Taunton, Greylock of North Adams, Chicopee of Chicopee, Williamstown of Williamstown, Berkshire of North Adams, Readville of Hyde Park, Hebron of Dodgeville, Quinnebaug of Danielson, Conn.; Williamsville of Killingly, Attawaucan, Grosvenordale, Ballouville and Wauregan of eastern Connecticut.

The restoration gives a general satisfaction in manufacturing centers, although in a small number of places the operatives assert that the advance is not as great as the reduction of 1898. The slashers of Fall River have informed the manufacturers that they thought they had not been used just right, but no serious trouble is anticipated.

The weavers at one of the Parkhill mills in Fitchburg have struck because the advance was not large enough to suit them, but an early adjustment is propable. There is also some dissatisfaction at the Lancaster mills in Clinton and at one or two other points.

Burlington Mills Close.

Burlington, Vt., April 4.—Owing to a strike of the weavers in the Burlington woolen mills at Winooski, the plant was shut down yesterday for an indefinite period. About 140 hands struck last week because the management refused to discharge John Hardacre, foreman of the weaving room, with whom the weavers had a difference. The Burlington cotton mills also shut down yesterday because of a strike of the mule spinners. The spinners demand a readjustment of the wage schedule.

Michigan Elections.

Detroit, April 4.—Yesterday's elections in Michigan have not shown any marked change in the general political complexion of the state, which is normally Republican, but the returns show quite heavy Democratic gains in some of the larger cities. On a generally light vote the Republicans hold their own in the smaller cities and throughout the rural districts. Circuit judges were elected in 36 districts. About two-thirds of the new judges, who are elected for six years, are Republicans. The Republicans elect Justice Claurius E. Grant as justice of the supreme court by a majority of at least 20,000.

For Promotion of Peace.

Philadelphia, April 4.—Resolutions were passed by both the Baptist and the Methodist pastors' conferences of Philadelphia yesterday recommending the supreme court of nations plan presented in a memorial by Senator Frye of Maine in the United States senate, Feb. 24, 1896, the same to be the basis of a permanent peace court of nations to be urged by the American representation at the Hague in May next.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

Warren F. Leland, Proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, Is on His Death Bed.

New York, April 4.—At 9 o'clock last night the condition of Warren F. Leland, proprietor of the Windsor hotel, who was recently operated on for appendicitis, became serious. Dr. Pitkin advised that all the relatives be summoned.

WARREN F. LELAND.

The doctor remained at the bedside throughout the night. At 1 o'clock this morning all hope of Mr. Leland's recovery had departed.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 4.—The senate yesterday voted to reconsider the rejection of the bills to pay money to the Bogan, Cadigan and McDonnald families. In the debate on the Bogan bill Senator Chamberlain mentioned Alderman Presho of Boston, and charged him with active lobbying in favor of the measure. Alderman Presho says he will take up the charge before the board of aldermen.

The house met at 1 o'clock and will continue to do so until next week, when morning sessions will be held. The house passed the following bills; Authorizing the town of Grafton to incur indebtedness on account of school purposes outside of the debt limit; permitting Waltham to build drains and water courses. The adverse report of the committee against allowing the school committee of Lawrence to select sites for schoolhouses was negative and the bill substituted. The house engaged in a long debate on the bill which provides for replacing electric car tracks on Tremont street, Boston.

The committee on cities reported a bill allowing the city of Everett to borrow $50,000 outside of the debt limit for school purposes; the committee on military affairs reported a bill providing for state aid between June 1 of the present year and January, 1905, for Massachusetts soldiers who served in the Spanish war.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition of Mayor Quincy for legislation to reorganize the institutions registration department of the city of Boston. A resolve authorizing the distribution of 200 copies of "Massachusetts in the Army and Navy" was reported from the committee on printing.

There was another discussion of the civil service repeal by the public service committee, and it was virtually decided that the committee will now bend its energies to securing the correction of certain defects in the civil service law rather than its repeal. They will consider the question further.

'Twas a Short One.

New York, April 4.—George Byers of Boston got the decision over Charles Goff of Oregon in the second round of what was to have been a 20-round bout at the Broadway Athletic club last night. They met at 150 pounds. In the first round honors were about even. In the second round Goff was knocked down three times. He tried to rise, but the referee stopped the fight and awarded the decision to Byers.

Search Ended.

New York, April 4.—The work of searching the ruins of the Windsor hotel ended at 1 o'clock yesterday. The contractor said that every bit of the debris had been turned over, and that all parts of the ruins had been ransacked for bones and property. He thinks there is no human remnant left in the ruins. The total of the known dead now numbers 45, and several persons are still missing.

As If on a Pivot.

Marblehead, Mass., April 4.—The attempts to pull off the steamer Norseman yesterday did not succeed, although at flood tide the vessel was afloat at bow and stern, and acted as if she was pivoted on a rock amidships. Another attempt to move her will be made. She will probably have to be beached here, as the risk is too great to tow her to Boston.

CHILDREN LOOKED ON

While a Chicago Woman Stabbed Her Husband to Death.

Had Kicked and Threatened to Murder Her.

Butcher Knife Snatched From His Hand and Terrible Duel Ensued.

Chicago, April 4.—Before his two children, aged 8 and 4 years, Joseph Brown was stabbed to death yesterday by his wife, Clara.

The murder was the outcome of a family quarrel. Brown had beaten and kicked his wife, and threatened to kill her with a butcher knife that was lying on the table.

When Brown made a move toward the knife, Mrs. Brown snatched it herself. Brown raised his foot and kicked her, but in falling she lunged forward with the knife, striking him fairly in the stomach. Maddened with pain the two contiued to battle, the husband striking and the wife plunging the knife into her husband, until at the fifth blow he fell backward dead.

Brown was stabbed five times, once under the chin, twice in the stomach and twice on the right side.

All made big, gaping wounds, and any one of them would have proved fatal.

'Lection Day In Ohio.

Cincinnati, April 4.—Elections were held in Ohio yesterday for municipal and township officers. While the local issues usually control these spring elections, there were other influences in places. At Cleveland there was a decisive Democratic victory on the head of the ticket only, the result being an echo of last year's senatorial contest, when Mayor McKisson was the candidate of the bolting Republicans and the Democrats in the legislature against Senator Hanna. At Columbus a Republican mayor was elected for the first time in 12 years. At Cincinnati the Republicans have a plurality of 7000. The present Democratic mayor was elected two years ago by almost as large a plurality. At Toledo an independent Republican was elected on Pingree issues, assisted by factional complications. At Dayton the Democrats made municipal gains, but the Republicans gained in the township. The western reserve maintains its usual Republican majorities, with some gains over those of former April elections. In the smaller cities as well as in rural districts the Republicans claim some gains.

Another For "Spike."

New York, April 4.—At the Greenwood Athletic club last night Spike Sullivan defeated George Kerwin of Chicago in seven rounds. The men were scheduled to box 25 rounds at 138 pounds. Kerwin was in a semi-groggy condition when he came up for the seventh round. In this round Sullivan sailed into Kerwin like lightning, landing left and right at will, with occasional uppercuts with either hand, while Kerwin's defense was simply useless. Sullivan forced his opponent to the ropes several times and finally succeeded in landing a right-hand smash on the point of the jaw, which felled Kerwin, who dropped helpless in the middle of the ring. Referee White declared Sullivan the winner. The time of the last round was 55 seconds.

Chicago's Mayoralty Fight.

Chicago, April 4.—The vote being polled by John P. Altgeld in the mayoralty election today is admitted by all parties to be a most undecided factor, and yet it is a thing upon which all three candidates, Harrison (Dem.), Carter (Rep.) and Altgeld (Ind. Dem.) are basing their hopes of final success. The Altgeld men say their candidate, who is standing upon the Chicago platform, will secure all the straight silver Democratic vote, and will certainly be elected. In the Harrison faction there is the greatest confidence. They say that there is not the slightest doubt of the mayor's re-election. The Republicans claim that Altgeld will draw enough votes from Harrison to elect Carter beyond a doubt.

Home Again.

Boston, April 4.—After nine months of service in the volunteer army of the United States, the Fifth Massachusetts regiment, U. S. V., returned to Boston yesterday to receive the thanks of the governor of the commonwealth and the plaudits of thousands of citizens of the state and city. Boston's streets were lined with cheering people as the sunbrowned soldiers marched from the South station over a short route to the state house. About the state house was gathered an enormous crowd to witness the simple ceremonies, while long after it was over the streets were filled with citizens and soldiers, the former hurrying the latter away to other receptions and reunions.

Passengers Safe.

Seattle, Wash., April 4.—The steamer City of Topeka, which runs between Puget Sound and Alaska, is ashore on Rocky ledge, a reef at the south end of Wrangel narrows, 100 miles south of Juneau. The Topeka was northward bound, and had about 150 passengers on board. The passengers were taken on to Juneau by the United States lighthouse tender Manzanillo.

Land Owners Also Remonstrate to Taking.

The regular business at Monday night's meeting of the City Council outside of the public hearing was put through with dispatch by President Sidelinger and it was necessary to take a recess of fifteen minutes to kill time until the public hearing was called. Councilmen Dugan and Jameson were absent

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Mayor forwarded a communication saying that at the request of N. Y., N. H. & R. R., he had appointed William C. Robinson and George K. Carter railroad police. The appointments were confirmed.

STREET NUMBERING.

The Mayor in a communication stated that it had been several years since the streets had been numbered and requesting that the city Council take such action as necessary to number the streets. To Commitee on Streets.

REFUNDING THE DEBT.

The Mayor in a Communication stated he had been informed that the act authorizing the city to refund its indebtedness had been signed by the Governor, and that he would like $40,000 of the 1899 debt refunded. To Committee on Finance.

PETITIONS.

A petition was received asking that Beale street, between Farrington street and the Pines, be resurfaced. To Committee on Streets.

Several petitions were received for licenses, state aid, etc., and referred.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

The Committee on Streets reported leave to withdraw on the petition of the New England Telephone Co. for a location on Beale street. Accepted.

The Committee on Licenses reported favorably upon a number of petitions for licenses which were adopted.

A recess was then taken until 8 o'clock.

HEARING ON NEW AVENUE

At 8 o'clock a public hearing was held on the petition to lay out a new street from Granite street to Water street.

No one appeared in favor of the petition and the remonstrance was called for.

Lewis Bass, Jr., said he objected to the destructive manner in which the porposed street cut up the land of his father and himself. He raised no objection that it was illegal because he had never been notified. He owned six lots of land there which had been conveyed to him since May 1898. He then explained the course which the proposed road took and showed upon a map how it cut his land. It destroyed all his high and residential land. It destroyed it as a residence and the quiet and seclusion he had. The land left on each side was not fit for anything. He understood, that the Sewer Commissioners desired this road put through. He agreed that it was a proper place to put a sewer through low land. They have a right under the law to take an easement for the sewer. He did not understand that any public necessity required this street, but simply to please the Sewer Commissioners. Let the Sewer Commissioners send their own money. If the order passed he would ask to deflect the course seventy-five feet to the east. If put where it was proposed he should ask careful attention to his claims for damages.

Mr. Bass also read a letter protesting against the street, from his father Lewis Bass, who was unable to be present on account of illness.

W. W. Jenness, representing Mrs. Bailey, opposed, as it did not seem necessary.

The Legislature gives power if you believe public necessity demands it. You must firstsatisfyyourself that public necessity demands it. The only reason is the sewer. You have no right to take my clients land because the sewer wants to pass through it. Part of the way it runs nearly parallel with Granite street and through land that cannot be developed. It takes away Mrs. Bailey's stable and divides her land; she had lived there sixty years; it is her home and she feels that if this street goes through it would ruin her home.

Charles H. Johnson opposed. The proposed road would ruin Mr. Bass property. The question is, does public necessity demand it. No one has appeared for it, and the only argument left, is that it comes from the Sewer Commissioners. It would not develop building lots.

Henry F. Faxon never supposed any city Council would lay out a street through such a location as this. He would like to know who the petitioners were? They were read. Continuing Mr. Faxon said he did not see that any of the petitioners owned any land there. He was in hopes to hear somethin in favor of the petition. It was a wild goose chase. A scheme to benefit those who were to build the road. He had hoped the Commissioner of Public Works would be present to explain the benefits, costs, etc. He should like to hear from the Sewer Commisssioners on the matter. He hoped the Council would not consider it but a few minutes before they sat on it.

Why don't the petitioners come here and defend it. Mr. Faxon then commenced to orate on economy but was called to order.

John Q. A. Field said that public convenience and necessity must be shown. He did not think there was a person who could say it was a public necessity. He had figured it out that it would cost $18,000 not including bridge. He would suggest something that would be a benefit. In a few years the brook through this property will have to be widened. We have a right to take land for that purpose. Then the sewer could be built on one side of the brook. It was wise for Council to examine this question. Public necessity does not demand this street. It saves no distance. He hoped the Council would look into his suggestion.

The hearing then closed and the order was recommitted.

AFTER THE Q. & B.

Syndicate May Secure Control Today.

It is rumored that the Morgan syndicate, which has been buying up the street railways in Massachusetts, is after the Quincy & Boston street railway.

This rumor is denied by president Graham of the Quincy & Boston. Mr. Graham says that his desire is to protect the minor stockholders of the company, and for that reason he is simply receiving options on the stock in order that he may better protect the stockholders should the syndicate attempt to get control of the road. These options provide that in no case shall the stock be sold for less than $150.

Rumor further says that Clarence Burgin is the financial agent of syndicate. Mr. Burgin has been interviewed and denies the rumors, but admits that he has seen some of the stockholders and secured options.

Rumor says that the syndicate desires to secure two-thirds of the Q. & B. stock, and that this will be all secured today, as only a few more shares are needed.

Park and Downs Officers.

Editor of the Daily Ledger:

It having come to my knowledge that an effort is being made to remove the efficient police officer George A. Cameron, located at the Wollaston Park and Norfolk Downs district, I desire, as one of the oldest residents of that district, to protest against the proposed change. I have found, and my position is sustained by the best citizens and taxpayers of the district, that officer Cameron is the most capable and courteous officer that has ever been assigned to duty in that district.

In my opinion the contemplated change would not only be against the wishes of the majority of the residents of the district, but a decided wrong against a faithful official. In regard to a petition which was presented to the mayor, signed by residents of the district requesting the return of the former officer, I desire to make the public acquainted with the fact that the signatures to this petition were obtained by misrepresentation. It was represented by the party who was hired to circulate the petition, that the officer had been removed, and that the district had been left thereby unprotected. Many signed the petition supposing that they were petitioning for the restoration of the officer of the beat, and not for the replacing of one officer for another. Had the people known the facts they would not have signed that petition and these signers are now anxious for the retention of Officer Cameron. Trusting that the officials at City Hall will see that justice is done in the matter. I am very respectfully yours, Taxpayer.

It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1-4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

DID HERSELF PROUD.

Hearty Reception to Co. K by the City,

Greatly Exceeded Expectations of the Boys.

The Decorations Elaborate and General.

Quincy has seen many large gatherings, but it is doubtful if it ever saw a larger crowd than was gathered in City Square on Monday to give their welcome to Co. K upon their return from a nine-months' tour of duty in the United States service.

Quincy did not alone furnish the crowd, for they came from Weymouth, Braintree, Milton and other near by towns. It was a perfect jam and from 1 o'clock until the procession had passed out of sight, it was one seething mass of humanity.

It was a good natured, peaceable crowd, however, and the police had no difficulty in handling it.

The militia call was the signal for the crowd to gather, and as it came earlier than expected, many went without their dinner in order that they might not get left.

The band reported at 12.30 and were immediately sent to Neponset on a special car.

When the band arrived it struck up that lively air, "When Johnie comes Marching Home." This was followed by "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching," "Hail Columbia," and "Red, White and Blue."

It was the intention to march from the High school building, and quite a crowd were in waiting there, but owing to the lateness, this was abandoned and an aid notified those in waiting that no stop would be made.

The cars were supposed to stop in front of the Y. M. C. A. rooms but the crowd prevented, and the company alighted near City Hall and had to edge their way through the crowd.

This was somewhat slow, as everybody wanted to shake hands with the boys. As they filed into the Y. M. C. A. rooms the band played "Home, Sweet Home," "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and "Auld Lang Syne," and while the boys were at lunch the band gave a concert.

While lunch was being served the carriages got into position, and the Grand Army and Sons of Veterans drew up in line on Hancock street.

Then it was that a very pleasant incident took place, though not down on the programme. This was performed by Henry L. Kincaide, who went away with the boys as their captain. He took Captain Neilson by the arm and presented him in turn to the occupants of the several carriages, and to the officers of the Grand Army and Sons of Veterans.

It was entirely unexpected as it was graceful. Captain Neilson was the one object for all eyes, as he passed down the line of carriages, and he came in for many words of praise from the bystanders, and he will be assured a warm welcome whenever he comes to Quincy.

Some delay was caused in getting the procession started, but finally it was put in motion. As the boys marched along they were constantly received with cheers. Although they would have looked better with arms, they made a creditable showing.

When the birthplaces of the Presidents were reached, the line passed in view of the chief marshal and staff, and the parade was dismissed.

Those who desired took special cars for Braintree but many went to their homes about the city.

After the parade Chief Marshal Keating entertained his staff and a few friends at lunch in the Greenleaf parlors.

Monday evening many blue uniforms were seen on the street, and everywhere the boys were shaken heartily by the hand, and they can certainly have no doubt that they hold a warm place in the hearts of the citizens.

Messrs. Hoehn, Pettengill, Sears and Councilman Packard, who were riding in one of the carriages in the parade, had a narrow escape on Hancock street. The horses became frightened and dashed into the yard of Dr. Gordon and down into the field in the rear. The occupants scrambled out and escaped uuhurt, and were taken into another carriage.

THE DECORATIONS.

The following list of decorations in honor of the return of Co. K was prepared for yesterday's paper but were crowded out.

RECEPTION NEXT.

And Grand Banquet to Quincy Soldiers.

A largely attended meeting of the Citizens' committee who have in charge the banquet to Company K Thursday evening met Monday evening. The reports of the several subcommittees was most gratifying. It was decided to guarantee the caterer the full limit of the hall which leaves but 400 tickets to be sold outside the number allotted to the company. These are selling rapidly and but few now remain unsold.

It was voted to invite everybody who attends, who is a member of any military or naval organization to wear his uniform. Arrangments were also made to decorate the tables and for the checking of clothing.

On Thursday the day of the reception Co. K will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 3.30 and will be escorted from there to the City Council chamber by the City committee, a squad of police, and the band.

After the reception the Citizens committee with the band and police will escort the company to Music hall where the banquet will be served. Meetings of the Citizens' Committee will be held tonight and tomorrow night.

The City Council committee met with the Mayor Monday evening, after the City Council meeting, to complete its plans for the reception to Co. K Thursday afternoon.

The reception will be held in the Council chamber at City Hall from 4 to 5.30 o'clock, between which hours an invitation is extended to every resident, both young and old, to attend. During the reception the City band will give a concert in City square opposite City Hall.

The Soger's Return.

Editors Quincy Daily Ledger:

I enclose you two or three stanzas of a song which the return of our boys bring forcibly to mind. The $5 enclosed is for the banquet to be tendered them and will tend to revive the tune as well as the words. Citizen.

THE SOGER'S RETURN.
[Slightly revised from Burns.]

When wild war's deadly blast was blown,
And gentle peace returning,
With many a sweet babe fatherless,
And many a widow mourning,
I left the lines and tented fields,
Where long I'd been a lodger,
My humble knapsack a' my wealth,
A poor but honest sodger.

A happy heart was in my breast,
My hand unstained with plunder;
And for New England's home again
I cheery on did wander.

* * * *

I thought upon the witching smile
That lit the face of Nancy;
I thought upon the peaceful vales
We roamed in youthful fancy.

For gold the merchant plows the main,
The farmer ploughs the manor;
But glory is the soldier's prize,
His country's weal and honor.

Roll of Honor.

Quincy's roll of honor does not seem to be complete yet. Today the Ledger has received two more names to be added to the long list published yesterday.

One is Charles Bryant, teacher of drawing in the City evening schools, who served with honor in Battery F, 1st Artillery.

The other, Thomas J. Lamb, who enlisted in Battery A, 2d Artillery, July 1898, and is at present in Cuba.

BRILLIANT BALL.

Knights of Columbus Eclipse Previous Successes.

Quincy Council No. 96, Knights of Columbus, gave the most brilliant ball of the season last evening, and it was a grand success in attendance, enjoyment and every particular. Never was the stage setting so pretty. The scenery and an abundance of plants which half hid the orchestra, transformed the platform into a beautiful summer garden, the stage lights causing a charming effect.

There was a very efficient committee in charge of the grand concert and ball; of which Mr. W. T. Shea was chairman, Mr. E. J. Parker secretary and Mr. J. C. Dorgan, treasurer. Much of the success was also due to the Reception committee, of which Mr. John W. McAnarney was chairman. It seemed to leave nothing undone that would conduce to the pleasure of all present and the invited guests in particular.

Among the invited guests present were Representative Sheppard, Postmaster Hammond, City Solicitor Blackmur, Commissioner Cavanagh, City Messenger Tirrell, and other city officials, William J. O'Brien, the State Secretary of the order; David Murray of Hyde Park, John Duggan. South Boston, the first officers of several of the local societies, representatives of the press and others.

An excellent promenade concert was given from eight until nine by Stone's Military band of Boston, the programme being:

March,—"The Charalton,"	Sousa
Overture,—"Poet and Peasant,"	Suppe
Concert Waltz,—"Espana,"	Waldenfel
Selection,—"Vaudeville Echoes,"	Beyer
Concert Galop,—"Away, Away!"	Belzer

The grand march was a feature of the evening. It was led by Floor Marshal Powers and wife, who were followed by Floor Director Burke and Miss Kittie Walsh, Postmaster Hammond, and Miss Kelliher, Representative Sheppard and lady, City Solicitor Blackmur and Miss Eliza Hussey, Dr. Sheahan and Miss Sheahan, David Murray and Miss Roche, J. W. McAnarney and wife, and about 100 couples.

An order of twenty-two dances followed, and encores for the round dances were genera'.

During the evening refreshments were served in the room to the right of the stage, and there was an intermission just before midnight during which Caterer Nash served a turkey supper.

Dancing continued until nearly daylight, and the annual ball of the Knights of Columbus for 1899 will long be remembered with pleasure.

EX-MAYOR MARRIED.

Congressman's Daughter Becomes Mrs. C. F. Adams.

Hon. Charles Francis Adams, 2d, the ex-Mayor of Quincy, was married at the National capital yesterday to Miss Frances Lovering of Taunton, Mass., a daughter of Congressman Lovering.

It was a wedding of national interest, as the groom is the great grandson of a President, and the bride popular in Washington circles.

The ceremony took place in St. John's Episcopal church before a distinguished assembly, and was performed by Rev. Dr. Mackey-Smith.

The decorations of the church were tasteful, but not elaborate arrangement of Easter lilies about the white marble altar, and ferns and choice palms lining the chancel. The pews reserved for the immediate relatives were marked by great bunches of lilies tied with white satin ribbon.

The eight ushers who seated the guests and later led the way to the altar, were Mr. Arthur Adams, brother to the groom; Mr. Arthur Butler, Mr. William M. Lovering, Dr. Frank Balch, Dr. C. A. Porter and Mr. F. S. Bradley of Boston; Mr. de Billier of New York, and Mr. Larx Anderson of Washington.

The bride was escorted by her father, and had no attendant maids. She was dressed in a plain gown of white satin with garniture of point lace about the high bodice, and close fitting trained skirt. Her tulle veil was fastened by a coronet of orange blossoms, and her bridal bouquet was a loose bunch of orchids and white lilacs. The groom and his brother, Mr. George Casper Adams, as best man, met the bride at the entrance of the chancel, where the betrothal service was read, the two then passing to the foot of the altar, where the impressive marriage service of the Episcopal church was concluded.

There was a wedding breakfast at the residence of Congressman Lovering. The presents were valuable and numerous.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams will reside in this city upon their return from the honeymoon trip.

PEOPLE ARE DRILLING.

Macedonia Declared to Be Virtually In a State of Siege.

Turkey's Promised Reforms Failed to Materialize.

Bulgaria and Russia Thought to Be Back of Threatened Revolution.

London, April 4.—The Pall Mall Gazette's correspondent in Macedonia writes an interesting story concerning the present condition in the Balkans. In connection with the collision between Bulgarian and Turkish frontier guards at Kozyl-Agob, between Jamboli and Adrianople, an important strategic point for Turkey if she desired to pour troops into Bulgaria, as it is the railroad station nearest to the Turkish frontier in Bulgarian territory, he says:

"Grave consequences cannot be deferred much longer. The whole province is armed, and matters are rapidly drifting into open revolution. The people are drilling for the coming struggle, the country is virtually in a state of siege, Turkish troops have been pouring into most of the disturbed districts and concentrating, and reinforcements are arriving daily. Detachments guard the Oriental railway from Salonica to the Servian border and the garrison towns are packed with soldiers.

"There is a widespread impression throughout the land that momentous events are impending. There is a general feeling of unrest everywhere, trade is at an absolute standstill and the Ottomans are preparing in grim, deadly earnest, because they are convinced that Bulgaria is at the bottom of the troubles in Macedonia and will certainly actively support the expected rising, encouraged by Russian influence. It is estimated that 100,000 men are under arms, ready for action in the immediate repression of the coming rebellion."

The attention of the world has been attracted so strongly to affairs in the Soudan and the Orient for so many months past little attention has been paid to the Balkan situation—always a menace to the peace of Europe. And yet in Macedonia are all the indications of a conflict, and the clash between the Turkish and Bulgarian outposts does not tend to lessen the danger. The present crisis in Balkan affairs grows out of a controversy begun a few months before the outbreak of the Greco-Turkish war two years ago. At that time the Bulgarian premier, M. Stolloff, submitted to Turkey a program of reforms for the Macedonians. Following his usual custom, the sultan appointed a commission to study the question of administrative reforms, thus delaying the entire question. In April, 1897, however, a reform program was approved by the sultan. The agriculturists were relieved of the income tax and required to pay only tithes of their produce.

The concessions fell short of the demands of the Macedonians and were rejected. The Greeks then interfered in Macedonia and set up a revolutionary committee at Larissa. The upshot was an uprising in Macedonia, quickly quelled by Turkish troops. During the progress of the Greco-Turkish war Bulgaria sought to take an undue advantage by again pressing Macedonian claims upon the sultan. Bands of Bulgarian troops crossed the Macedonian frontier and simultaneously the Bulgarian agent at Constantinople threatened the sultan with the mobilization of the Bulgarian army unless berettas for five Bulgarian bishops in Macedonia were granted. The sultan promised but temporized. Russia promptly interfered by preventing the Bulgarians from carrying out their threats of war. After the conclusion of the Greco-Turkish war Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria paid the sultan an official visit and received satisfactory assurances regarding the Macedonian reforms demanded. But it is easier to exact a promise from the sultan than to secure its fulfillment. The promised reforms have not yet been granted to the Macedonians.

The present crisis began with the dawn of the present year. The Macedonian committee sitting at Sofia on Jan. 21 presented a note to the porte demanding autonomy for Macedonia, a Christian governor appointed for five years, a legislative assembly elected by universal suffrage and a local militia. The sultan promptly notified Austria and Russia of the Macedonian demands and also made representations to the Bulgarian government. Russia, in a note dated Jan. 23, informed the powers she was not disposed to make representations to Turkey in favor of reforms, as such a step might encourage the Macedonian agitation and give rise to trouble. On the same date Russia sent to Odessa orders that nine cruisers and two torpedo boats be kept ready for immediate service in view of expected trouble in Macedonia.

Turkey has been preparing for hostilities this spring. On Jan. 18 Riza Pacha was removed from his position as vali of Salonica and sent to Germany to purchase quick-firing guns, with which to arm 27 batteries of artillery, to be attached to the three army corps at Constantinople, Adrianople and Salonica. The necessary orders for the equipment of 12 new regiments of cavalry were also issued. Ammunition for the two Howitzer regiments in the Second and Third army corps was purchased, and several thousand magazine carbines were ordered for the cavalry. Thirty thousand rounds of shrapnel shells were ordered from Krupp.

Gaspesia to Be Released.

Halifax, April 4.—Manager Yates of the Canadian Steamship company made a contract last night with Captain Farquhar of the sealing steamer Newfoundland, at St. John's, to rescue the imprisoned steamer Gaspesia from the position she has been in the ice off Magdalen islands all winter. At last reports the shore people had succeeded in sending on board over the ice fresh provisions, of which the ship was running short. The steamer's rudder head is damaged, and she is therefore helpless. The Newfoundland will tow the Gaspesia to Halifax for repairs. Including passengers and crew, there are 75 people on board.

For Klondike Reforms.

Ottawa, April 4.—D. W. Semple and D. M. Allen of the Klondike Nugget are here from Dawson. They have been carrying on a war in their paper against the Canadian officials in the Yukon and are here to press upon the government certain reforms. They do not represent any body of men in particular. What they ask is the abolition of the royalty or reduction of 5 to 2 percent, the abolition of the alternate claim system, and the dismissing of all government officials in the Klondike, except Gold Commissioner Senkler.

Work For British Fighters.

Hong Kong, April 4.—It is reported that the Chinese have captured Captain May, superintendent of the Hong Kong police. Two companies of Welsh fusiliers went to Canton Sunday on the torpedo boat destroyer sent there to protect British interests, and the torpedo boat destroyer Fame followed yesterday with 200 men. The Hong Kong regiment is now under orders to proceed to Canton.

Sweden Fears War.

London, April 4.—The Daily Mail correspondent at Gothenburg, Sweden, referring to the warlike preparations of Norway, says: The only possible object of these preparations is to attack Sweden, whose defensements and armaments are inferior, and whose infantry are armed with obsolete weapons. Should the Norwegian fleet attack Gothenburg the city must inevitably fall.

A Horrible Crime.

Salseburg, Austria, April 4.—The body of a 12-year-old girl named Offinger has been found in the mortuary chamber of the cemetery in this city. An investigation showed that she had been outraged and murdered in the midst of a number of bodies awaiting burial. The perpetrator of the crime has not been discovered.

Satisfactory to All.

London, April 4.—The Berlin correspondent of The Standard says: Mr. White, the American ambassador, expressed to me yesterday his firm conviction that the whole Samoan question is now in a fair way to a settlement satisfactory to all the powers interested.

Japs to Settle In Peru.

Lima, April 4.—The Yarura Marru, the first steamer of the new Japanese line, 34 days out from Yokohama, arrived here yesterday, bringing 732 Japanese emigrants, chiefly domestic servants and agricultural laborers.

Of Interest to Mariners.

Washington, April 4. — The United States supreme court yesterday decided the question of the liability of sailing vessels for excessive speed in case of collision in foggy weather. The case involved the collision of the American steamship Chattahoochee and the Canadian schooner Golden Rule off Nantucket shoals in 1894, whereby the schooner was sunk. Both vessels were proceeding at top speed in a fog when the accident occurred. The court below held that as the Golden Rule, as well as the Chattahoochee, had failed to slow down it was equally liable for the disaster and therefore held the owners of the steamer responsible for one-half the damage done. Justice Brown rendered the opinion of the supreme court, affirming this decision.

Domestic Infelicity.

Providence, April 4. — Mrs. Simon Lassell was stabbed yesterday by her husband at the home of her parents. A couple of weeks ago the Lassells had a quarrel and Mrs. Lassell went to live with her parents. The husband has tried several times since to induce her to return, but she refused to do so. Yesterday Lassell called on his wife again, and throwing his arms around her neck he plunged a knife into her breast and then fled. He was quickly arrested and locked up. Mrs. Lassell is at the hospital in a precarious condition.

Easily Won.

Calais, Me., April 4.—O. S. Tarbox, Republican, was yesterday elected mayor by unanimous vote. Seven Republican aldermen and the ward officers were elected without opposition. The total vote cast was 480.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The gunboat Machias has arrived at Livingston, Guatemala, to look after the welfare of certain American citizens who are said to be in trouble in that section.

In a 10-round fight at St. John between Fenton, said to be lightweight champion of New England, and Curren of St. John, Fenton was given the decision in the sixth round.

Raedy of Washington, champion middleweight of the south, got the decision over Beckwith of Cleveland, champion colored middleweight of the west, in 17 rounds of hard fighting at Rochester.

Mary A. Sullivan of New York filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $36,192, and no assets. Of the liabilities, $18,504 is to the estate of Joseph Bannigan of Providence.

Little surprise was expressed in railroad and financial circles at the announcement that the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf railroad had passed into the hands of receivers, though no later than Saturday President Stillwell was quoted as denying all such reports.

At St. John's Episcopal church, Washington, Miss Frances Lovering was united in matrimony to Charles Francis Adams, 2nd, of Boston. Rev. Dr. Mackay Smith performed the ceremony, which was attended by a large assemblage. The bride's father is Representative Lovering of Massachusetts.

State Superintendent of Insurance Orear has levied a tax of 2 percent on the premiums of foreign insurance companies doing business in Missouri. The total tax amounts to $243,815, an increase of $10,500 over that levied last year.

Acting Secretary Allen has consented to loan to the state of Connecticut for the use of the naval militia the converted yacht Elfrida, now at the New York navy yard. The navy department will maintain on the vessel one boatswain's mate of the second class, one seaman, one oiler and one coal passer.

Express and Freight Collided.

Middleboro, Mass., April 4.—A collision occurred on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad yesterday, and several persons were injured. A Fall River express from Boston ran into a Plymouth freight engine, which was standing on a side track near the depot. Both engines were badly damaged, and the Plymouth engine was partly derailed, together with several cars, which were smashed considerably. The accident was caused by an open switch which was not closed in time to allow the passenger train to pass the siding. The semaphore signals gave the express the right of way, and the engineer expected that he had a clear track.

Killed In a Ditch.

Joplin, Mo., April 4.—Five men working in a deep, narrow ditch here lost their lives yesterday by a cavein that caught them from both sides. Four of the men were buried under 18 feet of earth and rock and their bodies have not yet been recovered. One was covered to the waist and died from his injuries before he could be dug out.

Pleaded Guilty.

Lowell, Mass., April 4.—Eli Le Blanc, who, it was alleged, forged the name of Arthur Gardiner, when making an application for the latter's money at a local bank, yesterday pleaded guilty to the charge of forgery, and was held in $800 for the grand jury.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Quincy Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

Proclamation Answers Filipinos' Questions.

An Ample Measure of Self-Government Is Promised.

American Supremacy, However, Must Come First.

Reforms, Education and General Development Guaranteed.

All Dealings of America Will Be In a Spirit of Good Will.

Manila, April 5.—The belief is spreading among the residents here that the effect of the capture of Malolos, the former rebel capital, followed by the proclamation of the United States Philippine commission, will be to convince the natives that Aguinaldo's bubble has burst. Dr. Schurman, president of the commission, said yesterday: "The Filipinos have been asking unceasingly: 'What do you propose to do for us?' The proclamation answers the question and it should satisfy them."

Colonel Charles Denby, member of the commission and former minister to China, remarked: "It is the most important proclamation since the declaration of independence. Spanish, Tagalman and English versions have been printed, and it is proposed to circulate them about Malolos and at all seaports. They will be sent to the lake towns by gunboats."

The commission desires to assure the people of the Philippine islands of the cordial good-will and fraternal feeling which is entertained for them by the President of the United States and the American people. The aim and object of the American government, apart from the fulfilment of the solemn obligations it has assumed toward the family of nations by its acceptance of sovereignty over the Philippine islands, is the well being, prosperity and happiness of the Philippine people and their elevation and advancement to a position among the most civilized peoples of the world.

The president believes that this felicity and perfection of the Philippine people is to be brought about by the assurance of peace and order; by the guaranteeing of civil and religious liberty; by the establishment of justice; by the cultivation of letters and the liberal and practical arts; by the enlargement of intercourse with foreign nations by expansion of industrial pursuits, by trade and commerce, by multiplication and improvement of the means of internal communication, by development, with the aid of modern mechanical inventions, of the great natural resources of the archipelago, and in a word by the uninterrupted devotion of the people to the pursuit of useful objects and the realization of those noble ideas which constitute the higher civilization of mankind.

Unfortunately these pure aims and purposes of the American government and people have been misinterpreted to some of the inhabitants of certain islands, and as a consequence the friendly American forces have, without provocation or cause, been openly attacked. And why these hostilities? What do the best Filipinos desire? Can it be more than the United States is ready to give? They aer patriots and want liberty. In the meantime, the attention of the people of the Philippines is invited to certain regulative principles by which the United States will be guided in its relations with them. These are deemed to be the points of cardinal importance:

1—The supremacy of the United States must and will be enforced throughout every part of the archipelago, and those who resist it can accomplish no end other than their own ruin.

2—To the Philippine people will be granted the most ample liberty and self-government reconcilable with the maintenance of a wise, just, stable, effective and economical administration of public affairs and compatible with the sovereign and international rights and the obligations of the United States.

3—The civil rights of the Philippine people will be guaranteed and protected to the fullest extent; religious freedom will be assured, and all persons shall be equal and have equal standing in the eyes of the law.

4—Honor, justice and friendship forbid the use of the Philippine people or the islands they inhabit as an object or means of exploitation. The purpose of the American government is the welfare and the advancement of the Philippine people.

5—There shall be guaranteed to the Philippine people an honest and effective civil service, in which, to the fullest extent to which it is practical, natives shall be employed.

6—The collection and application of all taxes and other revenues will be placed upon a sound, economical basis, and the public funds, raised justly and collected honestly, will be applied only to defray the regular and proper expenses incurred by and for the establishment and maintenance of the Philippine government and such general improvements as the public interests may demand. Local funds collected will be used for local purposes and not to be devoted to other ends. With such prudent and honest fiscal administration it is believed that the needs of the government will in a short time become compatible with a considerable reduction in taxation.

7—A pure, speedy and effective administration of justice will be established, whereby may be eradicated the evils arising from delay, corruption and exploitation.

8—The construction of roads, railroads and similar means of communication and transportation and of other public works, manifestly to the advantage of the Philippine people, will be promoted.

9—Domestic and foreign trade and commerce, agriculture and other industrial pursuits tending toward the general development of the country, in the interest of the inhabitants, shall be objects of constant solicitude and fostering care.

10—Effective provision will be made for the establishment of elementary schools in which the children of the people may be educated and appropriate facilities will be provided for a higher education.

11—Reforms in all departments of the government, all branches of the public service and all corporations closely touching the common life of the people will be undertaken without delay and effected conformably with right and justice in a way to satisfy the well-founded demands and the highest sentiments and aspirations of the people.

Such is the spirit in which the United States comes to the people of the islands, and the president has instructed the commission to make this publicly known. In obeying his behest, the commissioners desire to join the president in expressing their good will toward the Philippine people and to extend to the leading representative men an invitation to meet them for the purpose of personal acquaintance and the exchange of views and opinions.

General MacArthur reconnoitered in force yesterday with the Montana regiment, the Fourth cavalry and two guns of the light artillery as far as the river north of Malolos. The reconnoissance developed the fact that there are fully 1000 rebels armed with Mauser rifles, preparing for defense. Shots were exchanged and two of the Montanans were wounded, but there was no engagement.

Later in the day General MacArthur moved northward, as the water supply of Malolos is inadequate.

The insurgents are massing strong forces north of Calumpit, about five miles and a half northwest of Malolos and, according to the observations of the reconnoitering parties, they have fine entrenchments there.

It is expected that hard fighting will be necessary to dislodge them at that point, and at San Fernando, where Aguinaldo is supposed to be. Large rivers strengthen both positions.

The Montana regiment had one man killed and three wounded yesterday. Twenty-five men were prostrated by the heat, and brought to the hospital.

Two new big Krupp guns, one 6-inch and the other 8-inch, which were found buried at Malolos, though secured late, will be mounted.

The Americans have also found 27,000 silver dollars.

The Junta's Latest.

Hong Kong, April 5.—The Filipino junta here has issued another of the extraordinary statements which have been features of the newspaper campaign directed from here by the agents of Aguinaldo. In the present instance the rebel agents claim to have obtained their "information" from American sources at Manila. They assert the existence of "mysterious intrigues" between the Vatican, Major General Merritt, President McKinley, Major General Otis and Archbishop Ireland, "leading to the latter's journey to Rome."

Continuing, the Filipino statement says: "The Paulist fathers' actions prior to the fall of Manila were suspicious. Now, in conjunction with Archbishop Nozaledas, who is intimate with General Otis, they are endeavoring to procure the former ascendancy of the church in the Philippines, hence they are sustaining General Otis, who, as a Catholic, has refused to obey the Washington orders and transfer the command of his forces to General Lawton, because he wishes to remain in power and assist the church to recover its real estate. The Paulists' policy is more subtle than that of the Jesuits, and unless they are promptly recalled they will work further mischief. The Philippines are a valuable hunting ground for the church, hence the Titanic efforts to maintain its supremacy."

Of Generous Character.

London, April 5.—The Morning Post and The Daily Chronicle, which comment upon the proclamation issued by the Schurmann commission, admit that it is "of the generous character to be expected from a dominant power in the position of the United States," but emphasize "the difficulties still ahead until Aguinaldo is caught, and it is possible to inspire the natives with confidence."

SLIPPED HIS FETTERS.

Boston, April 5.—Etellario De Marco, an alleged counterfeiter, a man weighing 200 pounds, although practically under the eyes of two officers, slipped his fetters yesterday and disappeared. Officers have not succeeded in re-capturing him. De Marco had been on trial all day in the federal building, and late in the afternoon, in company with two other alleged counterfeiters, both Italians, was taken into the United States marshal's room. Here two of the men were handcuffed together, and De Marco was chained to the pair. The marshal's office is in the third story of the building, and a deputy started for the elevator, about 30 feet away, but just around the corner of a projection. The deputy marshal led the way, and another deputy saw all three men follow his fellow officer out of the door and turn the corner of the projection.

By this time, the deputy in charge of the prisoners had reached the elevator and was ringing the bell, when he turned around and found that instead of three prisoners behind him there were but two. De Marco was absent.

Just how so large a man could disappear within such a short space of time, and in a narrow corridor, is a mystery that the United States marshal, his 15 deputies and the entire police force are trying to solve. De Marco was the fifth of the 10 counterfeiters arrested two weeks ago to be placed on trial. The trials of all the others have so far resulted in conviction.

Creedon the Better Man.

New York, April 5.—The 20-round bout between Creedon of Australia and West of this city, which took place last night in the arena of the Lenox Athletic club, was declared a draw by Referee White. West was lucky in getting an even break, as Creedon certainly was entitled to a favorable verdict. Both men put up a very fast and game contest, but Creedon's cleverness was so pronounced that the majority of the on-lookers felt that the Australian was entitled to a decision in his favor.

DAN CREEDON.

Without Church Ceremony.

New York, April 5.—William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., took Virginia Fair as his wife yesterday at noon in the white marble palace of Hermann Oelrichs. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Murphy, assisted by two acolytes. There was no church ceremony, as the bride and bridegroom are of different faiths. She is a Roman Catholic; he is Episcopalian. In magnificence, the details of the wedding equalled the Vanderbilt-Marlborough union; in simplicity it might have been performed in a cottage. In lavish display of wealth and extravagance it easily rivaled the Gould-Castellane marriage; in quiet and serene joy it might have been a modest country home wedding.

Forests Afire.

Tampico, Mex., April 5.—The forests for miles around Tampico are a burning furnace, and as far as the eye can see there is a continuous streak of fire and smoke, apparently drawing nearer and nearer to the city. Fears are entertained that the fire will reach the Waters-Pierce Oil company's depot, endangering the lives of scores of people.

Dog Show Opened.

Boston, April 5.—Nearly 800 dogs, the pick of the kennels of this country, occupied the benches at the opening of the 15th annual bench show of the New England Kennel club in Mechanics' building yesterday. In almost every class there is a close and interesting competition.

Contractors Give It Up.

Philadelphia, April 5.—The pantsmakers' strike is nearly over, and it has resulted in almost a complete victory for the strikers. The organization formed by the contractors last week collapsed yesterday, and there is now a general scramble to pay the strikers' demands.

High water—7:30 a. m.; 8:15 p. m.

The storm center which crossed the gulf and south Atlantic states has disappeared off the south Atlantic coast. The temperature has fallen 10 to 20 degrees in the southern states. Over the central and northern districts the temperature has risen, but continues below the seasonable average generally east of the Rocky mountains. The indications are that fair weather will prevail in New England, with slowly rising temperature. Along the Atlantic coast fresh to brisk northerly winds will diminish in force and become variable.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The Massachusetts senate has put a quietus on thirteen bills which authorized the city of Boston to pay to the relations of deceased officials sums aggregating in the vicinity of $10,000. This sort of legislation has been indulged in to a considerable extent for several years, but it has of late been approaching a point where its unsoundness could not fail to be seen. There is no more reason why the city or the state should make presents to the families of deceased officials than there is why it should do the same thing for the family of any citizen. In the latter case the need is often greater, and the claim is equally as good.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ It is to be hoped that the next session of congress will see not only the wisdom but the necessity of passing national legislation similar to that now in force in Massachusetts regulating on the same basis in every state the formation of corporations and their methods of doing business. This is not a revolutionary project; it is simply a demand for honesty against inflated and dangerous corporations. Some such legislation would unquestionably have the effect of checking the reckless and inflated combinations of capital, but would in no way prohibit honest men from forming honest stock companies which, of course, are a mere development of modern business, and must exist if the United States is to have her share of the world's trade.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

The Boulevard.

The Metropolitan Committee of the Legislature visited Quincy this week for the purpose of viewing the route of the proposed boulevard to connect Boston via. of Squantum and the Quincy bay shore with the Blue Hills reservation.

Representative Sheppard received the party at Atlantic and did the honors for the day. They visited the Atlantic shore, Squantum head and refreshments were served at the Burkhardt's. The members individually expressed surprised that there was such an attractive spot as the Squantum hills so near the State House, and seemed quite favorably impressed with the movement to reserve the shore for the people.

WILL BE A SUCCESS.

Tickets for Soldier's Banquet Scarce.

Financial Returns Warrant New Attractions.

Col. Walker of the Ancients to be a Speaker.

There were forebodings on Monday that the grand banquet to Co. K and Quincy soldiers on Thursday evening would not be a financial success, but the enthusiasm of the home-coming of Co. K on Monday and the fine appearance and behavior of the boys has aroused the whole city to do its prettiest, and now there is a great scarcity of tickets, for the number is necessarily limited by the size of Music hall. The committee request that all having tickets unsold will return them this evening to the treasurer of the Citizens' committee, Mr. W. T. Isaac, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

The banquet tickets for members of Co. K and all the Quincy soldiers in the late war, are now ready for distribution, and soldiers are requested to call personally upon the secretary, Mr. W. F. Hoehn, who will be pleased to present each with a complimentary ticket.

The committee wish it to be generally understood, that all attending the banquet who have been soldiers or are connected with the Grand Army, Sons of Veterans, Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company or any other military organization shall wear their military uniform. This will tend to make it a grand soldiers banquet, and an event long to be remembered in Quincy.

The financial returns have warranted an appropriation for the decoration of the banquet tables with potted plants, and will also provide cigars.

The table for the guests will be upon the platform, and there will be five long tables running lengthwise of the hall. Col. Henry Walker of the Ancients, a Quincy boy by birth, and a veteran of the Civil war, will be one of the principal speakers of the evening. It is expected that Congressman Naphen will also speak. Theophilus King, Esq., will preside and other speakers will be Capt. Neilson, Capt. Kincaide, Mayor Keith, ex-Mayors Sears, Porter, Fairbanks, Hodges, Mr. George H. Wilson, and some of the privates of Co. K.

THE RECEPTION.

The reception of Co. K to the citizens will be held tomorrow from 4 to 5.30 P. M. in the Council chamber at City Hall. Co. K will meet at 3.30 in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, and will be escorted to City Hall by a squad of police, the band and the committee of the City Council.

It is the intention to secure a group picture of Co. K on the steps of the Stone church just before entering the hall.

After the reception Co. K and invited guests will be escorted by the Reception committee of the Citizens' committee to Music hall where the tables will be in readiness at 6 P. M. for the grand banquet.

At a meeting of the Citizens' Committee last evening votes of thanks were extended to the Boston Elevated Railway and the Quincy & Boston street railway for the transportation facilities so kindly furnished Co. K on Monday on their return.

Massachusetts Year Book.

The publishers of the Massachusetts Year Book, have decided to enlarge the scope and usefulness of this valuable compilation by adding thereto a directory of the business houses throughout the State. Each town and city will be under a separate heading, thereby making practically 353 Directories in one.

The most valuable features of the present Massachusetts Year Book, such as lists of public officials, and statistical matter concerning the Commonwealth, will be retained in the new volume, thus making a combination of two books in one. They solicit the patronage of manufacturers, jobbers, professional and business men with full confidence in their ability to publish a book which will meet with approval and be worthy of support.

No pains or expense will be spared to furnish trustworthy information, obtained by personal canvass of the State, and not reprinted from local publications. F. S. Blanchard & Co., Publishers, Worcester, Mass.

Adams Chapter.

The monthly meeting of Adams chapter was held on Monday afternoon and was largely attended by members and friends. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. William H. Ruddick, Mrs. S. J. Wilde, and Mrs. E. G. Pratt.

At the business meeting Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, read a very interesting paper on the formation of Adams chapter, the securing of the John Adams birthplace for chapter headquarters, and an account of the work of restoration. This paper was of unusal interest, especially to new members, as it gave them a clearer idea of the work done by the chaper in its early days; also why they have possession of the old house through the kindness of the Adams family.

In the summer of 1897 the house was restored to look as it did years ago, at an expense to the Chapter of $500. All this work was done under the personal supervision of Mrs. Titus, who devoted every day for several weeks in the hottest of weather to the none too pleasant task. The big chimneys were opened and every old brick and stick carefully saved by Mrs. Titus for souvenirs and it is to her watchfulness that the house is as it is today, a credit to the chapter.

After a short intermission, during which the meeting adjourned to the yard to greet the boys of Company K, the meeting was in charge of the hostesses. Mrs. Benjamin Bowker sang several solos, Mr. James H. Stark of Savin Hill, gave a talk on the "Loyalists of the Revolution," and Mrs. Hennecker of Dorchester, gave a reading; all of which were very much enjoyed.

Tea and an informal reception brought the afternoon to a close.

Monday Evening Club.

At the Atantic Monday Evening club this week the following programme was delightfully given.

Paper "Art in America," by Miss Mercy A. Bailey of the Boston Normal Art school.
Song, Kipling's "Recessional," De Koven by Mr. McDonald of Boston.
Piano solo, Mr. Frank Gilbert of Quincy.
Song, "He Was a Prince," Lynes, by Mrs. S. W. Frazer.
Paper on "Current Events" by Miss Florency Gray.
Group of songs, "Sands of Dee," "Gypsy John," Clay, by Mr. McDonald.
Piano solo, Mr. Frank Gilbert.

Group of Songs, "The Bird and the Rose," Henocks, Old Irish Song, "The Donovans," Old Scotch Song, "Loch Lomdon," by Mr. McDonald.
Lullaby Song, Charles Dennee, by Mrs. S. W. Frazer.

The musical numbers by Mr. McDonald were highly appreciated. The beautiful voice and artistic feeling of Mrs. Frazer thrilled the audience and deep regret is expressed by everyone that she is so soon to leave Altantic.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

Miss Grace Ethel Lord Becomes Mrs. A. F. Luard.

The attractive Christ church was the scene of a pretty wedding Tuesday evening, when Miss Grace Ethel Lord, the second daughter of Mr. James J. Lord of Wollaston was united in marriage to Alfred F. Luard, son of Col. Alfred Luard of Lincolnshire, England. There was a profusion of flowers furnished by Wheeler of Concord including Easter lilies, violets, red and white roses, ferns and palms.

Charles Albion Clark of Boston was organist, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. S. Stanley Searing of Malden, assisted by Rev. Walter Russell Breed, rector of Christ church.

In the bridal party were three flower girls, Miss Pearl Madaleine Raymond in white silk muslin, Miss Corine Barbour in pink silk muslin, and Miss Margaret Barnes, in pink silk muslin who strew rose petals in the path.

The ushers were: Mr. H. Clifford Dewey of Winchendon, Mr. Robert Burnham of Boston, Mr. Clifton Mason of Newton, Mr. Fred Hyde of New York city, Mr. Charles Greene of Albany, N. Y., Mr. Morton Shaffer of Boston, Mr. Charles Grilk of Cambridge, and Mr. John Esterbrook of Wollaston.

There was a maid of honor, Miss Carolyn Raymond Lord, a sister of the bride, gowned in yellow silk with tucked yoke and ruchings, who carried Easter lilies, and seven bridesmaid, viz: Miss S. Eleanor Lord, sister of the bride, in silk of nile green; Miss Daisy Raymond, daughter of Col. Raymond of Beverly, in silk of nile green; Miss Fanny E. Ballard of Boston, in silk of pink; Miss Beatrice Briggs of Atlantic, in silk of pink; Miss Susan A. Packard of Quincy, in silk of lavender; Miss Eva Ballard of Boston, in silk of lavender; Miss Grace Washburn of Lowell, in silk of yellow; all of whom carried Easter lilies.

The brides' dress was silk mull over white taffeta silk with yoke of mouslin de soie with bow knots of chenille and she carried English violets.

A recepion was given to some 200 very close family friends at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Lord, Wollaston, at the close of the ceremony.

The happy couple were in receipt of very many valuable presents, which showed the high esteem in which they were held by their many friends.

Easter at Atlantic.

The Easter service at the Memorial church was unusually fine. The pastor's sermon was from the words "For He is not a God of the dead but of the living." The attendance at the church taxed its utmost capacity. The musical programme was beautifully rendered. Miss Alice Coe took the place of Miss Annie Hall in the choir as contralto on account of the latter's absence. The anthems showed the result of careful training. Mrs. S. W. Frazer sang two solos with much feeling and expression. The decorations were by Mr. W. J. Sanborn and were very elaborate consisting of large number of potted plants, cut flowers, and an abundance of natural palm leaves, clematis, magnolias and Spanish moss which were procured especially for the occasion from Ormond, Florida. A prominent feature of the decorations was an arrangement of three large white crosses entwined with wild clematis the central one bearing the inscription, "He is risen." The Sabbath School concert took place in the evening at 6.30, and was also largely attended. The committee deserve much credit for this admirable entertainment.

Modern Improvements.

In connection with the subject of modern improvements, there is no more striking an example of economy in household work than has been made possible by the invention of Bon Ami, the finest cleaner made.

It has been the custom for the housewife for many years to get a sand or scouring soap for cleaning purposes and use it generally in her work, because it removed dirt, tarnish, grime or grease easier than water would do it. At the same time she has complained that the tinware does not last as it use to; that the oilcloth manufacturers were using poorer material than they did when she was a girj; that paint wore off faster than formerly, but it has never occurred to her that she is the one who is continually wearing these things out by the use of a coarse cleaner and hard work.

Is it any wonder then that Bon Ami, the Modern Cleaner, which will not scratch or injure any surface, is meeting with increased popularity as housewives become acquainted with the fact that it absolutely will not wear out any surface on which it is used?

Here is an improvement in an article of common, everyday use that saves both money and hard work. How many realize it?

The sequel of the stealing of the copper wire of the American Telegraph and Telephone Co., by a lot of young boys, was enacted in court this morning when Marcus Sorgman and Hardy J. Flanders, the two junk dealers who it is alleged purchased the wire of the boys, were arraigned for receiving stolen property. The former was arrested by Officer O'Neil at West Quincy, and the latter by Inspector McKay at Neponset.

Get a Big "Ad." Contract.

The N. K. Fairbank Company, whose advertising amounts to several hundred thousand dollars per annum, has just completed arrangemnts to do all its advertising through the Mahin Advertising Company. This includes all advertising in newspapers high-class magazines, street cars, etc. John Lee Mahin, the president of the Mahin Advertising Company, is widely known, and the securing of the N. K. Fairbank Company contract is a compliment to his ability. J. H. Snitzler, the secretary and treasurer has had a long and honorable business career in this city. Since opening their office Dec. 28 last they have secured, aside from the N. K. Fairbank Company contract, forty-eight customers whose business will aggregate $200,000 per annum. They will move from their present rooms to the fifth floor of the New York Life Building into greatly enlarged quarters, to accommodate their rapidly increasing business. —Chicago Times Herald, Feb. 17, 1899.

A FRUITLESS JOURNEY.

Cuban Agents Gained Nothing by Their Trip to Washington.

Assembly "Vanquished by Uncontrollable Conditions."

Votes to Disband and Supply General Brooke With Cuban Muster Rolls.

Havana, April 5.—Senors Hevia and Villalon arrived yesterday from Washington, and the Cuban military assembly was convened in order to hear their report regarding their efforts in Washington. Not until after an hour's delay was a quorum secured.

Senor Hevia made the following statement: "On arriving in Washington with Senor Villalon, I immediately sought Mr. Coen, and asked him for a definite assurance as to carrying out the loan he had proposed, giving him until Friday at noon to answer. In the meantime we sought an interview with the American secretary of state, asking him either to increase the $3,000,000 or to authorize the assembly to contract a loan. The secretary of state replied that neither course was possible, and the matter closed with the receipt by Senor Villalon of the following letter from Mr. Hay:

"'I reported to the president today the subject of our conversation this morning, and he directs me to say that he has nothing to add to the old communication, which I then had the honor of making to you and Senor Hevia.'

"The secretary of state told us that the refusal of General Portuendo to deliver the rolls at the request of General Brooke had made a very bad impression in the United States. Senor Villalon explained that the matter had not been correctly reported, assuring him that General Portuendo told the representative of General Brooke that the muster rolls were the property of the assembly as representing the army, and that he could not deliver them, except on the authority of the assembly, without being guilty of insubordination.

"Mr. Coen tried to arrange a meeting for us with the parties interested in the loan scheme, but the attempt was not successful. He then introduced Mr. Rosenberg, who said he was sure the loan could be arranged, but time was necessary to carry out the project, and the present moment was inopportune to approach President McKinley, who was busy with the Filipinos. Mr. Rosenberg suggested waiting. To this Senor Villalon answered that we must immediately inform the assembly of the situation.

"In reply Mr. Rosenberg said that under such conditions the loan would be impossible, and it was better to call the deal off. He spoke of a certificate of deposit for the whole amount offered the assembly, which he proposed to produce for the Cubans to show the president at an opportune time, but it was not exhibited to me."

A report, embodying the substance of Senor Hevia's statement, was submitted to the assembly, after which Senors Hevia and Villalon both expressed themselves as convinced that it would be impossible to get another cent from the United States, or an American authorization to make a loan, and that it was equally hopeless to negotiate the loan proposed by Mr. Coen.

"As the shadows of the night fall over the city we finish our work. So is Cuba's future clouded and dark. I take leave of you with sorrow, and my last words are: May Cuba some day be free and independent." With these words General Andrade, president of the assembly, closed its last session at 7 o'clock last evening. The whole meeting was calm and dispassionate. It lasted four hours. General Sanguily's flights of oratory, in which he likened the members of the assembly to "A band of faithful workers, devoted to Cuba's good, but finally vanquished by uncontrollable conditions," were received with applause.

With these words General Andrade, president of the military assembly, closed its last session at 7 o'clock last evening. The whole meeting was calm and dispassionate. It lasted four hours. General Sanguily's flights of oratory, in which he likened the members of the assembly to "A band of faithful workers, devoted to Cuba's good, but finally vanquished by uncontrollable conditions," were received with applause.

The assembly ordered the disbanding of the army in accordance with Senor Despaign's motion and passed upon the details and methods of the disbandment. A new executive committee was then appointed to attend to the routine work connected with the commissions of Cuban officers, and this committee will supply General Brooke with the copies of the Cuban muster rolls.

Twenty-two members attended the closing session. Senor Cisneros of Puerto Principe, who was chosen president of the Cuban republic at the meeting of the provincial delegates at Puerto Principe Sept. 23, 1895, and was ultimately succeeded by Senor Maso, was the only member to vote against the resolutions to disband and to dissolve. To the very last he declared that, in any event, the resolution to dissolve was unconstitutional, and that he would never give up his position until a new assembly had been elected. Senor Cisneros is a very old man, his voice is weak and his protests were hardly heeded by his colleagues.

Senor Despaigne's motion called for the disbanding of the army, with permission to the soldiers to accept money from the United States. The various amendments had to do with the details of disorganization. After a two hours' discussion the resolution was finally passed.

Relief at Washington.

Washington, April 5.—The news of the Cuban assembly's vote for immediate dissolution and disbandment of the army was received here with relief and gratification. The prolonged struggle over the payment for the Cuban army has begun to exhaust the patience of the authorities here. The administration now looks for more rapid progress in the work of reconstruction of the island and less difficulty in instituting reforms generally.

Vacation Summer Schools.

An important matter that merits the attention of far-seeing citizens is Vacation Schools. The need of this class of schools is well set forth in the following selection from the last annual report of the Superintendent of the Medford schools.

"With the growth of the city and with the increase in density of population come the question of what to do with the children during the months of July and August. It is an error to suppose that any considerable number spend the summer away from Medford. An inquiry, last September, showed that out of 3,075 children reported, only 351 or eleven per cent., had passed the whole vacation away from the city; eleven per cent, more had been away more than four weeks but not the whole time; but there were 2,395 children or 78 per cent., who spent the whole vacation, or nearly all of it, in the city. There is very little employment for the m jority of these, and large numbers of them may be seen either loitering about aimlessly, or, unable to resist the attractions of gardens and apple orchards, committing depredations."

"For one-fourth of the year three-fourths of our children are receiving their education from the streets with little direction other than that given by the police. In the city it is diffcult for a parent to find regular occupation for his children, by this I do not necessarily mean work gaining a pecuniary remuneration, but such routine duties as the country boy has in his regular chores that must be done at an appointed time. Our average boy, from morning till night, has little or nothing to do but to devise his own amusement, so that in the summer vacation more than at any other time of year is realized the strength of the old adage, "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do." This aimlessness does more than any other factor to render void the work of the school. In the summer of 1891 and again in 1892 the school report shows a beginning in this direction was made by offering a series of lessons in natural history with excursions to the woods in charge of Mr. C. J. Maynard of Newtonville."

"The work laid out for the vacation should be different from that pursued in term time. During the summer the basis of the instruction should be manual training and nature study, with frequent excursions into the Fells. If such opportunity were offered every morning for a term of six weeks, during the long vacation, the city would undoubtedly receive good returns on its investment by a decrease in vandalism as well as by the moral gain to the children in increase of self-respect and a wholesome regard of law."

"Schools such as these have been established in Cambridge and have received the hearty endorsement of the citizens as shown by their contributions. These matters are brought to your attention now, that you may have opportunity to give them your thoughtful consideration even though the financial situation may prevent any action being taken the coming year. We hope the time is not far distant when we shall be able to establish and maintain such school as a part of the system."

DR. DALY IS EMPHATIC

In Reiterating Previous Assertions Concerning "Embalmed Beef."

General Miles Has More Testimony to Submit.

Washington, April 5.—The army court of inquiry yesterday again heard Dr. Daly in regard to the character of beef furnished for the army during the late war. He reiterated his former statements, paying his respects to the war commission and declared that the refrigerated beef smelt like a cadaver after it had been embalmed. Dr. Nicodemus of Philadelphia, who saw service in Porto Rico, corroborated this testimony, comparing the smell of the beef to the odor about a dissecting room.

Dr. Daly was accompanied to the court by his attorney, Hon. James Hamilton Lewis. Several other witnesses were examined.

During the session Major Lee presented a letter from Armour & Co. of Chicago, which had been filed in connection with their bid to supply beef for the Santiago campaign, but it was not read. The letter was explanatory of the bid and stated that the firm would be able to preserve beef for 72 hours, the time required by the use of the Powell preservative process.

The day also brought out a proposition from General Miles to supply the court with the names of a large number of witnesses, and that he had in February offered the official reports of 147 officers as testimony, but that the court had not indicated its acceptance of them. Major Lee's remarks in presenting this matter were as follows:

"The major general commanding the army, on Feb. 10, 1899, transmitted to the secretary of war original official reports of 147 officers representing 26 regiments and some 26,000 troops, called for by circular order from the headquarters of the army, Sept. 20, 1898. On Feb. 22, 1899, the major general commanding the army submitted with his letter to you of that date additional reports and original communications, voluntarily sent to the headquarters of the army, arranged as per said letter of Feb. 22, 1899.

"I now offer as evidence in this case the reports of the 147 officers transmitted, as aforesaid, to the secretary of war, and the additional reports of officers now in your custody. It need not be argued that the officers who made these reports made them upon their honor and in the discharge of their official duties, and that the same credenoe should be given to the statements made in the above reports as though their contents had been sworn to."

Shafter Summoned.

San Francisco, April 5.—General Shafter received the following telegram yesterday from Washington: "Secretary of war desires that you proceed at once to Washington, and report as witness to recorder, court of inquiry, sitting here." General Shafter left for Washington last night.

Conscience Fund Fattened.

Washington, April 5.—The secretary of the treasury yesterday received in an envelope, postmarked New York, three $1000 bills, which came as an enclosure in the following letter: "The enclosed belongs to the United States treasury. Conscience demands its return. God knows the name and the sin." The secretary also received from New York the sum of $5, with a note which said: "Conscience fund, $5 due the United States."

Neptune Company Withdraws.

Washington, April 5.—The navy department has received a letter from the Neptune company, the great Swedish wrecking corporation, announcing that it is not possible to raise and repair the vessels of Cervera's fleet sunk near Santiago. The Swedish company having thus withdrawn, the navy department is free to entertain any other project that may be advanced for raising one or more of the Spanish ships.

Divided Up.

Washington, April 5.—Bids were opened at the ordnance bureau yesterday for supplying 8,000,000 smokeless cartridges, 45-caliber in size. Three firms, the Union Metallic Cartridge company, the United States Cartridge company and the Winchester company, each bid $23.80 per 1000, and each company was awarded one-third of the lot to be supplied.

A Ten Percent Dividend.

Northampton, Mass., April 5.—In the insolvency court here yesterday claims against the estate of Lewis Warner, the embezzling president of the Hampshire County National bank and the Hampshire Savings bank, were proved to the amount of $285,000, which includes $275,000 previously proved by the Savings bank. The whole claims of the bank aggregate $448,000. The full claim of the savings bank was $148,000 larger than that allowed. The assignee was granted permission to pay a 10 percent dividend.

Williams Didn't Do It,

Santiago, April 5.—Orders were published yesterday formally clearing Private Williams of the Ninth immune regiment, who was tried by court-martial for killing a Cuban at San Luis last November during the affray between the natives and the colored troops. The evidence showed that the killing was done by soldiers, but Williams established an alibi.

An Unexpected Explosion.

Portland, Me., April 5.—At the government works on Cushing island yesterday a large crew of men were at work blasting for fortifications in process of erection there, when there was a terrific explosion from an old piece of dynamite left in a ledge last fall. Men were thrown in every direction, but fortunately no one was killed. Three men were taken to a hospital.

AFTER BRIEF SICKNESS.

Warren Leland Failed to Recover From an Attack of Appendicitis.

New York, April 5.—Warren F. Leland, proprietor of the Windsor hotel, which was destroyed by fire on March 17, died at 5:54 last evening at the Hotel Grenoble. Mr. Leland's death followed an operation for appendicitis performed on Friday last by his family physician, Dr. Leonard F. Pitkin, in consultation with Dr. William T. Bull and Dr. U. G. Janeway.

Mr. Leland had apparently been in good health up to Thursday last, notwithstanding the amount of work he had to do in connection with the burning of his hotel, and the grief he had at the loss of his wife and daughter, who were among the victims of the fire. On that day he, in conjunction with Rev. Dr. D. Parker Morgan, pastor of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, had completed arrangements for the memorial services. Toward evening he began to complain, and as his illness was evidently serious, a consultation of physicians was held and on Friday it was deemed advisable to perform an operation.

Harrison Elected.

Chicago, April 5.—Carter H. Harrison was elected mayor of Chicago yesterday by a total vote of 146,914, against 107,304 for Zina R. Carter, the Republican candidate, and 45,400 for John P. Altgeld, the independent Democratic candidate, Harrison's plurality being 39,610. In the last mayoralty election Harrison was elected by a vote of 148,000, against 59,342 for Sears, the regular Republican nominee, and 69,637 for Harlan, the independent Republican. The Democrats have elected their candidates for the town offices in the north and west towns, the Republicans carrying the south town, although the final count may take this from them. The returns thus far, however, indicate that the Democrats have a safe majority. The vote from the wards shows, as far as it has been counted, that the Republicans have elected 14 aldermen and the Democrats nine. The city council has been composed of 45 Democrats and 23 Republicans, and the Democrats will without doubt retain a working majority. The suburb of Austin was annexed to the city of Chicago as a result of the election. This will add 11,500 to the population of Chicago.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 5.—The house yesterday decided to consider further the question of relaying the street railway track on Tremont street, in this city, and the placing of telegraph and telephone companies wires under a state commission. The debate on both questions proved the longest and most interesting of the present session.

Only a few matters remain for hearings by legislative committees, and morning sessions of the house will probably begin next week. Yesterday the railroad committee heard the remonstrants to the Fairhaven bridge as a means of getting rid of a grade crossing of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad tracks in New Bedford; the judiciary committee heard the report of the commissioners appointed to simplify criminal pleadings; and the metropolitan affairs committee heard the statements of several towns along the Sudbury river regarding the damages due them on account of the taking of the river for Boston's water supply.

In the house the committee on towns reported a bill to authorize the town of Wellesley to issue bonds for park purposes, and a bill authorizing the town of Melrose to appropriate $1000 to celebrate the 250th anniversary of the town of Malden, of which Melrose was a part for 200 years.

The committee on roads and bridges reported a bill extending the time in which the proprietors of the Northfield bridge over the Connecticut river may collect tolls to 25 years from Jan. 1, 1899. The proprietors are the New London Northern Railroad company, and the receivers of the Central Vermont Railroad company.

An Old Offender.

Boston, April 5.—James Wilson, who, with two other men, was arrested a week ago on the charge of committing larcenies from many lodging houses and robbing a jewelry store in Brockton of $1200 worth of diamonds, has been identified as an ex-convict. Wilson served a term of five years in Connecticut for burglary. On leaving the state prison he was brought to Massachusetts on the charge of larceny. He was sentenced to the Concord reformatory. Besides these sentences he has served two years in the house of correction.

Who Will Get the Valise?

Los Angeles, Cal., April 5.—A suit has been filed here to determine to whom the Wells-Fargo company's express shall deliver the valise found by the Chicago police some weeks ago and containing $80,000 in bonds belonging to J. N. Sigafuss of Perris. A number of Massachusetts men have a large judgment against Sigafuss and have been unable to find anything to attach. When they learned the valise was being sent to Sigafuss they attached it. The United States marshal brought suit.

Acushnet Mill Strike.

New Bedford, Mass., April 5.—The action of the silk weavers at the Acushnet mill in going out on strike has been followed by the cone-winder girls, numbering 37, and by the night force in the carding room. The strikers claim, as their grievance, that they have been transferred from standing wages to pay for piece work, and that their earnings are diminished in consequence.

They Got the Bill.

Denver, April 5.—The session of the 12th general assembly of Colorado, which terminated at midnight, was really prolonged until 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the hands of the clock being turned back. D. H. Dickason, chief clerk of the house, disappeared near the end of the session, and it was charged that he had stolen the public utilities bill in order to prevent its being signed before adjournment. When found, Dickason was knocked down by a member of the house and was dragged to the senate chamber, where he was forced to deliver the missing bill to the clerk.

Wife's Timely Discovery.

Salem, Mass., April 5.—John F. Walker, aged about 50, has been despondent for several weeks on account of not being able to secure employment. Yesterday he was missed from the living part of his tenement, and his wife went to the attic, where her husband was found suspended by a clothes line from a stairway leading to the roof. Mrs. Walker immediately cut the rope with a small pair of scissors, and he fell to the floor. The police were notified and succeeded in bringing him to consciousness by artificial respiration. It is thought he will recover.

INTENSE SUFFERING

FROM DYSPEPSIA AND STOMACH TROUBLES

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable cure of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach; he had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night.

I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose As an experiment I finally bought a fifty cent package of Stuarts Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances, fully cured.

There was no more acidity or sour watery risings, no bloating after meals, the appetite was vigorous and he has gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are avertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invlids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but fruit and vegetable essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal.

Without any question they are the safest, most effective cure for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and all derangements of the stomach, however slight or severe." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are made by the F. A. Stuart Co., of Marshall, Mich., and are sold by druggists everywhere at fifty cents per pacakge.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly," Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, " Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

JONES FOR GOVERNOR.

Toledo's "Golden Rule Mayor" Being Groomed by His Friends.

General Dyer Is Re-elected In Rhode Island.

Gains For Democrats and Losses For Prohibitionists In State Election.

Columbus, O., April 6.—The election of S. M. Jones, the independent Republican candidate for mayor of Toledo, by a majority over both the regular Republican and Democratic candidates, has caused a startling complication in the state politics. Jones' candidacy was supported principally by the anti-Hanna Republicans and anti-corporation Democrats. Jones is a second Pingree on this subject. Both the Democrats and anti-Hanna Republicans in the state are talking of Jones now for candidate for governor. Leading Democrats here favor his indorsement if the Republicans nominate him. "We might as well," said one of them yesterday, "for two-thirds of our men would vote for him anyhow, as they did in Toledo last Monday."

MAYOR JONES OF TOLEDO.

General Hamilton, ex-mayor of Toledo, and A. D. Fassett, former member of Governor Bushnell's staff, were here in consultation with the governor and C. L. Kurtz in regard to the nomination of Jones for governor. The conditions seem to be ripe for Jones to make just such a rise from mayor of Toledo to governor to the state as Pingree from the office of mayor of Detroit to the governorship of Michigan. Jones has made a national reputation as the "Golden Rule Mayor."

Rhode Island's Election.

Providence, April 6.—The state complete gives: For governor, Dyer (Rep.), 24,362; Greene (Dem.), 14,693; Herrick (Soc.-Labor), 2922; Peckham (Pro.), 1304. The Republican vote is within a few hundred of last year's. The Democratic vote shows an increase of about 1500. The Socialists gain slightly and the Prohibitionists lose about 700 votes.

GENERAL ELISHA DYER.

The Socialist vote is large in the cities and manufacturing towns.

On the license question, Burrillville voted: Yes 592, no 448; Coventry, yes 294, no 171; Foster, yes 106, no 64; Scituate, yes 336, no 252; Smithfield, yes 137, no 194; Tiverton, yes 280, no 257; Westerly, yes 391, no 508. Last year Smithfield voted: yes 112, no 122; Westerly, yes 348, no 832. In 1897 Scituate voted: Yes 296, no 285; Tiverton, yes 211, no 247.

The state officers voted for were governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general and general treasurer. The several cities and towns also voted for members of the general assembly.

There were four state tickets in the field, headed respectively by Elisha Dyer, Republican; George W. Greene, Democrat; Thomas F. Herrick, Socialist-Labor, and Joseph A. Peckham, Prohibitionist. The contest was between the tickets headed by Governor Dyer and George W. Greene.

Women Were Hustlers.

Beattie, Kan., April 6.—In the city election here two tickets were in the field, one composed of women and the other of men. Mrs. Charles Totton was elected mayor, five women were elected members of the council and a woman was elected clerk. The women drove their own carriages all through a blinding snowstorm, carrying voters to the polls. The police judge and marshal are men.

WITNESSES RATTLED.

Government Forced to Abandon Case Against Alleged Counterfeiters.

Boston, April 6.—The Italian counterfeiters' cases before Judge Lowell in the United States district court took a decidedly sensational turn yesterday afternoon at the opening of the court.

Assistant United States District Attorney Casey addressed the court, and said that in the case of Mastropovola and the other four indicted with him, on the charge of conspiracy, he would ask that the cases be not prossed. The lawyers for the defense assented. Judge Lowell acquiesced in the request, and the indictments against Mastropovola, Mazucci, De Salvo, Catugnlo and Cacci were dismissed.

The cause of the sudden abandonment of the cases by the governmet is said to be due to the "rattling" of the two government witnesses, Eduardo Leonardi and Louis Musca. When Musca took the stand yesterday morning it was evident that he was nervous. He made some bad breaks in his testimony.

The escape of De Marco frightened the informers. During the trial several suspicious looking Italians have been hanging around the corridors of the federal building, and it is said made threats against the lives of Leonardi and Musca. Judge Lowell ordered that the De Marco case be resumed whether De Marco is present or not.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 6.—That big scheme for taking land for a state house park on Beacon Hill, projected by the committee on state house, was brought before the senate yesterday in the shape of a bill providing for wholesale takings west of the present state property, to be made within six months. The committee also reported in favor of spending $25,000 for Memorial hall paintings, to be selected after competition among artists resident anywhere in the United States.

Bills were reported appropriating $500,000 for the construction and repair of highways under the control of the state highway commission; allowing health inspectors to enter premises and examine any animal; allowing surety companies to go on bonds of persons in the employ of the state.

The senate passed the following bills: To change the time of the sessions of the superior court in the county of Barnstable; to incorporate the Sutton home for aged women in Peabody; for the building of a bridge over the Mystic river between Charlestown and Everett.

The house passed the following bills: For the construction of a boulevard in Dedham on the Stonybrook reservation, authorizing the Norfolk and Western street railway to carry small parcels and mail; providing that of fines from prosecution for violating the game laws one-half shall go to the state and one-half to the informant; authorizing the city of Everett to borrow $100,000 outside the debt limit for school purposes; granting $18,000 for Lowell textile school.

No Court-Martial.

Atlanta, April 6.—Lieutenant Frank Z. Curry, Third Georgia volunteer infantry, who shot and killed Private Leo Reid, battery I, Second artillery, in a saloon at Savannah, Jan. 10 last, while Curry was on provost guard duty, will not be tried by court-martial, but will be delivered into the hands of the civil authorities. An order was received from the war department yesterday directing that this be done. Lieutenant Curry, who is now under a military guard at Augusta, will be discharged from the service and the civil authorities at once allowed to take him in hand.

Postmaster Under Arrest.

Hartford, April 6.—William L. Hayes postmaster at East Hartford, was arrested in this city yesterday, charged with embezzlement of $344.12 of the money order funds of the government. The accused was taken before United States Commissioner Marvin and was held for the May term of the United States district court under bonds of $800. He was appointed postmaster by President Cleveland six years ago.

Won't Recognize Union.

Des Moines, April 6.—As a consequence of the strike ordered by the Miners' union for the central district of Iowa only four out of 30 mines are in operation. The strike has thrown out of work 1200 men. The operators yesterday announced that they would not recognize the union or meet its demands. It is reported that the operators will ship negro miners in from Missouri.

Extradition Papers Granted.

Albany, April 6.—Governor Roosevelt yesterday granted the requisition of the governor of Connecticut for the extradition of Daniel J. Donovan, arrested here on the charge of embezzlement. HARVARD BOYS WON

In the Debate With Princeton on the Question of Formal Alliance.

Princeton, N. J., April 6.—Alexander hall was crowded last night, the attraction being the Princeton-Harvard debate on the subject of an Anglo-American alliance. Princeton had the affirmative and Harvard the negative side of the following question: "Resolved, that a formal alliance between the United States and Great Britain for the protection and advancement of their common interests is advisable."

President Patton presided and, after preliminary remarks, introduced James H. Northrup, who opened the debate for Princeton. Mr. Northrup clearly defined the question, carefully stating the specific issue. He presented his arguments in logical form. His line of argument throughout was to the point, the purpose and reasons for the formal alliance being shown in a convincing manner.

Stephen D. Rosenthal was the first speaker in the negative. He discussed the question, stating at the outset that the burden of proof rested with the affirmative. His argument was carefully put and his course of reasoning strong.

Alfred S. Weston, the second speaker in the affirmative, showed that heretofore England had been fighting single-handed for an open door policy, but had lost ground; that an alliance with the United States would bring about access to China on equal terms to all powers and would be of mutual advantage to those two nations.

Harry F. Wolff, for Harvard, showed that alliances have usually led to serious conflicts. He sustained his arguments with several examples. He was convincing in argument and impressive in delivery.

Nathaniel S. Reeves, the last speaker in the affirmative, defined the full meaning of alliance and the explanation of treaties.

Wilbur Morse, the last speaker in the negative, produced a strong argument showing the fallacy of formal alliances.

In a Bower of Beauty.

New York, April 6.—With all the ceremony that characterizes church weddings, Miss Emily Vanderbilt Sloane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Douglass Sloane, was married to John H. Hammond of Boston yesterday in St. Bartholomew's church. The avenue for a block in either direction from the church held an immene throng, which threatened at times to prevent the arrival of guests' carriages. In order to relieve the crush, the police drove the crowd back to the block above the church, and to the block below, thus leaving the street clear in front of the entrances. When the bride arrived, the bridegroom and his brother were waiting at the altar. The maid of honor was Miss Lila Vanderbilt Sloane, a sister of the bride. The interior of the church was beautiful with its roses, lilies and garlands of orange leaves and smilax, while palms and azaleas added beauty. The dark marble pillars were hidden by ropes of greens, bound with lilies, and upon the capitals of each column were great bunches of white Easter flowers. At the chancel rail there was a solid bank of azeleas and lilies in shades of pink and white. The lectern, pulpit and choir stalls were wound with ropes of laurel and lilies, while beyond was a bank of lilies and palms. Two great palms, 30 feet high, flanked the altar, and jars of roses varied the loose Easter flowers upon the altar. More than 300 guests followed the newly wedded couple to the home of the bride's parents for the reception and breakfast. Soon after 2 o'clock a special car took Mr. and Mrs. Hammond to Lenox, Mass., where they will spend their honeymoon.

Juror Taken Sick.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 6.—The trial of Dr. Nancy Gullford, which has been in progress for nearly three weeks, has been adjourned until Tuesday next. George Gregory, aged 60 years, a juryman, was so ill when he arrived at the court from his home in Darien yesterday that it was necessary to take him to the apartments of Sheriff Hawley in the county jail and put him to bed. Physicians reported to the court that the juror was threatened with pneumonia and that he would not be able to continue in attendance at the trial for several days.

Evidence of a Wreck.

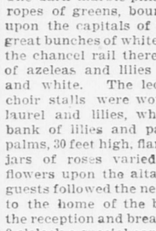

Halifax, April 6.—For 10 days past the wreckage of an unknown vessel has been coming ashore at Kelly's Cove. A piece of plank picked up has the letters painted on it "Win"—the plank is here broken off. The residents of the Cove firmly believe some large vessel has been lost.

Farm Buildings Burned.

Lincoln, R. I., April 6.—The buildings on the extensive stock farm of Preserved Arnold, in this town, were burned early this morning, entailing a loss of $10,000. The farm was noted for its fine Jersey cattle, the herd making about 100 head.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The plan of the state-house committee of the Legislature for wiping out costly residences surrounding the capitol building on Beacon hill, and the erection in their place of an executive mansion on the west and a court building on the east, is simply preposterous if indeed not criminal. It well illustrates the spirit of gross extravagance which illumines the minds of a certain class of officials at the state house, who imagine the public treasury is their special individual property.—Milford Journal.

☞ New Jersey is the birthplace of trusts, 250 of the combines seeing the light there for the first time during the month of March. New Jersey was always known as the producing place of pests, ranging from the mosquito to more dangerous foes to human comfort.—Brockton Times.

☞ So caterpillars have destroyed the "Vairmount' maple sugar crop! Well, here's a chance for the Green Mountain state to spend $200,000 annually shout exterminating the Massachusetts gypsy moths brother. Yet we venture the prediction that though green "Vairmount" isn't as green as is the old Bay State in this respect—Waltham News.

☞ It has been estimated that $20,000,000 has been spent on amusement in this country in the past 12 months. There shouldn't be very many "Jacks" whom "all work and no joy" have made dull boys.—South Framingham News.

All is not gold that glitters, and even a water paint can be made so that it has a high gloss. A poor paint often has its distinguishing ear marks, such as short measure, and a smell of benzine, and you must be careful and not leave it out over night lest it freeze up. When you open a can of Chilton Paint, it smells as paint should smell, it covers as no other paint will cover, because it is better made with better materials than any other paint, and it lasts longer, because nothing is put in it in order to cheapen it.

ANOTHER GALA DAY.

Another Crowd in City Square this Afternoon.

Reception by Co K to Citizens at City Hall.

Banquet Tonight will be Biggest Ever in Quincy.

It is another gala day for Quincy. On Monday it was the citizens who gave a welcome to Co. K on their return from war. Today it is the members of Co. K who are giving a reception to citizens at City Hall. Both are gala days and will find a bright place on the pages of history of Quincy.

Col. Beals completed decoration of the Council chamber at City Hall yesterday for the reception to Co. K today. The chamber presents a very attractive appearance. From the centre of the hall long streamers of colored bunting reach to the sides and end of the building. Large flags are festooned on the four sides. Over each of the large windows there is a heavy drapery of colored bunting, and the chandeliers on the sides are also covered. Around three sides of the hall is a wide boarder of red, white and blue. Over the main entrance is a large flag, in the centre of which is the State seal.

The spectators seats, rails and desks of the Councilmen have been removed so as to give all the room possible. It is understood that the company will be arranged around three sides of the room, so that when the citizens enter they will be all diverted in one direction. This will avoid confusion.

In the square opposite City Hall the band stand has been erected and decorated, and here the City band will play popular and patriotic airs while the reception is in progress.

The menu for the banquet this evening will be:

Foreign Control.

The deal for the sale of the Quincy and Boston street railway to the Morgan syndicate, which has been buying up the street railways in Massachusetts which was referred to in Tuesday's Ledger has so far progressed that it is thought the sale will be consummated before Saturday night, probably on Friday. It is said, however, that the transfer of the property will not take place just at present. The sale will also include the Braintree street railway, which becomes a part of the Quincy and Boston system, May 2.

Options of over two-thirds of the of the Quincy dnd Boston stock has been secured, and it is understood the price to be paid will be $150 a share.

Just how the transfer or sale will effect Quincy is hard to tell. Changes will naturally be made, and it is believed that improvements will follow.

Changes in the personel of the present officials is simply a matter af conjecture.

THE DRAMATICS.

Pleasing Entertainment by the Fragment Society.

An entertainment by home talent is always sure to draw out a large audience, there being an attractiveness about amateur theatricals that far exceeds the interest shown in a company of professionals, no matter how much superior their talent may be. This was fully shown on Wednesday evening when a large audience gathered at Music hall to enjoy the tableaux and comedy given under the auspices of the Fragment society of First church.

Owing to the illness of Rev. E. C. Butler, Mr. Emery L. Crane read "The Reveries of a Bachelor." The part of bachelor was taken by Mr. George E. Paffmann, and Mrs. Paffmann was the Sibyl who called forth the visions as seen in the reveries of the bachelor.

The twelve tableaux shown were:
Matron, Mrs. H. M. Faxon.
Rustic Maid, Miss Edith Eaton.
Girl of the Period, Mrs. C. A. Price.
Belle, Miss Marion Hall.
Nun, Miss Zayma King.
Golfer, Mrs. P. R. Blackmur.
Flower-Girl, Miss Marion Sherman.
House-Wife, Miss Annie Eaton.
Debutante, Miss Bessie Holmes.
Quakeress, Miss Helen Sibley.
College Girl, Miss Florence Emery.
Bride, Mrs. W. B. Holden.

The tableaux were well presented, each being received with applause. Mrs. Henry M. Faxon, as the matron, and Mrs. Walter B. Holden, as the bride, were especially beautiful, and a more charming young matron or a handsomer bride would be hard to find anywhere.

There was music before and after the tableaux and between the acts of the comedy, by Mrs. Frank D. Rideout of Germantown, which was very much enjoyed and received merited applause. Mrs. Rideout is a pianist who thoroughly enjoys music and keeps her listeners in touch with her.

Interest was centered in the two-act comedy "Mr. Bob," the parts being taken by the following well-known people:

Philip Royson, Mr. Herbert Barker
Robert Brown,—Clerk of Benson & Benson
Mr. George W. Rice
Jenkins,—Miss Rebecca's butler,
Mr. Ramon Burke
Rebecca Luke,—a maiden lady,
Mrs. E. O. Cockayne
Katherine Rogers,—her niece,
Miss Sara Whicher
Marion Bryant,—Katherine's friend,
Miss Anne Chamberlin
Patty,—Miss Rebecca's maid,
Mrs. A. F. Schenkelberger

Act 1. Scene 1.—Breakfast room at Tresham. Time morning.
Act 2. Scene 2.—Breakfast room at Tresham. Time afternoon.

The parts were well acted, and the complications caused by Philip Royson supposing his cousin Kitty's friend was a man, because she called her Bob were very funny; this misunderstanding leading to others until all the characters were pretty well tangled up.

As Philip Royson, Mr. Baker was easy, natural and carried off his part in a very creditable manner. As Jenkins, the butler Mr. Burke was perfect and fully carried out the idea of his part. Mr. Rice "came down" as Robert Brown much to the pleasure of the audience, and his trials were well portrayed, causing much merriment.

Miss Rebecca Luke, who has a fondness for cats which caused further complications, as well represented by Mrs. Cockayne. The part of her niece, Kitty, was taken by Miss Whicher, who entered into the spirit of the part and acted it well, as did also her chum Bob, which character was taken by Miss Camberlin. Patty the maid was an important feature of the comedy and as portrayed by Mrs. Schenkelberger brought down the house. The actors were frequently applauded and deserved all they received for they really did some good amateur acting.

John Brown was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued until Friday.

Martin Clark was arraigned for being a tramp at Braintree, and was sent to the State Farm at Bridgewater.

AN ANALYSIS OF BEEF.

Professor Chittendon Says Chemicals Were Used In Preparation.

Dr. Currie Found Acids In Refrigerated Meat.

General Miles' Request to Court Unlikely to Be Complied With.

Washington, April 6.—The two principal witnesses before the beef inquiry court yesterday were Professor Russell H. Chittenden of Yale university and Dr. Samuel A. Currie, who was lieutenant colonel of the Second New Jersey regiment, which was stationed at Jacksonville during the war. Professor Chittenden is one of the chemists selected by the government to analyze the canned roast beef. He presented his report, showing that the beef was generally good. No chemicals had been found by him in its preparation, and it was generally wholesome. He, however, expressed doubt as to whether the heat of a tropical climate would not cause the fat in the cans to liquify, and thus render the food displeasing to the sight.

Colonel Davis stated that most of the cans from which the samples were taken for analysis had been exposed to the heat of tropical countries, some of the cans being brought from Havana for the purpose of the test.

Dr. Currie testified that the refrigerated beef supplied at Jacksonville had on some occasions made the men sick. He had made chemical analysis of the beef, which in one case showed the presence of salicylic acid, and in another of boric acid. The view that acids had been used was strengthened by the fact that the meat appeared to grow dark upon coming into contact with the iron of the butcher's knife. Dr. Currie said he had discovered some years ago by actual tests that Swift & Co. used salycilic acid to preserve their meats. Two months ago he had made a similar test of beef furnished by Armour & Co., at his own home in Englewood, N. J., and found that it contained salycilic acid. The beef thus examined looked paler on the surface than other beef. He thought the beef could be treated both by injection or immersion in the acid.

Major Lee read the reply of the court to General Miles' request for the summoning of 131 witnesses named by him and General Miles' reply asking that they be placed in the records. The letter to General Miles was written by Recorder Davis. It was dated April 4, and read as follows: "I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 3rd inst., enclosing the final list of witnesses. I am directed to say that such of the persons named as appear, from the statement submitted, to be in possession of facts not already covered by the testimony of witnesses, will be summoned to appear with the least possible delay."

General Miles' reply was as follows: "Referring to the list of witnesses, 131 in number, I would respectfully invite your attention to my letter of Feb. 22, in which I stated that I deemed the 'matter under investigation of such vital import in relation both to the health and to the honor of the United States army that I respectfully request that company commanders and the enlisted men of their commands—even to include, if necessary, every soldier—who served in the field during the war, be called upon to bear witness before your court (either by oral testimony or by answer to interrogatories) as to the results of their own personal experience with the beef ration issued to them. It is my belief that at least 25,000 men, and undoubtedly a much greater number, would confirm the testimony that has already been given that a portion of the food supplied the army was unwholesome and unsuitable for use. I therefore request that the small number of witnesses whose names have just been submitted may be called to give their testimony before your court; and in regard to its being a final list, as I stated in my letter yesterday, I so consider it, although such additional names may be added as circumstances may develope the necessity therefor."

The general understanding about the court is that the request will not be complied with.

Dewey Is All Right.

Washington, April 6.—Admiral Van Reypon, surgeon general of the navy, says that all the recent reports received from Manila show that Admiral Dewey is in excellent health. The surgeon of the Boston has recently arrived back from the Manila station, and the surgeon general specially inquired of him as to Admiral Dewey's health. The response was most satisfactory, showing that, from the standpoint of a naval surgeon closely identified with the admiral, he was in as good health as could be expected in such a climate.

Capitol Gleanings.

A prominent delegation of Philadelphians called upon the president yesterday and invited him to attend the unveiling of the Grant statue at Philadelphia, April 22. The president promised to attend if circumstances permitted.

Secretary Hitchcock was not at the department of interior yesterday, being confined to his apartments with a cold.

Inspector General Breckenridge has returned from an inspection tour of Cuba. He has made several reports to the department and later will submit a general summary of his investigations.

The Netherlands legation has advised the state department that the international rifle match will be held this year at Loosdnanen, near The Hague, from the 19th to the 26th of June next.

Quay Talks With Counsel.

Philadelphia, April 6.—Former Senator Quay yesterday spent a long time in conference with his counsel regarding the final arrangements for his trial, which begins Monday. He also had an interview with Insurance Commissioner Durham. Mr. Durham said: "Mr. Quay is in the fight for United States senator to the finish."

JUST AS THEY PLEASE.

Russians Are Gobbling Up the Most Valuable Portions of Manchuria.

Settlements Occupied by Thousands of Soldiers.

Vancouver, B. C., April 6.—Steamer Empress of Japan brings the following advices:

A correspondent of the North China Daily News gives some remarkable information regarding the Russian progress in Manchuria and the northern provinces. He points out that whereas the only British subjects who are permitted by treaty to own land outside treaty limits are missionaries, Russians in Manchuria are acquiring land as they please and are already working mines. The railway, too, is obviously a military one, and he asserts that there are 30,000 Russian troops at Port Arthur; 3000 at Talien Wan, 2000 at Kin Chou, 200 at Lunchou, 200 at Wafanglien, 200 at New Chwang, 200 at Haycbing, 200 at Liao Yang, 300 at Kirin, 20,000 at Haipien, north of Kirin, and, in fact, Russian soldiers are all over Manchuria. They are to be met with even where the railway will not touch. In Haycbing the Russians have taken a shop and fortified it by mounting guns. At Liao Yang they have a site 200 yards square, where they are building barracks. At Kirin the Russians have possession of the Chinese barracks, and 300 soldiers with 20 officers and mining engineers are quartered there. Outside the city they are purchasing land and intend to occupy houses for the summer. The Chinese officials and people are much afraid of the intruders, who do just as they like and square any remonstrances with a few dollars. Visitors to the locality cannot move without being shadowed by Russians. As there is no railway at Kirin and the branch line which is projected will not reach there for two or three years, the presence of soldiers appears unnecessary. The Russo-Chinese bank has opened a branch in Kirin worked by Chinese with one foreigner, who is British, but little beyond political work appears to be done. At Haipien, where the railway will branch off from the main line to Vladivostock, there are Russian settlements with 20,000 soldiers. It is instructive to compare this military occupation with the railway in which British capitalists have their money, a good road with stone embankments and workshops along the line, where carriages and bridges are being built and yet not one British soldier to protect the property.

The agricultural and mineral resources of Manchuria are immense, and the Russians are working so as to exploit them for their advantage. Land is being compulsorily acquired at the rate of $10 a mow, and in the event of Chinese resistance a telegram to the Russian minister at Pekin overcomes it.

The Russians are adopting inhuman practices to spread their influence in Manchuria. At one place, some 20 miles from Liao-Yang, Russians attempted to take possession of a house, and an old woman, who resisted, was kicked to death. The Russian explanation is that the old woman attempted to set fire to the house, and in preventing her she got hurt and died. After paying a few dollars, the Russians kept possession of the house. At another place, 12 miles from Liao-Yang, they commenced to take forcible possession of a house belonging to a well-to-do Chinese. The Chinese held their own, and the Russians are now putting in a claim for compensation.

Japan has watched with jealous eyes Italy's recent attempt to get a lease of San-Mun. The Japanese press recently circulated the report that the United States was demanding concessions also. Marquis Ito, Japan's greatest statesman, was interviewed on the subject, but said he was not much concerned at the reported American demand, contending that nothing need be feared, as all countries held the same rights as far as settlements were concerned.

Marquis Ito has, however, been in direct communication with Li Hung Chang, and has advised various reforms. He says a partition of China would be inevitable should China persist in her present course of action. In the San-Mun affair, the Japanese are saying that their government must abandon the hold-aloof policy hitherto adopted and demand some substantial grant of land from China, probably a part in Fo Kien.

Count Okuma, ex-premier, advises the government to so conduct itself as to induce China to rely solely upon the assistance of Japan for the maintenance of independence. The first measure o be adopted for that purpose is to drill several hundred soldiers by Japanese officers, and secondly, to encourage the dispatch of Chinese students to Japan for study. If the situation should compel Japan to take a final step, it will be absolutely necessary for her to hold Amoy, and the railway between that place and Hankow.

It is, however, to early to consider this phase, which can only enter into Japan's calculations when the maintenance of China's integrity is entirely despaired of, and there is no hope of preventing a partition. In the meantime, Mr. Yalo, Japanese minister at Peking, has applied to the Chinese government for five new settlements for Japan's exclusive use, to be opened at Foo-Chow, Amoy, Inkaw (New Chwang), Shanghai and Chung-Kiang, in addition to Tien-Tsin and Hankow settlements, which have been conceded already. It is stated that the Chinese government has decided to entertain these demands with the exception of Shanghai and Chung-Kiang.

A Veritable "Jonah."

Falmouth, Eng., April 6.—The United States torpedo boat Somers, which was bought in West Prussia in March of last year, and which nearly drowned two American crews in an effort to cross the Atlantic just before war was declared with Spain, was towed to Plymouth yesterday, preparatory to being shipped to the United States in a vessel.

Plymouth, Eng., April 6.—The United States torpedo boat Somers, which left Falmouth yesterday en route for this port, broke down off Plymouth and was towed into Plymouth sound last night disabled.

Concerning the Pope's Health.

Rome, April 6.—Drs. Lapponi and Mazzoni have issued another formal denial of the disquieting stories circulated about the pope's health. They declare he follows his usual occupations, grants audiences daily and celebrates mass almost every morning. The pontiff, on April 11, the occasion of the fete of St. Leon, will receive the dignitaries of the sacred college and the pontifical court, and will return thanks for his coronation congratulations. Dr. Lapponi declares the pope is now in the same health as he has enjoyed for two or three years past.

Hot Times In Russia.

London, April 6.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times telegraphs an alarmist statement regarding the spread of serious labor troubles and strikes in the manufacturing districts of Russia. Ominous rumors, he says, are in circulation in St. Petersburg—reports of troops sent to suppress outbreaks, of the wholesale destruction of property, of numerous arrests and of the gagging of the press—yet not half of what is happening ever reaches the ears of the capital. Towns, mills and factories are literally inundated with secret socialist and revolutionary proclamations by agitators who are undoubtedly assisted from abroad. All this, together with the agitation fostered by the students, creates a serious political outlook.

Bloomers Barred.

London, April 6.—A test case, which has excited great interest in cycling circles, was decided at the Kingston session yesterday, when Lady Harberton charged the landlady of a hotel with having refused to serve her because she was attired in bloomers. Lady Harberton testified that she had travelled 4000 miles in bloomers. The landlady pleaded that she only refused to serve her in the coffee room, and would have served her in a private room or at the ordinary bar. She also claimed her business would be ruined if she was obliged to serve some women attired in bloomers. The jury decided against Lady Harberton.

Unduly Excited.

London, April 6.—The fact that the contract to build the bridge over the Atbara river, a branch of the Nile, has been awarded to a Philadelphia firm, continues to cause a great impression here, and The Evening News refers to the matter as an "Egyptian war of scandal," characterizes the whole transaction as a "scandalous story," and declares the specifications were altered in favor of the American contractors.

Bad Men Come to Grief.

Rochester, April 6.—William Shannon of Boston and George Price of this city went into the saloon of William Sanger last evening, and, levelling revolvers at the proprietor's head, commanded him to throw up his hands. Sanger, instead, placed a chair in front of himself and backed away behind a screen. The highwaymen left and were later arrested. Suspicion was directed toward Shannon as having something to do with the holdup and robbery of Sing Tung in his laundry, March 23. Later in the evening the Chinaman identified him as one of the men who gagged and robbed him on that night.

Has a Good Billet.

Boston, April 6.—The United States revenue cutter Dallas, Lieutenant Broadbent commanding, which has had headquarters at Boston for about five years, with cruising ground between Portsmouth and Vineyard Haven, has been detached from this station and ordered to New London headquarters, with cruising ground between Vineyard Sound and New York city. The new station is, for the coming six months, one of the most agreeable billets in the regular service.

Extermination Stops.

Boton, April 6.—The sparrows which infest Boston common and the public gardens ar not to be persecuted for a while, as Mayor Quincy yesterday issued an order to stop the work of destroying the birds' nests. The order set forth that the task has taken more time than was anticipated, and the workmen are urgently needed at their regular duties.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Miss Helen Gould yesterday sent a check for $.000 to the New York fire department to be devoted to the relief fund of the department.

The New York assembly passed the bill to further extend the time within which to finish the Troy and New England railroad.

Joseph Strong, the artist, died at San Francisco from the effects of an operation. Mr. Strong was born in Connecticut 45 years ago.

John P. Carney, a well-known Democratic politician and general registrar of voters at New Haven for a number of years, is dead, aged 41.

Stuart Rice has been appointed receiver for the Tacoma and Columbia River Railway company on the petition of the bondholders, the Continental Trust company of New York.

George R. Howell, New York state archivist and a man of great literary attainments, died of pneumonia. He was the husband of Mrs. Mary S. Howell, the woman's suffragist advocate.

The Philmont and Claverack Electric Light and Power company of Philmont and Claverack, capital $10,000, filed articles of incorporation at Albany.

Norseman Nearly Afloat.

Marblehead, Mass., April 6.—Two attempts were made yesterday to haul the steamer Norseman from the rocks off Marblehead neck. The first one, made on the morning tide, scarcely started the great liner, but the second, on the evening tide, proved more successful, the five tugs drawing the steamer astern 70 feet. The Norseman is now very nearly afloat, and, as the height of the tide will constantly increase for the next week, there is every indication that she will be hauled from her position, provided a severe storm does not come up.

An Annexation Sentiment.

Kingston, Jam., April 6.—Governor Hemming and the representatives have failed to reach the hoped-for compromise on the critical issues that have been pending for several weeks. The tariff bill was forced through. The representatives then entered a unanimous protest, and it is thought that this will fire the movement to join the Leeward islands and then to demand annexation to the United States. Thus far no sensational popular demonstrations against the government's attitude are reported.

Family Exterminated.

Albany, Ga., April 6.—Walter R. Jackson, his wife and their 3 months old babe were found dead in bed yesterday. It is evident that Jackson first shot his wife, then his child and himself. Jackson was a young business man of high standing, and married a leading society girl a little over two years ago. Until recently he was cashier and bookkeeper for a warehouse firm. It is supposed he brooded over the loss of his position and killed his family and himself in a fit of insanity.

The Charleston Replied.

Manila, April 6.—The United States cruiser Charleston, which has been cruising along the west coast of Luzon to the north, sent a boat in shore near Dagupan last Saturday to make soundings. The rebels opened fire, wounding a United States officer. The cruiser thereupon bombarded the town, the insurgents evacuating it.

Woman City Clerk.

Coffeyville, Kan., April 6.—A daughter of Captain D. S. Elliot of the Twentieth Kansas regiment, who was killed at Manila, recently, was yesterday elected city clerk, without opposition, her name being on both tickets.

Kennedy Appeals.

New York, April 6.—Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy, now in Sing Sing prison, convicted of the murder of "Dolly" Reynolds, will not be put to death in the week beginning May 22, the date fixed in his sentence. The case has been appealed.

BARRELS OF SAMPLES.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Quincy Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder, and Blood Rheumatism Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler let it stand 24 hours if it has a sediment or if it is pale or discolored, milky or cloudy, stringy or roppy your Kidneys or Bladder are in a bad condition. BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

THE NATION'S TRIBUTE

To Heroes Who Died on Battlefields In Cuba and Porto Rico.

Services Were Most Solemn and Impressive.

Washington, April 7.—With full honors of war, upon the crest of the southern slope of Arlington cemetery yesterday afternoon, the nation, represented by President McKinley, his cabinet and other high dignitaries of the government, the commanding general of the army, and other distinguished officers, all the regular and militia organizations of the District of Columbia, and a concourse of 15,000 people, paid the last tribute of honor and respect to the 336 officers and men who gave their lives on distant battlefields for their country in the war with Spain, and who were yesterday mustered into the silent army that sleeps in the last bivouac of the brave.

The spot selected is in the new addition to the cemetery, looking out upon the broad, sweeping Potomac. To the right rise the ramparts of old Fort McPherson, to the left the countless graves of heroes of the Civil war, and to the rear the stately old Lee mansion and Fort Myer. In this burial lot, which covered two acres in extent, in parallel rows the wooden boxes containing the caskets were ranged, separated by great mounds of earth. Over each box an American flag was draped. There was no particular order in the disposition of the remains, though an exception was made in the case of the officers. The boxes containing their bodies were placed at the head of the line of graves immediately under the eyes of the presidential party. Of the others 70 percent are identified, and about 30 percent are wholly unknown or known only to the regiment to which they belonged.

Before the arrival of the presidential party, the military escort detachments from the Fourth and Fifth artillery kept vigil over the dead. Long before the arrival of the military thousands of people had surrounded the enclosure where the dead soldiers lay. About 2:30 the presidential party reached the enclosure. They were followed by General Miles and staff, the military attaches of the British and German embassies, all mounted, and the military escort. As they arrived the "Dead March In Saul" silenced the vast assemblage, and with bared heads the crowds stood at the grave side while the presidential party advanced and the military dispositions were made.

The military was under the command of Colonel Guenther, and consisted of the district national guard, the light battery with two Hotchkiss guns, a battalion of naval militia and the regular troops from the arsenal and Fort Myer. The troops were formed on three sides of a rectangle and files of soliders were marched into the ranks of the dead. Flanking the open space at the head of the graves were the artillerymen who were to fire the last salute, and on the left was stationed the Fourth artillery band. The president came forward with uncovered head and took his place in the open space facing the graves. He was followed by General Miles and his staff in full uniform, and by other distinguished guests.

Just as the president arrived a pathetic incident occurred, when aged Mr. and Mrs. O'Dowd pressed through the lines and placed a bunch of roses on the casket of their son, John O'Dowd. The parents of Lieutenant Wood also came forward and deposited a beautiful wreath of flowers. The sword of that gallant officer was upon his casket.

Immediately the band broke out in the sweet strains of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and Post Chaplain Freeland of Fort Monroe, in the ecclesiastical robes of his office, with Rev. Father McGee of St. Patrick's church, followed by three purple gowned acolytes, advanced to the graves, and the funeral services began. They were very simple, but very impressive. Rev. Mr. Freeland read the military committal service of the Episcopal church, beginning with "Man that is born of woman," and concluding with the promise of heaven, contained in the words "I am the resurrection and the life." As he pronounced the words "Dust to dust, earth to earth" the soldiers at the side of each grave crumbled a clot of earth upon each casket. The vast concourse bared their heads to the solemn words, and thousands joined in the Lord's Prayer.

Rev. Father McGee then consecrated with the churchly power vested in him the earth into which the bodies of the Catholic soldiers were placed. Meantime, from Fort Myer, came the dull roar of a gun every half hour, and the national ensigns on the staff there and at the Lee mansion were run down to half mast.

As soon as the religious services had been concluded, flanking detachments of the Fourth and Fifth artillery fired three volleys, and in the solemn hush that followed the salute, the bugle sounded "Taps." The last religious and military rites to the dead heroes being over, the presidential party and the military departed, leaving the work of actual interment to follow.

As each of the caskets weighs almost 500 pounds and requires eight men to handle it, it will be two or three days before all of the bodies are in their graves.

In order to permit all government employes to attend the services yesterday afternoon, all the departments and the federal courts were closed by an executive order of the president, and all the flags in the city were half-masted.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 7.—By a vote of 17 to 14 the senate yesterday voted to reconsider its rejection of a bill to limit the expenditures for carriages of Boston aldermen.

Ought not to pass was reported on the bill for an increase of $1000 in the salaries of all supreme and superior court judges.

An order was adopted for 1 o'clock sessions, beginning Tuesday next.

Bills were engrossed for a boulevard from Middlesex Fells parkway to the Charles river; to place Chestnut Hill reservoir grounds under the custody of the Boston park commissioners; for building of a drain in Somerville.

The bill for two polling places in each ward, for Boston caucuses, was favorably reported.

Ought not to pass was reported in the house on the bill that the examination of candidates for registration in pharmacy shall include a practical test in the art of compounding drugs. The bill gave the pharmacy board $1000 annually for the purchase of drugs.

The committee on cities reported a bill to permit the Worcester city council to assess a portion not exceeding 25 percent of the cost of street watering upon the street railway companies operating in the streets watered.

Henry M. Whitney, chairman of the pharmacy board, about whom sensational statements have been made of late on account of expenditures of his board, had a conference with the governor in the executive chamber. In view of what has been said of the pharmacy board, this meeting occasioned a good deal of speculation as to whether Governor Wolcott intended to ask for the chairman's resignation or to sign the bill just passed by the legislature under which Mr. Whitney will be prevented from serving longer than until Oct. 1 of the present year. But neither the governor nor Mr. Whitney would make any statement regarding the subject of the interview.

Railroad Grants to City.

Indianapolis, April 7.—A contract for a 34-years franchise for the Indianapolis Street Railway company was signed yesterday. Under the contract the company is to pay the city $1,160,000 in cash instalments. The cash fare is to be 5 cents, six tickets for a quarter, and 25 tickets for $1, all with transfer privileges. The company also binds itself to bear the cost of paving between the tracks, and for 18 inches on either side.

The Sproul's Close Call.

Boston, April 7.—While on the way up the harbor yesterday the steamer Michigan ran down and very nearly sunk the Boothbay schooner Charles A. Sproul, which was beating across the channel. The steamer stove a large hole in the schooner's starboard quarter, but the crew of the latter shifted the cargo very quickly and kept the hole above water until the vessel reached her berth.

General Tie-Up Ordered.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 7.—A general strike of tailors in Grand Rapids shops and clothing stores was ordered yesterday. The strike began a week ago, because of refusal to advance wages, but several firms that signed an agreement with the men have now withdrawn their names. This led to the order for a general tie-up.

Required $10,000 In Stamps.

New York, April 7.—The International Navigation company of New Jersey yesterday filed a mortgage for $20,000,000 on all its property to the Fidelity Insurance Trust and Safe Deposit company. There was $10,000 worth of revenue stamps attached to the mortgage, which secures an issue of first mortgage gold bonds for the above amount.

Head Nearly Severed.

Philadelphia, April 7.—Samuel N. Graham, well known throughout central Pennsylvania, was instantly killed near here yesterday while attempting to get a kodac picture of a large stump which was about being blown out of the ground with dynamite, a sliver striking him on the neck and nearly cutting his head from the body.

Eye Valued at $3391.

Skowhegan, Me., April 7.—The jury in the case of Safford vs the Maine Central Railroad company returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $3391. To ride a bicycle means the modern way of building brains and muscle. Mr. Pickwick used to say, "Always shout with the crowd, and when there are two crowds, shout with the largest."

His wisdom you can apply to the bicycle situation, for people everywhere are riding bicycles, and if you desire to be up to date, enlist at once in the bicycle army.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

Drift of Opinion.

☞Amid all the exaggeration and excessive optimism regarding the business outlook in this country it is possible to see at least one sure fact, that trade in general is now on a firm foundation than at any time before in the last ten years.—Providence Journal.

☞Detroit is as good a place as any for trial of the experiment where a municipality can give the public better satisfaction in the matter of street car transportation than a private corporation does. We should think that the answer would depend upon the character of the municipality. Some municipalities cannot perform well the customary functions of government and would surely make a failure of public ownership of so complicated a piece of machinery as an electric railway.—Mobile Register.

☞Advertisements mean the news of business. A man who has a special article which he is enabled to sell at a price materially below his competitor has a fine news item. Its nature is not changed because he buys a limited part of the paper in which he can inform the public of the new price he is enabled to make.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

☞The scheme to tear away millions of dollars' worth of residences on Beacon hill to make room for an offical residence has been set down upon by the legislative committee, and rightly, too. We have expense enough of that sort in the maintenance of a State House, without the added expense of an executive mansion, for which there is no need whatever.—Salem Observer.

☞Congress is to be asked for $100,000,000 to assist the negroes to migrate to Africa. This seems the height of stupidity. Experience has shown in the past that the black race in this country do not wish to leave America, and if they are opposed to going, why should they? They are much better off here than anywhere else in the world. If they want the benefit of a more tropical climate they have but to wait a little and they can colonize the Philippines or some other present or prospective colony of Uncle Sam. By the time the "enlightenment" of Filipinos is assured there will be a demand for inhabitants who are not afraid of shot-gun rule. It is generally admitted that the Southern negro is no stranger to that sort of civilization—Brookline Chronicle.

☞The politicians among the city governments in the smaller places of the state do not seem to appreciate the new law, which provides that they shall announce their choice for city officers who are being voted for. They thus lose the chance to promise one way and vote another. However, the new rule does not seem to substantially shorten contests, it requiring 20 ballots to elect a city physician in Haverhill.—Boston Record.

☞The Vanderbilt-Fair wedding was notable for what it cost. Thank heaven, however, there are still weddings which are notable for the happiness they bring.—New Bedford Standard.

SOLDIERS' BANQUET.

Enthusiasm at the Feast Last Night.

Brilliant Speeches and a Patriotic Occasion.

Menu Excellent and the Programme a Souvenir.

If made to measure upon order, a more perfect day for the concluding reception and banquet to the returning boys of Co. K, the soldiers of other regiments and the sailors of Uncle Sam's superb navy, than was Thursday could not have been secured. Everything was carried out according to the prearranged progamme with true military precision and if any doubt had for a minute existed that the citizens were glad to see the boys back again, that doubt must have vanished like a temporary cloud that for a minute obscures the mid day sun.

Of couse there were not so many at the reception in the afternoon at City Hall as there was upon Monday when the boys arrived home, yet there was a large gathering.

It was nearly 4 o'clock when Chief of Police Hayden and a squad of blue coats escorted the band to the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., and received Company K. First they were escorted to the steps of the First church, which had been keep clear by the officers. The members of Co. K, the City committee and the Citizen's committee were then arranged in a group and photographed by Skinner.

Then came the public reception at City Hall and never did the hall look more beautiful than upon this occasion. The boys were arranged upon the sides of the hall, and as the citizens entered one side, they were taken down the line by some member of the committee, and out the other side. The arrangement avoided confusion.

In the receiving party, besides the company, were Assistant Surgeon McPherson of the Fifth Regiment, under whose special medical charge the boys of K were, also Department Commander Gilman of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The badges worn by the committees were very handsome. Suspended from a bar of white enamel encircled with gold, was wide ribbon of red, white and blue with gold fringe at the bottom, over this hung a narrower and shorter white ribbon from which was suspended the City Seal The wording on the red, white and blue ribbon was: April 3—6—1899—Reception to Co. K, 5th Regiment Mass., Volunteers.

Blue badges containing the same wording were also worn by each member of Co. K.

The badges of the committees were all alike save the words in the white enamel bar at the top, the different wording being: Mayor, City Council, City officials, City committee and Citizens' committee.

During the reception the City band gave a concert in City Square, which was greatly enjoyed particularly by Young America.

The reception passed off without a hitch, and at 5.30 the sound of the bugle warned the boys who had wandered from the hall with their sweethearts, that they were wanted, and for a minute they forgot they were again private citizens as they hurriedly responded. A line was formed and they were escorted by the police, band and committees to Music hall for the banquet.

While all this was in progress, the citizens who were to participate in the grand banquet, and the ladies who were to watch the scene from the gallery, were gathering at Music hall. Everything here was arranged to suit the queen's taste, and the hall certainly presented a scene long to be remembered by those who had the pleasure of being present, either as the more active participants or as spectators.

The decorations at the hall were in charge of Frank C. Packard, and they were very handsome. In the centre of the rear of the platform was a large painting of the Goddess of Liberty and extending from this were large American flags which with the guests table across the front furnished the setting of the stage. Along the front by the foot lights was a row of handsome potted plants. In the centre was a large framed picture of President McKinley, over which a flag was draped. Directly over this was a highly polished deadly seven-inch shrapnel shell, such as the boys of Uncle Sam hurled at the Spaniards at El Caney. It certainly looked pretty, but wicked.

Suspended from the centre above the stage were two blue fields of stars, from which wide streamers of red, white and blue extended around three sides of the hall. Between the windows on the sides there were festoons of colored bunting. The centre window on the east side was a painting representing the state seal, while the centre window of the east side contained a painting of the American eagle and stars representing the thirteen original states. On the halls on either side of the stage were large flags draped in a tasteful manner, while flags and shields formed the decorations along the front below the stage opening.

In the centre of the gallery was a motto containing those magic words "Welcome Home." From this, bunting and shields covered the balance of the gallery front.

Then from the centre chandelier, there were suspended long streamers of red, white and blue, reaching to the sides and end of the hall. If anything was needed to complete the decoration it was the seven long tables arranged upon the floor. The centre of these was reserved for Co. K, and that to the east for the several committees.

When all were seated, the view from the gallery must have been an inspiring one, for mingling with the conventional black dress of the ordinary citizens in a kaleidoscope manner, were the blue uniforms of the United States Volunteers, the United States Navy, the Grand Army, the Sons of Veterans and the more gorgeous uniforms of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery.

From the floor the many colored costumes of the ladies in the gallery likewise presented a scene pleasing to the eye, and as one glanced upward, during the post prandial exercises, through the wreaths of fine blue cigar smoke, they appeared as a vision coming from the skies.

As soon as the members of Co. K and the other soldiers and the sailors had arrived, the ushers, under the direction of J. Percival Sears, quickly saw to it that everybody's comfort was looked after. The personel of Mr. Sears' staff, who were untiring in their efforts, were Dr. H. S. Hayford, Benjamin Johnson, Jr., W. T. Isaac, D. E. Wadsworth, W. L. Pinkham, Delcevare King, James Milne and Thomas Milne.

THE BANQUET.

It was by far the largest banquet ever served in Quincy, and Caterer Remick certainly deserves credit for the manner in which he carried out his part. At each plate aside from a slip of paper containing the words of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "My Country 'Tis of Thee" which were sung by the audience under the leadership of Mr. W. F. Cummings, was a souvenir programme of menu. On the first page was a flag in colors, about which were numerous K's in gilt letters, and the top the words "Welcome Home." On the inside pages was an extract from President McKinley's message to Congress. The name of the two Quincy boys who gave up their lives, the personel of the Citizen's committee, the menu, map of Camp Meade and the names of "our defenders."

The menu was as follows:

MENU.

Blue Point Oysters on Half Shell.
Consomme. Tomato.
Radishes. Pickles. Olives.
Baked Shad. Potatoes, Duchess.
Boiled Leg of Lamb—Caper Sauce.
Roast Sirloin of Beef—au jus.
Roast Young Turkey—Cranberry Sauce.
Green Peas. Marrow Squash.
Mashed Potatoes.
Chicken Croquettes—Sauce Supreme.
Queen Fritters—Sauce Cardinal.
Frozen Puddiug. Harlequin Ice Cream.
Assorted Cake. Fruits.
Black Coffee.
Cigars.

During the time that the banquet was being served, the Wollaston orchestra furnished inspiring music. The artists were: 1st violins, P. L. Moorehouse and W. M. Wight; 2d violins, Nelson Smith and Ray Faunce; cello, I. W. Faunce; cornet, G. W. Critchley; flute, W. H. Prescott; piano, Mrs. A. T. Leavitt. Their programme was:

Overture,—"The Castle Gate,"	R. Schlepegrell
Gavotte.—"Beau Brunnell,"	Theo Bendix
Medley Waltz,	W. H. Mackie
March,—"Pride of the Navy,"	M. H. Andrews
Galop,—"On the Road,"	R. Thompson
Operatic Selection,—"Fanchon,"	Carl Isenman
Boston Press Club March,	T. H. Rollinson
Dream Waltz,	R. Thompson
Medley Overture,—"Butterflies,"	F. Beyer
National Melodies,	E. Beyer

Then came the post prandial exercises. Dr. Gordon, as chairman of the committee, introduced Mr. Theophilus King as toastmaster, and if anything was needed to place everybody at ease, Mr. King was the gentleman. The speeches which are reported below were of an inspiring nature, and the applause was frequent, but the spontaneous outburst of applause that greeted Capt. Neilson from the members of Co. K could have left no shadow of doubt of the regard and esteem in which he was held by the boys and citizens of Quincy, and must certainly have assured him that he will always be sure of a royal welcome whenever he visits Quincy. Spontaneous outbursts of applause greeted reading letters of regret, the telegram from Gen. Miles and sentiments of Commander Gilman, Col. Walker, Col. Anderson, Lieut. Whitney and in fact all of the speakers.

THE SPEECHES.

Dr. J. A. Gordon, the chairman of the Citizens' committee, opened the post prandial exercises. He said in part:

Captain Nielson and soldiers of Company K, the citizens of Quincy join in giving you a hearty welcome home. About one year ago when the dark war cloud, which shadowed our land suddenly thundered an appeal to arms, we know how readily you left your homes, your occupation and your associates, that you might help overcome the oppressor of the weak and to maintain the honor and glory of our country.

Now that that mission work is fulfilled, now that there is no further use for your services in the camp and field. After all the tedious, tiresome waiting which you have endured, we welcome you back again to your homes, your friends and your associations, and trust that that strength, force and energy which you possess and which has led our soldiers may be used as vigorously in the noble acts of peace, country and men.

We remember that as the poet said, "They also serve who only stand and wait." Knowing that you have done your duty in this cricis, we the citizens of Quincy offer you this slight testimonial, and we congratulate you on your return and tender you our wishes or your future prosperity and happiness.

Mr. King, after some humorous remarks, in which he described a snoring race he had with Dr. Gordon on the cars from New York, said—we have an illustration of our country's call and the response to it. We are a three stranded unit and this unit represents our interest, our response and our power. When our interests of State and Nation were threatened, you came out with a powerful response. We stand here, in the presence of those who thought not of home or ease or self in the hour of national peril, but who promptly reponded to the nation's call. True you were not in battle, but you fought battles all the same. Every man offered himself as a soldier and patriot, and you proved that in national emergencies, the American volunteers can be depended upon. We would now recognize the power of this nation, and it is going forward with strong, determined spirit and setting its face towards the light, it will never turn back.

At the request of the mayor Mr. King, assumed that office for the time being, bade the boys a most tender and hearty welcome; not only to their homes but also to the homes he hoped they would soon make for themselves.

EX-MAYOR SEARS

Greeted the members of Co. K as gentlemen whereas a week ago they were men of a company, and offers his felicitations. He alluded feelingly to the departure of the boys, and the eagerness with which they went forth. No one at that time knew the dangers or perils which might present themselves. The strength of the republic has again been proven, and notwithstanding the short comings of some in authority, not an utterance has been heard as to the unwillingness of our countrymen to go forth. In this lies one of the securities of the government. Co. K. has maintained the spirit of our fathers.

CAPT. NEILSON.

Although I am not a citizen of Quincy in body, yet I am in spirit. I am glad of the opportunity to be here and thank the citizens for their loyal backing of Co. K in the field. I have always found them ready to lead the regiment. No company in the 5th excelled Co. K in any respect. I want to thank the members, and the people of Quincy, for the admirable manner in which they have cooperated to make possible the honorable record it has made in its year of service.

COL. WALKER.

I came gladly to this welcome of Co. K, and I feel at home in this city. This occasion is a rebuke to the pessimistic spirit which says there is no patriotism in the country now. Your going forth gave the lie to that assertion. Patriotism still trobs in the hearts of men. For what you have done, you will sometime wear a badge of honor, that like the victoria cross or G. A. R. badge will testify to your courage and fidelity to flag and

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet if their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condit on is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

Transfer to Commissoner of Public Works Tomorrow.

Some time ago the Legislature passed the act allowing Quincy to refund a portion of its existing municipal debt, as asked for by the Mayor.

On Wednesday the Governor signed the bill authorizing the city to spend $150,000, (not over $50,000, per year,) on permanent improvements, widening and re-location of streets, and Thursday he signed the bill authorizing the Mayor to have the Water Commissioners transfer the water works to the Commissioner of Public Works. By present arrangements the transfer will take place tomorrow night.

Three of the four bills asked for by the Mayor are therefore now laws. The fourth, providing for a boulevard from Squantum to the Blue Hills reservation, is still in the hands of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, but will be reported before long. It is hoped that a portion of the route, at least, will be reported upon favorably.

Too Great A Surprise.

A very pleasant surprise, and one not soon to be forgotten, was given Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Merrill at their residence on Woodbine street, Wollaston, Monday evening. The event was a double one. For the past three months the dramatic company of the T. R. & S. A. A. have been rehearsing a war play, meeting weekly at Mr. Merrill's house. The members wishing to show their appreciation for the many courtesies extended to them by Mr. and Mrs. Merrill, presented them with a handsome silver cake basket, the presentation being made by Mr. Bartlett McLain.

The recipients had hardly recovered from their surprise when in the midst of a dialogue between the villian and the fair heroine of the play, Mr. J. H. Whitehead, the "villian," suddenly dropped his regular lines and began on another subject which for a moment caused those not in the secret to stare at him, and wonder if he had been eating some of the beef the Co. K boys flourished on sticks earlier in the day on their arrival in Quincy.

It soon became apparent, however, that his failure to stick to his lines was not due to stomach trouble, for at a given signal a handsome silver service was brought into view, and continuing Mr. Whitehead reminded Mr. and Mrs. Merrill that the 3d of April was the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, and that the gift was from the T. R. S. A. A.

When Mr. Merrill can't talk there is something serious with him. On this occasion he was in trouble which came near resulting in heart failure. Speech on the part of both failed them, but then, all present fully understood their feelings and wished them twenty-five years more of married bliss.

Myles Standish.

"The Courtship of Myles Standish" was ably presented Thursday night at the Wollaston Baptist church by some of the young members of that society. Selections from the poem were read by Miss Fannie Beckwith, and tableaux illustrating the scenes, given. Mr. H. B. Bailey ably filled the part of the doughty captain, Myles Standish; John Alden was represented by Mr. H. E. Fiske; Miss Lillian Beckwith, Priscilla; Mr. Carl Rice, messenger; Mr. Arthur Sparrow, elder.

In the wedding scene all the young people participated, making a very pretty tableau. During the evening an orchestra rendered selections, and Puritan refreshments, consisting of coffee, doughnuts and cheese were served.

ARROGANCE OF TORRES

Has Led to a Serious State of Affairs In Nicaraguan Republic.

Double Duties Demanded of American Merchants.

Our Navy Will Take the Matter Up by Request of State Department.

New Orleans, April 7.—A letter to The Picayune from Bluefields, Nicaragua, dated March 31, says: General Torres, the special agent of President Zelaya, yesterday again notified the merchants they would have but 24 hours to again pay the duties which had been paid to the treasurer of Nicaragua who served after the revolution began. Torres also undertook to prohibit the American consular agent from cabling to Washington or to the president of Nicaragua at Managua. He is in charge of the telegraph wires which lead to both the capital and San Juan Del Sur, the cable station.

The American consul, after discovering that it would be impossible to secure satisfactory information from Torres, withdrew with the American merchants who accompanied him to the palace. At this meeting Torres also declined to state what steps would be taken to force the American merchants to submit to double charges.

A vessel was chartered promptly and after considerable difficulty a clearance was secured from Torres, and this vessel sailed for Port Limon, Costa Rica, with dispatches for the government. The consul in the dispatch asks that at least two warships be sent to Bluefields at once.

The next move Torres made was to issue a decree doubling the duties, notwithstanding the fact that the schedule of duties for this section of the republic have been fixed by a law passed by congress. This law has never been amended or appealed. Very energetic demonstration on the part of the American navy is greatly needed.

Detroit to Take a Hand.

Washington, April 7.—The cruiser Detroit, which is now lying off Laguayra, Venezuela, has been ordered post haste to Bluefields, Nicaragua, for the protection of American interests in that quarter. Her dispatch under hurry orders is at the urgent request of the state department, to which American residents, both at Bluefields and in Costa Rica, have appealed for the protection of American interests. The arbitrary and extortionate policy adopted by General Torres, at Bluefields, who on more than one occasion has made himself persona non grata to this government, and whose restoration to power at this time has been followed by acts which American residents resent and protest against, is the main cause of the vessel's dispatch. The state department at the same time has cabled instructions to the United States diplomatic representative at Bluefields to lodge an energetic protest with the Nicaraguan government against the action of General Torres, and a disregard of this protest will be followed up by a most positive step on the part of this government. In Costa Rica the American business interests and residents are in trouble as a result of an insurrectionary movement. It is understood that the insurgents are levying forced loans on them, besides collecting exorbitant and double duties on imports.

Victims of Flames.

Manchester, N. H., April 7.—John C. McKeon, a retired grocer, aged 69 years, was fatally burned at his home last evening. McKeon was seated in an easy chair, reading, when a gas lamp was tipped over. The lamp set fire to the chair and McKeon was horribly burned.

Newburyport, Mass., April 7.—Catherine Stowell, aged 60 years, a widow, was burned to death last night at her home on Atkinson street. It is supposed that she attempted to light a lamp, which exploded and the flames communicated to her clothing. She is survived by six children.

Beached For Patchwork.

Marblehead, Mass., April 7.—The Warren line steamer Norseman, which went ashore on Tom Moore's rock, off Marblehead Neck, more than a week ago, was floated yesterday. She was towed into Marblehead harbor where divers made a thorough examination of her hull, and, finding it possible to cover the holes without beaching the vessel, as the wreckers had planned to do, it was decided to patch the apertures and tow the steamer to Boston, where she could be placed in dry dock for repairs.

Somerset County's Largest.

Skowhegan, Me., April 7.—The largest real estate deal ever recorded in Somerset county occurred here, when over 100,000 acres of timber land situated in the northern part of the county changed hands. The sale was made by Garret Shenck and Edward H. Haskell of Massachusetts and Charles W. Mullen of Oldtown, Me., to the Great Northern Paper company. The consideration named in the deed was $400,000.

Auditors Were Interested.

Lowell, Mass., April 7.—In the superior court yesterday the case of Daniel B. LeClaire vs. Rev. Isaac B. LeClaire attracted a large attendance. The plaintiff sues to recover damages for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections, the ad damnum being placed at $5000. The character of the evidence was such that smelling salts were not needed to keep the auditors awake. The case is still on.

The Burlington Strike.

Burlington, Vt., April 7.—Forty-two looms in the Burlington woolen mills are in operation, a number of non-union weavers having been engaged by the company. The latter is endeavoring to obtain additional help. It is said that the non-union men have been threatened with violence if they continue work, but no serious trouble is expected.

country. I am no Imperialist, but I believe that the war was an entering wedge to the orient world and nothing can stop the wave of American civilization from flowing on. Never stain in peace the uniform you have so nobly worn in war.

CAPT. KINCAIDE.

It gives me pleasure to take part in this splendid conclusion to your service. The last year seems like a dream. We remember the first call to arms an how like the heroes of Concord and of the Civil war, you leaped to the front. It was no fault of ours that in the first shuffle we were left behind. Had the opportunity been afforded, you would have emulated the valor and heroism of Massachusetts soldiers in Cuba or her gallant tars at Manila.

EX-MAYOR FAIRBANKS.

I want to add a few words to the deserved praise of Co. K, our country's defenders. The words that have been spoken our hearts respond to with a sacred "Amen." One might wish on such an ocasion that he had the words of a Sec. Long or of a Dewey, who once opened his lips to tell a nation to mind its own business. You have been writing history fast, and the history of the foremost nation of the world. You have brought respect to the flag and united the nation in a closer sisterhood of states. God grant you in the vocations of peace the blessings you have deserved by nobly performed duty. May you live respected and die regreted.

Time and space prevents a report of the speeches of Department Commander Gilman, Col. Anderson and Lieut. Whitney.

Another pretty incident was the sentiment given to Mr. George H. Wilson, to whom the boys have to thank for many of the good things which they have enjoyed while in service.

The banquet came to an end shortly after 10 o'clcock, when all united in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Those seated at the guests' table were in this order:

Gas Explosion.

When the employes of Durgin's pharmacy opened the store this morning there was a strong oder of gas, so much so that the clerks did not dare to light a match. The Gas Co. was notified, but before they found the leak there was a loud explosion that shook the building and tossed things about in Mr. Durgin's cellar. City men who were at work in the street opposite also felt the shock, but not severe enough to do any damage, only frighten them a little. It is thought that the steam roller which had been at work rolling the sewer trench had broken the pipe and the escaping gas had followed the pipe into the building. The break or leak had not been discovered up to noon.

ABSOLUTE INDEPENDENCE.

Gomez' Program Means the Keeping Up of Agitation and Disturbance.

Havana, April 7.—The Cuban military assembly being dead, General Gomez will take up his program of solidifying the Cuban people into a party that shall, without ceasing, urge the United States to withdraw from the island. His purpose is to make the people seem to have but one emotion, one desire—the thought of independence and of absolute separation from the United States.

General Gomez considers the dissolution of the assembly as his personal achievement, aided by the military administration here and countenanced at Washington. He believes that he emerges from the controversy with the assembly stronger than ever with the better classes. His theory is that the Cubans who before thought him merely an adroit guerrila chief are now prepared to regard him as a political leader, and that a few days more will probably see him in name general-in-chief of the army.

General Gomez, if reinstated, would be of greater service to the United States in the disbursement of the $3,000,000, but his political program means the keeping up of the agitation and disturbance in the minds of the people, and the weakening of American authority by producing the impression that everything done by the Americans is temporary and may sooner or later be overturned.

American observers consider any such agitation as extremely harmful to the revival and the restoration of Cuban credit. Some who are high in authority and who have exceptional opportunities of knowing the character and ideas of Gomez think the United States government may have trouble with him yet. His attitude has always been consistent regarding independence for Cuba, and he is still working for the same end. His character is narrow, resolute, arbitrary, exacting and likely to make him a constant disturber.

Wants to Foreclose.

Kansas City, April 7.—Frank Hagerman, attorney for the State Trust company of New York, the principal creditor of the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf railroad, which was Saturday night placed in the hands of receivers favorable to local interests, filed suit in the federal court here yesterday to foreclose the mortgage held by the trust company on that part of the road south of the Missouri river for $23,000,000.

Heroes Return.

San Francisco, April 7.—Steamer Arizona arrived here yesterday from Manila, having left Manila March 6. There was no contagious sickness on board and the vessel was not required to go into quarantine. Fifteen Californians who fought with the boys who attacked Paco church are on the list of returns. The wounded are doing well. There were no deaths on the trip.

Veterans Going to Cavite.

Boston, April 7.—Colonel Pope, who has been marine commandant at the Charlestown navy yard, yesterday relinquished command to Major Kelton, and today the former will report in New York to organize the marine battalion for duty at Cavite. A detail of 60 marines under Captain Long left for New York yesterday. All are veterans of the skirmish at Guantanamb.

Government Employes Barred.

Ottawa, April 7.—An order has been passed preventing any person employed by the government in any capacity from staking out or recording mining claims on dominion lands of any kind in the Yukon territory. It was also decided to exempt from the royalty tax the gross output of any mine up to the amount of $5000.

Bricklayers' Strike Ended.

Philadelphia, April 7.—The strike of the members of the Journeyman Bricklayers' association for an advance in wages from 37½ cents an hour to 45 cents was adjusted last night by the individual members of the Master Bricklayers' company signing the scale asked for by the men. About 3000 men will resume work today.

To Go to Waste.

London, April 7.—The Cairo correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: All the Anglo-Egyptian troops have been removed from Omdurman, owing to the persistence of the disease of cerebro spinal meningitis, due to the former unsanitary condition of the town. CHRISTIANITY IN CHINA.

Dowager Empress Notifies Subjects That Its Teaching Is Permitted.

Washington, April 7.—United States Minister Conger, at Pekin, has supplied the state department with a copy of a proclamation posted at Tien Tsin relative to the treatment of missionaries in China. In this edict, issued on "the 27th of tenth noon," the dowager empress recites the fact that anti-Christian movements had taken place in many provinces and declares that these have all been based on false sentiment. She wishes the people to understand that the teaching of Christianity is permitted in China, and that the preachers are to be treated as good citizens.

EMPRESS DOWAGER OF CHINA.

The empress declares that a good man, whether Christian or not, will obey the principles of being honest and true to others, wherefore she desires her people to treat foreigners as their own countrymen and avoid all misunderstanding with them. She commands the viceroys and officials in the provinces to emphasize her sincerity by exerting themselves to suppress all agitation among the people before any anti-Christian prejudice is displayed.

Soon Followed Wife.

Woonsocket, R. I., April 7.—Henry Dewolfe, aged 43, editorial writer for The Evening Reporter for the past four years, committed suicide by shooting yesterday near the grave of his wife, who was buried Wednesday in South Uxbridge. He had evidently been holding a flower plucked from his wife's grave as he sat beside the road, preparing for the fatal act. He had lived all his life near the scene of his death. He had not been writing regularly for The Reporter for several weeks, owing to his wife's and his own illness, but yesterday came to the office and left some editorial leaders for the day, saying that he would resume work regularly next week. He leaves no near kin.

A Woman In the Case.

Macon, Ga., April 7.—Gus Tidewall was stabbed to death here yesterday by Charles Burge because of Tidewall's attention to the slayer's sister. The crime was committed in full view of 20 policemen and a dozen firemen and a number of citizens. The victim and his slayer had been summoned to the police court for fighting about the murderer's sister. Tidewall had been paying attention to Burge's sister, a pretty girl about 18 years of age, and a day or two ago a letter written to him by the girl fell into the hands of Mrs. Tidewall. The latter told Miss Burge that Tidewall was married, but her husband kept up his attentions.

Fatal Fire at New York.

New York, April 7.—A few minutes before 2 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the five-story dwelling at 2 East Sixty-seventh street, the home of Wallace Andrews, president of the New York Steam Heating company. The fire spread very rapidly, and when the firemen arrived in response to the first alarm they found the interior of the house all in flames. A second alarm was turned in and the firemen made desperate efforts to get the inmates out of the house. They were only partially successful, and at least two lives are lost. The victims are believed to be Mrs. St. John, the daughter of Mr. Andrews, and Austin St. John, aged 10.

An Unexpected Windfall.

Canton, O., April 7.—Mrs. McKinley, wife of the president, her sisters and the heirs of the late George D. Saxton own the oil and mineral rights in 260 acres of land in the vicinity of the Scio oil field. They did not know it until informed by a man who wanted a lease. In looking up an abstract he found that the present owner owns only the surface, James Saxton, father of Mrs. McKinley, when he sold it over 30 years ago, having reserved the mineral and under the surface rights. A contract was made with the Saxton heirs to sink a test well, and if oil is found to operate under royalties to the heirs.

Sleepy Officers.

Vincennes, Ind., April 7.—Abe Rothschild and Albert Stansfield, who were arrested and taken to Evansville to answer to the charge of using the mails to defraud, and were held for the federal grand jury investigation, escaped from a train here yesterday, while manacled together. They were en route to Indianapolis to be arraigned in the United States court. Evansville officers fell asleep, and when the train arrived here the prisoners jumped off and walked away.

Double Lynching In Missouri.

Brooksville, Mo., April 7.—Two negroes, Forest Jameson and Most Anderson, were lynched yesterday by a mob for the murder of T. H. Leland, a stock farmer. Mrs. Langtry a Loser.

INTENSE SUFFERING

FROM DYSPEPSIA AND STOMACH TROUBLES

A New Discovery, but not a Patent Medicine.

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable cure of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach; he had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night.

I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose As an experiment I finally bought a fifty cent package of Stuarts Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances, fully cured.

There was no more acidity or sour watery risings, no bloating after meals, the appetite was vigorous and he has gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are avertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invlids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but fruit and vegetable essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal.

Without any question they are the safest, most effective cure for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and all derangements of the stomach, however slight or severe." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are made by the F. A. Stuart Co., of Marshall, Mich., and are sold by druggists everywhere at fifty cents per pacakge.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION

NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

When you awake

more tired than when you went to bed, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, your tongue coated and dry, and having no appetite for breakfast, you are suffering from Dyspepsia.

Numbers of people are suffering seriously from this complaint and its result, when one package of U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLETS will bring about a prompt cure. A few doses will do more for a Weak or Sour Stomach than a prolonged course of any other medicine. Nothing can be used with so much certainty in obstinate cases of Constipation.

These tablets are the outcome of years of study, and are compounded of the finest drugs only, purely vegetable, they do not gripe, produce no reaction. Take no substitute. 10 CENTS PER PACKAGE.

If you cannot get them at your drug store, send 10 cts. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

Say not that wealth, or rank, or power,
Or crowns confer true glory;

And reads the rest in story;
And though obscure the good man's name,
'Tis glorious still, though lost to fame.

Although the Pi Eta club boys of Harvard have been criticised somewhat for neglecting the college girls of their own town in their production of this year, still "Belles of Bellesley" is sufficiently well named to interest most of the female college fraternity in the vicinity of Boston. The initial production will be given in the evening of Wednesday, April 12, this being "Graduates Night." The next evening it will be given at the Pi Eta theatre in Cambridge, and on Friday it will be once more repeated at the Bijou theatre after which the "Bellesley" girls will hear it in Wellesley. The book is by the senior members, Messrs. T. L. Holmes, H. P. Dowst and W. S. Parker, while the catchy music is by Mr. W. C. Heilman, president of the Harvard Glee club. The scenery is both attractive and "local," since Sever and Hollis Halls, as well as the main gate, are among the familiar scenes shown.—Boston Home Journal.

Also a song, the words "O Death, rock me asleep," etc., composed by Anne Boleyn the day before her execution, and set to music older than Shakespeare's time. KOCH AND MALARIA.

Noted Bacteriologist Going With an Expedition to the Tropics.

Professor Robert Koch, the celebrated bacteriologist, who in 1888, at the head of the German cholera commission, visited Egypt and India and discovered the so called "comma" cholera bacillus, will start with an expedition in April for the tropics to continue his investigation as to the nature and origin of malaria. The reichstag has made a grant of 60,000 marks in aid of the undertaking.

The expedition referred to in the foregoing dispatch is in line with the efforts of Professor Koch to mitigate tropical fevers. When he returned last year from a similar expedition to the German east African coast, he advanced the theory that in the case of human beings mosquitoes played the part in communicating malaria which ticks play in the cattle disease known as "Texas fever." He had reached the conclusion that where there are mosquitoes there is always malaria and that where there are no mosquitos there is no malaria.

Moreover, he reported that it was possible by microscopic examination of the blood of a patient to discover from the nature of the microbes the exact stage which the disease had reached. This discovery he regarded, according to his report at the time, as of the highest importance in its bearings upon the administration of quinine shortly before the attack or shortly after. His theory, as then expounded, is that the quinine, taken at the right moment, stops malarial fever, not by killing the germs, but by arresting their growth, and his conclusion was that a proper employment of quinine, with the establishment of mountain health resorts, would rob tropical fever of many of its terrors.—New York Times.

Empire.

When, seeking far the vagrant of his flock
That from the known, familiar plain had strayed,
The earliest shepherd, from a towering rock,
The fallow world surveyed,

He saw a land no eye had seen before,
Beheld fair meadows threaded by bright streams,
Then never again beside his rude tent door
He dreamed his simple dreams.

For in his eyes the light of conquest shone,
The thought of empire flashed across his brain.
He saw his tribe a nation, he alone
Ruler of all the plain.

And since he gazed there tireless man has drawn
A tightening line along the globe's broad girth,
Mastered and peopled it, until the dawn
Circles a conquered earth.

No more new continents and seas shall greet
Fearless adventurers' eyes with strangest goals,
For all is won, save where the curious beat
The ice gates of the poles.

But, steadily partitioning the world,
Nations have set their chosen plots apart,
Marking where'er their banners have unfurled
New lines upon the chart.

And whether along some Asian ridge remote
Or with the Danube's course a boundary runs
On either side the warning colors float
Above expectant guns.

The bugle that across our continent
Led the strong, dauntless builders of the west
Sounds a blithe note of new and broad intent,
To the wide world addressed.

And we who held in check the eagle's flight
For long within our coasts of mighty seas
Behold in far strewn isles the wings of light
Bearing new destinies.

That change vexed Europe's latest reckonings,
And stirs with anxious fear her kings and czars,
While restless progress unto strange airs flings
The fair flag of the stars.

MONEY TO SPARE.

Subscriptions for Banquet Paid All the Bills.

The Citizen's Committee on the Soldier's Banquet met last evening for a financial settlement. It was pleasing to learn that the subscriptions exceeded the bills contracted, and that there will be a small surplus, possibly $10 to pay over to the relief fund of Paul Revere Post, G. A. R.

The following vote of thanks was passed:

VOTED, That the thanks of this committee be extended to all those who gave their liberal support and thereby made the banquet tendered to Co. K, 5th Mass. Inf., U. S. V., in Music hall, Quincy, on Thursday evening, April 6, 1899, a grand success. Especially do they feel grateful to the Young Men's Christian Association for the use of their parlors for meetings; for the services of their secretary, and to Theophilus King, Esq., for the able manner in which he presided at the post prandial exercises of the banquet; to Dexter Remick, proprietor of the Greenleaf, for having served a banquet of such excellence that it brought the favorable and satisfactory endorsement of all present and was a credit alike to himself and this Committee; to Mr. William F. Hoehn our Secretary, whose labor was unstintingly and cheerfully given at all times; to the Wollaston orchestra, whose musical selections were rendered with harmony and exquisite taste; to Mrs. A. B. Packard, for the loan of plants, and to the Bethany church and the Odd Fellows, for the loan of their tables; and to all others who rendered assistance and made the whole affair a success from beginning to the end.

It was also voted that the thanks of this Committee be extended by the Secretary to all those whose eloquence and words of welcome, of praise and thanksgiving for the safe arrival home of our soldier boys gave a more impressive meaning to the love of country, of home and God.

Votes of thanks were also extended to the police, and to Mr. Delcevare King.

The expenses of the banquet were about $600, and the attendance about 400. The number of subscriptions were in excess of the number attending, making the surplus possible.

The printers of the souvenir menu regret that any feeling should have been engendered over the bill for the same, and are pleased to accept the $15 if the committee think that that is all they should have for the work which was worth over $30. But a word of explanation may not be amiss. There was a vote of the committee that the necessary printing should be divided among local printers, but after Mr. Green had received all the tickets, etc., at his own price, he attempted to cut prices for the menu. Geo. W. Prescott & Son telephoned to Boston and a price of $10 per thousand was quoted for the stock. Upon the strength of that the firm offered to print 550 menu for $15, which did not include any profit. This would have been entirely satisfactory, but when the bill for the stock came it was at the rate of $24 per 1,000, a mistake having been made over the telephone.

Instead of receiving cost price for the menu, the printers felt that they would be from $5 to $10 out of pocket, and thought they should have a few dollars more. To show the interest of the printers in the celebration, we might state that the order for the menu did not call for any additional pages inside the folder, but two inserts were added to make a good job.

The favorable comments on the souvenir have been very gratifying, and the following has been received from the secretary of the committee:

Messrs George W. Prescott & Son:

Gentlemen: I want to congratulate you on the beautiful and artistic menu card issued from your press for the banquet to Co K at the Music hall on Thursday evening. I am sure I thus voice the sentiments of many in appreciation of such a fine souvenir. Words of praise have been heard on all sides. Trusting that you will always continue to serve the public in such good taste, I remain,

Yours very sincerely,
WM. F. HOEHN, Secty,
Quincy, April 8, 1899. Citizens' Committee.

AWFUL FIRE TRAGEDY.

Bodies of Twelve Persons Taken From Ruins of Burned House.

Flames Worked Quickly and Cut Off All Escape.

Narrow Space Between Walls Turned House Into a Veritable Furnace.

New York, April 8.—A fire that in some respects resembled the recent Windsor hotel disaster, visited one of the wealthiest sections of this city during the early morning hours of yesterday, and caused the death of 12 persons. Nine or 10 persons were injured, one of whom will die. Among others, a mother and her three little children perished. The list of the dead is almost equally divided between people of unusual wealth and those in poor circumstances. The latter were the servants, who with their employers were burned to death by a fire that spread so rapidly that it gave no chance of escape. The amount of damage to property is estimated at about $220,000.

The fire originated at the corner of Sixty-seventh street and Fifth avenue in the house occupied by Wallace C. Andrews, the wealthy president of a steam heating company. There were in this costly residence at that time 14 persons fast asleep. How the fire originated is still a mystery, though it seems tolerably certain that an explosion of some kind occurred.

All of the bodies in the fire of yesterday have been recovered. The last found was that of Mrs. Wallace C. Andrews, burned almost beyond recognition. The dead are: Wallace C. Andrews, owner of the house burned; Mrs. Wallace C. Andrews, his wife; Mrs. Georgianna B. St. John, wife of Mrs. Andrews' brother, Gamaliel C. St. John; Orson St. John, aged 7; Wallace St. John, aged 3; Frederick St. John, aged 13 months; Nellie Boland, servant; Mary Flannagan, servant; Eva Peterson, servant; Kate Downing, servant; Marie Roth, servant; Annie Neary, servant.

The list of injured at the Adams fire is: Mrs. Isabelle Adams, wife of Albert J. Adams, spine injured, burns, suffering from shock; Nellie Quinn, servant, jumped from fourth floor to an extension, severe bruises; Evelyn Adams, burns, shock; Minnie Bogue, servant, sprained ankle and bruises; Jerry Blazina, fireman, contusions of back; Mary Malloy, leg fractured, shock; William Stephenson, bruises and contusions, Presbyterian hospital.

When the firemen arrived they saw it was impossible to gain an entrance to the Andrews house by the front door, and they then made an attempt through the Rothschild house adjoining. Three firemen managed to get in the rooms on the third floor and found Mrs. St. John and her 3-year-old son unconscious on the floor, their night clothes almost burned off. They were quickly taken into the Rothschild house. Mrs. St. John died within a few minutes. Her child died in the fireman's arms.

The firemen made repeated efforts to get to the other rooms, but they might as well have attacked a furnace. The heat was terrible. The building seemed thoroughly dried and if saturated with oil it could hardly have burned more fiercely. Like most large New York dwellings it was high and narrow and is encased on two sides by solid brick walls, and the effect was like a great chimney. The flames roared and crackled and shot into the air a distance of 100 feet or more, throwing a great fiery spray over the roofs of the surrounding houses. Several times these caught on fire, but the firemen and servants were on the roofs with water and chemicals.

All efforts to arouse the inmates in time to save themselves were fruitless, and aside from Mrs. St. John the only other persons who got out of the house alive were the two servants, Jennie Burns and Alice White, who appeared at upper windows.

Before the firemen could raise ladders to reach them the women in their frenzy climbed out upon the sills and stood, as if determining on which was the worst fate, to be burned to death or to jump to death. The Burns girl climbed out of a four-story window. At the same moment Alice White climbed out upon the sill of an adjoining window on the fourth floor. The firemen cried to the women not to jump, but the women were past heeding warning. Smoke was curling above their heads, and the next instant Jennie Burns leaped out. She turned over and over and fell almost directly upon her head. Her skull was fractured in several places. The other woman, when she saw the awful fate of her friend, hesitated for a moment, then as the smoke thickened she, too, jumped. She fell upon a rear extension of the building and was picked up unconscious and severely injured.

While the fire in the Andrews house was raging great clouds of sparks were carried by the wind north and a brand flew into an upper open window of the home of Albert J. Adams at 3 East Sixty-ninth street. It caught in a curtain and instantly the room was ablaze. The servant at the window is thought to have been Mary Laughlin, for her dead body was found later at the foot of the stairs leading from the fourth floor to the roof.

The servants in this house were frantic in their efforts to escape, and Mary Malloy and Minnie Bogue jumped from the rear of the fourth floor to the extension, from where they were taken by the butler, assisted by firemen, police and some citizens.

Nellie Quinn was cut off on the fourth floor and appeared at a front window, about to jump. The crowd yelled to her to wait, but there was no time, as the flames were licking her clothes. The desperate woman put her hand over her eyes and jumped, as she thought, to the ground, but instead landed on the roof of the bay window one story below and lay there stunned. She was brought down from there in safety. The Adams family were also rescued, two of the daughters, however, being injured.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

Yesterday's Break In New York's Stock Market a Particular Feature.

New York, April 8.—Bradstreet's says: Throughout the west and northwest, with few exceptions, complaint is made of unseasonable cold weather affecting distribution, particularly at retail. Accompanying these reports, however, are numerous statements that the business done during the first quarter is considerably in advance of that handled a year ago. Chicago reports that large consumers are short of steel, and that sellers of pig iron are in no hurry to close large transactions, feeling confident as to prices during the latter part of the year.

Complaints of bad weather and roads come from the south, Texas trade and agricultural operations being unfavorably affected, and New Orleans reports that spring trade is likely to be disappointing for a like reason.

Drygoods distribution on seasonable account is less active at the east, but a good volume of fall orders has already been received. A particularly good business report comes from Pittsburg, where general trade is satisfactory, labor is well employed, and there is an increased general demand for staple articles. English buyers are reported looking for bargains in fine wool at Boston.

Business failures for the week number 190, exactly the same number as last week, but compared with 220 in this week a year ago, 232 in 1897, 231 in 1896 and 225 in 1895. Weekly bank clearings reflect large quarterly settlements in a total aggregate for the week of $2,049,150,000, a gain of 3 percent over last week, of 59 percent over this week a year ago, and 100 to 150 percent over corresponding weeks from 1897 to 1894 inclusive.

Irregularity in the money market, decreased supplies of money on all and increased discrimination against industrial stocks, caused a depression of speculative values at New York, culminating yesterday in a decided stock market break. The industrials and manipulated specialties made the most striking declines, but railroad securities were also affected. The movement indicated heavy liquidation of recent speculative purchases by the public. Large buying by London and bear covering at the decline caused rallies, and a steadier tone,

More About Beef.

Washington, April 8.—Having decided at its forenoon session yesterday to accept as evidence the official reports of officers of the army, the beef inquiry court devoted itself to listening to the reading of those reports. They were read by Major Lee, as the representative of General Miles, who had read only about 80 of the 147 of them when the court adjourned for the day. The reports were generally brief statements of the personal experiences of the officers, or summaries of the opinions of the men under them. The reports bore almost exclusively on the canned beef, but there were occasional references to the refrigerated beef. The officers generally condemned the meat as a component part of the soldiers' ration. The complaints were that it was stringy and tough, and, in many instances, it was stated that it made the men sick, and in others that, hungry though they generally were, they threw it away rather than eat it. In some cases, however, the officers reported that they had heard no complaints of the meat.

Complimentary to New England.

Washington, April 8.—Miss Clara De Graffenreid, who is connected with the department of labor in this city, appeared before the industrial commission yesterday and talked upon the industrial condition in the country, with special reference to the work of women. She dwelt upon the gradual emancipation of women in the textile factories of New England, and the gradual increase in the scope of woman's work. She commended the factory laws of New England, compared with those of other sections, but thought they could be improved. In New England the native operators are rapidly being supplanted by foreigners. She said in the south, contrary to the prevailing belief, there are no negro operatives in the mills.

Unionists Knocked Out.

Dublin, April 8.—The returns from the Irish county council elections have not all been received here, but enough is known to show that the Unionists have suffered disaster, a majority of the seats going to the Nationalists. Unionism has been annihilated in Munster and Connaught, almost exterminated in Leinster, and hit hard in Uster. The labor question also entered largely into the contest, labor candidates in many instances defeating Nationalists.

Popular With Venezuelans.

Caracas, April 8.—The American warships commanded by Rear Admiral Sampson have been received with enthusiasm at La Guayra, and President Andrade yesterday gave a dinner and a ball to the admiral, his officers and United States Minister Loomis. The president has asked to decorate the admiral and seven of his officers with the Order of Bolivar. British Minister Haggard gave the American officers a splendid fete.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The pope is anxious to stop the rumors that his health is failing and is resolved to appear at thanksgiving service in St. Peter's cathedral on the 16th.

At a meeting of the Tammany hall general committee resolutions were adopted putting the organization on record as favoring municipal ownership of gas plants for all lighting purposes.

John P. Keskulla, an elderly German, was found dead in his room at New Haven, having committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. He was a retired tailor and no reason is known for the act.

Harry Worcester, 6 years old, was killed at Boston while playing with his cousin, Edith Hodgkins. The fatality was caused by a rock, weighing about 100 pounds, falling upon the boy and crushing his skull. The little girl was also seriously hurt by the same mass of rock.

General Roget's evidence flatly contradicts that of Magistrate Bertulus regarding the Colonel Henry case.

J. D. Gaffney and Harry Davis, stock farm proprietors of Lexington, Mass., were arrested in a charge of assault and robbery.

MODEL HOUSE DESIGN.

Complete In All the Appointments of a Comfortable Home.

Many people who get ready to build have a very confused and contradictory idea of the kind of structure they wish to have erected, and when they go to an architect and try to explain what they want they are apt to so confuse him that if he is not a very level headed man and one of great experience in dealing with such abstract propositions he is liable to get as wild in solving the problem as the client is in dictating it. In matters of this kind the experienced man will just let his client run on and tell all. When it is his turn, he will at once get down to practical things by asking a few questions. First, what is the limit of the proposed cost? This is always set in every man's mind at some point, and that point in the practical architect's mind is the turning place or the stopping place. How often mind and matter have to divorce themselves here is well known to every practitioner.

This is where the young architect errs every time. He is fresh from school and without any practical experience. He is full of theory. Of will he has ample; of power to mold men's minds he has none; of reason born of experience he has yet to learn. It is on his aggressiveness and his theoretic knowledge that he must depend; hence he jumps at his client's conclusions, being easily led, and thinks it will be easy to have the man of bricks, lumber and labor fall in with him and believe as he does. He plans to fit his client's ideas, generally fetching up against the rock of despair, born of the practical builder's refusal to build the $2 worth he has planned for $1 in cold money, and the ideal born of theory and lack of experience dies a natural death and is cast into oblivion by the stern reality of life.

Every young student in architecture must go through this school of adversity, but the sooner he recognizes this rude master and obeys its mandates the sooner will he reach the era of usefulness and the easier make his living. In all the efforts he must make he will find himself edged in by cost, and this won't allow him to become seduced from the true requirements of each case in hand.

Of the many schools of architecture I have yet to learn of one which teaches the matter of cost. They forget this most important item. They never waste any time on such an inartistic thing as cost, as they cannot realize it is their duty, simply because the professors themselves do not know how to dissect, analyze and work out the minute details of a building any better than the scholars. It often happens, too, that the practical man and reasoner outstrips the theorist, since the true resources of his mind cannot assume other than a natural position, based on true cost and application.

Every home, no matter how important, has to come to this leading idea of cost, and the greatest perfection at a given cost is what counts.

The design here submitted will fill the bill. The dining room, parlor, kitchen and hall are on the first floor. The second floor has four large chambers, each with a good closet, and a bathroom complete. By looking over this plan and studying it the reader will see that all room possible is well utilized and that the house is a model in its various appointments.

ALL MEN OF ABILITY.

Delegates to Peace Congress Announced by State Department.

Messrs. White, Newell, Low, Crozier and Mahan.

Men Well Known In World of Letters and International Affairs.

Washington, April 7.—The American commission to the disarmament congress, announced by the secretary of state, as a whole is regarded as an exceptionally strong body, being made up of men well known not only in public and political life, but in the world of letters and international affairs. They are all men of scholarship, and of those attainments helpful in a congress representing the nations of the world, conducted under the diplomatic usage which makes French the accepted language.

The delegation consists of Andrew D. White, United States ambassador at Berlin; Stanford Newell, United States minister to The Netherlands; President Seth Low of Columbia university, New York; Captain William Crozier, ordnance department, United States army, and Captain A. T. Mahan, United States navy, retired.

Andrew D. White will be the head of the United States delegation at this congress. Captain Crozier will represent the United States army and Captain Mahan will represent the navy. Frederick Holls of New York will be secretary of the delegation.

Mr. White is best known in the fields of education and diplomacy. After graduating at Yale, class of '53, he went to Europe for several years of historical study, mainly at Berlin and Paris, afterward traveling on foot through Europe. For a time he was an attache of the United States legation at St. Petersburg. Returning to this country he began his university career as professor of English literature at the university of Michigan. Then he returned to New York state and entered the state senate. One of the measures he introduced was for the incorporation of Cornell university, and later he became the first president of Cornell, his service continuing from 1867 to 1885. Mr. White was United States commissioner to San Domingo in 1871. From '79 to '81 he was United States minister to Germany, again taking this important post under President McKinley. During the administration of Mr. Cleveland, Mr. White was chosen as one of the Venezuelan commissioners at the time when the affair was at its most critical state. He was also minister to Russia in 1892.

Seth Low also is known as an educator as well as a man of public affairs. He was graduated at Columbia university, and he is closely identified with that institution, becoming its president in 1890, and later giving $1,000,000 for university buildings. He was mayor of Brooklyn in 1881 and again in 1883. In 1897 he was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor of Greater New York.

Stanford Newell was appointed minister to the Netherlands from Minnesota. His selection as one of the delegates was expected, because he was minister resident at The Hague, where the congress is to be held. Mr. Newell is a lawyer and had long practice in St. Paul.

Captain William Crozier is one of the most highly accomplished of the officers of the ordnance corps, which is generally recognized as containing the very highest grade of talent in the United States army. He was born in Ohio and appointed to the military academy from Kansas. His father was at one time a United States senator from Kansas. William Crozier graduated from the military academy in 1876 and entered the artillery arm of the military service. In 1881 he was transferred to the ordnance department, to which he has been attached ever since. In conjunction with General Buffington he invented the disappearing gun carriage which has been adopted by the United States government as the highest type of coast defense weapon.

No name is better known to students of naval strategy than that of Captain Alfred T. Mahan, sailor, strategist and author. Captain Mahan was born in New York, and appointed an active midshipman in the navy in 1856. He became a full midshipman in 1859. He reached the grade of lieutenant at the outbreak of the Civil war in 1861, became a lieutenant commander in 1865, a commander in 1872 and a captain on Sept. 23, 1885. He retired Nov. 7, 1896. His last command was that of the Chicago, then on the European station, and he retired on his own application in order to pursue the literary work which had made him famous. When it was realized that the war with Spain was inevitable, Secretary Long cabled promptly to Captain Mahan, then in Rome, summoning him to Washington. Here he took his place as a member of the famous naval war board, known during its existence as the strategy board, which planned the program of campaigns.

Knifed by Crazy Sailor.

Bridgeton, N. J., April 7.—George Gauze, a crazy sailor on the schooner Lafayette, attempted to murder Captain Philip Lynch while the latter was asleep. Gauze got hold of a butcher knife and cut the captain's throat in a horrible manner. The captain's cries aroused other members of the crew, who were asleep at the time. When an effort was made to disarm the would-be murderer he slashed right and left and seriously cut another sailor. Captain Lynch's wounds are dangerous.

Hobart's Sickness.

Washington, April 7.—Vice President Hobart has not rallied from his relapse of several days ago sufficiently to indicate when he will be about again. His physician is now visiting him twice a day. Aggravated indigestion, an annoying cough and general weakness have made the vice president's case a rather serious one.

It is not necessary for the Chilton Paint Company to obtain letters of recommendation, on the "patent medicine" order of business, because to any one and every one who has ever used Chilton Paint, it refers. A painter who desires to do good work will put Chilton paint upon a dry surface and brush it out well. Often times one coat will do as much work as two of ordinary paint. If the shade of paint now on your house is satisfactory, and you wish only to brighten it up and protect the wood, select the nearest shade of Chilton Paint to what you now have, put on one coat and you will be surprised to see how little it takes and how cheaply the whole thing can be accomplished.

STRANGE FUNERAL RITES

How Hawaii Buried the Princess Kaiulani.

SEVEN DAYS OF WEIRD MOURNING.

A Waving of Plumes and Chanting of Lamentations Over the Casket. Midnight Removal of the Body—The Hearse Drawn by 230 Natives—Old Customs Revived.

The remains of Princess Kaiulani rest in the tomb where lie the bodies of all the Kamehamehas, except the great Kamehameha, who was buried, like Moses, no man knows where. The funeral took place on Sunday, March 12, and fully 25,000 people attended it. It is Hawaii's superstitition that the death of a member of the royal family is accompanied by the severest rainfall of the year. The conditions attending the death and burial of Kaiulani bore out the superstition. The rain began falling in torrents after she died and continued until after she was buried. The hours of the funeral, however, were bright and clear.

All that the military and civic pomp of civilization could add to the strange old Hawaiian funeral customs went to make the ceremony one not easily forgotten. For nearly seven days there was not an instant when some ceremony was not in progress. Soon after her death kahili bearers began waving royal kahilis, or feather plumes, over her body. Every bearer, whether a man or a woman, wore a yellow feather cape, which is a sign of Hawaiian royalty. The bearers stood rigidly erect, and the waving of the plumes was done according to a formula, from which it was a point of honor not to vary. At the beginning each bearer held his kahili in the "carry arms" position. At a signal the kahilis were extended in a horizontal position till they touched tips with those on the opposite side of the casket. Each bearer then waved his kahili to the right, then to the left, repeating each motion, and then holding the plumes aloft, finally returning to the first position. During the week several kahili bearers fainted from sheer exhaustion.

The body lay in state at Ainahan until the Friday preceding the funeral and was then removed to the Kawaialias church. The ceremony of removal was weird. It took place in the middle of the night. The sky was heavily overcast and threatened rain. Kahili bearers walked beside the hearse, waving aloft torches made of oily kukui nuts spitted on bamboo poles. Following the hearse, came members of the royal family in carriages, then friends, old servants and retainers. Among the last were many Mele women, who hand down from generation to generation the historical chants reciting the valor, great deeds and history of the Hawaiian people. They wailed and chanted throughout the journey to the church. Others wailed in cadence, while some of the old servants broke out in lamentations and expressions of personal grief. The darkness, the weird light of torches, the absence of the constraining presence of the white man and the white man's customs, revived in many of the old Hawaiians thought, and feelings of earlier days, and they broke into hula hula songs and dances, according to the ancient custom, which has latterly fallen into disuse since the hula has become discredited.

At the church a short service was held and finished at 2 o'clock in the morning. The church decorations were in sympathy with the Hawaiian customs on such occasions.

Throughout Saturday rain fell in torrents, but the remains were viewed by thousands. After the funeral the quiet of the scene was broken by chants or by wailings and lamentations of old servants of the princess, who recited incidents of her life. Their words were extemporaneous, spoken in a chanting, melodious way, sometimes accompanied by a swaying of the body, which was kept up until the speakers dropped from sheer physical exhaustion.

The services on Sunday were those of the Anglican church. The funeral procession was led by the marshal of the republic, A. H. Brown, his deputies and a company of mounted police. Then followed members of the royal family, civil officials, foreign consuls, representatives of societies and the clergy, including the Catholic bishop. The hearse was drawn by 230 natives, uniformed in white trousers, blue sweaters, white hats and blue and yellow cloth capes. From the church to the tomb is two miles, but the entire distance was lined with spectators. The services at the tomb were very simple. The coffin was placed next to that containing the body of Princess Likelike, Kaiulani's mother, and near that of Kalakaua.—New York Sun.

Woman Kills Two Foxes With One Shot.

Mrs. Mary White, who lives at Rio, six miles west of Port Jervis, N. Y., was in town the other day, bringing the skins of two red foxes she had shot near her home. She obtained of the town supervisor the bounty of $2 and then sold the skins to Chief of Police Brown for $2.75. This is the first instance in Orange county in which a woman claimed a bounty for killing a fox. What is more remarkable is that Mrs. White shot both foxes with a single bullet. A few days ago she saw two full grown red foxes near her house. Hastily securing a gun, she took aim, and as they were in range she brought both down with one shot.—Exchange.

Utilitarian.

A young woman can get along without a lover very well during the winter time, but beginning about now she needs somebody to clean her bicycle.—Boston Globe.

Like a Two-edged Sword.

Just now, when the great army of wage earners in the mill towns and cities of New England are being made glad by an increase in their compensation, the legislature of Massachusetts is being asked to enact a law the ultimate effect of which would likely be a reduction in the earnings of another body of workers, the employes of the railroads.

For several years back there has been a determined effort made on the part of well-meaning but very short-sighted persons, to bring about the passage of a law compelling the railroads to materially reduce the rates of fare within a radius of 25 miles of Boston. The atlisglure has thus far refused to lend itself to this attempt to still further reduce the income of the railroads, and it is not likely that the scheme will meet with any better success at the present session.

The trouble with the people who are so insistently agitating this reduction in fares is that they do not stop to follow out the workings of their so-called "reform" to its logical conclusion.

In their "strike" against the railroad corporations, they may possibly regard, with indifference, the chance that the success of their proposition will endanger the dividends of the stockholders; but the fact that the men who are earning their bread and butter through their connection with the railroads may also be pecuniarily affected has, apparently, never occurred to them.

And yet, this is precisely what is bound to occur if railroads are to be compelled to do business at a loss, as so many people seem determined they shall be.

A railroad stands exactly as any other business enterprise, with relation to its invested capital, and the road that cannot earn fair dividends is not long regarded as a good business proposition. When its margin of profit is materially reduced from whatever cause, either its dividends or the wages of its employes have got to be reduced in proportion

It is showing scant consideration for an industrious and faithful body of men, whose interests are bound up with those of every community in the land when such a bill as the one referred to is introduced in a local legislature. It is anything but a friendly act toward these workers, and it is remarkable that this fact has not been given prominence long before.

That there is a revulsion of feeling against this persistent intermedling with the affairs of the railroads now in progess is very evident, and in no way has it recently been made more plain than in the following editorial from the Lawrence Sun, which is published in a city whose entire prosperity is dependent upon the well being of its working classes:

"At each session of the great and general court many bills are presented rightly termed foolish measures. No feature of the public convenience is subjected to more foolish legislation than the railroads, both electric and steam. A measure calling for the abolition of grade crossings is worthy of passage for a dangerous condition would be obviated, but a bill requiring railroads to transport rowing shells free is senselessss legislation.

"At this session of the legislature a bill has been introduced for lower fares on all railroads within 25 miles of Boston. To pass such a bill would be injurious to all cities and towns at the distance from Boston as in Lawrence. The fares today are low enough and if they were higher the business interests would be better served. The passengers on the railroads are treated well regarding the fares and any notable reduction would be felt by local storekeepers.

"The trading public that patronize Boston can well affords to pay existing rates. The local stores are well supplied with goods of all varieties and the assortment is equal to every occasion. The local business men are in need of all the support possible and more people should patronize the local men rather than go to Boston. If Boston was a hundred miles away from Lawrence the local business interests would be better served. The present passenger tariff between this city and Boston is neither too high nor too low. It is a good medium and should not be subjeted to the dangers of a further reduction."

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Marcus Sangman and Hardy J. Flanders, the two junk dealers who were charged with buying copper wire stolen by boys from the American Telegraph & Telephone Co., knowing it to have been stolen, were heard. Sangman was fined $20 and the case against Flanders was continued one month. Sangman appealed.

The continued case of William E. Jones of Braintree for trurancy, was called and he was discharged.

The continued case of John White of Quincy for entering the house of James Edwards, was called and the complaint placed on file.

The continued case of Mary E. Morriarty for drunkenness at Quincy was called and again continued until May 13.

A SOUVENIR.

I found them in a book last night,
These withered violets,
A token of that early love
That no man e'er forgets.
Pressed carefully between the leaves,
They keep their color still.
I cannot look at them today
Without an old time thrill.

Ah, me, what tricks does memory play!
The passing years have fled
And hopes that lived in vigor once,
Alas! have long been dead.
And this is all that I can say,
When all is said and done,
Those flowers remind me of some girl—
I wish I knew which one!

AN AMANA ROMANCE.

What led Herr Schweppe to join the Amanites no one knew but the elders. The Amanites did not gossip about it. They were not given to gossiping about anything. Work, duty, God—these were all their thoughts. But the visitors to the close lying Amana villages seldom failed to notice that Herr Schweppe was a gentleman and to wonder how he came to join the Amanites, with their plain clothes and their lives of toil. The mystery was hid in the books of the elders. There was once a visitor who claimed that he had had a glimpse of the page and saw "Bismarck" written twice on Herr Schweppe's record. The name was "Von Schweppe," too, this visitor said, though it was only Schweppe now.

Be that as it may, Herr Schweppe's daughter Annie bore the traits of noble German birth. She was a dark haired, dark eyed maid, appearing among the other girls of the community like a bit of Sevres ware surrounded by pieces of useful but homely plain white china. Little did the thrifty, godly Amanites care for such beauty. In Amana a yard of blue calico was accounted as worth far more than a dimple.

The sorrows of exile killed Herr Schweppe when Annie was a child, before she had grown so beautiful. Annie had never seen a mirror, and no one told her of her beauty. Her mother gloated over it in secret. She loved Annie far better than the elders would have sanctioned, but when the child was near she was silent and cold. The life of repression had had its effect on poor Mother Schweppe.

In Amana the elders discouraged lovemaking. Men and women entered the church by different doors, and a line of sawdust box cuspidors marked off the men's side of the house. But among the girls at the Amana gasthaus were two persons who did not have the law of Amana in their hearts. They were not Amana girls, but came from outside, for no Amanite would have permitted his daughter to be subjected to the gaze of the strangers in the gasthaus. It was Madge and Nora, alas, who put all the mischief into Annie's mind.

June moonlight was falling over the yellow wheatfields, and the fragrance of grapevine blossoms on the wall half intoxicated Annie as she leaned out of the small, square window next the slanting roof of her mother's cottage. It was while Annie was still thinking of the land that might lie outside of Amana that Madge and Nora came along and asked her to go with them to their party And Annie stole away and went.

A ghostly little party it was, of Madge and Nora and Annie and only three others in the hotel kitchen, but as they sat in the glare of the oil lamp reflector it seemed to Annie the wildest dissipation. Two sheepish young Amanites slouched on the bench at one side of the kitchen, nervously pulling their straw hats over their faces if any one glanced at them. The third young man was entirely unlike these. Annie, big eyed and timorous, gazed at him in wonder. He wore such clothes as fitted him. His ruddy hair was brushed back from his ears, not over them, in the fashion of the Amanites. His face was clean shaven, his figure lithe and sinewy, and his merry eyes roved hither and thither while he regaled the company with music. It was a mouth organ which he played, but no matter. To Annie it was heavenly. She had never before heard music of any kind, for the Amanites attached a penalty even to whistling. Suddenly Annie was trembling and sobbing, and the player, conscience smitten, ceased his melody.

He was not a great stranger to her, as Annie had thought. He had not so very many years ago worn the blue jean and straw hats of the community. He was none other than Hermann, the son of Herr Tappan, whom Annie had often seen in church when a child. The community had permitted Herr Tappan to send his son away to a college, for Hermann was to be the physician of the community, their Herr Doctor, as they called him.

Hermann understood the timidity of Annie. He, too, had once been restrained till all his thoughts were sadness. He bade the girls take her at once to her mother's cottage, and he watched them all till Annie had disappeared through the window.

But why should the young Herr Doctor come to Mother Schweppe's cottage next day, asking for her famous wine for his patients?

"Knowest thou not I have disposed of it long before this time?" cried Mother Schweppe.

"I thought perhaps thou mightst be making it again," faltered Hermann.

"Make wine in June? What sort of a man!" And Mother Schweppe laughed loudly and unmelodiously, much as one of her cabbages might have laughed.

And while her dull eyes were closed in mirth Hermann crushed into Annie's hand a bit of paper, and Annie, child though she was, hid herself among the grapevines before she dared to open it.

"Thou art most beautiful! I love thee." That was all.

After that it was easy for Annie to climb down by the grapevine from her window, and once she went alone with Hermann far down the solitary railroad track. But Madge loved Hermann, too, in her way, and, being jealous, she told Annie's mother.

The next day the elders came to Mother Schweppe's house. No one smiled, and the interview was full of long silences. Annie was taken down the street, an elder in front of her and an elder behind her. They put her in a house, far away from her mother, and gave her a double portion of work. Hermann, too, was taken to a cloister, though he went laughing.

Six months' separation, six months' fasting, prayer and hard work was required, and if after that ordeal the two still wished to be married the elders would consider the matter.

A week passed. Hermann and Annie had sat in their places at the morning service, and it chanced that they, with meekly folded hands, emerged from the two doors of the church at the same moment. Suddenly each one advanced to the other; they met and walked away together. The elders were so astounded that for a moment no one could speak. There had never been such an audacious breach of the rules. Even the most venerable members of the community were dumfounded.

The whistle of an approaching train awoke them all to action. "Disobedience!" the chief elder cried, and all the elders hurried down the street to the railway station. Here they found Hermann and Annie, impenitent and defiant. There was a brief storm of angry words.

"We give you but one year to consider," said the long faced chief elder. "You may never show your faces here again if you come not back within the year."

"Thou, Hermann, leavest thy aged father, and thou, Annie, thy mother," said another, more kindly.

Annie looked down at her blue calico gown and her rough shoes. "What have they done for us?" she cried.

They ascended the steps of the car. "Give them goodby!" called Hermann petulantly. "We come back no more." And the train pulled away.

"All the world loves a lover," said Herr Tappan to Mother Schweppe sadly, "but the lover loves no one but himself and his sweetheart."

So Hermann and Annie went to the city. They were happy, and there seemed to be no ghosts at their fireside. "Father and mother think more of their carrots than they do of us," they would say merrily when they spoke of Amana at all.

In May their baby was born. He was a beautiful child, and Hermann and Annie never tired of watching him. Hermann could scarcely tear himself away from baby to attend his patients. Contagious diseases he refused to treat. Baby might catch them. Annie's face grew softer as she looked at the child. For hours they would amuse themselves watching him clasp a lead pencil in his chubby fingers. They cut off a lock of his baby hair and saved it in the Bible.

"Whom does the baby look like, Annie?" asked Hermann carelessly one day.

"Like you did when you were a baby, I suppose," answered Annie gayly. Suddenly a startled look came into her eyes. The thought came to Hermann at the same moment. He dropped on his knees before the child. "Did they think of me as we think of our baby?" he whispered. Annie was sobbing. "God may yet forgive us," she cried. "The year is not ended. We may still return."

* * * * * * * *

The good God had not ended Mother Schweppe's life. Herr Tappan, too, was still trudging among his vegetables when Hermann and Annie came back.

"It would have been a year tomorrow already," Herr Tappan said stolidly, but his withered lips went trembling, and he embraced Hermann and Annie and blessed them.

And Mother Schweppe paddled back to her cellar with a sly smile, returning full handed. "I have all this time since last autumn kept six bottles of wine for thee, Hermann," she said.—Julia Crawford Underwood

PINK AND WHITE OUTING COSTUME FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

Among the most dainty of summer fabrics are the light colored jeane. Like the popular pique this material may be obtained in medium shades. Black jeans is a summer novelty which is scarcely likely to prove as popular as black pique, because of the brownish tint which is always seen upon it, even while new. In the lighter shades of gray, blue, rose, pink, and reds the satiny finish becomes an especial attraction. Our design taken from Harpers' Bazar and for which cut paper patterns are furnished is described as follows. The skirt has a gored front breadth and two side gores, making in all three pieces in the skirt. There is an allowance at the bottom of this agent for a six inch hem. The position for the trimming, which consists of double folds of dotted jeans stitched at the upper edge of the skirt, is marked upon the pattern. The folds have a further finish of white cotton braid stitched flat upon the edges. Where desired, this trimming scheme may be reversed, and the braid made to cover the stitching upon the top of the fold. The folds should be made of bias material, and care should be exercised in fitting the points in back and front of gown and of the collar. The skirt is finished with two single pleats in the back which meet in the center. The bodice is a kind of bloused and belted Eton. It has a seamless back with but the merest suggestion of gathering in the centre at the waist. The front is slightly full, and even suggest a pouch; but where this is not desired the material may be drawn smooth, so that the small flaring revers will just meet the band. In the original design these began above this point, as may be seen in the illustration. The collar is a dainty development of the sailor-shaped neck garniture. The revers and collars are edged with bands of the dotted material outlined with braid. This jacket may be worn with blouse or chemisette, as may be prefered. The front meets just below where the collar points converge, and a fancy tie, of which a pattern is included with the costume, is tied in a sailor knot at this point. This tie does not pass around the neck of the bodice, but is attached just under the points of the collar. It may be made of taffeta, mousseline, or of bright Persian silk. The sleeve is large enough to admit of wearing a thin underblouse sleeve if desired. They are box-pleated at the shoulder, and finished at the wrist with deep turned back cuffs edged with cotton braid. The design is one which would be effective if treated in blue flannel for yachting purposes, or in such light-weight black or colored material as Henrietta cloth or cashmere.

This costume will require 12 1-2 yards of pique or jeans to make it as represented in the illustration.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 9—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—The holy garments.—Eph. iv, 20-24; Rom. vi, 4.

The change that takes place in the life of one who becomes a Christian is described by Paul in the first topical reference as the putting off of the old man, the old life, as one puts off a garment, and the putting on of the new man, the new life, as one puts on a new garment. The garments of the new life are the holy garments. The change of life is therefore described as if it were the taking off of old garments which are ragged, shabby and dirty, and the putting on of new garments which are clean and tidy. The rags of the old man are given up for the robes of the new. Filthy garments are exchanged for holy garments.

Before the holy garments can be put on two important changes must take place. 1. The inward man must be renewed. We must be renewed in the spirit of our mind. This is the work of the Holy Spirit, and our part in it is to earnestly desire and fervently pray for the Holy Spirit to renew our minds. 2. The filthy garments of the old life must be put off. Before the new can be put on the old must be taken off. "Put off," says Paul, "the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts, * * * and put on the new man, which, after God, is created in righteousness and holiness."

These holy garments are the characteristics of life which partake of righteousness and holiness. They are the actions of life which are right toward our fellow men and right toward God. They are patterned after the moral character of God Himself. They are the outward proofs of an inward change of life. The rags of the old man are further particularized as falsehood, anger, dishonesty, idleness, corrupt speech, bitterness, evil speaking and malice. The holy garments are the robes of truthfulness, self control, honesty, industry, purity in speech, good will, kindness and forgiveness.

The desirability of the holy garments should be evident to all. Rags are disgusting to most men. To literally wear rags for clothing is very unpleasant. How much more disgusting and unpleasant it should be to wear moral rags! Better to have on the robes of righteousness and be clothed in plainness and coarseness than to wear filthy moral rags and be dressed in purple and fine linen. Rags or robes, which will we wear? It should not take us long to decide this question, if we are wise both for time and eternity.

Bible Readings.—Job xxix, 14; Ps. cxxxii, 9-18; Eccl. ix, 8; Isa. lii, 1; lix, 17; lxi, 10; lxiv, 6-8; Math. v, 1-16; Rom. xii, 1, 2, 9-21; Gal. v, 19-26; Eph. v, 1-21; Phil. iii, 7-9; Jas. v, 1-12.

Christian Education.

"Knowledge is power", in every sense of the term, and the man or the race that has knowledge stands for power, and every man and every race knows it. And this association, working through education, is working at the very center and heart of the whole business. It is Christian education. Why? Because all pioneer education must be Christian education. Our great foundations on which we have built, lying back in the eighteenth century, were Christian foundations. We are able now to build in diversified ways. There is a separation to a certain extent going on between church and school like that which went on between church and state. Our great universites stand for learning primarily, as our state stands for freedom and justice, and back of it all in those early days stands the foundation of Christian education. It is Christian education that is the pioneer, and no race can get under headway by any other motive whatever. You can't cram knowledge enough into the negro race to give it headway unless you touch its conscience and inform its heart. You can't inspire any race to go on its large, helpful mission until you have filled that race, not only with an ardor of knowledge, but with the passion of a great consecration.—President Tucker of Dartmouth College.

The Ease of Prayer.

Look at the incredible ease of prayer. Every time, place, posture, is fitting. Talent is not needed. Eloquence is out of place. Our want is our eloquence, our misery is our recommendation. Thought is quick as lightning, and quick as lightning can it multiply effectual prayer. Actions can pray, sufferings can pray. The whole function is expressed in a word. It is simply this: The child at his father's knee, his words stumbling over each other from very earnestness, and his wistful face pleading better than his hardly intelligible prayer. —F. W. Faber.

To Fight Is to Conquer.

Blessed is he that cometh to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord against the mighty. No wounds, no blows, that he can receive while he is fighting on that side can harm him. To fight there is itself to conquer, even though the victory comes through pain and death, as it came to Him under whom we fight, the Captain of Our Salvation, Jesus Christ.—Bishop Brooks.

Those Who Help Themselves.

Spiritual progress is not entirely spontaneous and self asserting. It depends very largely upon human effort and culture. There are very many difficulties thrown in the way, a goodly number of which we ourselves must remove. He who labors most and labors wisest will progress most rapidly. The Holy Spirit helps those most who help themselves.—Christian Instructor.

The Day of Atonement.

Self denial and self abnegation are, it is true, but incidentals in the proper observance of the great day of atonement, yet these incidentals are important enough to weaken its effect upon us by their absence.—Jewish Voice.

WAS ILLEGAL

Kautz's Declaration as to Mataafa's Rule.

Natives Were About to Accept the Ultimatum.

Consul Rose Charged Admiral With Falsehood.

Latter's Proclamation Was Disobeyed and Hostilities Followed.

Conduct of Germany's Representative Characterized as Grossly Insulting.

Apia, Samoa, March 24, via San Francisco, April 8.—There have been lively times in Samoa during the past few days. The United States and British warships have shelled Mataafa's forces repeatedly, and sailors have been landed in Apia to protect property. Numerous casualties have resulted on both sides. Admiral Kautz and the commanders of the British ships are anxiously awaiting advices from their governments, and in the meantime the shelling proceeds daily.

When Admiral Kautz arrived on the Philadelphia he spent two days in making inquiries and then called a meeting of all the consuls and the senior officers of all the warships in the harbor. As a result of the meeting, a proclamation was issued by the American admiral, declaring that the so-called provisional government, under Mataafa could have no legal status under the Berlin treaty and, therefore, could not be recognized by the consular and naval representatives, and ordering Mataafa and his supporters to quietly go to their homes and respect the laws of the Berlin treaty. It was further ordered that the people ejected from their homes be returned, and the power of the naval force, it was stated, would be used against all who disregarded the rights of peaceably disposed people. The authority of the chief justice was upheld by the proclamation, and the admiral closed by saying that he trusted that there would be no occasion to use the military powers. The proclamation was signed by Admiral Kautz.

This proclamation was taken to Mataafa and read to him by Flag Lieutenant Miller. It was received in silence, and no answer was made. Mataafa and his chiefs quietly left and went to the western portion of the municipality, and it seemed as if they were about to obey the command to return to their homes.

The German consul, however, issued a counter proclamation in the Samoan language, which was distributed among the Mataafans. The proclamation read as follows:

"By the proclamation of the admiral of the United States, dated March 11, it was made known that the three consuls of the signatory powers of the Berlin treaty, as well as the three commanders of men of war, had been unanimous to no more recognize the provisional government composed of Mataafa and the 13 chiefs.

"I, therefore, make known to you that this proclamation is quite false. I, the German consul general, continue to recognize the provisional government of Samoa, until I have received contrary instructions from my government.'

The immediate result of this act was that the rebels turned back and prepared for war, declaring that they would not obey the admiral's order, and would prevent any food supplies being brought into Samoa for the Malletoa natives. The next day Apia was surrounded by Mataafa's warriors. Forces from the Philadelphia and Porpoise were landed to protect the loyal natives.

On Tuesday, Mataafa having failed to appear, Flag Lieutenant Miller was sent to deliver an ultimatum. He was not allowed to see the chief, but delivered his message and retired. Everything looked ugly, and British and American blue jackets were landed in Apia to protect the consulates. Quick-firing machines and small field pieces were also landed.

Hostilities commenced on Tuesday afternoon, when half a dozen Malietoa men were taken by the Mataafans. They were taken to headquarters and bound. On Wednesday morning notice was spread that if no answer was received from Mataafa by 1 o'clock the Philadelphia would fire one of her large guns, followed by three one-minute guns. Mataafa sent no answer. He and his chiefs were buoyed up by the German consul's proclamation and vague talk that Germany would support them and was the greatest nation on earth, invincible in war, and that Great Britain and America would never dare to engage Germany in conflict.

Signal guns were fired and the foreign population of British and Americans were taken on board their respective warships. Other nationalities went on board sailing vessels in the harbor. Then 175 men were landed, and at Admiral Kautz's request Captain Sturdy of the Porpoise assumed command of the combined forces on shore, Flag Lieutenant Miller of the Philadelphia assisting.

Surgeons were landed from both ships, and Miss McCoy and Miss Forth, missionaries, volunteered as nurses. The whole native population sought protection behind the American lines. As soon as the land forces were stationed the Philadelphia opened fire by throwing a shell into the outskirts of Apia. The Royalist followed with six-inch shells, and the Porpoise went down the coast a couple of miles and bombarded the village of Vaiusu, where large parties of rebels were supposed to be. The church was smashed by a shell and the house of the manager of the German plantation was damaged. The whole of the outskirts of Apia were shelled from the harbor. About 70 shells were fired before dark, when the firing ceased.

About dusk the rebels made an attack on the Britishers at the Tivoli hotel. Their fire was returned, but it not known how many were killed.

About 2:30 a. m. the natives made a rush on the guard at the Tivoli. Three British sailors were killed and one wounded. The native loss is unknown. At the request of the British a Maxim gun was sent from the Philadelphia to the British consulate, and with it some men to work it. The next day a body of 300 Malietoans had their rifles returned to them from the Porpoise and rendered good service in clearing the brush. The rebel village of Vaiaala was burned in order to prevent the close approach to the consulate.

The German warship Falke attempted to leave port on a secret mission, when Admiral Kautz ordered her captain to stay where he was and be ready to afford help to his countrymen. The Falke remained.

During Thursday matters quieted. About dusk the Americans fired on a body of Mataafans, but no one was killed.

Early Friday morning 200 rebels rushed up to within 30 yards of the consulate. The sailors behaved splendidly and the natives were repulsed. One American sailor was killed and one British sailor was shot in both legs. Major General Cutliffe of the British army assisted in directing operations at the c nsu ate.

Saturday and Sunday were quiet. The Tivoli hotel has been mined in case it becomes necessary to blow it up, and two German lights from the shore is the signal to shell it.

Sunday a body of native foragers came upon a Mataafa crowd, killing eight and wounding 20 of them, when the rebels fled.

There is intense feeling against the Germans here, and they are accused of spying and giving information to the rebels. Fighting by night is an entirely new departure in Samoan warfare and everything points to German teaching One marquardt who had been drilling the natives has been arrested. He was sent on board the Falke under pledge of the German commander that he will not be allowed to land. A half caste named Taylor has been arrested as a spy and is in irons on the Porpoise. H. J. Morse, an American, is confined to his store under suspicion of being a Mataafa sympathizer.

Admiral Kautz considers that he has been grossly insulted by the German consul general issuing his counter proclamation. The admiral takes the stand that the Berlin treaty which he is instructed by his government to uphold does not make any provision whatever for a provisional government. His instructions are to carry out the treaty in accordance with the views of a majority of the consular representatives. The admiral is very wroth with the German consul and blames him entirely for the present attitude of the rebels, as the natives were obeying his command to retire to their homes when the German proclamation was issued.

The British and American consuls and naval officers agreed with the admiral.

George Jury Completed.

Canton, O., April 8.—The jury which is to decide the fate of Mrs. Anna E. George, accused of the murder of George D. Saxton, was completed yesterday afternoon, and before court adjourned Prosecuting Attorney Pomedens had stated to the 12 men who had qualified an outline of what he expects the witnesses for the state to prove. Briefly summarized, this is that on the evening of the tragedy, and shortly before it occurred, Saxton rode to the Althouse house on a bicycle, and Mrs. George about the same time rode to a point near there on a street car. The assassin, and he says this will be proved to be Mrs. George, fired two shots and walked away; there was a cry as if for help. She returned and fired two more shots, then leaned over the prostrate body, found him dying and disappeared in the darkness.

Popular Man Drowned.

Marlboro, Mass., April 8.—The body of Charles Murphy, inspector of meters of the Marlboro water board, was recovered from the water of theFort Meadow yesterday. The ice had been broken in several places, indicating that the unfortunate man had made a desperate struggle for his life. It is supposed that Murphy's dog started a fox, and that Murphy, in following the trail across the pond, broke through and was drowned. He was 38 years old, had been employed as inspector of meters for about four years, and was very popular.

Herring Season Opens.

Wareham, Mass., April 8.—The first catch of herring for the season has been made at the Agawam and Halfway pond, at Agawam Village, in this town, and it was an exceptionally good one for the start. About 25 barrels were taken. Prices are good, ranging about $2.50 per hundred.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:13; sets, 6:19.
Moon rises—4:28 a. m.

The storm which occupied the middle gulf states Thursday night has moved northeastward, attended by rain generally east of the Mississippi and high winds along the Atlantic coast. The storm center will move northeastward over the St. Lawrence valley, attended by high winds, shifting to westerly along the New England coast. Fair weather will prevail generally, except in northern New England, where rain will be followed by clearing weather. Sunday promises to be fair generally east of the Rocky mountains. Storm signals are displayed along the Atlantic coast from Jacksonville to Eastport.

DISCONTENT SPREADS.

How "Restoration of Wages" Has Affected Pawtuxet Valley.

Non-Union Men Respond to the Strike Call.

Ten Thousand Looms Are Without Hands to Operate Them.

Providence, April 8.—Discontent is spreading with surprising rapidity among the thousands of mill operatives in this state, and the accessions to the ranks of the strikers yesterday practically brings the entire Pawtuxet valley into harmony, as far as strike sentiment is concerned.

With scarcely an exception, the trouble is due to what the mill men have termed "a restoration of the wages paid before the 1898 cutdown." In the few exceptions, the trouble is due to the working of the advance in wages.

An interesting feature of the trouble is that unionism is not the backbone of the strikes. To be sure, there are unions in nearly all the mills, but non-union members responded to the strike call with a readiness fully as complete as that manifested by organized labor.

It is estimated that all the strikes in the Pawtuxet valley have made about 10,000 looms idle. The mills chiefly affected are generally known as the Knight system of mills.

Strike at Attleboro.

Attleboro, Mass., April 8.—The weavers and loom fixers in the Dodgeville mill struck yesterday afternoon. After the noon hour the operatives went to work, but at 1:15 o'clock the order to strike was passed, and all but four women and two men weavers left their looms. A meeting was called and the strikers decided to remain out until their demand for 47 cents per cut is complied with. They were getting 45 cents. Eighty-eight weavers and 15 loom fixers struck in 1897, when, owing to market reduction, the owners of this and 15 other mills made a reduction from 50 to 42 cents per cut. This enabled the weavers to earn from $7 to $9 per week. The operatives lived in the firm's tenements, and traded at the company's store. They say they had to pay well for necessaries, but these were of excellent quality. Early this month there was a raise in wages from 42 to 45 cents per cut, but the weavers expected the old wages. A committee asked for a restitution of the old schedule, but were told that there was no prospect of better wages.

Union Men Ordered Out.

Gloucester, Mass., April 8.—The local granite cutters' union at noon yesterday served formal notice on Superintendent Rogers of the Rockport Granite company to the effect that the National union had ordered out all union men employed by the company. Superintendent Rogers claimed that the order would effect but a few men, as most of the help at present at work are not members of the union, but those who have taken the places of the striking employes of the company.

Loom Fixers Kicking.

Lowell, Mass., April 8.—There is dissatisfaction among the loom fixers in Lowell. They assert that they have had an increase of wages, but are required to tend more looms, and that in this way they more than make up the increase in wages. They may decide to go on strike if the matter is not adjusted to their liking, and will hold another meeting, when they will decide.

To Push Investigation.

Albany, April 8.—Governor Roosevelt will send to the legislature on Monday a special message setting forth the necessity for an appropriation for the continuation of the examination of the testimony taken by the canal investigation commission, with a view of ascertaining if the same contains evidence which would warrant the criminal prosecution of any of the persons connected with the canal improvement work.

Dewey Too Busy.

Washington, April 8.—Secretary Long says that the delicate and important duties devolving upon Admiral Dewey, in connection with the restoration of peace and the reorganization of the government in the Philippines, preclude a compliance with the request of the Business Men's association of Washington looking to his participation in the proposed peace jubilee in that city next month.

Bandits Surrender.

Santiago, April 8.—Ten bandits voluntarily surrendered at San Luis yesterday and offered to assist the United States troops in their operations against the remaining outlaws. Thirty-two bandits are now in the military jail here, and eight thus far have been killed. No further trouble is anticipated, although a well organized band of brigands is said to be threatening the Holguin district.

Smith a Quitter.

San Francisco, April 8.—The much discussed fight between "Mysterious" Billy Smith and George Green resulted in a wretched fiasco. Smith refused to go on because there was not enough money in the house to warrant a contest, and demanded a guarantee of $2500, whereas the total receipts were given as $2400.

Two Villages Burned.

Kiao-Chou, April 8.—The German expeditionary force which went to I-Chau-Fu, after the recent attack by natives upon a German patrol, has returned aboard the German cruiser Gefion, after burning two villages near the place where the attack was made. The Germans still occupy Yi-Chao.

A Clean Contest.

Memphis, April 8.—After 20 rounds of clean, snappy fighting last night, during which neither man was materially injured, Referee Holtman declared the bout between Tommy White of Chicago and "Kid" Goulette of Rochester a draw.

SENSATIONAL COURT SCENE.

Witnesses In Counterfeiting Case Are Evidently Badly Scared.

Boston, April 8.—Antonio Cutugnio, convicted of counterfeiting, was sentenced to 10 years in state prison by Judge Lowell yesterday. A little later Cutugnio hurled all manner of epithets at Nusco and Leonardi, the government witnesses, some of the words used being, "spy, assassin, snake, devil." There were no threats of killing, no promises of vengeance. Instead, in addition to the cries of spy and assassin, curses upon the gray hairs of his mother and the body of his wife made Musco and Leonardi nervous, and finally Musco hurried from the room. In the cage were the man first sentenced and three others awaiting sentence. All made mysterious gestures, and even Leonardi was visibly affected by fright.

Meanwhile Deputy Marshal Waters, the officers of the court and the prisoners' attorneys strove in vain to quell the distrubance. The prisoners made attempts to wrench themselves free of the handcuffs which bound them together in pairs and finally the prisoners were removed.

Cutugnio was the only one of the four upon whom sentence was passed. Attorneys for the others made motions which needed argument, and accordingly sentencing was postponed. Besides, the four prisoners awaiting sentence the court had also the disposition of another alleged counterfeiter, De Marco, who mysteriously got away from the deputy sheriffs in the corridor of the federal building. The trial proceeded and the jury brought in a verdict of guilty.

Cutugnio's record shows that he had served a previous sentence for counterfeiting.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 8.—Senator George offered a bill in the senate yesterday which is intended to keep down expenses of state officials, and which is of special interest in connection with the agitation over expense bills of the chairman of the pharmacy board. It is understood that expense bills of other boards are also aimed at, and some interesting disclosures are expected.

The committee on public service took up the civil service bill long enough to decide to give a hearing on Tuesday to the Civil Service Reform league, who have expressed a willingness to consent to certain modifications of the regulations of the civil service commissioners.

On the first of the Cape Cod canal bills to be reported upon this session, that incorporating the New York and Boston Canal company, the committee on harbors and public lands reported leave to withdraw.

The bill for making a state park out of Mt. Wachusett was reported favorably in the senate, and the bill to limit the terms of members of the pharmacy board was enacted and sent to the governor.

The printing committee reported a bill for purchase of histories of Massachusetts regiments in the Spanish war, similar to the law now in force in relation to Civil war regimental histories.

The committee on rules reported against admitting the bill for fire-escape balconies on hotels, boarding-houses, etc., and the senate refused to admit it.

Without debate on the initial call of the calendar, the senate bill to prevent the coercion of employes was engrossed, as were bills for a system of playgrounds for Boston, relative to publication of orders, rules and regulations of the state board of health and metropolitan water board, for two additional associate justices of the Boston municipal court, for a new building at Lyman school for boys, for a new building at the state industrial school for girls.

Good Afternoon.

There is said to be some opposition developing in the City Council to the movement to refund a portion of the municipal debt maturing this year. Naturally there is some honest objection to such a step, and some would not favor it under any circumstances. But the principal remonstrance seems to be a political one, on the part of those who are unwilling to help the present city administration out of a hole. The movement to refund a portion of the debt is not, however, a Democratic movement. It was attempted last year, and Councilman Parker of Ward Six warmly espoused the step until the City Solicitor declared it would be illegal. This year the DAILY LEDGER takes a little of the credit for the movement, for it was not until the LEDGER called attention to the large maturing debt and urged some relief that the Mayor took the step which has been successful in securing the necessary legislation.

Now it remains for the Republican Council to give the taxpayers relief. The taxpayers should not be called upon in any year to pay one-third or thirty-three per cent. of the entire municipal debt, yet this year $81,000 of a total debt of $265,000 maturess. The valuation of the taxable real and personal estate is less than $19,000,000, hence it would require over $4 of the tax rate to pay the maturing debt alone. If none of the maturing debt is extended the tax rate will probably be between $19 and $20; if $40,000 is extended it will probably be between $17 and $18.

It should not be necessary for the city in any future year to levy a tax much in excess of $2 per $1,000 to pay the maturing municipal debt. It is not a fact that the tax rate if kept down this year need be above the average in future years. It is possible to keep the tax rate below $18 per $1,000 every year, and possible below $17 or $16, if the city does not attempt to pay over fifteen per cent. of its debt, and that is enough.

The fire at the residence of John Curtis on Franklin street yesterday, again demonstrated the need of more hydrants, especially in that vicinity. The nearest hydrant to the fire was at the corner of Franklin and High street which required 1,200 feet of hose to reach the fire. Aside from being a long distance away, it was up hill and it took an amount of pressure to force the water. As a result the hydrant stream had no force and the steamer was depended upon. She was equal to the occasion, but the hose had to suffer and Chief Williams says the loss to hose alone will be $200. More hydrants are also needed in other sections of the city, Particularly the Centre. Now there is no hydrant between Kittredge's store at the corner of Savil street, and the Public Library. There is much valuable property here and hydrants should be plentiful. There is none near Faxon hall, and other sections might be cited. Two more hydrants at least should be placed on Franklin street, between High street and the Braintree line.

The appropriations of Brookline for 1899 amount to over one million dollars, and yet some people seem to think that Quincy, whose appropriations are limited by law to less than $250,000, should have just as good streets, pay its school teachers, its firemen, its police, its officials, just as high salaries as Brookline, and that it can compete with such a rich town in improvements.

The city of Everett which asked the Legislature for permission to borrow $100,000 outside the debt limit for school building, got a bill for only $50,000. It was so near the limit that it has had to postpone building. Quincy with a big leeway inside the limit had no trouble in getting a bill for $150,000 outside the limit. See the difference.

The Ledger staff has been so busy this week that it has been impossible to find time night or day to prepare the copy for the completion of the Co. K chronology. It will probably appear next Saturday.

Massachusetts will constitute one census district, but New York and Pennsylvania will have 19 each, and others from 1 to 19. Massachusetts must realize occasionally that it is a small State.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The Socialistic Democracy held a convention in Lynn the other day and one would judge from the reports that they were all individually and collectively reformers. They talked and talked and finally concluded that all other parties were corrupt and that the saving of the country rested on their shoulders, and they took the responsibility as contentedly as could be. But when they tried to get together on common grounds each stood out for his fad and when they broke up they were as far apart as ocean and ocean.—Beverly Times.

☞ The excitement of interest about the court house at Dedham last week was the presence of a body of officials from Kennebec County, Me., who were bent on an insection of the handsomest court house in this Commonwealth. Sheriff Samuel Capen lad them in charge, and after a tour of the new building the officers made a tour of the house of correction. After the genial sheriff had given a liberal exhibition of his hospitality, the visitors went into executive session and voted that Norfolk County was safe from unfavorable criticism regarding court house and jail.—Hyde Park Gazettee.

Gilman and Anderson.

The stars at the soldiers' banquet were Department Commander Gilman and Col. Edward Anderson, and Lieut. Whitney's review of interest. A report of their speeches was crowded out of yesterday's Ledger, and is given today:

DEPT. COMMANDER GILMAN.

At Sebastopol, the soldiers of British army, from all sections, sang Annie Laurie. They differed in speech but all joined in old familiar song. Your deeds have been like a song, bringing all sections of the country together and uniting all hearts around the national flag. When you separate, what you have done will not be forgotten. I remember that Quincy had men in the first regiment raised in the Rebellion, and one of her sons was the first to fall at Big Bethel. Courage in battle is not the highest quality. It is the courage that endures on the march and in the camp that tests men.

I am glad you did not have to go through fighting, but your work is no less worthy our admiration for you have discharged your whole duty nobly. Thousands of men in the G. A. R. did no more fighting than you did, and the non-commissioned men were the backbone of the army.

COL. ANDERSON.

I feel as though I was speaking out of ancient history. There were prophesies of evil in the time of the Civil war. People on the other side said our nation was a rope of sand and would fall to pieces. But the sand was in the men. We proved the strength of the unity of our country. You have again impressed this lesson upon the nations. Even those who fell have done no more than you. You have shown what an American army can do. You have cemented together the union firmer than ever. This work was begun sometime ago when a new generation grew up that hardly knew which side its fathers fought on. You have done another thing. You went out boys and you have come home men. You will take your places, by right of your service, as prominent citizens. And there is still another thing you have done. You have learned what is meant by the word "comrade." Ties have been formed that will never be sundered, and that will grow in sacredness from year to year.

LIEUT. WHITNEY

Recalled some of the reminiscences of Co. K in the several camps and spoke complimentary of the captain and of the loyal citizens who had done so much to make life enjoyable while in the field.

W. F. Hoehn was the last speaker and extended the greeting of the Young Men's Christian Associaiton. He also gave all the Co. K boys six months' membership in the assciation.

ADIEU TO BACHELORDOM

William K. Vanderbilt, Jr.,'s Dinner to His Friends.

THEY SAT AROUND LIMPID POOLS.

Live Ducks Swam About In Spaces Formed by the Banquet Table. Friends of the Millionaire Drank to the Bride to Be—Special Menus For Each Guest.

William K. Vanderbilt the younger gave a farewell dinner to his bachelor friends the other night at Sherry's. It was the most costly and the most original bachelor dinner ever given in New York. The young host has a pretty fancy in such matters, and so has his betrothed, Virginia Fair.

Miss Fair indeed was the inspiration of many of the cleverest surprises of the affair. No rural damsel ever worked harder over a church fair than she over this feast—from which she was to be excluded. She hovered over the scene till the last moment, smiling, restless, indulgent, authoritative, as unselfishly absorbed in the spirit of the occasion as if she had been "fixing things" for a children's party.

The preparations for this banquet began weeks ago. There were a hundred and one things to be done as such things had never been done before, but the triumph of invention was the table itself, as is fitting when folks are going to eat, and the table shall be told about first. It was a table and duck pond combined. To consider it first in its capacity of table, it was oblong and large enough to seat 30 persons and still leave each a great deal of room. Beyond the generous outside strip apportioned for the accommodation of plates and glasses and so forth, was a bank of American Beauty roses, two feet wide, running clear round the board. Inclosed within this border were two duck ponds and a fountain.

The fountain was in the exact center of the table, and it was a very graceful affair, fashioned out of the precious metals and spraying upward and around a thousand tiny jets of delicately perfumed liquid, which the artfully arranged lights caused to resemble showers of rubies and diamonds and emeralds. It was flanked by what have here been called, irreverently, duck ponds. In lovelier ponds did ducks never swim. Titania might take swimming lessons in them with gratification. The sides and bottom of each shone with the burnished warmth of gold leaf. The bank of roses already spoken of formed also the banks of the golden duck ponds, and in the center of each duck pond was a little island, on which grew a pretty white, flowering shrub.

As nature has not provided ducks of superior character to swim at millionaire bachelor dinner parties, it was necessary to be content with ducks that are worth no more per pound than other fat ducks, with some attention to whiteness of plumage and tractability of temper. A Roman youth giving a dinner party with duck pond accessories would probably have gilded the birds, but that would have been cruel. Nevertheless the duck question gave rise to a little flurry of excitement at the eleventh hour.

At 5:30 in the evening Miss Fair fluttered into the banquet room, intent on putting the final touches to everything She was greeted by a chorus of deep throated "quacks." In each of the golden ponds swam three large birds. They were strong swimmers and they knew it. They were constructed on battleship lines and needed plenty of sea room. They had a great deal to say; they had some kind of vendetta among themselves, and they appeared anxious to leave the room. "That wasn't my idea at all!" exclaimed Miss Fair in dismay. "That would spoil the effect entirely. They are too large, those ducks, and too noisy and too rough. If large birds were required, we would have ordered swans, which are much nicer. Take these away and bring small ducks—the smallest you can get." Sherry's men descended upon the large ducks and bore them, quacking, flapping, to the lower regions.

And after much excitement and running about half a dozen pretty and well behaved ducklings were brought with clipped wings to swim in the golden ponds, peck experimentally at the American Beauty roses, clamber awkwardly up the banks of the flowering islets, tumble back with helpless little splashes, gobble up the crumbs tossed to them by young Mr. Vanderbilt and his guests, paddle spasmodically at each pop of a cork, look perfectly innocent during the height of the conversation and generally behave themselves like well brought up little birds. There were two orchestras to play tunes—the finest orchestras that could be had; there were clever people to sing and dance and crack jokes, and there were charming little surprises introduced at every turn.

That the guests, most of whom were Harvard chums of young Mr. Vanderbilt, drank his health and that of Miss Fair a great many times is also true. They sang college songs and "Auld Lang Syne" and all the other things that spirited and warm hearted young men might be expected to sing on such occasions.

Each guest was furnished with a menu decorated especially with an eye to his individual idiosyncrasies. The host himself designed this menu. Each had a water color sketch in the upper left hand corner. For Sydney J. Smith there was a cross country rider taking a five barred fence. Young Gerry, recently admitted to the Coaching club, had a spirited four in hand scene. For one or two of well known langnid natures there were chaps reclining at ease with brandy and soda beside them.—New York Journal.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

GRAIN-O BRINGS RELIEF

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion, effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

THE SUCCESS ACHIEVED BY A YOUNG AMERICAN SCULPTOR.

One Good Thing In Lent—When Presented to Victoria—A Call Returned. An Infant's Wardrobe—Told Her the Wrong Room.

Mrs. Clio Huneker, the young American sculptor, has made a reputation and a fortune by her exquisite modeling of small bronzes. She is the daughter of Mr. Howard Hinton. She was born in a small town on the Hudson.

At the age of 9 she developed a talent for sculpture, her first effort being the head of a child. When about 16, she contributed an ideal figure which was exhibited at the Academy of Design. Later on she made busts of Paderewski, Mrs. James Brown Potter and other well known society women.

Mrs. Huneker's little bronzes have become the fashion. They are of various

Mrs. Huneker has a 5-year-old boy who has inherited his mother's talent. During a morning's play the little fellow modeled an elephant four inches high. The animal is so true to life that it has been cast into bronze.

Clio Huneker is a beautiful woman of the blond type, charming in figure and delightful in manner. Besides artistic fame, she has now substantial financial reward for her work.—New York World.

One Good Thing In Lent.

"I have done one good thing this Lent," said the girl; "made my family to some degree happy and shall save myself the trouble of dusting hats, and the hats will keep in good condition much longer. I have invested in a little wooden closet, perhaps a yard high and nearly as wide and a foot or so deep. I found it at a place where they sell secondhand desks and things of that kind. It did not cost much, and I had it sent home, rubbed up and placed on top of one of two bureaus in my room. That bureau has been sacred heretofore to my hats. I usually had a row of them on it. I had only a small clothespress in the room, and unless I have plenty of time I cannot always stop to put a hat up in a bandbox. That is a delicate operation, for, if the hat doesn't go in just right, it is crushed. There must be paper under the crown and it must be propped up here and put down there so that a feather will not be broken or a bow bent out of shape, and the consequence was that my hats were never in the bandbox, but on brass candlesticks, which make excellent bonnet stands, and my bureau looked like a milliner's exhibit and was a great trial to the members of my family, who are particularly housekeeperly. Now everything is changed. I have my nice little bonnet cabinet. I have lined it with denim so that it is practically dustproof. I have put in pegs around the wall and elastics in my hat, after the old fashion when children wore elastics under the chins, only mine are not as long, and from these I hang my hats on the pegs. I can keep any number of hats there and in the best of condition. I can put in my brass candlesticks and put more hats on those if I like, and, best of it all, I have all my hats of all kinds and conditions where I can see them all at once, and I don't forget an old hat that has been put aside and which I have thought too good to take off the trimming at first and which may be very good to combine with another hat and make something nearly as good as new. I never have taken so much comfort with anything as I have with my new hat closet."—New York Times.

When Presented to Victoria.

There are many American women, including some from Philadelphia, who are to be presented at the English court this spring. It is interesting to know just what they will have to do in order to conform to the strict rules. When the date of a drawing room is announced, the date when application may be made is also told. The number who may be presented in the general circle does not exceed 200, and therefore there is a grand rush to get one's name in.

The woman who wants to be presented must apply at the lord chamberlain's office, St. James palace, for the necessary card, or form, which has to be filled in, telling of whom she is the daughter, of whom the wife, name and address of the lady making the presentation, etc. These names the lord chamberlain submits to Queen Victoria for her approval, and if they pass her august scrutiny presentation cards are forwarded the eager applicants.

On the day of the drawing room the applicant takes her cards to Buckingham palace and gives one to the page in waiting, stationed in the corridor, and the other to the lord chamberlain in the presence chamber, who announces the names to her majesty or the princess who is acting for the queen. There are a few old customs in vogue, such as a woman having to be presented again on her marriage, no matter if she was presented when a girl. An unmarried woman cannot make presentations.

If the queen holds the drawing room in person, the woman presented removes her right hand glove, places her hand beneath that of the queen and kisses her majesty's hand. When one of the princesses holds the drawing room, ladies only courtesy and omit the hand kissing. The courtesy is not slow and measured, but should be quick and graceful. Full instructions as to one's dress are always given at the lord chamberlain's office.—Philadelphia Times.

A Call Returned.

She hoped that she was doing lots of good. She would visit the poor in their own homes and, as she believed, cheer them up. One time she called on a poor Jewish woman in Hester street, and, as was her wont, she immediately began to ask a stereotyped set of questions which she hurled at the woman.

"How old are you? How many children have you? Can you read? Does your husband drink?" etc.

The woman did her best to stem this interrogative avalanche and mumbled some answers. After about half an hour's talk the philanthropic woman went away and was driven to her home in Fifth avenue, leaving her card with her address at the poor woman's home. A clergyman who did charitable work in that section called on the Hester street woman a few days after the rich woman's visit. After some talk with her she said to him:

"I tinks dat I vill makes one call."

"Well, my good woman, on whom do you intend to call?"

She named the would be benefactress.

"But," said the clergyman, "do you know how to behave when you call on such a person?"

"Oh, yes!" she said. "I knows how they behaves, und I behaves myself just like 'em."

She did call and was ushered into the drawing room. A few moments later the wealthy woman entered the apartment. As soon as she crossed the threshold her visitor began:

"How old are you? How many children have you? Can you read? Does your husband drink? How often does he beat you?"

Then she turned sharply about and holding up her ragged skirt she strode out of the house and down the avenue.—Exchange.

An Infant's Wardrobe.

A young mother who has $25 to spend on her infant's wardrobe, as estimated by a writer in a recent issue of The Housekeeper, is in luck. I was obliged to manage on much less than that, and so, I fancy, are many other mothers. This is my list: Eight dresses for everyday wear, each containing three yards of dairy cloth, at 2 cents a yard; amount, 48 cents. Three best dresses of India linen, four yards each, 10 cents a yard; amount, $1.20. Three white skirts, two yards each, 8 cents a yard; amount, 48 cents. Three skirts, flannelette, two yards each, 25 cents a yard; amount, $1.50. One circular wrap, all wool eider down, 2½ yards, 40 cents a yard; amount, $1. Three Shaker flannel skirts, two yards each, 8 cents a yard; amount, 48 cents. Twenty-four Shaker flannel napkins, 8 cents each; amount, $1.92. Two pairs bootees, 10 cents each; amount, 20 cents. Two pairs of socks, 15 cents each; amount, 30 cents. Three knitted bands, 50 cents each; amount, $1.50.

As you will see, the entire wardrobe cost but $9.06. I dispensed with the shirts altogether, believing that the baby would be just as comfortable without them. I used the reform patterns in making the garments, none of which was long.

In conclusion, I would like to say a word to prospective mothers. If you will live on plain fruit, rice, vegetables and whole wheat bread, dress in loose clothing, take sitz baths daily, rub oil across the abdomen daily and keep on your feet at least six hours every day, you will not have a very hard time at confinement.—Amber Woods in Housekeeper.

Told Her the Wrong Room.

At breakfast last Friday a Washington young woman found a little note at her plate saying that her aunt had arrived from the east the night before and was at a well known hotel. About 9 o'clock she went to the hotel indicated and asked the clerk whether the newcomer had been down to breakfast yet. The clerk informed her that he did not believe she had been down and offered to send up a card.

"Oh, never mind doing that," she replied. "You just tell me the number of her room and I will go up."

"No. ——," promptly replied the clerk, and the young woman took the elevator.

Upon arriving at the door of the room instead of rapping she softly put her ear to the door and listened, in order that she might not disturb her aunt if she was asleep. She heard no noise, and so took out one of her cards, and, after writing, "Will come again at 10—Jane," she tied a little bunch of flowers to it and left it on the knob, where it would fall into the doorway when the door was opened.

At 10 o'clock she came again. The clerk had not seen her aunt and did not believe that she had left her room. So, after looking about the parlors in vain, she went to the door of No. — and softly tapped.

"Who is it?" came a gruff voice, and at the same time a man opened the door and stepped out into the hall.

"Oh, you are the party who was coming again at 10, are you?" continued the man smilingly. "Well, what can I do for you?"

"Nothing, thank you," she replied, "unless you come down stairs and help me thrash that hotel clerk."—Washington Post.

A Sister to Sorosis In London.

There has been talk for some time in London anent the formation of a club for American women on the lines of Sorosis and which could be affiliated with this mother of clubs. The talk, until lately, seemed likely to go up in smoke, but within the last few weeks the project has taken such form that the projectors are confident of its ultimate success.

Of its need there is no question, and Mrs. Hugh Griffith, the proposed president of the new organization, speaks most positively of its being an assured fact in the near future.

"It is intended," quoting Mrs. Griffith, "to make the society both select and useful. It will probably be affiliated with the New York Sorosis. It is proposed as a club for American women in London."

The headquarters of the club will be the Hotel Cecil. There is no doubt as to the success of the club so far as numbers are concerned. The real difficulty will be to keep a select club where American women can meet periodically.

The White Ink Fad.

The latest daintiness to be assumed by milady in connection with her correspondence is the use of a delicate white ink to correspond with the white crest or monogram. This is used only with the most delicate tints of paper or the deepest. For instance, the deep Russian blue or the sultan red shows to good advantage under white ink. The prettiest of them all, however, are the Wedgwood effects in blues of several shades, the blue gray being the most effective.

The monograms and crests used with the Wedgwood blue papers are of the tiniest, to carry out the Wedgwood effect in its entirety. Of course nothing but pure white wax must be used with this combination.

When a Wedgwood letter is all ready to start on its way, it certainly seems as if the whole should be carefully wrapped up in white tissue paper and tied with white ribbon and sent by special messenger to avoid contact with the commoner letters which make up the mail.

A Cordial Welcome.

A generation ago, when a continuous round of visits was an onerous part of every rural minister's duties, one wintry day a worthy New England pastor, accompanied by his wife and little son, went to call for the first time upon a parishioner who lived at the edge of the adjoining town. The uncompromising exterior of the house which they found to be their destination did not promise much hospitality. Vigorous knocking brought to one of the upper windows a woman, who surveyed the visitors from the shelter of half closed blinds, and after some further delay the rarely used door creaked grudgingly on its hinges and disclosed a girl of 10, who welcomed the party thus: "Come in and sit down, won't you? Mother'll be down in a minute. She says she's so glad you've come. She wants to have it over with."—Edith Helen Wheeler in Woman's Home Companion.

A Tall Princess.

The Crown Princess of Denmark is the tallest royal lady—if not the tallest woman—in Europe, her height being over 6 feet 2 inches. Her grandmother was Mlle. Desiree Clary, the daughter of a stockbroker of Marseilles. This young woman jilted Napoleon Bonaparte, afterward emperor, in order to marry Bernadotte, who finally became king of Sweden and Norway. The Crown Princess of Denmark, is the richest as well as the tallest European princess, having inherited £5,000,000 from her maternal grandfather, Prince Frederick of the Netherlands, in addition to the fortune left her by her father.

Practical Temperance Work.

Mrs. Harrison Lee, an Australian lady, has sent $100 worth of unfermented grape juice, made from the best winemaking grapes in Ararat (Victoria), to the Greater Britain exhibition, in the hope that such drinks may be used instead of the intoxicating ones sent by the Victorian vignerons. She says she believes in grape culture and has nothing against the vine industry as such.—Woman's Journal.

The Crying Want.

Mrs. Millicent Garrett Fawcett said in a recent address at Owens college, "The crying want of women in the industrial and professional world is a larger field and better paid employment, and in fighting for these things they are fighting with one hand tied behind them as long as they have not the parliamentary franchise."

Mrs. Alice M. Horne, the only woman member of the Utah house of representatives, has succeeded in carrying through the legislature a bill for the creation of a state art institute. On motion of Representative O'Neil an amendment was adopted by a vote of 2 to 1 that it should be named "The Alice Art Collection" in her honor.

The latest government report shows that in India more than 6,000,000 of girls under 9 years of age have been married, and that 170,000 of these are widows. Except for the pleading and work of the Punditi Ramabai, who would give a thought to these outraged children?—Christian Register.

Mme. Demont-Breton has been elected on the "hanging committee" of the society of French Artists, where she will take her place on the jury with Bonnat, Laurens, Detaille, Gerome and the others.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

A STORY OF DOGS.

Among the First Wild Animals to Be Domesticated—Some Peculiarities.

When we read that all the different breeds of our domestic animals originated from one source, and that a wild one, it is at least hard to believe. The dog seemed to have been among the first of these animals to be tamed, and he is thought to have descended from the wolf in cold countries or the jackal common in hot countries.

A very strange thing is that while the dog has acquired some new habits, like barking and attachment to his master, centuries of domestication have not made him forget the habits of his ancestors. Curiously enough, the habit of barking, which is almost universal with dogs as we know them, is altogether an unknown accomplishment in their wild state. And it is said that when dogs again relapse into their wild state they lose the habit of barking. So, you see, barking is distinctly the result of civilization. It is a dog's method of talking, and we may not believe him civilized unless he possesses that mark of refinement and culture.

Did you ever notice a dog when preparing to lie down? No matter how soft the rug or how well smoothed it is, he turns round and round, making the same motions his wild ancestors did when tramping down the grass for a bed in their native forests. Then, if a dog has more food than he can eat, he buries it the same as his wild relations do. But many of our dogs are so well fed and become so lazy that they do not trouble to dig it up again.

When America was discovered, no animal had been domesticated by the Indians except the dog at the north and the llama at the south; no bird except the turkey in Mexico. All our ordinary domestic animals and fowls descend from stock brought over from Europe.

In the Scriptures dogs are generally spoken of with loathing and contempt—quite a different feeling from that entertained by people nowadays for the faithful guardian of the farm house. There is a pretty legend accounting for the dog's cold, dewy nose. It is related that the dog and his mate helped Noah to drive all the other animals into the ark. When their turn came to enter, it was so crowded that Mr. and Mrs. Doggie were obliged to stand with their heads out in the rain, and their noses became so cold and wet that they never got over it.

A Queer Residence.

Sometimes the rodents and the birds make homes in tree stumps, but man has usually selected different quarters. In the township of Wynnasty, South Gippsland, Australia, however, five men have converted a huge gum tree stump into a very habitable dwelling. This queer home is two stories high, the upper story being reached by a regular stairway. A glance at the accompanying picture of the stump house will convince you that the tree must have been a giant of its species.—Chicago Record.

The Chinese Sun and Moon.

In China the sun and moon are brother and sister. The moon is the elder brother, who looks after his rather silly sister, the sun.

This is exactly the reverse of our legends, which make the sun the day king and the gentle moon lady of the night.

One day in China—so the legend runs—the sun asked the moon if she couldn't go out at night. The moon answered very sternly: "No. You are a young lady, and it would be improper for you to go out after dark."

Then the sun said, "But the people keep looking at me when I go out in the daytime."

So the moon told her to take the golden needles that she wore in her hair and stick them into the eyes of people when they stared at her. This is the reason why no one can look at the sun without pain.

A Sure Winner.

The greatest of all races
This world has ever seen
Took place on nursery race track,
Above the yardlet green.

The finest pair of trotters—
They were twins without a doubt—
Were led before the starters
And the winner singled out.

The jockey mounted on their backs;
All ready—one, two, three—
And off they went with shouts and whacks
Amid laughter, mirth and glee.

Away they flew like demons
On their race 'gainst time and speed,
But when the race was finished
Neither one of them did lead.

The reason why I'll tell you,
And I know you will agree
That the greatest of all races
Was the one that I did see.

'Twas baby and his hobby horse
Who thus the race did ride.
The horses stood together
While the baby sat inside.

Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Her Sweet Mistake.

A short time since the daughter of a millionaire drove up to the door of a jeweler's shop, went in and selected a turquoise and diamond ring valued at $250. She made out her check for that sum and passed it to the proprietor, who glanced at it and then looked inquiringly up at the young lady and said, "There is some mistake here, I think."

The young lady flushed and asked if the check was not for the right amount. She was told it was, but—

"But what?" she exclaimed frigidly. "Do you mean that my check is not acceptable?"

The jeweler acknowledged that he knew quite well who the young lady was, but explained that the check was not made out just as it should be, and he handed it back. The girl ran her eye over it and then turned a deep crimson.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, "I see!" And then she proceeded to make out another check. She had signed the first one, "Your own sweetheart, Jessie."

Minister Straus Complimented.

London, April 8.—The British ambassador at Constantinople, Sir N. R. O'Conor, writing to the Marquis of Salisbury on March 30 relative to the closing by the Turkish government of the European orphanages in Asiatic Turkey, which were established to succor the orphans caused by the massacres of 1894 and 1897, says he hopes the orphanages will be reopened, and adds: "I take this opportunity of reporting the cordial and valuable assistance I have received from United States Minister Straus, and hope he will be willing to make joint representation with me to the imperial government if my representations do not have the desired effect."

The Pope a Factor.

Washington, April 8.—The state department yesterday received the formal invitation from the government of The Netherlands to participate in the disarmament conference to be held at The Hague beginning May 18. Up to this time the only thing in the nature of an invitation issued to the powers was the letter from the czar, and it is understood that some friction, caused by the objection of the Italian government to the extension of an invitation to the pope to participate, has delayed the issue of the formal invitations.

Van Dyke Accepts.

Princeton, N. J., April 8.—It is publicly announced that the trustees of the university have received a formal communication from Dr. Van Dyke of New York accepting the Murray professorship of English literature which was tendered him at the March meeting of the board. Dr. Van Dyke, however, makes one condition in his acceptance, that he shall not be expected to undertake the duties of the professorship until he can conveniently do so.

Alger at San Juan.

San Juan, April 8.—Secretary Alger's trip over the military road from Ponce has produced great enthusiasm among the people. At every village and town he was met by a delegation of citizens and public officials, the demonstrations not being exceeded by those given to the first American troops landed on this island. To a man not skilled in this kind of work it would be a large task, but Mr. Cavanagh found no trouble at all.

Castle Square Theatre.

The attraction announced at the Castle Square Theatre for the coming week is the interesting modern play "The Idler", written by Mr. C. Haddon Chambers and produced by the New York Lyceum Company at the Hollis Street Theatre about eight years ago. The story of this play deals largely with the life experiences of Mark Cross, who, while leading a wild life in California, witnessed the killing of a man by "Gentleman Jack" Harding. Upon returning to England Mark finds the woman he loves married to Harding who is then in high social standing. The plot turns upon the appearance of the murdered man's brother, the efforts of Cross to wean Harding's wife from the husband she loves, his bribe to her of her husband's immunity from prosecution, her daring in her husband's behalf, which places her in a false position, and the final awakening of the better nature of Mark through the influence of the tempted wife, his mother and his faithful friend. Following "Idler" on Monday April 10th, comes a production of Lloyd and Rosenfeld's "The Senator."

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet if their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

Boston Museum.

Viola Allen will begin her sixth week in "The Christian" at the Boston Museum Monday evening, the 10th inst., and will present matinee entertainments next Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. The matinee Thursday afternoon is an extra performance to make up for the loss of an opportunity to see her in this great play caused by the ommission of Good Friday evening, the 31st of March. Were not such an extra presentation of "The Christian" made in lieu of that lost, it would mean that a large number of people could not see her, so great is the demand for tickets for all performances. Miss Allen is a High Church Episcopalian and never plays on Good Friday. The advance sale continues as strong as ever and not a day passes that $1,600 worth of tickets are not sold. Till further notice, seats may be had in advance for every evening and matinee performance in the next four weeks. The sale is advanced one day ahead each day. The play begins evenings at 7.55 o'clock and matinees at 2 o'clock.

HOME AGAIN.

Eighth Massachusetts Arrives From Cuba.

Given Most Hearty Reception by Bostonians.

Transport Meade Was Held Up by a Fog.

Supply of Provisions Ran Short and Boys Were Hungry.

Criticism of a Part of Rations Which Proved to Be Unpalatable.

Boston, April 10.—Proudly and in steady tread, with the stirring military strains of its regimental band, amid the enthusiastic plaudits of thousands who had gathered to do it honor, the Eighth Massachusetts, United States volunteers, the last regiment of the old Bay State to return from the front, marched through the streets of Boston yesterday afternoon. No prouder home-coming could be desired by any regiment.

The transport Meade, Captain Wilson in command, left Matanzas at 6:10 a. m. last Tuesday, and her run, until she was enveloped in a dense fog off Cape Cod, was exactly three days, 23 hours and 50 minutes. For 24 hours the home port was very near, but so difficult was navigation that it was 7:10 yesterday morning before the vessel anchored at quarantine and the voyage was at an end.

After coming into Massachusetts bay under guidance of Pilot Fawcett, the Meade came slowly towards Boston light, and at 1:30 yesterday morning anchored off Nantasket to await clearing weather. So completely was she hidden in fog, however, that numerous craft which had been scouting the bay for her failed to make her out. At daybreak the vessel went to quarantine and there awaited the arrival of Dr. Durgin, the port's medical officer.

It was a beautiful morning and the soldier boys saw the familiar outlines of Boston under the best of conditions. The Meade's welcome from craft in the harbor was a merry one, and soon the transport was bedecked with color from stem to stern. The Eighth regiment was reported by the regimental surgeon as having a clean bill of health, and the formalities at quarantine were quickly at an end. About the same time the police boat Guardian arrived, having on board Governor Wolcott and party.

The first welcome home to Colonel Pew, his officers and the men came from Governor Wolcott amid interesting incidents. As the police boat approached the transport and the soldiers saw the familiar figure of Governor Wolcott and his officers, cheers rang out again and again for the governor, for each of those accompanying him and for Colonel Pew. On board the Meade officers' call was sounded and the governor, as he came over the side, was received in military style, the Eighth regiment band and drum corps playing "Hail to the Chief" and then "Home Again." Just at that time the Cunarder Catalonia, inward bound, passed quarantine, and the crew and passengers of the big craft lined the port rail and cheered the soldier boys, and back went a wild response.

In a few minutes Governor Wolcott addressed Colonel Pew in a short speech of welcome. There was an interchange of greetings and then the governor and party returned to the city. The Meade then proceeded to the New England pier, where she was docked and the hawsers were made fast just at noon.

The Meade brought 44 officers and 1157 enlisted men from Matanzas. The regiment went into service with 1327 officers and men, and was mustered in almost a year ago.

By the time the Meade was docked the water all about it was full of small craft, many of them having been chartered by delegations from the cities represented by companies in the regiment. One tug bore a big banner, "Beverly welcomes Company E." As soon as the transport was docked rations were issued, and at 2:30 the regiment marched ashore amid the cheers of the crowd of people which swarmed over every available inch of space on the docks. Without delay the regiment was formed for parade. Headed by a platoon of police the command marched from the pier to the state house, where Governor Wolcott reviewed the regiment, continuing to the south armory on Irvington street.

The streets through which the Eighth marched were thronged with people. There were thousands of them, and they had stood steadily in place since 9 o'clock in the morning. The men of the Eighth made a picturesque sight. The tropical sun had darkened their complexion and their general appearance was that of well trained soldiers. Not only this, but the men bore all sorts of interesting souvenirs of their experiences.

The review of the regiment at the state house was quite an impressive sight, by reason of the great throng of people in that vicinity. It was 3 o'clock when the reviewing party took its place. The marching soldiers were continuously cheered and the review was a fine one. The marching order of the regiment was excellent. The passage of the colors was the signal for a patriotic outburst, and it was all the police could do to keep the crowd within bounds.

After the review, and when the regiment had swung into Huntington avenue, many women and girls broke into the ranks and walked arm in arm with husbands, brothers, lovers or friends until the door of the armory was reached.

Plans as to caring for the regiment at the south armory from the time of its arrival until its muster out had provided that no company be allowed to depart to its home. But yesterday that plan was abandoned, and to the great joy of the soldiers the regiment was dismissed for a 48-hour furlough. As the result of this the regiment stayed in the armory but a short time, Colonel Pew dismissing it after orders had been read.

Immediately the several companies proceeded under escort of delegations of townspeople to the North Union station, where special trains took each company to its home station. The incidents accompanying the departure of each company were extremely interesting, and again the streets took on a holiday appearance, for thousands of people joined in the processions. By evening the last company had left the city, homeward bound. The regiment will reassemble at the south armory on Wednesday afternoon, and it will be quartered there until finally mustered out.

The regiment did not bring back all its men. Company E of Beverly was the only one to return with unbroken ranks.

The sad feature of the regiment's return was the fact that 19 men came as prisoners and were turned over to the commandant at Fort Warren to serve out their terms of imprisonment for violations of mutiny law, or dissipation. These prisoners were taken by the steamer Resolute to the fort.

Some interesting stories are told by the men of their experiences in Cuba, but the most interesting is that which pertains to the trouble on board the Meade. Last Friday evening the trouble among the soldiers almost approached mutiny. The men say that the supply of provisions ran low and that they went hungry at times. The men had been supplied with three days' travel rations when they went on board the Meade. Besides this there was in the company lockers the balance of the last 10 days' rations which had been issued while the regiment was in camp at Matanzas. This supply proved inadequate. Some of the cooks on the transport sold meals to the soldiers at 25 cents each, and the demand was large, but when the ship's officers heard of this an order was issued to stop serving meals. The soldiers complained, as they said they could not eat the "sow belly" issued on last Friday. They talked so loudly that the officers heard the men and an investigation followed, but not before a quantity of bacon and refrigerated beef had been thrown overboard. This decreased the amount of provisions on the ship and required the aid of Colonel Pew to straighten out matters, which was done by the continuance of serving meals by the Meade's cooks. The real fact of the hardships to the men was that the company cooks were unable on shipboard to prepare the companies' meals from the food supply on hand. The unpalatableness of a part of the rations is also harshly criticised by the men.

The Eighth regiment was recruited chiefly in Essex county, the following places being represented: Amesbury, Lawrence, Somerville, Gloucester, Newburyport, Lynn, Marblehead, Haverhill, Danvers, Salem and Beverly.

The field officers of the regiment are as follows: Colonel W. A. Pew, Gloucester, commanding; Lieutenant Colonel William Stopford, Beverly; Major Frank A. Graves, and Major Edward A. Eldridge. Of the line officers, Captain J. C. R. Peabody of Slaem remained at Matanzas, being on general staff duty.

Murder and Suicide.

Alameda, Cal., April 10.—Captain Edward A. Van Schmidt, a San Francisco harbor pilot and prominent yachtsman, murdered his former wife and committed suicide in this city yesterday. In 1898 his wife secured a divorce from him and the custody of their children. He threatened her life repeatedly, and yesterday appeared at her home with a knife in one hand and a pistol in the other. He threw the revolver at a servant who appeared on the scene, driving her away in terror. Neighbors aroused by the servant's cries found Van Schmidt in the yard with five stabs in his breast and throat, while a few feet away his divorced wife was breathing her last. She died in a few moments after her prostrate and bleeding form was found.

THE LABOR WORLD.

Nearly All the Mills In Rhode Island May Close Before Week Ends.

Providence, April 10.—There is considerable doubt expressed whether the several mill strikes in the Pawtuxet valley have gained strength or not. It is believed that the strikers have lost ground. A fair estimate of the number of idle operatives in the valley is 3200, made up chiefly of weavers. There is a prospect that this week may see nearly all the mills in the state idle. The carding and spinning rooms in the mills in the Pawtuxet valley are still running, but there is a limit to that, and when the stock of yarn rises to a large amount the officials will be forced to curtail production in those parts of the mills.

Providence, April 10.—The committee of business men of Warren, appointed to confer with the mill officials and the striking employes of the Warren Manufacturing company, met the officials and the striking employes yesterday. The mill men stated that the present strike was begun after an agreement was made that no strikes should be entered on till there had been a conference. Under the circumstances they could yield nothing. The representatives of the weavers' union were seen and they practically admitted that the strike was entered upon in violation of the agreement with the company. The committee prepared a report advising the employes to return to their work, and submitted it to a meeting of the union. It was unanimously voted not to carry out the recommendation of the committee.

Suicide of John H. Sullivan.

Boston, April 10.—John H. Sullivan, member of the city's board of apportionment, was found dead in bed at his home in East Boston yesterday. It was announced at first that Mr. Sullivan died of heart trouble, but it has since developed that he killed himself by shooting through the head. Two causes are being assigned, one that he was despondent from illness, which did not seem to yield to medical treatment, and the other that large financial losses had discouraged him. Mr. Sullivan was born in Ireland in 1848, and came to this city in 1867. He began life as an inspector of merchandise at this port, and commenced a long political career, which took him successively through the city council, house of representatives, the senate and finally the executive council in 1884.

Good Afternoon.

It is too late for the Republicans in the City Council to make a political stand against the movement to keep the tax rate down, for if the order to refund $40,000 of the municipal debt is defeated, the Republican Council will go on record as favoring high taxes; taxes which are unnecessary and unjust to the taxpayers of today. If the City Council was opposed to the order it should have nipped the movement in the bud, and not have gone to the Legislature at all. Last year some of the maturing debt would have been refunded could it have been done legally. Now that the Legislature has legalized it there should be no hesitation. Justice to the taxpayers of 1899, who have already paid unjust taxes for two or three years, demands that relief be given this year, when they have the added expenditure for sewer assessment and sewer connection.

It is understood that the Morgan syndicate has secured the necessary number of shares of the Quincy & Boston stock to secure control of that valuable piece of property. As J. P. Morgan is a director of the New Haven road it is but fair to assume that their interests will not be inimical. This gives the so called Morgan syndicate the control of about all of the street railway property in Southern Massachusetts, making a great system out of a number of small transportation companies. If the new corporation administers the system for the benefit of the great travelling public it will be of inestimable benefit. The time for our city government to make a decided stand for free transfers is at hand.

Drift of Opinion.

☞To be a part of the United States is unmistakably the destiny of Cuba. The sooner this is naturally consummated the better. When it is done the island will be the scene of a splendid transformation, social, policical and industrial, with few counterparts in history.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

☞It would be an experience worth trying, if the clergy would during the year ahead of us agree to leave politics to politicians, science to scientists, political economy to political economists, and theatricals to the stage. We believe they would be surprised to learn how profitable simplicity and humility are, and what a great mistake has been made by seeking to make the pulpit "entertaining." — New Haven Register.

☞We do not think the standard by which fitness for the great office of president is tested has been lowered during the century that has passed. We are unwilling to believe that it will be lowered during the next half century. We think it may with certainty be predicted that the man who fifty years hence, shall aspire to the presidency must be strong in intellectual capacity, broad in his patriotism, and in full and hearty sympathy with all that constitutes distinctive Americanism. — Augusta, Georgia, Chronicle.

—Robert Day, a Milton teamster, was thrown from his wagon at Fields Corner on Saturday and killed.

DIED AT REHEARSAL.

Well Known Singer Expires in a Church Saturday Night.

Bethany Congregational church missed its quartette singing on Sunday, and sadness prevailed when it was learned that a singer had died the evening before at the rehearsal. The quartette which was to sing on Sunday had met and rehearsed its music and had departed, and the Music committee, including Mr. Frank W. Crane, Mr. Ernest D. Gourd, Mrs. E. V. Fitts and Mrs. Edward E. Miller, and the organist, were assembled to hear candidates for soprano singer. Rev. E. N. Hardy, Mr. H. W. Gray and W. T. Isaac were also present. Mrs. Thomas of East Weymouth had sung and departed, and Mrs. Edwin Orr, also of East Weymouth was the next candidate. After singing about one page she fell as in a faint. Medical aid was promptly summoned but death had been almost instantaneous, probably from heart disease.

Undertaker Hall took charge of the body, and the husband and relatives from Weymouth, who had been notified by telephone arrived in a short time. The body was then taken home. It was a great shock to all assembled, and to the bereaved husband, and a daughter of twelve years. Mrs. Orr was well known in East Weymouth and in musical circles. She at one time sang in the Neilson Ladies' quartette which has appeared in public in Quincy upon several occasions.

Private Receptions.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crane received their friends Saturday evening at their residence 159 Washington street in honor of the return home of their son, Thompson B. Crane, who was a member of Co. K. The reception was from 8 to 10 o'clock, during which hours congratulations were showered upon Mr. Crane. While the reception was at its height Mr. Leonard C. Hewson, in behalf of those assembled, presented Mr. Crane with a Morris chair. At 10 o'clock an adjournment was made to an adjoining house where a bountiful collation was served.

About thirty friends of Private George W. Leonard of Co. K, 5th Massachusetts Regiment, tendered him a reception at his home on Willard street, Saturday evening. During the course of the evening Miss Anna Dunican, in a few well chosen words, presented him with a gold watch, chain and charm. Although taken by surprise Mr. Leonard responded feelingly. Supper followed, after which, whist, dancing and a general good time was enjoyed until midnight. Among the invited guests were some of the boys who shared his tent during his nine months of camp life. Friends were present from Somerville, Milton and Quincy.

Sewer Work.

Work laying sewer pipe, which was suspended last year when winter weather set in, was resumed this morning. One gang is at work completing the laying of the pipe between Hancock street and Newport avenue and another gang is at work on Adams street, opening a trench between Hancock and Alleyne streets. Under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, work making house connection has also been commenced.

Workmen In a Riot.

Chicago, April 10.—A riot in which three men were seriously injured and a dozen others bruised by flying stones and pieces of iron occurred yesterday between about 30 structural iron workers. Revolvers, knives and clubs were freely used. The fight occurred where a big warehouse is in course of construction. All the men engaged are union workmen. It was claimed by members of the union that an agreement whereby outside iron workers were to do no inside work was being violated. For several days the work inside the building has been done under police protection, but no officers were there yesterday.

Gomez's Aid Not Needed.

Havana, April 10.—The Cuban generals on Saturday elected General Gomez commander-in-chief. There are so many contradictory reports as to their intentions and doings that the fact of their accomplishing little or nothing is beginning to discredit in advance whatever action that they may ultimately take, which, at the best, will be merely conferring an honorary distinction, as General Brooke is preparing to handle the payment of the Cuban army quite independently of General Gomez.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:10; sets, 6:21.
Moon sets—8:24 p. m.
High water—12.

The storm which appeared over the gulf of Mexico Thursday has disappeared over the gulf of the St. Lawrence. The temperature has risen throughout the interior of the country, and is above the seasonal average. The indications are that fair weather will prevail in New England, with a marked moderation in temperature. Along the Atlantic coast the winds will be light to fresh, from westerly, shifting to southwesterly.

THE SEASON OPENS.

Adams Academy Wins at Base Ball.

The Chauncy Hall base ball club did not show up Saturday to play the game scheduled with Adams academy, but Adams played a strong picked nine and did not have it all her own way. The teams were composed as follows:

Adams.— Burchsted, c; Donaher, p; Doble, 3b; Bennett, 2b; Hodges, 1b.; Turner, lf; Pinkham, cf; Mahon, ss; Tate, rf.

Picked team,—Taylor, c, p; King, p&c; Faircloth, 1b; Nichols, 2b; Kent 3b.; Kingsley, ss; McMasters, lf.; Marshman, lf; O'Brien, cf; Thomas, rf.

The score by innings:

Golf Season Opened.

The Wollaston and Harvard Golf clubs opened the season on Saturday with a match between picked teams. The home club started in remarkably strong and well and won 18 to 4. The scores:

Freeman,	0	Hubbard,	4
Smith,	4	Curtis,	0
Atherton,	0	Averill,	0
Cracknell,	0	Francis,	0
Tilton,	4	Richardson,	0
Porter,	3	Carter,	0
Brock,	7	Hoffman,	0
Total	18	Total	4

The Globe says, The Wollaston golf club has secured as greenkeeper the services of Chisholm, a Scotchman, who has had several years experience as a club maker in a well-known firm on the other side. Chisholm has all the qualities of a good golfer, playing with ease and accuracy. His driving is especially good. Chisholm will be at the Wollaston golf clubhouse to give lessons.

The following have recently been admitted as members of the Wollaston club: E. M. Fenno, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McKay, Dorchester; Chas. W. Ward, Dorchester; Nathaniel Brewer, Jr., Lynn; Miss Alice Hall, Milton; Percy Chase, Brookline; Walter H. Edgerly, Boston; Hazel Clements, Boston; F. H. Jeffries, Boston; Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth, Quincy; Walter E. Burke, Quincy.

The club still has a few vacancies on account of increase in membership. More than 50 golfers were on the links Saturday. It is expected that the putting green will be in good condition April 19.

The Wollaston club will open the season on the 19th with a handicap for members.

Bishop Lawrence at Wollaston.

St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church of Wollaston has seldom contained a larger audience than was present at Sunday morning's service. The Rev. Carleton P. Mills, the rector of the parish, read the first lesson from the forty-third chapter of Isaiah and the second from the first chapter of the Acts of the Apostles.

The sermon was preached by Bishop Lawrence, the text being taken from St. John 20:17. Prefacing his sermon the Bishop congratulated the society upon its phenomenal growth and stable financial standing the past few years under the ministration of the Rev. Mr. Mills.

After the sermon, confirmation was ministered to eighteen persons.

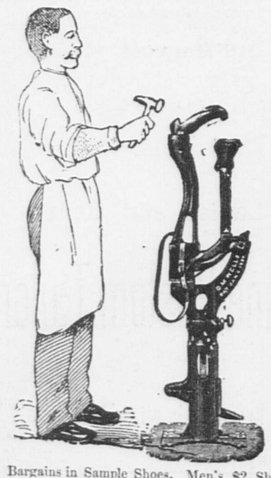

The music, which was of marked excellence was by a surpliced choir of thirty voices under the leadership of Choirmaster Snyder. The soloist was Master Andrew Todd and the organist Miss Eloise Flood.

AN ITALIAN ROW.

Which Started Wild Rumors of Murder at Wollaston.

It was about 6.50 o'clock Saturday night when the police station telephone bell rang in violently and word came over the wire to the officer who answered that an Italian had been murdered at Wollaston. Officers Daveron, Barry and Bradley left hastily for the scene. When they arrived in Wollaston the wildest kind of rumors were heard and there were some who were ready to swear that they had seen two Italians covered with blood.

The officers soon ran down the story and apprehended Caesari Rocco and Scafara Rocco, whom they brought to the police station.

From them it was learned that a row had started in the afternoon at the Italian shanty, which is situated on Norfolk street. The Italians had recently arrived there to work on the sewer, and they were playing cards for beer when the row started. During the progress of the row Salvatore Cisasolo drew a stiletto and made for Caesari Rocco, who ran with Cisasolo after him. No one was injured however, and later Cisasolo went to Boston. This gave rise to the story which ended in the report that a murder had been committed. The police locked up Caesari Rocco for drunkenness and Scafara Rocco for disturbing the peace. A search warrant was then sworn out and Chief Hayden, Inspector McKay with Officers Barry, Bradley and Daveron visited the shanty and seized twenty cases containing 69 full bottles of beer and 399 empty beer bottles.

As has been frequently stated in these columns, no fleet or bunch of boats should start in the final race for a challenge cup."

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly," Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, " Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

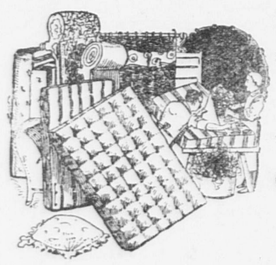

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Wool Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

$175 PER SHARE.

Big Price Paid for Street Railway Stock.

Inasmuch as a similar street railway deal is in process in Quincy as in Brockton the following from the Brockton Enterprise may interest many.

Stockholders of the Brockton Street Railway Company have received these circulars:

As the representative of parties holding and controlling a majority of the capital stock of your company, the Industrial Improvement Company has received and accepted an offer for the purchase of stock at $175 per share, but upon the understanding that all stockholders who may desire to do so shall have an opportunity to participate in the sale on the same terms.

The Industrial Improvement Company sells its own holdings of said stock, the directors deeming the offer a good one and recommending that all stockholders take advantage of it.

All stock sold must be deposited with the Old Colony Trust Company before twelve o'clock noon, Saturday, April 29, 1899, at which place payments will be due on Monday, May 1, 1899.

If, therefore, you desire to sell your stock at the offered price of $175 per share, you will please indorse the certificates (in blank) for transfer, with the necessary revenue stamp affixed, and deposit them with said Old Colony Trust Company in Boston, before 12 o'clock on April 2, 1899, and receive a receipt therefor. If so deposited checks in payment will be ready for delivery on Monday, May 1st, on surrender of the receipts.

Respectfully presented,
Samuel Carr, President.
Alfred A. Glasier, Treasurer.
Oakes A. Ames,
G. H. Campbell,
T. J. Coolidge, Jr.,
C. A. Coffin,
Winthrop Coffin,
H. D. Fuller,
E. S. Webster,
Directors of the Industrial Improvement Co.

The most interesting clause in the above letter to the general public is the one which gives the price to be paid for the stock, $175 a share. The figure is higher than anybody had dreamed of except those who were on the inside, and they of course knew. None of the stock of the company has ever sold for any such price, and to have the whole of it taken at such an advance over ordinary offers is a great surprise. It goes to prove that the Morgan syndicate are buying for investment and not for speculation.

The clause of the greatest interest to the stockholders is the one which indicates that the Industrial Improvement Company followed a course that is not common with organizations of its sort, and refused to place a majority of the stock in the hands of the buying syndicate unless they would agree to pay the same price for all other stock that might be put in the deal. In a word all of the stockholders are permitted to participate in the benefit of the large price obtained for the stock.

As a usual thing when a company of the nature of the Industrial Improvement Company makes a deal of this kind they part with their large holding at a big price, and then leave the small stockholders to sell at any price they are offered. In this case the big holders stood back of the small one and protected them, and the company and its managers deserve great praise and are receiving such from the Brocktonians who hold stock.

It is now plain why the Boston brokers were buying the stock the past three weeks at anywhere from $125 to $150 per share. They evidently knew the terms of the transfer and the price agreed upon, and they at once started their representatives out to corral all of the stock possible. They bought a little at $125, then captured 50 shares from a shrewd business man at $130, and then went up to $140 and $150. The man who sold 50 shares at $130 can now mourn the loss of nearly $2,500 which he would have had if he had waited. The Enterprise knows a holder of 20 shares who refused to sell at the prices offered and will now make over $500 by holding on.

Keith's Theatre.

The advance bookings for this week at Keiths theatre insure an uncommonly good bill for the entertainment of the thousands who flock to this house every week. Joe Hart will remain another week, and so will Frank Leon, the English song and dance man. Lillie Western will unfold her remarkably musical budget: the Great Sidonia will do his remarkable aerial act; the Phasey troupe of eight talented young girls from London will sing, dance and play on musical instruments, and in short, the bill will be full of good things. The biograph will be especially entertaining, as it will have the arrival of the Fifth Regiment and other local pictures.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, Safe but Effectual Cure for it.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full bloated sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the lungs and heart and difficult breathing; headache, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out and languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue, and if the interior of stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate disease is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily and thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach.

To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do, and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastrse, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids.

These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and, not being a patent medicine, can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, of 2710 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom, passing back into the throat, reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me three years for catarrh of the stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I can not find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Send for book, mailed free, on stomach troubles, by addressing the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

THE MOLINEUX CASE

Has Another Sensation In a Story Concerning One of the Witnessses.

New York, April 10.—The Times today says that Nicholas A. Heckman, the proprietor of a private letter box establishment, who identified Roland B. Molineux, charged with the murder of Mrs. Kate J. Adams, as being the man who rented a box at his place under the name of "Cornish," is wanted in Tennessee, it being charged that he escaped from the penitentiary there on April 8, 1893, while serving a two years' term for larceny. It is stated that Governor Roosevelt, at the request of Governor McMillin of Tennessee, issued on Friday last a requisition for Percy E. Raymond, which is said to be Heckman's right name. The governor informed District Attorney Gardiner that he had issued the requisition, and the District attorney informed Captain McClusky. Just as an effort was making to arrest Heckman, it is alleged that Governor Roosevelt telegraphed that he had revoked the requisition, and no further effort was made to place Heckman in custody. Assistant District Attorney McIntyre says that he understood that it was at the request of his office that the governor revoked the requisition. "I have no authority for saying this," said Mr. McIntyre, "but I have been given to understand that my office does not want Heckman to leave the state just now. He is an important witness in the Molineux case, and his arrest and extradition will have to be looked into by the governor before any steps are taken. There are certain phases of the story that need not be gone into."

Youngsters In a Lively Battle.

West Point, N. Y., April 10.—A fierce battle occurred at Highland Falls at a late hour Saturday night between candidates for admission to West Point as cadets on the one side and boys of the village on the other. The candidates are attending the preparatory schools at Highland Falls prior to being examined at West Point next June for admission to the academy. There were about 30 of them in the fight, but they were outnumbered three to one by the boys of the town. The trouble began with a hand to hand encounter, and the crowd soon increased to such an extent that stone throwing took the place of fists. Several of the participants were more or less injured. The services of all the doctors in town were required to dress the wounds of the injured. Hostilities continued for nearly an hour.

Of Old Puritan Stock.

Washington, April 10.—Alon M. Clapp, at one time United States government printer, died here yesterday. Mr. Clapp was born in Killingly, Conn., in 1811, and came from one of the oldest families in New England, his ancestors having come to this country on the Mary and John soon after the landing of the Pilgrims. He established the Aurora (N. Y.) Standard, and later the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, and still later the Buffalo Express. He was a delegate to the Pittsburg convention that founded the Republican party, and in 1869 was appointed public printer. One retiring from that office, in 1877, he bought an interest in The National Republican of Washington. During the last 12 or 15 years of his life he has been living in retirement, but retained his interest in politics.

No. 118 Arrives.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet if their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

People desiring to consult Dr. Sweet in Boston will find him always at his HOME FOR INVALIDS, 301 SHAWMUT AVENUE, ON SUNDAYS. apr7-1y

Sat Thirty-Four Years on the Supreme Bench.

Once Dispensed Justice From Behind Dry Goods Box In California.

Washington, April 10.—Justice Stephen J. Field (retired) of the United States supreme court died here at 6:30 p. m. yesterday.

Ever since Justice Field's retirement from the supreme bench, on Dec. 1, 1897, he had enjoyed comparatively good health, and, being relieved from the responsibilities which he had borne for so many years, he became more cheerful than formerly, and seemed to enjoy the society of his friends and acquaintances more than ever before.

About two weeks ago, however, he took a longer ride than usual in an open carriage, and contracted a severe cold, which rapidly developed the kidney troubles from which he had suffered, though but slightly, for some time. The disease readily yielded to treatment, and on Thursday last he sat up for a time and seemed quite himself again, but on Saturday morning a change for the worse took place, and about noon he lost consciousness. From that time he sank rapidly, and expired at 6:30 o'clock.

No arrangements have yet been for the funeral. It is probable that the remains will be taken to Stockbridge, Mass., where are buried his father and mother and other members of the Field amily.

Justice and Mrs. Field never had any children, and the only surviving member of his father's family is the justice's youngest brother, Dr. Henry Field, editor of The Evangelist. During several years prior to his retirement from the bench the justice's health at times seemed on the point of breaking, but he usually recovered promptly, and in a few days would again resume his judicial duties. For the past year or more those most intimate with him knew that his mental powers were becoming somewhat impaired. The results of his long career of mental activity were beginning to show themselves in a failing memory after his retirement from the bench, though his physical health seemed to improve a little.

Stephen Johnson Field was born at Haddam, Conn., Nov. 4, 1816. He was the son of David Dudley Field and one of four brothers who became famous, David Dudley, Cyrus W., and Henry M. Field being the other members of the great quartet that made their names known throughout the world. His early boyhood was spent at Stockbridge, Mass.

At the age of 13 Stephen J. Field went to Smyrna, where his sister had married a missionary, Rev. Josiah Brewer, who had undertaken an educational mission to the Greeks, and he there acquired a knowledge of Oriental languages. Returning to this country, he later entered Williams college, from which he was graduated in 1837, at the head of his class. He then went to New York where he entered the law office of his brother, David Dudley Field. He was admitted to the bar and became a member of the firm, remaining as such for seven years. In 1848 he went to Europe and spent some time there travelling. In November, 1849, he sailed for San Francisco, around Cape Horn, and entered upon the practice of law in the Occidental metropolis. After a short time he moved to Marysville, a small mining camp, and became one of the founders of what afterwards grew to be a thriving town. When the little city was organized Justice Field was elected the alcalde of the place. This office carried with it the dignity of mayor, and at the same time imposed all the duties of the bench. Here the future jurist dispensed justice and made his name widely known throughout the length and breadth of the growing commonwealth. He was fond of talking of his early days in California, and often said that the happiest days of his life were when he dealt out justice in Marysville behind a dry goods box.

He was elected a member of the first legislature of the state. He was influential in securing legislation favorable to miners, and aided in the passage of laws regulating civil and criminal procedure of the state. At the close of the session he returned to Marysville and devoted six years to the practice of his profession. He was elected a judge of the supreme court of California in 1857, for the term of six years. In 1859 he became chief justice, succeeding Chief Justice David S. Terry. In 1863 President Lincoln appointed his associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, and he held that position until his retirement on Dec. 1, 1897.

During the latter years of his service on the bench he was in feeble health. His term was the longest in the history of that tribunal. The great chief justice, John Marshall, wore the ermine for a period extending over 34 years. It was the ambition of the late Justic Field to surpass this record, and he succeeded in doing so by a few months. His friends, fearing that the strain of hard work would shorten his useful life, advised him to retire from his arduous duties, but with indefatigable perseverance he clung to his task until the latter part of 1897, when he had the satisfaction of having fulfilled the ambition of his life.

During his long service on the bench he was also before the public eye in other ways than as a judge of the United States supreme court. He was a member of the Hayes-Tilden electorial commission in 1877, and voted with the Democratic minority. In 1880 he received 65 votes for the presidential nomination at the Cincinnati Democratic convention on the first ballot. In 1873 he was appointed by the governor of the state of California one of the commission to examine the code of laws of that state. In 1866 Williams college conferred upon him the degree of LL. D., and in 1869 the regents of the University of California made him a professor of law in that institution.

Henry's Administration Satisfactory.

San Juan, April 10.—General Alger with his party left yesterday by the transport Ingalls, proceeding direct for New York, where he should arrive on Friday. During his stay here he received many petitions from municipalities asking financial help and relief from excessive taxation. The administration of General Henry is understood to be entirely satisfactory to the secretary of war, who entirely approves his policy. The secretary and the governor had a long conference and an understanding was reached between them as to the future. Although General Alger refrained from expressing any opinion on the matter it is believed that, in his judgment, the civil government must come slowly and that the Porto Ricans must exercise patience.

The Ninth Victim.

Kansas City, April 10.—Rajah, a mammoth elephant owned by Lemon Bros.' Circus company, which has been wintering in Argentine, Kan., near here, yesterday killed its keeper, Frank Fisher. Fisher had returned to the tent intoxicated and tried to make the different animals perform. Coming to the elephant, he hugged the beast's trunk and ordered it to open its mouth. Becoming enraged, Rajah crushed Fisher's arm and, throwing him to the ground, made repeated efforts to pierce the prostrate trainer's body with its tusks. Unable to reach him, Rajah finally knelt upon Fisher, crushing his life out before assistance arrived. Fisher was 28 years old, and his home was in Montreal. He is said to be Rajah's ninth victim.

Mother and Son Killed.

Wakefield, Mass., April 10.—The destruction by fire of the double tenement house on Wiley place occupied by Mrs. John Donahue and family and John Roach and family resulted in the death of Mrs. John Donahue and Timothy H. Donahue, her son. The fire caught in the upper tenement at about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The Donahues tell the story that toward morning their mother lighted a lamp, and while going from one room to another she tripped and fell. In an instant the lamp exploded and set fire to her clothing and to the house. The property loss was $1400.

Mary Cut Mary.

Lowell, Mass., April 10.—Mary McManus was severely cut about the head yesterday by her hostess, Mary Gannon. Both were under the influence of liquor, and in the heat of a dispute the latter broke a pitcher over the head of the former. The Gannon woman was arrested and the McManus woman was sent to the hospital. The condition of the latter is critical.

General Lawton Has Started on an Expedition to Santa Cruz.

To Adopt Old-Time Frontier Fighting Tactics.

Washington Officials Expect to Hear Important News From Manila Today.

Manila, April 10.—The expedition of 1500 men under Major General Lawton, which started Saturday night with the intention of crossing La Guna de Bay, capturing the town of Santa Cruz, on the eastern shore of the lake and then sweeping the country to the south, consists of 200 picked sharpshooters, chosen from the various regiments; Hawthorne's mountain battery, Gale's squadron, three troops of the Fourth cavalry, unmounted, with Bronke's and Tappen's battalions of the Fourteenth infantry, Linck's battalion of the First Idaho infantry and Frains' battalion of the First North Dakota infantry under General King.

MAJOR GENERAL HENRY W. LAWTON.

The flotilla of 20 canoes, towed by tugs and convoyed by the gunboats Laguna De Bay, Oeste and Napidan, and preceded by the launch containing General Lawton and General King, started from San Pedro Macati, on the river Pasig, moving toward the lake just as evening was setting in. It was a truly picturesque scene.

The men were all in high spirits and carried rations for 10 days, with the lightest marching equipment.

General Lawton's plan was to reach Santa Cruz at daybreak to capture or destroy any rebel gunboats or shipping, to take the town and then to scour the country to the south of the lake, a district not yet explored by the Americans. The tactics will be those of the old-time frontier fighting, and it is probable that the command will be divided into squads of 12, under non-commissioned officers.

In General Lawton's absence the second division is temporarily commanded by General Ovenshine, whose lines extend from the beach, near Malat, south of Manila, to the shore of Laguna De Bay, beyond Pasig, a distance of about seven miles.

The withdrawal of the 18 companies constituting the expeditionary force made a gap in the line from the beach to Culicuil, just southwest of San Pedro Macati, which was subsequently filled by the Fourth regular infantry. The rebels, on the extreme right, had evidently been informed of the withdrawal of the troops, and they attempted to sneak through after nightfall, but they met with a warm reception and fell back in disorder on discovering that the line was still intact.

Awaiting Developments.

Washington, April 10.—The war department authorities look for important news from Manila today, announcing in all probability the capture of the city of Santa Cruz, a leading town in a country as yet untouched by the Americans, and now in the hands of the Filipino forces. No reports of the movements of General Lawton's men has been made to the war department, but the Associated Press announcement occasioned no surprise, for the move is looked upon as one of the natural steps in General Otis' carefully laid plans against the insurgents. Santa Cruz is a place of considerable importance in several respects. It is the capital of the province of Laguna, and has a population, according to the best available information here, of considerably more than 13,000 persons.

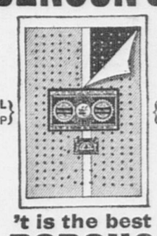

It is regarded as likely that General Lawton already has gained possession of this little stronghold, for it is but a short journey over the bay lagoon, a fresh water sea, which comes almost up to Manila itself, 48 miles away from Santa Cruz.

The details of the dispatch show General Lawton, by essaying the formation of squads of 12 men each, will make a thorough reconnoissance of the ground before making a definite attack upon the city and vicinity. It is felt here that there will be only a show of resistance by the natives, and whether they actually surrender the town or abandon it to the southward, the campaign against the place will serve as an object lesson of the determined policy of our forces in the islands. Santa Cruz is apparently an opening wedge for the country beyond. From it lead highways in all directions to Manila, by going around the shores of the bay lagoon, and to the important point of Batangas and the well advanced province of Tayabas, whose capital city is located 91 miles from Manila.

General Lawton, however, may not contemplate any material advance beyond Santa Cruz at this time, as the region to the south is very broken country, covered with mountains, and the rainy season is coming on, so that his purpose may be merely to gain an advantageous position for the future.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

SANTA CRUZ

Occupied by Americans After Lively Fight.

Indian Tactics Resulted In Rout of the Rebels.

Sharpshooters Worked With Unerring Aim

While Gunboats Rendered Some Effective Assistance.

Expedition Will Continue the Active Campaign and Push Northward.

Manila, April 11.—General Lawton has captured Santa Cruz, at the extreme end of the lake. He drove the insurgents, who were commanded by a Chinaman named Pac Wah, into the mountains. The Americans had six men wounded. The rebels lost 68 men killed, and had 40 men wounded.

Santa Cruz was the Filipinos' stronghold on Lake Laguna de Bay, and its fall formed one of the most interesting and most important battles of the war. The plans of the American commanders worked perfectly, with the exception that the progress of the expedition was delayed because of difficult navigation of the river.

About 1500 picked men composed the expedition, which was under the personal command of General Lawton, on account of the illness of General King. These troops partly surrounded the city, while the gunboats Laguna de Bay, Napindan and Oesto, under the command of Captain Grant of the Utah battery, shelled the city and outlying trenches.

General Lawton and his staff accompanied the troops, sometimes leading charges, in Indian fighting tactics, which eventually resulted in the complete rout of the rebels, with the smallest amount of damage to the city and slight loss to the Americans.

The expedition started from San Pedro Macati at dusk on Saturday, intending to capture Santa Cruz by assault at daybreak. But, in navigating the shallow, tortuous Pasig river, perhaps through the cunning of the native pilots who were not anxious to see the Americans successful, several boats grounded, and it was nearly dawn when the troops reached the lake. The expedition then steamed cautiously forward, the Napidan and the Oesto a mile ahead and the Laguna de Bay guarding the rear. Rebel signal fires, however, were lighted on the mountain tops, giving warning of the approach of the troops.

It was noon before the white church towers of the city appeared in the shadow of the great volcanic mountain on a marshy plain dotted with occasional palm groves.

At Casco a square-ended, flat-bottomed boat, with a force of 200 picked sharpshooters under Major Welsenberger, mostly belonging to the First Washington regiment, were run into a shallow inlet about five miles south of the city. Then a few shells were sent toward the entrenchments of the rebels at the edge of the woods, sending the enemy scampering inland.

Then a number of Americans jumped into the water and, wading for about 100 yards, crept forward and formed in line, covering the landing of the remainder, which finished about 5 o'clock. The three troops of the Fourth cavalry, unmounted, were sent ashore on a dangerous marshy point, directly south of the city, under fire from the enemy's trenches.

Meanwhile in the town itself there was utter silence and not a sign of life. General Lawton, desiring to make an inspection and to give the inhabitants an opportunity to surrender, went on board the Laguna de Bay and, accompanied by a press launch, steamed slowly to the dock, the whole fleet watching anxiously. When it was discovered that the trenches and stone buildings were swarming with white-clad soldiers the two boats withdrew, receiving volleys from the trenches thrown up on the marshy plain north of the city.

The flotilla anchored in compact formation for the night, ready to resist any surprises from the rebel gunboats supposed to be in the lake. At sunrise yesterday the assault commenced. The American line south of the city stretched two miles inland, and, with its left sweeping the shore, it moved north, while the Fourth cavalrymen, on the point, advanced toward the city, pouring volleys upon the trenches. Simultaneously the gunboats hovered along the shore, shelling the woods ahead of the troops, and driving the Filipinos inland. The Gatlings cleared several trenches.

The whole brigade was divided into squads of 12, and the fighting was carried on in the old time frontier fashion, from behind trees, crawling through bushes or rushing across the open. The trenches that were not cleared by the gunboats gave considerable resistance when the line was nearing the city, and the Laguna de Bay and Oesto bombarded for an hour in the hope of making them too warm for occupancy, but did not succeed in clearing them entirely.

General Lawton, with the Fourteenth infantry battalions, approached a narrow iron bridge across a creek on the south border of the town. Here a company of Filipinos was intrenched across the stream, and behind a stone barricade at the entrance to the bridge. The Americans rushed forward in single file, in the face of a galling fire, demolishing the barricade with their hands, and drove the enemy from the trenches, killing a dozen.

The Filipino soldiers in the town, secreted in various buildings and firing from the windows, gave the invaders an interesting hour. There was a regular nest of them in the stone jail, which is wedged in by a wall. This was a veritable pepper-pot.

The Americans, singly and in pairs, entered the houses, and many warriors were taken prisoners. A considerable body of Filipinos fled northward, crossing the open marshes, but the Gatlings poured upon them a deadly fire until they disappeared in the woods, slaying dozens.

Major Weisenberger deployed the sharpshooters along the shore, and they crept steadily forward, aiding the Gatlings. Finally a large body was sent against the enemy in the woods, driving them toward the mountains.

General Lawton established headquarters at the palace of the governor, and a guard was immediately placed in the church, as the sacred edifices are always the first objective of looters. Within an hour the town was patrolled and all the looting rigidly prevented.

Almost all the inhabitants had fled during the two preceding nights, and only a few Chinese shopkeepers have emerged from hiding and resumed business.

On the marshes north of the town were found 40 dead Filipinos, some terribly torn by shells, and many others wounded, to whom the Americans offered their canteens. A surgeon who traversed the field counted 80 killed, and General Lawton will report at least 68. One Filipino, attempting to make his escape, slashed viciously at Major Weisenberger, who shot and killed him.

The insurgents captured two men of the Fourteenth infantry, while unarmed Sunday, but the Americans stole the guns of their captors, clubbed them, hid in the trees over night and returned yesterday.

The gunboats are searching the Santa Cruz river for shipping.

Today the expedition will push forward, the Americans having destroyed miles of telegraph lines, cutting off insurgent communication east and west.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 11.—The agitation against Chairman Whitney of the board of registration in pharmacy, which resulted in the introduction of a bill the purpose of which was to legislate him out of office, and which bill passed both branches of the legislature, has culminated in the resignation of Whitney Governor Wolcott sent for Mr. Whitney yesterday, and it was during a conference between them that the resignation was presented. As the bill was aimed almost entirely at the chairman of the board of registration in pharmacy, and as his resignation took away the chief cause for the passage of the bill, Governor Wolcott intimated to the senate that he could not sign the bill in its present form. Thereupon the senate sent for the bill that it might be amended.

The senate passed the following measures: A bill relative to certain suits for damages for property taken by the metropolitan water board; a bill providing for the construction of a new building at the hospital for epileptics at Rutland; another bill providing for farm buildings at the Medfield insane asylum.

The committee on metropolitan affairs has voted to report the bill repealing the sewer tax law in Boston passed last year. The committee also voted reference to the next general court of all the bills and petitions relating to more subways for Boston. The committee also voted to report leave to withdraw on the bill for the repeal of the act relating to the sewerage works of the city of Boston; and a bill to extend for three years the term of the transit commission of Boston.

Reference to the next general court was reported on the resolve for new buildings at the state reformatory and on the bill to allow the commitment at the discretion of the state board of charity of indigent or neglected children.

A bill was reported providing that if a husband or wife dies intestate, leaving issue of their marriage, but none of any former marriage, the survivor shall take one-half the real estate of the deceased for life and also absolutely one-half the personal property.

The Boston assessors' bill passed to its third reading.

District Attorney Gardner Heard of an Attempt to Get Heckman "Out of the Way."

New York, April 11.—District Attorney Gardiner was asked yesterday regarding Nicholas A. Heckman, the important witness in the prosecution of Roland B. Molineux, and who is said to be wanted by the Tennessee authorities on the charge of escaping from a penitentiary in 1893, while serving two years for larceny. Governor Roosevelt issued a requisition for Heckman, whose real name is said to be Percy B. Raymond, but the requisition was revoked Friday. The district attorney said information had reached him that an attempt was being made to get Heckman "out of the way." Mr. Gardiner said he at once communicated with Governor Roosevelt. "Upon that information," said Colonel Gardiner, "Governor Roosevelt acted and he gave instructions which I communicated to the detective bureau. I think Heckman will be had whenever we want him."

The Quays In Court.

Philadelphia, April 11.—Ex-United States Senator Quay and his son, Richard R. Quay, were called to the bar yesterday, and, after many months of vexatious delay, the trial of the two defendants was begun. There was an entire absence of any crowd, either outside or within the courtroom. Special cards of admission, permitting only those directly interested in the case, witnesses, jurors and newspaper men, had been issued by the district attorney and counsel for the defense. Judge Biddle is the trial judge. District Attorney Rothermel, after over two hours had been spent in selecting a jury, elected to try the ex-senator first on that one of the five indictments (in which he and his son are variously named) which charges Mr. Quay and the late ex-state treasurer, Haywood, with conspiring in using the state funds for their personal benefit and profit, and in a manner unauthorized by law. This action practically leaves the ex-senator alone on trial. Beyond the selection of a jury and the examination of one witness, Thomas W. Barlow, receiver of the People's bank, nothing was done yesterday. Barlow led to the first clash between counsel, and apparently indicated that a determined legal battle, replete with knotty points of law, will be fought in the trial of the case. Barlow's examination is unfinished.

The Mazet Investigation.

New York, April 11.—Frank Croker, son of Richard Croker, and Chief Devery were the principal witnesses examined by the Mazet committee yesterday without any startling evidence having been adduced. Croker testified that he had paid $17,000 to enter the Roebling Fireproof company and was drawing a salary of $2500 a year while learning the business. He first stated that he had given for his 170 shares of stock a check for $17,000, but when asked to produce the cancelled check he admitted that the stock had been paid for in cash furnished by his father. He told of having been presented with $6000 worth of stock in the United company "because they knew we had lots of friends in railroads and such places."

Good Afternoon.

The committee on taxation of the Boston Associated Board of Trade reported at the regular meeting this week the following resolve, which will be considered at a special meeting:

"Resolved' That it is inexpedient for the City of Boston to be allowed to borrow more money outside of the debt limit at the present time."

When a committee of the board of trade arrive at such a report it is evident that a serious state of affairs exists in Boston. The report is accompanied by figures which show the net debt per capita of $61 78 on Jan. 31, 1886, has been increased to $98 58 per capita on the 31st day of January this year; and that on a claim that Boston's population is now 550,000, an increase from 400,000 in 13 years.

Some people who would rival Boston in improvements, think Quincy's debt is something awful; yet the municipal debt is but $10.62 per capita, and an assessment of $14 per $1,000 on the valuation would wipe it all out. Including, water, sewers, parks, etc., which are to be paid largely by assessment rather than taxation, the per capita debt of Quincy on the gross debt is but $54.

Inheritance Tax.

The ways and means committee of the Legislature has submitted a report on the bill for a tax on legacies and successions reported by the committee on taxation. The committee states that if the bill becomes a law it would take effect July 1, 1899, and that the amount taken from the state revenue on account of the collateral legacy tax and distributed among the cities and towns would be about $300,000. The committee is to be discharged from further consideration of the case. Mr. Bennett of Saugus dissents. The sum of $300,000 is about one-fifth of the usual State tax and would therefore give Quincy over $3000 annually.

Quincy's Loss, Allston's Gain.

In its issue of April 8, the Weekly Mirror of Allston said: On Monday next, Mr. Frederic A. Tupper, of Quincy, will commence his duties as head master of the Brighton high school, having received the appointment of this position. Two weeks ago the Mirror suggested the name of Mr. Tupper as being the right man for the place and one who would prove himself as efficient as was the late Mr. Ryder. We extend a cordial welcome to Mr. Tupper to our district, feeling that the high school will further progress under his future supervision in all its branches.

BRAINTREE TOO

Gives Company K a Hearty Welcome.

Grand Banquet With Notable Speakers.

A Fine Menu, Good Music and Enthusiasm.

The old town of Braintree gave the boys of Company K a grand reception last night. The Town Hall was packed with guests and friends including many from Quincy, while the balcony and platform were crowded with lady admirers of the company in which so much interest has been taken.

Hon. F. A. Hobart, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, presided at the banquet table, and seated near him were Brig. General Curtis Guild, Jr., Col. J. H. Whitney, Maj. W. E. Morrison, Capt. O. J. Neilson of Co. K, Lieut. Spear, Lieut. Colbert and other guests.

After prayer by Rev. A. A. Ellsworth, the "rations" were soon disdosed of, and the chairman Hobart gave the boys a hearty welcome. He said, in part.

Soldiers, Ladies and Fellow Citizens:

We have assembled in this hall tonight in response to a unanimous vote of the town passed at its last annual meeting, and in the appointment of a committee to arrange for a public reception and welcome to Co. K, upon its return home after its discharge from the United States service and Mr. Commander, it is my privilege in behalf of that committee in the name and behalf of the town and of all the people of the town of Braintree to bid you, and each member individually a hearty and cordial welcome to your home and your friend.

Less than a year has passed since the outbreak of the war with Spain followed by the early annihilation of its power upon sea, and the triumph of the American army upon land.

Several months have elapsed since with music and feasting, civic procession and martial parade, and every form of sympathy, encouragement and cheer, we bade you God speed on your way to the front.

We noted your gallant array, the flashing eye, the glowing countenance, the springy, nervous tread, the courageous and determined bearing as you marched away to danger and perhaps to death, and our bosoms were filled with pride, but yet with serious forebodings.

You heard only the cheers of your friends, and saw only the waving of the hands of loved ones. You did not see the wife and mother's tearful eyes, or the husband and father's quivering lips, nor was it well that you should.

Tonight we welcome you home again, with open arms and hearts overflowing with gratitude to a divine providence, that you have been permitted a safe return, and with unbroken and undiminished ranks.

It is true that the fortunes of war, and the demands of the service, did not place you where it was your desire to go, in the fighting line, where glory could be won, or expose you to tropical heats with their attendant disease and death, but a soldier's post is where he is ordered and the reserve that backs the advance entitles them to share equally in all the glory of victory.

It would seem that the moloch of war always demands the best and the highest sacrifice, the flower of a community, and bad fate decreed otherwise, your return to us with broken files and shattered forms instead of the rejoicing of this occasion, there would have been mourning over gaps in our social life that never could have been refilled.

But fellow citizens, all this is past, and I ought not to forget that upon this festive occasion it is not fitting to recall the memory of tears or fears.

You, soldiers, can safely repose in the full consciousness of duty faithfully performed, the highest imposed upon man, the offer of life for the country's safety and honor.

Beneath your vine and fig tree, you can sit and tell your awe inspired descendants how you escaped the deadly effects of Eaganized embalmed beef, and the dangerous wounds of the Mauser bullet. We shall also have the benefit of your counsel as to what we shall do with Aguinaldo if we ever succeed in catching him.

Perhaps you may be able to obtain from the government head, a straight and explicit answer as to what we propose to do with our territorial acquisitions, and for what purpose we paid tribute to a conquered foe in the sum of $20,000,000 of the public treasury. I am not criticisng the policy of the administration, for as yet I have not been able to discover what that policy is! Thus far the information given us is not as satisfactory as the fool's reply to the king, when on a certain occasion he volunteered to take the place of a lawyer. I don't want to be uncomplimentary to the fool, or to cast any personal reflections upon the lawyer.

Norfolk Club.

About twenty prominent Norfolk County Republicans dined at the Parker House April 5, and successfully launched the new Norfolk club. In the absence of Col. Henry A. Thomas, J. White Belcher, Esq., of Randolph resided, and Secretary Gage read a report, which was most encouraging for a new organization. Those present had been in touch with prominent Republicans, and the opinion was unanimous that a new club should be formed. Another meeting and dinner will soon be held, when speakers of national reputation will be present.

Perhaps my friends you can persuade the pessimists here at home to take a brighter view of the results of the war. We have those among us who claim that those results do not compensate for the vast expenditure of treasure the loss of health and life that we have suffered, and that we have only got what the old woman wished for, a long handled dipper.

Perhaps you can infer from this what my opinions are upon the Philippine question, but if you know, you have got ahead of my time.

The American people believe in upholding the flag wherever it is planted, it never yet has been lowered in dishonor or defeat. Our country knows no such thing as retreat. I heartily endorse the sentiment of that motto: "Our country however bounded." My real source of regret is, that the precious blood of even one American soldier should be shed fighting a set of heathen barbarians with no instincts of humanity, and who as yet, have shown no intelligent capacity for self-government.

Those who attempt to strike a balance on the profit and loss of material things, in the great wars of this nation, mistake the cause, and the motives for those great uprisings.

No sordid lust for territory, no greed for conquest, has ever yet aroused the people of this nation to tempt death and destiny upon the field of battle. It has always been the higher sentiment, the nobler impulse of patriotism that inspires our people. It was the divine inspiration of freedom that sustained our forefathers through the eight years of blood and battle that a little over a century ago gave the nation and our starry flag their glorious birth, and when a little more than fifty years after an over-weening and arrogant pride, born of ownership in man, asserted the right to extend human slavery over this land, it met with a response from the indignant people of the free North that shook the great hall to their very foundation, and in the blood of 2,000 battles in a four years' war washed out the only blot that dimmed the stars and stained the stripes of our national flag.

It was the exhibition of this same cruelty, arrogance and tyranny, practiced by Monarchial Spain in its efforts to crush by misrule and oppression the life and liberties of a people struggling for their rights and their independence, which drew at length the disregarded remonstrance of our people, met only by the dastardly destruction of one of our battle ships and the murder of our brave sailors in the foul and slimy waters of Havana bay, that again forced us to take up arms in a conflict for liberty and human rights.

It was in the instincts of humanity, right and justice, that we did so, and so my friends, all those who have participated in the contest, may rest content in the part they have taken, and in the performance of duty, well done.

When the future student of history, shall scan the long roll of honor of those who offered life and dared death to sustain the glorious giant banner of our now mighty republic, which has no peer, and is the emblem the world over of christianity, liberty, civilization and humanity, which nestles its silken folds in heaven's wide air, from the west to the far east, unlimited in range by the rising or the setting sun, he will see indelibly inscribed thereon, never to be effaced, the names of those who participated in this contest for justice, liberty and humanity.

THE SPEAKERS.

Captain Neilson was received with cheers and "He's all right," and he complimented the boys very highly.

Tremendous cheering also greeted Col. Whitney, when he humorously alluded to the boys! as "poor half starved and frozen comrades who gained from ten to thirty-five pounds each while away. He said the boys did all that was asked of them and they did not "kick." He denied the reports that they were poorly fed and compared the rations with the poor hard tack which was given the "boys of 61." He said the reports in the newspapers made people ask what is the matter down South? And we were at the same time asking, what is the matter at home? He paid a high compliment to Major Morrison, saying he was the greatest little man in the regiment.

The humorist of the evening was Major Darling of the sixth. His story of Roy Stone's experience, showing how easily he conquered the Spaniards, was as full of humor as Mark Twain himself.

Major Morrison was one of the favorites of the evening, and made a vigorous speech. He declared, in reply to question raised by the chairman, that if we have gained nothing else we have gained the respect of the whole world. You ask if we had a good time. Now, if you call sleeping in a tent with mercury five below zero we had a "ripin' good time." He closed by urging the boys to be as good citizens as they had been soldiers.

Gen. Curtis Guild, Jr., complimented the boys as being among the best drilled, the best equiped, and the best behaved in the service, and also upon the fact that they came home like gentlemen with their commanders at their side. In the course of a brief address by Rev. C. F.H. Crathern that gentleman said:

Americans, Irish and English are we,
But all of us join in our welcome of thee.

Mr. H. A. Monk responded briefly for the G. A. R. Music was furnished by Cuff's orchestra, and several selections were sung by the Æolian quartette of Braintree.

The hall was elaborately decorated with flags and mottoes.

Cook of Boston was the caterer and the old town has reason to feel that it did its duty by the soldiers of '98.

Welcomed by Orangemen.

The Orangemen of Quincy assembled Monday evening to welcome back the members of the order who have returned from camp. W. F. McCalder called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock and made an address of welcome, and was followed by W. M. Andrew Stewart. Mr. R. Whiteway was then presented, whose address was interesting and was received by the members with loud applause. Several speeches and remarks were made by the members of the order.

At 9 30 the banquet hall was visited where Caterer Chick had prepared three long tables laden with good things for the inner man. After justice had been done, a smoke talk was enjoyed. Among those present were George Johnston, Robert Whiteway, George H. Wilson, H. A. McDonald, M. Lamont, Hugh Hamilton and W. B. Jones.

Ever on the Watch.

Constable Henry H. Faxon does not intend that any one shall transport intoxicating liquor into Quincy illegally, if he knows it.

This morning Henry saw a team loaded with barrels and at once became suspicious that there was something of the liquid refreshment nature in those barrels. He therefore stopped the team and getting aboard made the driver open every barrel and show him the contents which proved to be apples. Even then he was apparently not convinced for he ate one of the apples to make sure that it was not a new method of supplying the forbidden liquor to the initiated. The driver evidently did not relish the game but submitted to the test after which he was permitted to depart.

Important business will come before the Presbytery this afternoon.

Grass Fires Dangerous.

But for the prompt work of Officers Daveron and Goodhue Monday afternoon, the services of the fire department would have been required to extinguished a fire at the residence of Charles Taylor on Hancock streei. Mr. Taylor was burning the grass about the house when the L of the building took fire. Just at that minute the two officers were passing, and seeing the fire, they rushed in and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, although not without a hard fight.

On a Business Errand.

Washington, April 11.—The cruiser Detroit has been ordered to stop at Cartagena, Colombia, before putting in at Port Limon. She is due at the first named port today. The instructions prepared for Captain Dayton in substance authorize him to deal with the situation on its merits and according to his own judgment. If he finds that the Nicaraguan general, Torres, at Bluefields, is oppressively treating American merchants, he will put an instant stop to the complaints.

Skull Fractured.

Boston, April 11.—Medical Examiner Draper has filed his report on the autopsy performed on the body of Stephen A. White, who was assaulted in a restaurant here recently and who died later. White was ejected from the place by Proprietor McLaughlin and fell on the sidewalk, striking his head. Dr. Draper says death was due to a fracture of the skull and injury to the brain, the result of a blow on the head. The proprietor of the restaurant is under arrest on a charge of manslaughter.

Carlists Arouse Suspicion.

Madrid, April 11.—Premier Silvela yesterday repeated his assertion that the government does not fear a Carlist movement, and that any attempt of that character will be severely chastised. The Madrid papers, however, assert that fresh instructions have been sent to increase the military forces in the affected districts, and they comment apprehensively upon the suspicious movements of the Carlist leaders abroad.

Washington, April 11.—Godfrey D. Bland, first secretary of the British embassy, died suddenly last night of heart failure in this city. He entered the diplomatic service as a clerk in the foreign office in 1852, and has served in various capacities in most of the capitals of the world.

One of the largest Insurance Companies in the world keeps all of its property painted with Chilton Paint. This Company has found out that if it wishes to rent a building more money can be obtained and a better class of tenants if the building is painted and looks attractive, than if it has a neglected appearance. It has found out that if it wishes to sell property, much more can be secured for it if it has been painted, and that the cheapest paint in the world to use is the Chilton. This knowledge did not come to this company in a minute, but after years of testing

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence inpairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyound the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED

In a Deadly Riot Started by a Negro Desperado at Pana, Ills.

Resisted Deputy Sheriff's Efforts to Arrest Him.

Affair Developed Into a General Battle Between Armed Citizens and Miners.

Pana, Ills., April 11.—A pitched battle broke out at 10 a. m. yesterday between Sheriff Downey, his deputies and the imported negro miners.

The list of casualties thus far compiled is as follows. The dead:

Frank Coburn, citizen; Xavier Lecocq, Frenchman, union miner; four negro men; one negro woman.

The wounded: Frank Landsworth, shot in the head; Mrs. Henriet, shot in left arm; Will Kuhn, laundryman, shot in legs and hand; Cyrus Strickler, shot in back; Albert Vivkers, shot in hand; George Kimball, shot in arm; Henry Stevens, negro, shot in neck; Cass Proffitt, shot in foot; Carrie Felix, shot in breast.

The situation quieted down at nightfall, and no more trouble was looked for. Adujtant Reece, Colonel Culver and three companies of infantry arrived at 6 o'clock last evening on special trains, and order was maintained throughout the town from that time on. The troops now here are company H, from Decatur; company G, from Springfield, and company B, from Taylorville. The soldiers immediately began patrolling the streets throughout the entire city. Miners stood about in groups talking, but there was no outward manifestation of excitement, although it was evident that great indignation existed, especially among the townspeople, over the shooting of the citizen and woman.

Henry Stevens, a negro miner, who has long been considered a leader among his associates, is declared to have been the direct cause of the riot. It is said he was also the leader of the riot that occurred last September.

Stephens has long cherished hatred for Sheriff Downey and has openly made threats that he would kill him on sight. Sunday he was on the street with a revolver, saying he was looking for Sheriff Downey. He continued this yesterday, and Sheriff Downey came upon him on Locust street. The sheriff commanded Stephens to deliver the revolver, and told him he was under arrest for carrying concealed weapons. Stephens without a word instantly levelled his weapon and fired at the sheriff. The bullet went wild. The sheriff immediately opened fire on the negro. Deputy Sheriff Cheney, hearing the shooting, rushed to join Sheriff Downey.

Stevens took to his heels, and succeeded in gaining Penwell's general store in Locust street, the principal thoroughfare, two blocks distant, and took his stand in the entrance. He hesitated there an instant, and then stepped to the pavement, leveled his revolver down the street toward his approaching pursuer, and fired. The bullet missed the deputy sheriff and struck Xavier Lecocq, a Frenchman, who was standing in the entrance of a nearby saloon, squarely in the forehead, killing him instantly. Stevens then turned and ran into the Penwell store and sought refuge with men, all of whom bore weapons. Deputy Cheney dashed into the store, followed by Deputy Mulien and several citizens. A fusillade of bullets was poured into the store, and Stevens emptied his revolver at his assailants from behind the counter.

The infuriated crowd at the door continued the fire, and Stevens, seeing that death was inevitable if he remained behind the counter, made a desperate dash from his cover to a stairway in the rear of the store. He fell, pierced by six bullets, before he had gone 10 feet. One of the bullets had gone through his neck, another through his back and the other wounds were of a minor nature.

The firing stopped instantly, and Deputy Downey ran to the side of the wounded negro and placed him under arrest. Stevens, with blood pouring down his clothing, walked with his captor to a physician's office, where he was given medical attention. He was then taken to jail.

Meanwhile the riot was raging in the street. As soon as the first shot had been fired, the whistle of the electric light plant was blown as a signal for the citizens, the majority of whom had long ago been sworn as deputies, to turn out armed and ready to fight. At the same time the miners of the Pana and Penwell mines, which are located about four blocks from the Penwell store, which is in the center of the town, rushed into the tipples and opened fire on the thronged streets. The news that Stevens had been shot and arrested aroused them to a pitch of fury. They shot at any living mark in sight, and as a result, among their victims are three women, two of them white, wounded, and one negro woman dead.

Late last night Adjutant Rees ordered Captain Miller of company B, Bloomington, to report at Pana immediately to Colonel Culver with his entire command. The saloons were all closed in Pana immediately after the fighting and remained closed throughout the night. Coroner Bradley said at midnight that he had been told that the bodies of six more negroes had been found in the Flatham district. The coroner was unable to verify the rumor.

Governor Tanner has issued a proclamation declaring martial law here. The proclamation creates a district comprising the city of Pana and all territory within one mile thereof, and forbids the carrying of arms within such district.

Cuban Railway Strike.

Havana, April 11.—The strike on the united railroads is assuming a serious character. The number of strikers has been increased to 1600. A committee representing the strikers waited upon General Brooke yesterday, explaining their attitude. The general warned them not to disturb public order. The strikers will move the mails and American troops, but will not assist in the transportation of passengers or freight.

Holding Out For Demands.

Providence, April 11.—The striking weavers of the Arctic and Lippitt's mills held a mass meeting last evening, and unanimously voted not to return to work until their demands have been granted. Another meeting will be held Friday night. It is expected that the mills at Arctic and River Point will shut down tonight and remain closed until the weavers see fit to return. Up to the present time all departments except the weave room in these mills have been running on full time. The weavers at Natick also held a meeting last night and voted to remain out.

No Soldier Bartenders.

Washington, April 11.—The war department has issued the order to the commandants of all United States military posts to carry out the law of the last congress relative to the sale of intoxicants in canteens. The order is very long, as it recites the full text of the opinion of Attorney General Griggs, which opinion involves only a few changes in the present regulations governing the canteens. The only one of substance is that hereafter no officer or enlisted man, but only civilian employes, may dispense beer in the canteens.

An Important Arrest.

New York, April 11.—The police believe that an arrest made last Friday may help to throw light upon the mysterious Andrews fire. On that day a man who gave his name as Richard Cunningham was arrested as being a suspicious person. A diamond necklace, with a heart adorned with pearls, was found in his possession. It has since been found that this necklace was sold six months ago to Wallace C. Andrews for $3000. The police think Cunningham may possibly know something about the fire. So far the prisoner has revealed nothing.

Working Short-Handed.

Providence, April 11.—The cotton mills of the Warren Manufacturing company at Warren were started up yesterday, although but few of the strikers returned to work. The management will run the plant or parts of it as long as they can get the necessary help. The striking weavers held a meeting yesterday and voted to stay out. The management of the mill has again refused to reinstate the girl whose discharge brought on the strike.

May Result Fatally.

Lowell, Mass., April 11.—Mary McManus, who was wounded in a drunken brawl in a tenement house on Cross street Saturday evening and removed to St. John's hospital, is still in a critical condition. Her alleged assailant, Mary Gannon, was in the police court yesterday before Judge Haley, and she was committed in default of $1000 bail for her appearance before the court April 20.

Overrun With Outlaws.

Santiago, April 11.—The banditti question in this province is assuming much more serious proportions. In spite of the fact that there have been many arrests in the neighborhood of Sancti Spiritus, including the principal leaders, the number of outlaws is increasing instead of diminishing. The genderarmes are practically worthless unless they are with American troops.

Suicide In Prison.

Concord, N. H., April 11.—Herbert Clough of Portsmouth, who had served part of a 10-years' sentence in the New Hampshire state prison for felonious assault, committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat with a case knife. He was in his cell at the time, where he had been ordered by the prison physician on account of sickness.

Rise In Price of Stoves.

Chicago, April 11.—A general meeting of stove manufacturers, representing practically all the territory between New England and the Rocky mountains, was held yesterday to consider the advisability of advancing prices. It was decided to increase all prices 10 percent and to make the advance effective immediately.

Camp Wetherell Deserted.

Greenville, S. C., April 11.—The last volunteer left Camp Wetherell yesterday, when the Second West Virginia was mustered out. The men celebrated at a lively rate, but no serious trouble occurred, and the muster was without incident.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:08; sets, 6:22.
Moon sets—9:30 p. m.
High water—12:15 a. m.; 12:45 p. m.

Fair weather prevailed Monday in all districts, except along the north Pacific coast, where rain was reported. A marked rise in temperature occurred throughout the central valleys. The weather will continue fair in New England and with rising temperature. Along the Atlantic coast the winds will shift to southerly and increase in force.

Still Confined to Bed.

Washington, April 11.—Vice President Hobart continues to improve and his physicians says that he is gaining in strength. He is still confined to his bed, and visitors are not allowed to see him.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

John J. Olcott, vice president of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank of Albany, was found dead in bed in that city. For the last few days he had not been feeling well. He was 76 years of age.

Oscar Hammerstein, the theatrical manager, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $142,486; the assets were given as $200 worth of wearing apparel.

Richard A. Derrick, assistant finance clerk of the New York assembly, died of heart failure. He was an assemblyman in 1881 and took part in the Conkling fight.

The body of Bridget Barker, 35 years old, was found in the harbor at Lynn, Mass. Suicide or accidental drowning was the verdict of the medical examiner.

CANCER CURED
BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

GUILFORD TRIAL ENDS.

Accused Woman Pleads Guilty to the Charge of Manslaughter.

Sentenced to Ten Years In the State Prison.

Brief Story of One of the Most Sensational Cases in Connecticut's History.

Bridgport, Conn., April 12.—Dr. Nancy A. Guilford, who has been on trial in the superior court for the past three weeks on a charge alleging murder in the second degree in the killing of Emma Gill of Southington, by a criminal operation, today entered upon a 10 year's sentence at the state prison at Wethersfield. The close of the prison doors upon the noted midwife ended, as far as she is concerned, one of the most notable cases that ever came before the Fairfield county courts. The trial has not only attracted attention all over this country, but also abroad, from the finding of the dismembered body of Emma Gill in the Yellow Mill pond last September, and the long chase before Mrs. Guilford was arrested in London and extradited.

DR. NANCY GUILFORD.

Of the many surprising and unexpected developments since the case opened, however, probably nothing occasioned more surprise than its abrupt ending yesterday afternoon, when a plea of manslaughter was accepted by Judge Wheeler, who imposed the maximum prison penalty, with the minimum fine of $1 and costs. To the request of the counsel for the defense that clemency be granted, Judge Wheeler said that in accepting the plea for manslaughter he thought the court had shown sufficient clemency. The prisoner took her sentence calmly, and despite her impaired health, there was no scene. In a voice that had not the slightest tremor, she replied, in response to the court, "Guilty of manslaughter." She heard her sentence without faltering, and resumed her seat after the ordeal without the slightest evidence of emotion.

It was stated about the court at the close of the proceedings that the decision to offer a plea of manslaughter was opposed by Mrs. Guilford very strongly, and it was with reluctance that she finally consented. It came about after a series of conferences between State Attorney Fessenden and Mrs. Guilford, who was in the sheriff's office, through her attorneys, who were kept busy running too and fro for upwards of two hours in their efforts to arrange the matter. Were it not for the fact that Juror Gregory, who was taken ill last Wednesday, would not be able to again appear in court until some time in May, which would mean that the jury would have to be excused for at least four weeks, it is doubtful if the plea of manslaughter would have been entertained by the state. It is understood that the defendant was willing to plead guilty to that charge last week, but, in view of the later developments, and the possibility of not having a re-trial until after considerable delay, she was loth to concede to the suggestion.

The ghastly remains of the dismembered victim were discovered in the Yellow Mill pond on the evening of September 13 last, and the following morning Mrs. Guilford left Bridgeport, and was afterwards traced to Montreal, where she succeeded in eluding the officers, then to Liverpool and to London. She was extradited on the charge of murder in the second degree, and her trial was to have taken place in the January term of court, but was postponed, and when the case came up at the next term, Mrs. Guilford's illness necessitated a still further postponement. The state had about completed its case when one of the jurors was taken ill, which indicated the necessity of a retrial, and added greatly to the expense of what has already proved a very costly trial, as well as seriously inconveniencing the other business of the state, so that yesterday afternoon's denouement is quite gratifying.

Harry Oxley, Eudora Guilford, Harry Guilford and Rose Drayton, who are charged with manslaughter as accessories after the fact, will not be given a trial until the May term of the court.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 12.—The session of the senate yesterday was very short. The following bills were passed: Remitting the tax on deposit in the Hampshire Savings bank of Northampton, now in the hands of a receiver; authorizing the Norfolk Western street railway to carry merchandise, baggage and mail; authorizing the city of Everett to borrow $100,000 for school purposes.

No action was taken on the bill received back from the governor, limiting the term of the members of the board of registration in pharmacy. It is understood that the governor has made a request that certain amendments be made to the bill.

A substitute bill was admitted in the house restricting the Lawrence school committee in the selection of sites for school buildings in that city. The house passed a bill authorizing the town of Wareham to take land in the center of the town for a public park, as well as the bill extending the law providing for the extermination of railroad bridges to those of street railway companies. The resolve providing for suitable apparatus for the normal school in Lowell was also passed.

After a long debate the order for the introduction of the testimony of Secretary Beal of the Boston Transit company, made before the committee on street railways, on the use of the subway, was defeated. The action of the house is only one of the numerous phases of the contest over the relaying of the tracks on Tremont street, this city.

Got Away From Officer.

Gardiner, Me., April 12.—George Dryden, one of the young men supposed to have committed robbery at Mrs. Harmon's boarding house here, and who was arrested by the Lynn, Mass., officers from descriptions sent them by City Marshal Drake, arrived here Monday afternoon, consenting to accompany the officer without requisition papers. At a preliminary hearing yesterday he pleaded not guilty, and was bound over in the sum of $500 for trial at the superior court in Augusta. When the car on which the officer was conveying his prisoner stopped in front of the state house at Augusta, Dryden made a bolt for the door, and succeeded in getting away.

Had to Leave Her.

Boston, April 12.—Captain Swinebanks of the British steamer Recta, from Genoa, Italy, reports that on last Saturday night he sighted the steamer Silverdale, from Rotterdam for Philadelphia. The steamer's tail end shaft was broken, and her captain requested that he be towed to Bermuda, the nearest port, which was about 350 miles away. The Recta stood by her for eight hours, but she was finally obliged to abandon the Silverdale and resume her passage. The Recta's coal supply would not permit of her taking the vessel in tow.

Checks Missing.

Boston, April 12.—A valuable United States mail bag containing many large checks drawn by three Newport, R. I. banks, and payable to their Boston correspondents, has gone astray, and the postal authorities are unable to trace its whereabouts, although the pouch was lost between Boston and Newport. The amount of money represented in the missing mail bag is estimated at between $25,000 and $40,000. Payment on the checks was stopped by telegraph.

Held Up in Boston Street.

Boston, April 12.—Mrs. Annie Burgess was held up, brutally assaulted and robbed of $15 by an unknown negro, who attacked her in a populous quarter on Shawmut avenue early last evening. Mrs. Burgess was passing down the street with her pocketbook in her hand, when the negro jumped out at her and demanded her money. Upon her refusal he struck her on the head, and then snatching her pocketbook ran off. Mrs. Burgess received severe wounds.

Robbed a Church.

Boston, April 12.—William A. Doucette, pew rent collector and usher at St. Cecelia's church, pleaded guilty to the indictment charging him with embezzlement in the superior court yesterday and was sentenced by Judge Blodgett to the Massachusetts reformatory. Rev. Richard J. Barry testified that he thought something like $1000 had been taken.

Cloakmakers Strike.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 12.—Employes of Freedman Bros. Cloak Manufacturing company in this city, to the number of 60, went out on strike yesterday because of an alleged reduction in wages. The strikers allege that during the past two weeks the amount received for making a garment has been reduced from 60 cents to 35 cents.

Ran Over a Child.

Boston, April 12.—Martin Kelly was arrested last night on the charge of manslaughter. He was the driver of a wagon which ran over and killed 5-year-old John Maguire in East Boston.

Druggists Shut Out.

Lowell, Mass., April 12.—The police board last night voted not to grant licenses to sell intoxicating liquors to any druggist during the coming license year.

Difficulties Attend Taking Filipinos Into Service of the United States.

Washington, April 12.—Admiral Dewey has written the secretary of the navy as follows respecting the capabilities of the Filipinos:

"The good effects, politically, of taking the natives into the service of the government have been lost sight of, and from the first large numbers of them have been employed at the Cavite naval station as mechanics and laborers in coaling and in manning tugs and launches.

"I regret to state that the latter experiment has been only a partial success, as nearly all of the mechanics and laborers left on the outbreak of hostilities between the United States and the Filipinos, and are now believed to be in Filipino ranks. I am unable to state how much of this was due to intimidation and forcible impressment into the army by the so-called Filipino republic, but from the statements of some few who returned and from the fact that nearly all of those who live in the coal lighters and turrets, that is, under our immediate protection, have remained, it would appear that intimidation was a large factor in the disappearance of the workmen. It is well known that the Aguinaldo government is a severe military despotism.

"Although under the rule of the United States the character of the natives will certainly improve, a sudden change is not to be expected. A few of them might be employed on transports and vessels of that kind; indeed the Filipino quartermasters who have been serving on the Nanshan and Zafiro since the purchase of those vessels have always been satisfactory, but because of their long association with Americans and Englishmen they belong to a class apart from the great majority."

Agoncillo Again.

Paris, April 12.—In an interview in The Patrie, Agoncillo is quoted as saying: "The Americans have fully realized that they will never subdue the Filipinos, and that the policy of Major General Otis has completely failed. The Filipinos have resolved to defend themselves to the death. They have in their power 1500 American prisoners. The wet season is arriving, and fever will soon attack the American troops and disorganize them. During the enforced truce we, on the contrary, will increase the strength of our organization. The situation of the Filipinos, therefore, is far from desperate."

In Danger of Lynching.

South Charleston, O., April 12.—A tramp bent on robbery entered the home of Mrs. James Hutseler, on a farm near here, yesterday, and killed her in the presence of her children. The man was captured and hurried to the London jail to escape lynching.

Springfield, O., April 12.—The tramp who murdered Mrs. Hutseler was immediately taken from London to Washington Courthouse to escape would-be lynchers.

Directed at "Lawless" Clergy.

London, April 12.—After a long debate upon the alleged lawlessness of the ritualistic practices of the English Church union, comprising upwards of 4000 clergymen, the house of commons last evening adopted a resolution declaring that the house "deplores the spirit of lawlessness shown by certain members of the Church of England, and confidently hopes that the ministers of the crown will not recommend any clergyman for preferment unless satisfied that he will obey the bishops and the prayer book."

The Quay Trial.

Philadelphia, April 12.—In the trial of ex-Senator Quay yesterday his lawyers began what is regarded as the all important contention in their fight for his acquittal, namely, that the books of the broken People's bank are not competent testimony against the accused man and therefore should not be admitted in evidence. On the decision of this point rests the entire fabric of the prosecution's case. Should Judge Biddle decide the point well taken the commonwealth's case will necessarily collapse.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Moon sets—10:30 p. m.;

The temperature has moderated rapidly in the central valleys and the lake regions, and is above the seasonal average, except along the immediate Atlantic and gulf coasts. The weather will be more or less cloudy in the New England states, with conditions favorable for showers. Brisk and possibly high southerly winds will prevail along the middle Atlantic and New England coasts.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly," Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Thomas G. Shearman suggests local option in taxation—his idea being that some places would adopt the single tax if they could. Perhaps it would be a good thing. At any rate, it would be interesting.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ The Pennsylvania investigation continues to develop either damaging evidences of attempted bribery of legislators or a first class article of perjury. In a Senatorial contest like the one progressing in that State, which would appear to be the more reasonable construction to place on the testimony?—Lynn Item.

☞ It is the opinion of the most thoughtful business men in the country that the majority of the trusts now being organized have in themselves the elements of their own undoing. Over capitalization from which they will suffer will lead to their disorganization. Let us hope that this will prove true. When this comes about it will be a great relief to the people at large. —Beverly Times.

☞ It having been shown by the experiments of the Chicago packers that the embalming fluid in their business will make a beard grow upon beef why don't the barbers profit by the experiment and use the same fluid for making hair grow upon the bald heads of their patrons? The experiment is worth trying.—Barre (Vt.) Times.

Stoddard—Tilden.

The wedding of a Quincy young man and a Brockton young lady is reported by the Enterprise as follows:

A very quiet but exceedingly pretty wedding took place Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Tilden at 60 Elm avenue, when their daughter, Miss Ella Tilden, and Mr. Alexander Elliott Stoddard were united in the bonds of matrimony. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present.

The parlor where the ceremony took place was very tastefully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of roses, palms and ferns. The ceremony was performed while the young couple stood in the bow window surrounded by the floral embellishments. It was pefrormed by Rev. Rush R. Shippen, pastor of the Unity church, at 12 o'clock. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary Tilden, sister of the bride, who was also her attendant.

The bride was very charmingly dressed in a brown silk travelling dress, and looked exceedingly pretty. The ring service was used. At the conclusion of the ceremony and the congratulations of those present had been heartily accorded, all sat down to a wedding dinner. The dining room was also handsomely decorated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Tilden. Mr. Tilden is the well-known proprietor of the Tilden Tea store.

She but recently graduated from the High school, and has a great many dear friends in Brockton who will wish her every possible joy. The groom is the son of Mr. Elliott Stoddard of Quincy. He has recently left college and is now engaged in a manufacturing business in Boston with his father.

After the dinner they went direct to their handsome new home in Quincy, where they will reside. They were the recipients of a great many beautiful and useful remembrances.

OUR HOPES RAISED.

Quincy Boulevard Included in Report.

Legislative Committee Favor $300,000.

Considerable Credit Due Representative Sheppard.

The Committee on Metropoliran Affairs reported two bills to the Legislature today one for an appropriation of $300,000 under chapter 407, acts of 1893, the general park act relative to the taking of lands for park purposes, and another bill carrying an appropriation of $500,000 under the boulevard act, chapter 208, acts of 1895.

The latter amount includes $300,000 for the Quincy boulevard from Boston via Squantum and the Quincy bay to the Blue Hills reservation. The petition of Mayor Keith of Quincy called for an appropriation of $500,000 but if was not expected that the work would be undertaken this year. It is said the sum estimated to the engineers for the Quincy boulevard is $300,000.

Great credit is due Representative Sheppard for the favorable consideration of the Quincy boulevard. He has made it his special work to push it along, and what at the outset looked discouraging, has now brightened so that there is hope of success.

The petitions for parks and boulevards asked for $1,250,000. and have been scaled down to $800,000, so if Quincy gets $300,000 out of the $500,000 asked, it will be doing exceeding well.

Death of Col. Parker's Wife.

Mrs. Frances Stuart Parker, the wife of Col. F. W. Parker, the first superintendent of the public schools of Quincy, occurred last week at Chicago, after an illness of more than a year. The Sunday Inter Ocean said:

Mrs. Parker was born fifty-one years ago in Boston, and made a distinguished name in that city in the work of education before she was married to Colonel Parker in 1882. At that time she was teacher of elocution and Delsarte in the Boston University school of oratory and Boston school of oratory. As an exponent of Delsarte she was recognized as perhaps the best in America, and she made noteworthy contributions to the literature of the subject.

Colonel Parker was, at the time of his marriage to Frances Stuart, supervisor of public schools in Boston, and he and his wife worked together in the Martha's Vineyard summer schools. Since coming West Mrs. Parker took the keenest interest in all the educational work in which her husband is engaged, and together they lectured from the same platform in as many as thirty states. A favorite subject with Mrs. Parker was that of dress reform in which she was associated with Miss Jenness Miller. She was the authoress of a brochure on dress reform, entitled "Dress and How to Improve It."

Mrs. Parker was a very successful lecturer, largely owing to the charm of a fine, thoroughly trained voice. She was a member of the Chicago woman's club and the first chairman of its educational committee. She was president of the Political Equality league of women and the first president of the Englewood woman's club. She was likewise a member of the Chicago Fortnightly club. Mrs. Parker's two daughters are Mrs. T. L. Shepherd of Brookline and Mrs. George Rolfe of Cambridge.

Young Man Pinned.

James Hayes, a young man employed as a tip cart driver, met with a painful accident Tuesday afternoon at F. Hardwick & Son's quarry. The young man was in the act of dumping his load, and had just rasied the cart when the horses started causing the cart to be thrown back with sufficient force to drive the pin which holds it through his hand causing a serious wound. He was taken to the City Hospital.

Old Dr. Sweet,

Whose name is a household word the world over, is creating a great sensation at Hotel Belmont, Brockton. The local papers are teeming with the record of his wonderful cures until his spacious apartments are unable to contain the throng that besiege his doors. The crowds are increasing to such an extent that the doctor has remained at that point eight months. Nothing like it in the annals of Brockton. The distinguished doctor will remain in Brockton all of this week and next week. Lameness and all manner of obscure chronic diseases cured after all others fail. See announcement in another column.

HAD A CLOSE CALL.

But F. A. Tupper Will be High School Master of Boston.

Mr. F. A. Tupper, head master of the Quincy High school, was elected master of the Brighton High school at the meeting of the School Committee of Boston Tuesday eveinng. There was considerable opposition over the matter and it took two ballots to elect him. The matter was brought up by Mr. Calderwood who moved that the chair proceed to ballot for master of the Brighton High school.

Mr Strange moved to amend by referring the matter back to the superintendent with instructions to bring in a candidate from among the masters of the Boston schools.

Mr. Calderwood raised the point of order that the superintendent had already presented a candidate.

President Huggan decided the point well taken.

Mr. Strange appealed from the decision. The chair was sustained by this yea and nay vote: Yea—Aldrich, Anderson, Bateman, Bennett, Bowdlear, Burrill, Calderwood, Coolidge, Courtney, Fifield, Fleischer, Keller, Merritt—13.

Nay—Berridge, Brett, Campbell, Davison Gallivan Kenney McDonald, McDonough, Nichols, Strange—10.

Mr. Calderwood's motion was then adopted, and the board proceeded to ballot.

First ballot—Whole number of votes 24, necessary for a choice 13.

Second ballot—Perkins 1, Small 10, Tupper 13.

Frederic A. Tupper was declared elected master of the Brighton High school.

ALL VOTED DOWN.

United Presbyterian Presbytery Act on Tobacco.

At the afternoon session of the United Presbyterian presbytery the five overtures from the General Assembly were taken up, discussed and acted upon. These were as follows:

That the use of tobacco was sinful.

The sentiment against this was very decided, and although one gentleman spoke in favor the vote was unanimous against it. The sentiment expressed was that the overture was too broad as its adoptions would mean that tobbcco could be used in a thousand ways.

The second overture was: That the use of tobacco be made a term of communion. This was also rejected unanimously.

That no licentates or elders be ordained to office who refuse to give up the use of tobacco. This was defeated by a vote of 17 to 4.

Fourth: That no young man could be licensed without a recommendation from some of the professors in our own schools.

This created quite a discussion, it being claimed that by its adoption a young man must attend the schools of the Presbytery; that if, as it were possible, a young man found other professors outside of the Presbytery schools that were more able he would be obliged to attend the possible inferior school. Then again this gave the professors power in case tobacco was used by the applicant to refuse the license. This was defeated by a vote of 19 to 2.

The last was that every person be pledged to proportionate and systematic giving before he can become a member.

Under this it was claimed that some believed that a man should give one-tenth of what he earned, and if this overture was passed these who thus believed would take it that the Boston Presbytery were in favor of the tithe giving and could use it as a handle in the future.

This was rejected unanimously.

For entertainment at the recess hour, Rev. Mr. Dornan introduced G. V. Bowditch, Esq., as a descendant of the historic Doctor Galen. After his hearty turkey dinner Galen was equal to the occasion, and what the reverend gentlemen did not know about the only Galen, the Bible, and Quincy, they were soon informed.

Mr. Bowditch did not know as he could claim descent from Dr. Galen, but he had lived a good many years and had not seen a doctor for sixty years. He said Quincy was noted as the birthplace of other great men including two presidents, a governor, a congressman, an ambassador to Great Britain, etc. Some one asked who the Presidents were and he promptly answered John and John Quincy Adams and tried to tell how they were related to Mayor Quincy of Boston and the Adamses of today.

Quincy was also noted for its granite he said. Some one asked how old that was, and Galen said it was before the time of the ark. He did not know as the ark rested on Mt. Ararat of Quincy, but we had a Mt. Ararat, and he was confident that if the ark ever rested on the top it would never have got down.

He was pleased to dine with such a distinguished gathering, and had enjoyed the dinner hugely. He felt obliged to leave before the doxology, because of business, so he put an orange in his pocket for the boys and graciously retired before the feast was over.

SOLDIERS MISSED.

The Greenville News Pays Them a Tribute.

The following editorial from the Sunday News of Greenville, S. C., will be read with interest by Co. C, and Quincy people:

They are going. In a few days we will miss the blue uniforms, the white and gold shoulder straps, the striped legs and the ceaseless clump, clump, clump of the boys marching in army shoes that have made our streets pictures of busy life and movement and given us charming color schemes.

And we will miss them everywhere because they have permeated and saturated the community everywhere. They were of all grades, ranks, styles and varieties, and they could do everything. All the infinite variations and interests, accomplishments, vices, virtues, knowledge, talent and genius of the infinitely various American life were here. From the sodden and hopeless blackguard to the cavalier and gentleman without fear or reproach, from the wildest of rakes and scapegraces and the most frivolous of jesters and squires of dames to the most solid and solemn and circumspect of elders and deacons—we had them all. No matter what we wanted, there was always a soldier on hand to meet the emergency. They could make anything or do anything. They were preachers and ostlers, lawyers and horse doctors, journalists engineers, machinists, mechanics of all trades, money lenders and money borrowers, society pets from half a dozen States pugilists, actors, singers, musicians—everything. From cracking a safe to preaching a sermon, from lending a hand in a gambling place in a rush time to officiating as altar boy or singing in the choir, from driving a four mule team to supervising the decorations of a social function or leading the german—they were in everything.

And therefore we shall miss them everywhere, in every department of our life, in highest and lowest and all the intervening degrees. And therefore we are sorry, sorry to see them go. They have made things lively; they have given us fun and interest and business.

We shall miss the clump, clump of the regulation shoes on the sidewalks, the endless varieties of faces under old regulation hats, the clank, clank of swords, the dingling of spurs and the unceasing patter of the hoofs of horses and the rumble of army wagons, the steady swelling strains of brass bands and all the pomp and circumstance of glorious war. For us farewell the plumed troops and the big wars, the neighing steed and the shrill trump, the spirit-stirring drum, the ear piercing fife, the royal banner and the rest of it, to quote casually the language of the late but not recent W. Shakespeare. All are going. We are to be left to civilian clothes and a military parade once or haply twice a year for a glimpse of brass buttons and a sound of martial music—we who have been considering buttons and hearing music and watching flags fly until our heads swam during five months.

Good boys, bully boys, you sturdy, strong bodied, masculine, virile, fighting representatives of the fight and strength and courage and multifarious variety of the great American people, goodbye. You will leave only the hospital corps and that will help for a time. Good luck go with you. We have learned to know you but not to fear you, as your foes do. Greenville has never seen the time when the soldiers worried or frightened her. The people of the city have felt that the men were their guests and entitled to the latitude of guests. When that latitude has been exceeded—as it very rarely has—the soldiers have usually had the worst of it, this being distinctly not a tenderfoot town easily demoralizd.

They are going and we are sorry—all of us are —men, women and children. We shall miss them sorely. We are glad they came; we would be glad to have 10,000 of them here the next ten years. May health, happiness and prosperity attend them all from Massachusetts to Missouri including the middle States and West Virginia contingent. They have taught us much, maybe we have taught them something and all of us have learned to know each other better, to understand better what this magnificent republic is, to feel closer together, to lift our hats to the flag as it goes by with a prouder, clearer, better understanding of the glorious and enormous force for good, the wonderful strength and the masterful free people governing themselves it represents. We are all better Americans than we were last year because we have seen more of Americans, most of us, than we ever did before and have learned what a splendid people we are on every part of this continent.

Goodbye, you good West Virginia boys, last of all to go, sharing the supreme affections of this community with the yankee dandy 5th Massachusetts. You two regiments did not love each other, but we who were impartial could see the beauties and virtues in both of you. You are all good Americans, stalwart, sturdy representatives of the best manhood and the special local ideas of your states. If there had been need we know you would have burst your respective hearts out trying to see which could carry the flag furthest up a hill against a hail of hostile bullets just as the Old Virginians and North Carolinians did at Gettysburg—they have been quarrelling now thirty odd years over which State left its dead closest to the federal cannon and it is only a matter of a few yards because both were practically wiped out. We are a fighting people all through we Americans, which is the truth, and may the Lord have mercy on whoever gets in our way.

Goodbye boys — you half tamed youngsters from the Hatfield-McCoy clans of West Virginia and Kentucky who came out to fight with the jewelry maker from Attleboro, Mass., and the disciple of the occult from Beacon Hill, Boston. You will bear our benison with you. Go home prouder, better, and broader Americans. Tell your mountaineer people of the comrades you met from Massachusetts and South Carolina, from the ice line to the rice line.

And Greenville, missing the soldiers, looking on darkened and comparatively deserted streets—if she objects to looking and feeling like thirty cents, let her people move. An electric street railway line, a modern opera house and a hotel which will hold its own with the best are her hopes. All these can be accomplished by September and we can be kept alive, moving and hopeful if each man of us here will do his full and honest part in building, pushing and developing the town.

KAUTZ IS ENDORSED

Until Found to Have Acted Wrongly In Dealing With the Samoans.

Alleged Attitude of Germany Arouses Some Feeling.

Official Says She Has Shown Too Great a Desire to Boss the Job.

Washington, April 12.—As it has been strongly intimated in the Berlin dispatches that the German government was about to make a demand for a disavowal of Admiral Kautz's actions, it may be stated that our government will certainly not accede to any such request in advance of a full knowledge of all the facts in the case and a conviction that the admiral acted wrongly, the presumption always being that our officers have acted with due propriety until the contrary is shown to be the case.

If Admiral Kautz found Mataafa, the self-constituted king, with his 13 chiefs, dominating the affairs of the island, involving the suspension of the functions of the supreme court and of the municipal council, formally and duly established by treaty, then it was his duty, according to the state department, to bring the conditions at once into conformity with the treaty. If this involved the dissolution of the provisional government there can be no legal complaint, it is said, by any one of the three treaty powers who have bound themselves to carry out and maintain the treaty of Berlin.

The fact that the three consuls at Apia, in a moment of excitement, sanctioned the establishment of the provisional government, though regretted here, is not regarded as affecting the merit of the American and British contentions, as these three officials, it is held, had no right to do anything in contravention of the treaty, such as was involved in the suspension of part of the machinery of the government provided for by that convention.

The alleged attitude of Germany in the Samoan matter in declining to appoint a commissioner unless the explanations to her should be forthcoming has aroused some feeling at the state department.

"Germany's attitude is insupportable," said a high official; "from the beginning she has shown a desire to boss the job. America owes her no explanation, either now or in the future. Her representatives have been responsible for the trouble, and if any explanations are due, they are due from Germany.

"She insists on unanimity of action by the commission. That would mean a deadlock sure. What would be the use in sending a commission all the way to Samoa when we know in advance that they will not be able to agree on anything?"

Easier Than Killing.

Washington, April 12.—The incoming mails from Manila bring many queer stories of events connected with the war now in progress between the United States troops and the insurgents. When McArthur led the first onslaught to the north upon the insurgent stronghold, the United States military commanders were amazed at the extent of the looting practices by the non-combatants. The Chinese took a leading part in this looting, beginning it before the retreating insurgent forces were fairly out of a town. They apparently had no conception of the enormity of their offense, and it had been reluctantly concluded to shoot some of these Chinese looters for the sake of example, when a young officer cut off the queues of a half dozen Chinese who had been taken red-handed, and looting stopped and the Chinese disappeared as if by magic from the whole province.

A Tip For Torres.

Washington, April 12.—After mature consideration of the position assumed by the Nicaraguan government in the matter of the re-collection of taxes already paid by the American merchants at Bluefields, the state department has seen no reason to modify its original conclusion, that General Torres' practice is clearly illegal, and in derogation of the rights of these American merchants. Therefore a strong instruction was addressed yesterday to United States Minister Merry, to be presented to the Nicaraguan government, looking to the discontinuance of the practice.

Farming Operations Delayed.

Washington, April 12.—The weekly crop report of the weather bureau says: The season is unusually late in all districts east of the Rocky mountains, except over southern and western Texas. From the middle Rocky mountain region eastward to the Atlantic coast the season is variously estimated to be from two to four weeks late, and as a result farming operations are much delayed. Over the central and eastern portions of the cotton region but little cotton has been planted. Some of the early planted cotton was killed by recent frosts in Texas.

Nothing Sensational.

Washington, April 12.—Major General Shafter was the principal witness before the beef inquiry board yesterday. His statement differed little from his testimony before the war investigating commission. He admitted that he had never heard of canned roast beef before the war. Some of the Pennsylvania volunteers gave direct testimony as to the tainted character of the refrigerated beef and the canned roast beef.

Shafter's Estimate.

Washington, April 12.—Discussing the Philippines, General Shafter said last night: "General Lawton and his men are achieving much success so far as they go. The fighting against the Filipinos, however, is like the brushing away of flies, the moment the brushing is stopped they come back. The Filipinos are bound to give in eventually, but I believe it is a more serious task to subdue them than most people think."

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

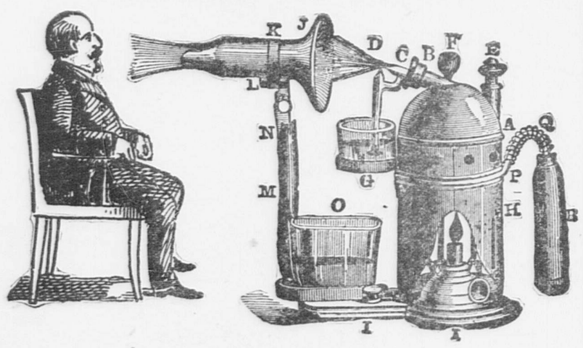

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

BOSTON ENGAGEMENT begins at 301 Shawmut Avenue, cor. Waltham Street, on MONDAY, April 24th. Come early and avoid the crowd. Consultation Free. apr7-1y

FRIENDS ONCE MORE,

Condition of War Between United States and Spain Terminated.

Pledge of Friendship Between the Two Nations.

How President's Peace Proclamation Affects the Volunteer Army.

Washington, April 12.—Peace again has unfurled her white wings over America and Spain, after exactly a single year of technical hostilities.

President McKinley yesterday issued the following proclamation:

"Whereas, a treaty of peace between the United States of America and her majesty, the Queen Regent of Spain, in the name of her august son, Don Alfonso XIII, was concluded and signed by their respective plenipotentiaries at Paris on the tenth day of December, 1898, the original of which convention, being in the English and Spanish languages, is word for word as follows:" (Here full text of treaty is included).

"And, whereas, the said convention has been duly ratified on both parts, and the ratifications of the two governments were exchanged in the city of Washington, on the eleventh day of April, 1899;

"Now, therefore, be it known, that I, William McKinley, President of the United States of America, have caused the said convention to be made public, to the end that the same and every article and clause thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this eleventh day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty third."

The condition of war terminated when the last formalities in the restoration of peace were performed by the exchange of ratifications of the peace treaty. The appointment of Bellamy Storer was determined upon as United States minister to Spain.

BELLAMY STORER.

The principal ceremony of the day occurred in the reception room at the White House. In anticipation of the historic character of the event, many members of the cabinet and officials prominent in the administration gathered at the White House.

Shortly before 3 o'clock, French Ambassador Cambon arrived, in company with Mr. Thiebaut, the first secretary of the embassy, the latter bearing the Spanish copy of the peace treaty. Mr. McKinley cordially greeted the ambassador, and, after a brief exchange of well wishes, the formal ceremony began. The president stood back of the large desk presented to the government by Queen Victoria, while Secretary Hay and Ambassador Cambon occupied places at the desk. Around this central group were ranged the cabinet officers and others already mentioned, and officials of the household. The powers of Messrs Cambon and Hay were examined, a protocol concerning the day's ceremony signed, and other formalities concluded.

The signing of the protocol of exchange occurred at 3:28 p. m., Ambassador Cambon signing for Spain and Secretary Hay for the United States. The protocol was in French, and briefly recited the circumstances leading up to the exchange. This cleared the way for the exchange itself, constituting the final act.

The president took from the desk the American copy of the treaty, handsomely engrossed, bound in dark blue Morocco, and encased in a black Morocco portfolio, and handed it to Mr. Cambon. At the same time Mr. Cambon handed to the president the Spanish copy of the treaty, also engrossed, bound in Morocco, and encased in a maroon colored Morocco box. There were deferential bows as each received from the other this final pledge of peace. This exchange of ratifications occurred at 3:35 p. m. The president was the first to speak.

"Mr. Ambassador," said he, "I will issue my proclamation at once."

Mr. Cambon thanked the president for the promptness with which the proclamation followed. This ended the formal ceremony, and, after brief felicitations, the ambassador and other officials withdrew.

Secretary Hay took with him the Spanish copy of the treaty received, and deposited it in the archives of the state department. Mr. Cambon cabled the Spanish government of the final restoration of peace, and made known that the American copy of the treaty would be forwarded through the French foreign office. The effect of the action taken yesterday is to completely renew the peaceful relations, trade, official, diplomatic, consular and in all other ways, between this country and Spain.

Bellamy Storer is 52 years of age, and was born in Cincinnati. He graduated from Harvard in 1867, and two years later from the law school of Cincinnati college. He was admitted to the bar in the same year, and until he entered public life as a member of the Fifty-second congress from the First Ohio district, gave his time to the pursuit of his profession. He was re-elected to the Fifty-third congress, and was a member of the foreign affairs committee. During his service in the house of representatives he took an active part in the matters pertaining to foreign relations, and was an ardent supporter of civil service reform. He is a man of large private means.

Mr. Storer's selection for the Madrid mission is a distinct promotion in the diplomatic line. The difference in compensation is not considerable, but the new minister to Madrid will have very important duties to perform, including the early negotiation of a general treaty of trade and commerce. Mrs. Storer is a Catholic.

It is assumed here that Duc D'Arcos, late Spanish minister to Mexico, will be named as minister to Washington, and the officials sincerely hope that this will be done, a very favorable opinion of him being held here.

Law officers of the government are discussing, in the light of the president's peace proclamation, the question of mustering out the volunteer army. It is agreed that the law will be construed to mean that the muster out of the troops shall be upon orders of the executive, and that, necessarily, there must be a delay of a month or so in the discharge of the volunteers. Meantime they will receive their pay and allowances.

In accordance with precedent, established at the close of the Civil war, a few of the volunteer organizations may be retained in the service for some time, although those who desire to return home will be permitted to do so.

The law authorities hold that in order that the volunteers in the Philippines may remain in the service, in accordance with the provisions of the army law passed by the last congress, they must re-enlist, not as an organization, but as individuals. The organizations and the individuals who choose to go with them must be mustered out in this country. These individual volunteers who re-enlist in the Philippines will receive, not only two months' extra pay, provided for on their discharge from the army, but also travel pay from this country to the Philippines and return, amounting to about $500. The war officials have decided that it would be more desirable to take a trained soldier in the Philippines than to send that soldier home and return a raw recruit.

If the applications for discharges are any criterion, it is evident that the volunteers in the Philippines are not anxious to remain, and will take advantage of the law to demand their muster out. The effect of the proclamation, declaring peace will be felt by the enlisted men in the regular army to the extent of a reduction of 20 percent in pay.

For Municipal Gas.

New York, April 12.—Mayor Van Wyck sent a message to the municipal assembly in which he said: "It is in the interest of the city of New York that the municipality should establish and maintain a plant for supplying gas, both to the city and its inhabitants. Municipal ownership of gas plants is not a matter of experiment. Such plants are in successful operation in cities in this country and in Europe. I am credibly informed that such a plant can be maintained so as to yield a handsome profit to the city, and at the same time supply gas to the public at a rate of about 70 cents per thousand feet. Legislative authority is necessary to enable the city to establish and carry on such a gas plant."

Prisoners Had Snaps.

Albany, April 12.—Attorney General Davies holds in an opinion that Superintendent Brockway of the Elmira reformatory has no right to employ and pay salaries to paroled prisoners at that institution. Superintendent Brockway has employed a number of these prisoners, and it is said that they were retained at salaries ranging from $30 to $100 per month. Comptroller Morgan doubted the legality of such employment, and held that he had no right to pay for the services rendered. He submitted the matter to the attorney general, who has rendered an opinion.

Gatling Gun on Hand.

Pana, Ills., April 12.—The presence of four companies of the Fifth regiment with a Gatling gun has had a salutary effect and Monday's scenes of bloodshed and riots have been followed by uneventful quiet. Operations at the three mines were resumed today. The number of dead remains at seven. Of the dozen or more citizens and miners injured the condition of two is pronounced critical.

A Mediterranean Disaster.

Malta, April 12.—The British steamer Kingswell, Captain Humphreys, arrived here yesterday and reports being in collision with the Greek coaster Maria in the Mediterranean, off the coast of Tripoli. The Maria was sunk, 45 persons going down with her. The Kingswell was uninjured.

Near Clear Water.

Halifax, April 12.—The Canadian liner Gaspesia is at last, with the assistance of the sealing steamer Kite, making her escape from the gulf of St. Lawrence ice. She was sighted yesterday, 45 miles northeast of Meat Cove, C. B., and is now not many miles from clear water.

Four Lives Lost.

New York, April 12. — Four lives were lost shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by an accident on the bridge across the Harlem river at One Hundred and Thirty-second street, which was in the course of construction. The victims were all workmen.

Can't Hold Morphy.

Washington, April 12.—The state department finds itself unable to surrender to the Mexican authorities Santiago Morphy, the embezzling employe of the Mexican National bank, now held under arrest in Kansas City. Morphy will probably be discharged.

Condition Still Serious.

Washington, April 12.—It was stated at the vice president's residence last evening that Mr. Hobart had shown improvement yesterday, sitting up for a while and appearing very cheerful. At the same time his condition is serious.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, Safe but Effectual Cure for it.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable.

The usual symptoms are a full bloated sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the lungs and heart and difficult breathing; headache, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out and languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue, and if the interior of stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate disease is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily and thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach.

To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do, and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastrse, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids.

These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and, not being a patent medicine, can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, of 2710 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom, passing back into the throat, reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me three years for catarrh of the stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I can not find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Send for book, mailed free, on stomach troubles, by addressing the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

AN ALLIANCE.

Germans Suspicious of Anglo-Americans.

Washington Officials Were Worried Over Samoa.

Now Believe Situation Will Yield to Cool Treatment.

British Foreign Office Disappointed at the Latest Outbreak.

Germany Wants "Necessary Guarantees of Respect" For Her Treaty Rights.

Washington, April 13.—Both the British and German embassies here last night received long cablegrams from their foreign offices, reporting on the developments in Samoa. That from London was from the British consul at Apia, and said that the casualties were one British officer killed and two or three American officers killed and five American sailors wounded, with two English sailors wounded. The purport of the German dispatch is not known. It reached here about 8 o'clock, and took an hour and a half to decipher.

The dispatch to the British embassy was in the main a confirmation of the facts given in the Associated Press dispatches. It was conservative in tone. One point of significance to the embassy was the fact that it apparently contradicted a published report of a large number of casualties on the side of the joint American-English forces. Another important point was that it announced only one British officer killed.

The action of Great Britain in ordering two more warships to Samoa attracted considerable attention, and it was stated that if the British ships are so reinforced, Germany would take similar steps and augment her naval representation in those waters to meet any possible contingency. So far, however, no action looking to reinforcing the United States naval forces there has been taken. The view is held in German circles that much of the delay in settling the Samoan troubles, as well as the grave aspect the matter has assumed, is due to a desire on the part of Great Britain to bring about an alliance with the United States.

The acute situation in Samoa gave rise to grave apprehension among United States officials early yesterday, but the conclusion was reached, as the departments closed, that the situation is one that will yield to sensible and cool treatment, if all the parties to the Berlin treaty are sincere in an effort to prevent further trouble. As put by a cabinet officer, the killing of the sailors has not materially changed the general problem, though it has undoubtedly added to the difficulty of dealing with the specific situation.

The only official news received touching the last incident was contained in Admiral Kautz's cablegram. The secretary said that no additional instructions were to be sent by him to the admiral. The secretary of state, however, has been told that he is at liberty to forward any instructions to the admiral that he may deem necessary, but that if he concludes to do so, he must act immediately, as the mail steamer leaves the nearest cable point for Apia today.

The Philadelphia was shorthanded for officers before the loss of Lieutenant Lansdale and Ensign Monaghan, and the department yesterday promptly sent telegraphic orders to Mare island to dispatch some officers to recruit the force. Lieutenant Scheutze goes out as executive officer, with Lieutenant W. S. Hughes, Lieutenant Schofield and Lieutenant Hetherington. Surgeon Steel is ordered from the New York navy yard to the Philadelphia. All of these officers are expected to take the mail steamer of the 19th inst. for Apia.

The diplomatic negotiations of the day were not directed particularly to the encounter, as the official information is too meager thus far to warrant positive official action. There were many inquiries, however, and the state department and the British and German embassies exchanged such advices as they had on the subject. In the main the diplomatic negotiations continued to center around the high commission. On this subject a breach is gradually opening between Great Britain and Germany because of the refusal of Great Britain to have the commission leave San Francisco on the 19th.

While the Germans are anxious and our officials are willing that the start should be made on the 19th, Great Britain insists on proceeding with deliberation, allowing full time for instructions to the British commander by mail and not by cable. This, of course, would make it impossible for the commission to leave in a body this month. To overcome this stand by the British foreign office a suggestion has been made that the appointment of an umpire, which is one of the points still in dispute, be settled after the commissioners start. If this is agreed to the commission can get away, though with some branches of its instructions incomplete. The remaining features, including that as to how a decision shall be made, and in what case an umpire shall be called in, would be forwarded to them later. In the meantime they could be making their preliminary examinations, the final decisions being reserved until complete instructions were in hand. This German proposal does not meet with favor among the British officials, who have determined that the British commissioner, Mr. Eliot, shall not leave until his functions can be exactly defined.

Rose Was Too Hasty.

London, April 13.—The outbreak in Samoa, just when the powers had agreed upon the appointment of a commission to settle the difficulties there, has caused great annoyance and disappointment at the foreign office here, where it is regarded as making the already serious complications still graver. While they have difficulty in expressing a definite opinion upon the fresh developments, it is acknowledged that the foreign office officials think it has been manifested that there has been hasty and aggressive action upon the part of German Consul Rose. Although he may have many technical reasons for the part he has played in behalf of German interests, it is asserted that he has been the prime cause of the fresh outbreak, which, it is added, will necessarily greatly embarrass the endeavors which the three powers are making to restore a satisfactory and amicable state of affairs.

The foreign office officials appear to think that it was obviously the duty of the three consuls to uphold the decision of the supreme court, which, according to the telegrams received, decided to reinstate Tanus in place of the provisional government, and that the action of Herr Rose in issuing a counter-proclamation supporting the rebellious faction could not but have a disastrous effect, as shown by the fighting described in yesterday's dispatches.

Further, the officials of the foreign office think it impossible to say to a certainty how events will devvelop, but they are of the opinion that it is high time the commissioners got to work, in order to settle once for all the deplorable state of affairs which has arisen in Samoa.

Germany's Attitude.

Berlin, April 13.—The semi-official North German Gazette confirms the statement made by The Neuesten Nachrichten to the effect that the German representative on the Samoan commission will be appointed only when Great Britain shall have given the necessary guarantees to insure respect for German treaty rights, and adds that it has reason to know the German government has asked for a definite statement as to the position of the British government towards the Samoan treaty.

An official dispatch from Apia, dated April 5, says:

"The British have been bombarding a Samoan village daily, and the adherents of both Tanu and Mataafa are plundering foreign property. On April 1 an Anglo-American party of 70 men fell into an ambuscade near Vailele. Three officers were killed and two light guns were captured. The warships afterwards renewed the bombardment."

The officials here point out that the engagement appears to have occurred at the same place that a landing party from the German warships Olga, Eber and Adler had an encounter with the natives in 1888.

With Precious Cargo.

Sydney, N. S. W., April 13.—The British steamer Noana, Captain Carrey, which sailed from this port yesterday for San Francisco, carried £150,000 ($750,000).

VETERANS IN A DEADLOCK.

Colonel Johnson of Cincinnati Will Remain at the Head of the Grand Army.

Philadelphia, April 13.—The executive committee of the national council of administration of the Grand Army of the Republic held two sessions here yesterday for the purpose of electing a commander-in-chief to fill the vacancy caused by the death of General Sexton.

There was no election. Both sessions were executive, but it was stated that there was a deadlock on the names of Colonel W. C. Johnson of Cincinnati, senior vice commander-in-chief, and General John C. Black of Chicago, commander of the department of Illinois. After the meeting the only official announcement made was the result and the following resolution, which it was stated was adopted:

"Whereas, for the first time in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic the commander-in-chief has died while in office; therefore be it

"Resolved, that as a mark of respect to the memory of James A. Sexton, the late commander-in-chief, the senior vice commander-in-chief shall continue to perform the duties of commander-in-chief, and the office of commander-in-chief shall remain without an incumbent until the meeting of the 33rd national encampment."

Grand Army men here dispute the right of the executive committee to elect a commander-in-chief.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 13.—Senator Parsons yesterday asked the senate to give the bill to reorganize the Boston school board a reading, and leave the discussion of its merits to the engrossment stage, as it is so intricate a matter. The bill was ordered to a third reading.

Bills were engrossed to authorize Fitchburg to construct a hospital building outside the debt limit; to authorize Wellesley to borrow money for park purposes; to establish a fire department in Nantucket. The judiciary committee reported a bill to give the supreme or superior court jurisdiction in equity to restrain the erection of unauthorized structures in cities and towns.

The ways and means committee reported a bill to raise the salaries of the justice and clerk of the Fitchburg police court, agreeing to the increase of the judge's salary to $1800, but striking out all reference to the salary of the clerk. The same committee reported the bill to appropriate the sum of $18,000 for the Lowell textile school, with an amendment that pupils from without the state shall be charged $200 tuition instead of $150.

The committee on manufactures reported a bill on the recommendation of the gas and electric light commissioners, giving that body $3000 for general expenses and $3500 for clerical assistance. The effect of the bill is to increase the compensation of the clerk of the board $500.

The following bills were passed by the house: Restricting the amount of land to be taken by towns and cities for public buildings to one acre; providing for a practice school at the normal school at Westfield; defining the powers of school committees-at-large regarding the selection of sites for schoolhouses; providing for a practice school at the normal school at Fitchburg.

The committee on mercantile affairs reported a bill requiring a license for all persons operating steam boilers.

The joint judiciary committee reported adversely on a bill amending the employers' liability act to the effect that the deceased person whose death is the basis of action shall be presumed to have been in the exercise of due care unless the contrary is shown; on a bill providing that an employe shall not be held to have voluntarily assumed risk of danger arising from his employment; and on a bill to provide that the breaking or failure to operate of any coupler, link, pin or attachment used upon railroads shall be deemed prima facie evidence of neglect on the part of the railroad corporation against whom suit is brought.

The committee on ways and means reported a $12,000 appropriation for a cold storage building at the insane asylum at Northampton.

The committee on cities reported a bill extending the provisions of the act concerning the fire limits of Boston to the entire city.

The committee on mercantile affairs asked for further instructions as to the investigation of state ownership of telegraph and telephone companies, as the subject was one requiring exhaustive investigation.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Reguiarly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

The leading railroads centering in New York almost entirely use Chilton Paint. Chemists acknowledge its superiority and the practical painter appreciates that theory and practice in this case do not disagree.

These great corporations want the most durable article because they cannot afford to often stop their cars for the purposes of repainting.

Some railroads go even so far as to specify when having cars built that Chilton Paint, and only Chilton Paint, shall be used upon them, and bridge engineers often specify that bridges shall be painted only with Chilton Paint. If these great corporations, who make a study of economical methods and materials, use Chilton Paint, can you afford not to profit by their experience?

Good Afternoon.

The Dedham boulevard was not included in the general boulevard bill of $500,000, but Representative Neal had his bill included in the House, which voted 43 to 30. Other amendments like this may kill all the measures.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Not the man who talks, but the one who achieves, not the theorist who is constantly promoting the latest political novelty, but the steady-going, practical, sane helper of humanity who does things that help his town, state, nation and the world—this is the man who abides. He may not always be popular, but he will be honored, and what is as valuable as the respect and gratitude of one's own and future generations?—Beverly Times.

☞ The whole question of the valmor menace of the millionaire to society is stated in a nutshell by the Conservative: "The man who has a million of dollars and good business sense is a benefit to any community. But the man whom a million dollars own, control and warp is a detriment. It is one thing to have a citizen who owns a million dollars and works them, and quite another to have one whom the million dollars own, control and work.—Beverly Times.

☞ In Boston the police will begin at once to enforce the health regulations against expectoration in public places, which habit has been carried on by persons of filthy habits until it has become intolerable to every sense of decent people. It is hoped that the time has forever gone when foul hawkers and chewers of tobacco will be permitted to make spittoons of the floors of street cars, steam cars, public halls and sidewalks, so disgusting to every well-bred person. — Malden News.

☞ Massachusetts no-license cities and towns are to have their wishes respected as expressed by the ballot, and no longer need fear the setting up of the South Carolina dispensary on the Prohibition soil of this Commonwealth. Spiritus frumenti for "medicinal or mechanical purposes or for use in the arts" will have to be procured in the same old way.—Lynn Item.

State Pay for Soldiers.

There were a number of soldiers at the State Treasurer's department, Wednesday, most of them 5th Massachusetts men, having their discharges recorded.

As the war officially ended Tuesday, under the terms of the State pay bill of last year, this pay now ceases. While it will be necessary for the members of the 5th to record their discharges just the same, this duty will be unnecessary for the 8th, not yet discharged.

Their pay will be reckoned to April 11, and will then stop; excepting in the cases of men killed, where it will run on to their families for six months from the time of their death.

A great many soldiers allotted the State pay to themselves and have never called for it as yet.

In addition legislation is now being enacted to provide State pay for those who enlisted from Massachusetts for the war before it was officially declared. All these will have to prove their claims. — Boston Advertiser.

ENGLISH HIGH WON.

But Adams Academy Nine Led for Three Innings.

Adams Academy played its first regular game yesterday, and, as the score will show, made a remarkably fine showing, as English High is one of the strongest school teams in the state.

Donaher's pitching was fine, he struck out eight men in the first four innings. In the fifth inning he was obliged to play at second, having been hurt in running to first. Bennett took his place in the box and pitched a fine game.

The infield shows a great improvement over last year, the batting is fine, and the team will certainly play fast ball this season.

For English High, McCarry and Barrington put up the best game. Dolan pitched well.

FOOD SUGGESTIONS.

Interesting and Valuable Talk by Miss Daniell.

Miss Maria Daniell of Braintree spoke to some of the members of the Quincy Home Science association Tuesday afternoon, in her usual simple and direct way, and made many practical suggestions in regard to marketing and foods. She has been connected with the Pratt Institute and Chicago university and had charge of the Rumford lunch room at the World's Fair, being called to all three positions to make special demonstrations in regard to food values.

Miss Daniell has a genial way of imparting information and responding to questions, and has a genuine interest in her subject. Many simple but often unknown facts were given Tuesday.

Speaking of the cheaper foods, tripe was mentioned as very nutritious. Pickled or fresh it should be washed, wiped, dipped in melted butter and broiled, or fryed on a very hot spider, after dipping in butter and crumbs.

Liver and bacon contain a great deal of nutrition per pound. The fat of bacon being almost as easily digested as butter. Calves liver is the most desirable, beef liver ranking next. Bacon can be cooked four minutes in hot oven and set aside while the liver is dipped, after washing and wiping, in the hot bacon fat and broiled. A yearling fowl has more flavor than a chicken and is always cheaper. Stuffed and steamed in very little water, in a close covered kettle for two hours and then browned in a hot oven is quite equal to chicken.

Miss Daniell recommended when celery is scarce or dear, using white cabbage in its place. Raw cabbage is easily digested and nutritious in contrast to cooked cabbage.

Split peas of all the lentils have the largest amount of nutrition. Split peas can be cooked eight hours with a small knuckle of ham, put through a wire sieve and then made smooth with a little flour and butter. The result will be a most appetizing and nutritious soup. Miss Daniell emphasized the fact that split peas must be invariably strained before serving.

The above suggestions are only a few of those given. Miss Daniell said she often wished she could have done some practical work in feeding the soldiers in the recent war with Spain. Doubtless a capable woman of experience would have proved a successful commissary general, both as regards food supplies and food finances, although she would have also doubtless been viewed in the "light of an experiment."

Miss Daniell leaves home soon for her summer work in the Adirondacks, where she has charge of the menu for an exclusive New York club, proving that people of taste and means prefer invariably simple and nutritious food perfectly cooked.

Mr. Tupper Thanked.

The president, Mr. Foss, '99, called the Quincy High School Debating Society to order on Wednesday. The new secretary, Mr Ide, 1900, read the minutes. The vice president, Miss Lingley, then took the chair and the debate of last week on "Co-operation" was concluded.

The speakers in the affirmative were: Mr. Murphy, Mr. Northcott, and Mr. Foss.

In the Negative: Mr. Thomas, and Mr. Wade, all of '99.

In the open debate, Messrs. Wade, Foss, Swift, Northcott, Murphy, Fitts, Hayward, Thomas, and Lewis took part.

On motion of Mr. Northcott a vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Tupper the retiring head master, for the interest he has always manifested in the Debating society.

BOULEVARD OPTIONS.

Unless Adhered to Success Is Impossible.

If the boulevard bill is successful in passing the Legislature, it is of vital importance that each and every owner of land on the route shall abide by the options given. Representative Sheppard says he was repeatedly asked by members of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs is he was sure of the options.

Should any land owner attempt to be sharp the Quincy boulevard would be "mud," to quote the expression of a well informed gentleman.

The boulevard will be a great benefit to the city, but of still greater benefit to the large land owners along the route. They undoubtedly realized this in signing the options, and will see the importance of sticking to them.

Boston Museum Burned.

At 4.55 A. M. an alarm was given in Boston for a fire at the Boston Museum. It was followed by two more alarms, but the fire was not extinguished until the well known playhouse was completely gutted, entailing a loss of $100,000.

The Viola Allen Company was having a very successful run at the Museum, and tickets were selling four weeks in advance.

The Yachting Season.

The House Committee of the Quincy Yacht club held its first meeting of the season on Tuesday evening. Vice Commodore Davis and Mr. Charles W. Hall were reelected chairman and secretary respectively.

There will be three hops this year, June 23, July 17 (Ladies' Day), and August 18. The committee on hops consists of Secretary Faxon, Mr. George D. Follett and Mr. James S. Whiting.

There will be two entertainments, June 7, and Aug. 31. The committee on entertainments consists of Mr. Charles W. Hall, Mr. George W. Jones, Mr. Joseph L. Whiton, Jr., and Mr. J. S. Whiting.

The election of a janitor was left to Messrs. Davis, Hall and Whiting.

Charge of the Quincy Point Station was given to Vice-Commodore Davis.

The club house will be open from May 27 to Sept. 27, inclusive.

Ladies' day this year will be observed on Monday, July 17, $150 was appropriated for this day.

The committee voted to ask the executive committee for an appropriation of $525 for expenses for the ensuing season.

The secretary of the house committee was authorized to purchase the supplies.

Weekly Pay Day.

The granite cutters say that several of the firms are not observing the new law requiring weekly payments. At the meeting of the Union this week the grievance was aired and a committee was appointed to present the facts to Chief Wade of the district police. The workmen who have received their pay weekly enjoy the new system, and some of the manufacturers say they find it easier to pay weekly than as heretofore, once a month.

Mr. Delcevare King, who desired that the printers of the souvenir menu for the soldiers banquet should have fair play, will please accept the thanks of the printers for a contribution which was entirely unexpected.

Mayor Keith regrets very much that by a pardonable error in the yachting columns of the Boston Herald he is given the credit of designing the new defender of the Quincy Yacht club cup. Her designer is his son, Mr. Arthur Keith.

Councilman and Mrs. Jameson, Master Gordon Jameson and Mrs. Sage returned on Tuesday from an enjoyable southern trip. After reaching Old Point Comfort Mr. Jameson left the party and went to Atlanta and Southern Pines.

Several from Quincy attended the grand convocation of the Ancient Order of United Workmen in Music hall Boston, Wednesday evening. Among the speakers were Joseph G. Tate of Nebraska, who will also speak at the open meeting in Quincy, April 26.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

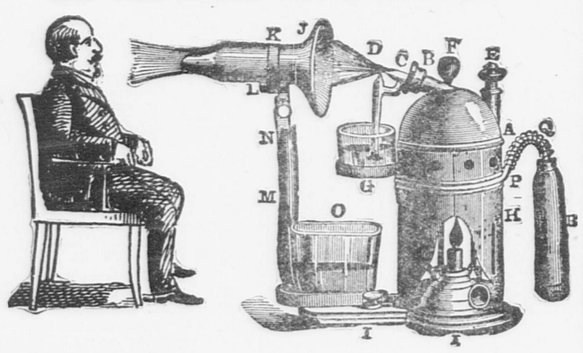

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

Conspiracy In the Adams Poisoning Case Brought to Light.

Dismissal of the Indictment Against Molineux.

Text of an Interesting Decision Handed Down by Justice Williams.

New York, April 13.—The attempt to remove Nicholas A. Heckman, a witness in the Molineux case, from the jurisdiction of the state, was frustrated by the authorities here yesterday. Incidentally a daring conspiracy was discovered, and A. S. Colyar, Jr., a lawyer of Nashville, is a prisoner. He is charged with conspiring to have Heckman extradited to defeat the ends of justice in the prosecution of Molineux.

Heckman is the man who testified that Molineux had rented a letter box from him under the name of Barnet some weeks before the poisoning of Mrs. Kate J. Adams.

Some days ago the authorities here were informed that requisition papers would soon be sent here for the extradition of Heckman, who, it was asserted, was P. E. Raymond, alias Williams, alias Heckman, an escaped convict from the Tennessee penitentiary.

A woman known as Blanche E. Graham, and whose real name is said to be Ida Cole, is alleged to have been coached to swear that she knew Heckman, and that under the name of Raymond he served two years in the penitentiary of that state.

The case had progressed so far that Lawyer Colyer and Captain Casteen of Nashville had come to New York to take Heckman back with them. The papers had already passed through the hands of both Governor Roosevelt and Governor McMillan of Tennessee, both of whom had been deceived by perjured statements.

When Colonel Gardiner heard of the move to get his principal witness in the Molineux case away, he began an investigation, and as a result Lawyer Colyar was taken to police headquarters yesterday morning, kept under surveillance all day, and finally locked up. Colyar made admissions to Captain McClusky confirming the latter's suspicion that there was a conspiracy to get Heckman out of the state. Habeas corpus proceedings came up before Justice Truax in the supreme court, with the object of obtaining the release of Heckman, and bringing out the details of the alleged conspiracy.

The evidence taken was quite lengthy and finally Heckman, in his own behalf, swore that he had never been in Tennessee. Justice Truax discharged Heckman from custody.

Colyar will remain in the custody of Captain McClusky until Assistant District Attorney Osborne is through with him. Mr. Osborne announced that he would hold Colyar as a witness against three persons in Tennessee, who were connected with the conspiracy.

At Watertown, last night, Justice Williams dismissed the indictment against Roland B. Molineux, charged with sending poison to Harry Cornish, which caused the death of Mrs. Adams, on the ground that other than legal evidence was received and considered by the grand jury, and directing that the case be re-submitted to the grand jury now sitting, or to the next grand jury that shall sit in New York.

Judge Williams says: "The minutes of the grand jury show that evidence was given by the witness Cornish which would have not been permitted by the court, relating to the relations between himself and the defendant which was only important on the question of motive.

"Inasmuch as the evidence given before the coroner by the defendant and which was before the grand jury showed that unfriendly relations existed between the parties it would not seem that the evidence of Cornish which is objected to could have had any material influence with the grand jury. More serious questions are raised by the claim made by the defendant that all evidence before the grand jury by handwriting experts, based upon comparison of the disputed handwriting with alleged genuine handwriting of the defendant and genuine handwriting, was illegal and improper."

Justice Williams then discusses the statutory provisions as to comparisons of disputed handwritings and cites the provisions of the act of 1880 as amended by the act of 1888, which provides under what circumstances comparisons of handwritings can be allowed. He calls particular attention to the words which allow "a comparison of a disputed writing with any writing proved to the satisfaction of the court to be genuine."

In this case the purpose of the proof was to show that the defendant wrote the addresses upon the poison package. He holds that there was clearly a disputed writing before the grand jury within the meaning of the statute, to wit, the address upon the poisoned package. Further, Justice Williams says on this point: "I cannot believe the legislature intended to limit the rule of evidence to trials as distinguished from other legal hearings where evidence is to be given.

"Can it be possible," continues the judge, "the legislature provided for a species of evidence upon the trial of a person for crime and yet intended to prevent the usage of the same species before a grand jury? It seems to me not. This species of evidence is coming to be regarded as of greater value than the evidence of persons who speak alone from their own personal knowledge of the handwriting of others. I do not refer so much to the mere opinions of experts based upon comparison as to the reasons they may give for such opinion. In a case like this, where some one has prepared a bottle of poison and addressed it to another and has deposited it in the postoffice and death has resulted from taking the poison, when the person preparing and sending the poison has done this work where no human eye looked on to see him do it, and when no comparison is made by anyone, it is of the utmost importance that there should, if possible, be an identification of the handwriting of the address upon the poison package."

Justice Williams holds that the exhibits of handwritings could not be used as standards for comparisons with the address on the poison package because they were themselves disputed, and further that they were not competent for any other purpose than as standards of comparisons of handwritings.

In closing, Justice Williams holds that the Barnet letters were improper as tending to show defendant's connection with the alleged murder of Barnet as well as Mrs. Adams, and the jury might well be influenced by the suggestion growing out of the letters that he was guilty of that murder as well as of the one being investigated.

The opinion concludes as follows: "It seems to me under all the circumstances I cannot do otherwise than discharge this indictment. The defendant is entitled to have his case investigated upon legal evidence and no other. The people may present their case to another grand jury, being careful to use only evidence and, to the determination of the grand jury, will be binding upon everyone. If another indictment is found the defendant will have to stand his trial. If he is not indicted he will be entitled to his discharge from custody."

Word of the dismissal of the indictment was taken to Molineux in the tombs last night. He refused to see any one or to send any answer to a note which was sent him.

SAMOANS IN AMBUSH.

Made an Attack Upon the Forces of Americans and British.

Practically at the Mercy of the Rebels.

Story That Mataafa Would Have Surrendered but For Germany's Consul.

Apia, April 2, via Auckland, N. Z., April 13.—A reconnoitering party made up of American and British sailors was ambushed yesterday by a large body of Mataafa's warriors, and, after making a most heroic stand, they were compelled to retreat, leaving three officers and four men dead on the field.

The allied forces were in charge of Lieutenant Freeman of the British cruiser Tauranga. With him were Lieutenant P. V. Lansdale and Ensign J. R. Monaghan of the United States cruiser Philadelphia. All three officers were killed. Two American and two British marines were also killed.

The allied forces numbered about 214, and with them were about 150 "friendlies." They had got into the outskirts of Apia, and were passing through a German plantation, when suddenly they were fired on from the rear, left and front.

Several were wounded at the first volley, and the firing was so heavy that a less gallant band would inevitably have been demoralized. The "friendlies" were utterly panic-stricken, and they bolted and fled.

The same night the friendlies found the bodies of all the officers headless. The bodies were buried with all honors at Mulinuu on Easter Sunday. Their heads were subsequently brought in by some French priests, and the graves were reopened and the heads buried with the bodies.

Lieutenants Freeman and Lansdale were capable and popular officers. The former was single, and the latter was married in June. The officers who returned are Lieutenant George E. Cave of the Porpoise and Lieutenant C. M. Perkins of the Philadelphia.

All behaved splendidly. Lieutenant Cave took command of the retreat. Captain Sturdee of the Porpoise was away on an expedition with his cruiser, and Gaunt's brigade was also absent on duty.

The loss of the enemy is not known, but probably 50 of the rebels were killed and many were wounded. The bodies of three rebels were found near the spot where Lieutenant Lansdale and Ensign Monaghan of the Philadelphia were killed. The priests buried 38 other rebels, and much blood was seen on the road over which the Mataafans had been dragging away their dead and wounded. There were also pools of blood behind the cocoanut trees, the bullets from the American and British rifles going right through the thick trees and killing men hiding behind them. Some of the rebels fired from the tops of cocoanut palms. The rebels opened fire near the town yesterday evening.

It is now proposed to summon another warship, to distribute more arms among the friendlies and to import additional friendlies from Tutulea. It is also suggested that troops might be obtained from New Zealand or Sydney, New South Wales.

If a sufficient quantity of arms could be obtained, about 2000 friendlies could be used against the Mataafans. But they are not brave, and have not shown fighting qualities excepting those with Gaunt's brigade, and that force may not accomplish much.

Admiral Kautz, Captain White of the Philadelphia and the American men and officers generally have earned golden opinions, as have Captains Stuart and Sturdee of the British navy. They are doing everything possible, and every one recognizes better men could not be handling the situation.

The Samoans say Mataafa, on three occasions, had resolved to surrender, but Consul Rose advised him not to do so, and he now says he will never give in, but will fight to the death.

Lieutenant Philip Lanhorn Lansdale was born in the District of Columbia, Feb. 15, 1855, and entered the naval academy June 6, 1873. He graduated in 1878 and was promoted ensign in 1881, and after duty at the Washington navy yard was transferred to the Philadelphia in June, 1890. He was made lieutenant, junior grade, in 1893. He was in charge of the caravels at the World's fair in Chicago, and after receiving his full lieutenancy, was a short time on the battleship Massachusetts. In June, 1896, he was ordered to the Philadelphia.

Ensign John R. Monahan was appointed to the Naval academy as a cadet from the state of Washington, entering Annapolis on Sept. 7, 1891. He graduated and was made an ensign in July, 1897, being assigned to the Philadelphia, to which vessel he was attached up to the time of his death.

Many Narrow Escapes.

North Adams, Mass., April 13.—A fire in the Congregational church yesterday caused a damage of $10,000, the main portion of the church being gutted. The congress of nations' fair was in progress in the chapel, and the fire started in one of the booths, where an oil stove exploded. The decorations were soon in flames, which spread with great rapidity. The ladies in the booths and the patrons of the fair had narrow escaped from the flames. A valuable loan collection, libraries and private property were destroyed.

Major Ransom's End.

Macon, Ga., April 13.—Major Julian Ransom, who was at one time one of the wealthiest planters in the state, committed suicide at his home in Vineville last night. He was a Yale graduate, and was known as a man of great courage and determination. His duel on the streets of Blakely with a man named Christian and the subsequent damage suit were made famous through the supreme court and the publication of his letter to Christian in the reports.

DEMOCRACY.

Its Principles Outlined by W. J. Bryan.

Party Will Adhere to the Chicago Platform of 1896.

Declaration That the Financial Issue Is Not Dead.

Gold Standard, Paper Money and Industrial Trusts Identical.

Lessons to Be Drawn From the Recent War With Spain Touched Upon.

Milwaukee, April 14.—William J. Bryan spoke on the policy of the Democracy at the banquet of the Jefferson club here last night. He said:

"We are now near enough to the next campaign to be able to form some idea of the lines along which the contest will be fought, and I am taking no risk when I say that those who in 1896 gave their allegiance to the Chicago platform are as united today in the determination that no step taken in 1896 shall be retraced. That platform applied to the condition then existing, the principles which had been Democratic from the beginning of the government. Suggestions that we abandon the money question some times come from those who deserted the party in 1896, but those suggestions are not supported by evidence tending to show that the position in 1896 was wrong, but was predicated upon the theory that the issue upon which the party once lost can never be revived, and what seems most strange this argument is made by those who have followed a different course in the past.

"In 1888 Mr. Cleveland was defeated on the tariff issue, and yet the tariff was made the main issue in 1892, and Mr. Cleveland was elected. In 1892 Mr. Harrison was defeated largely on account of the McKinley bill, and four years later the author of the bill was nominated upon a platform reaffirming the belief in protection, and was successful. Thus it is seen that in two instances recently a losing issue in one campaign became a winning issue in the campaign following.

"The test ought to be not whether the issue has been presented before, but whether the position taken is right. If the gold standard was unmerited in 1896 it is unmerited now. If its maintenance was a detriment to the interests of the people of this country then it is a detriment now. If in 1896 it was so hurtful that the Republicans promised to put forth their best efforts to substitute international bimetallism for it, and after the election was still so hurtful that the president sent a commission to Europe to secure foreign aid in abandoning it, what has happened since then to make the American people accept it as a blessing? If an increased discovery of gold in Alaska has been of advantage to the United States, it is but another evidence that the quantative theory of money is correct. If a large balance of trade in favor of the United States gives any relief becaus of the money thus brought into the country, it is an additional argument in favor of the quantative theory of money.

"Bimetallists have contended that times will be made better by the return of the double standard, and by the increased supply of standard money thus furnished for the business of the country. While it is unnecessary to discuss the question of ratio until some other ratio is proposed, it may not be out of place to suggest that 16 to 1, being the ratio at which the present gold and silver coins circulate, is the natural ratio at which the mints should be reopened. To increase the ratio by increasing the size of the silver dollar would necessitate the recoinage of our present silver dollars into a less number of dollars, and the increase of the ratio made throughout the world would result in a large decrease in the volume of standard money, and since the value of a dollar depends on the number of dollars such a change will necessarily increase the purchasing power of a dollar, and increase the burden of its debts. It would be equivalent to a transfer by legislation of a vast amount of wealth from the producing classes to the money owning classes. The attempt of the Republican party to retire the greenbacks and substitute for them national bank notes, will give to that question a greater prominence than it enjoyed in 1896.

"The trusts are now absorbing an increasing share of public attention because of their rapid growth during the last two years. We had a sugar trust and an oil trust some years ago. We now have a biscuit trust and a match trust and a meat trust, in fact a trust in almost everything that is used. The milk trust reaches the infant as he enters the world, the ice trust cools him in the summer, the coal trust keeps him warm in the winter, while the coffin trust waits to receive him when life's fitful dream is over. The people are beginning to see what the principle of monopoly really means, and yet the principle of monopoly, so plainly illustrated by the industrial trusts, does not differ at all from the principle of monopoly which underlies both the gold standard and the paper money trusts.

"The Democratic party is prepared to face the future and meet issues without abandoning the old.

"The Republican party has demanded that the standing army be increased to 100,000 men. If citizens born in the United States are ignorant of the burdens of a standing army they can receive instructions from those born in European countries. Many Europeans who are now worthy citizens of this great republic left their European homes because of the burdens imposed by the enormous military establishments. A great army may be a good thing for the railroad companies which will carry them from place to place, and for the large contractors who will furnish food and raiment for the soldiers, but it is a distressing burden upon the plain people of the country, and especially upon the laboring men and the farmers, upon whom an unfair share of the load has fallen.

"When I was a boy I remember visiting a wheat field which had been attacked by army worms. It occurs to me that this tendency toward a large army establishment—this new army worm—will prove more destructive to the crops of the farmer than the army worm with which the farmers are now familiar.

"Upon the subject of imperialism I need only to add a word. The idea of forcible conquest and of colonization after the plan adopted by European countries cannot receive the support of the people of this country when the principles involved are clearly understood. And yet the leaders of the Republican party are attempting to repudiate the doctrine of equal rights and of self-government given to us by the forefathers. Not only are they imitating the monarchies of the old world in their policies, but they are copying the language of monarchs in carrying out their policy.

"In the proclamation recently issued to the Filipinos we find these words: 'The commission desires to assure the people of the Philippine islands of the cordial good will and fraternal feeling which is entertained for them by the President of the United States and by the American people. The aim and object of the American government, apart from the fulfilment of the solemn obligation it has assumed toward the family of nations by its acceptance of sovereignty over the Philippine islands, is the well being, prosperity and protection of the Philippine people and their elevation and advancement to a position among the civilized peoples of the world.'

"Compare this with the language used by the queen in her proclamation to the people of India in 1856, when she said: 'We hold ourselves bound to the natives of our Indian territory by the same obligations of duty which bind us to our other subjects,' and 'In their prosperity will be our strength, in their contentment our security, and in their gratitude our best reward.'

"It will be noticed that benevolence breathes through both declarations. And then as to their participation in government a proclamation to the Philippines says: 'There shall be guaranteed to the Filipinos people an honest and effective civil service, in which to the fullest extent to which it is practicable, natives shall be employed.'

"The queen's proclamation reads: 'And it is our further will that so far as may be our subjects, of whatever race or creed, be fully and impartially admitted to offices in our service and duties of which they may be qualified by their education, ability and integrity duly to discharge.'

"And yet in spite of those promises made to the people of India 40 years ago the people of India today complain that the offices are filled by the younger sons of England.

"The policy of imperialism is always defended on the ground that it is for the good of the people governed, but we have never recognized the right of any nation to benevolently assimilate another nation."

Ex-Senator John L. Mitchell of Wisconsin devoted his entire address to an eulogy of Thomas Jefferson. John F. Doherty of Lacrosse answered to the sentiment "The Young Democracy;" Thomas I. Cleary of Platteville on "Party Honesty Is Party Duty;" Carter H. Harrison of Chicago responded to "Corruption In Politics;" Mayor David S. Rose of Milwaukee to "Imperialism;" Judge Hiram W. Sawyer of Hartford on "Shall Trusts and Corporations Rule?" and George W. Peck on "If a Soldier Does Not Like His Rations—What?" Howard S. Taylor of Chicago read an original poem on Jefferson.

Banquet of New York Democrats.

New York, April 14.—The dinner of the Democratic club in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson was held last night at the Metropolitan Opera house. Looking from the tiers to the floor of the vast dining hall, the tables seemed like great beds of roses. The 32 tables were on either side of the guests' tables. Each table was piled with a mass of roses and ferns intertwined. So abundant were the flowers, that some of the guests were hardly able to see each other over the floral banks. There were fully 300 more guests than the 1500 planned for, but all found seats. This made a total of 1800 guests. Perry Belmont began to speak at 10 o'clock. He was followed by Justice Van Wyck, whose remarks were chiefly directed at trusts, the state canals and the inadvisability of an alliance with Great Britain. The word "club" in the illuminated inscription "Democratic Club" on the stage vanished several times during the evening, the current having been turned off either by accident or intentionally. It left only "Democratic."

Of Little Use to Insurgents.

Washington, April 14.—The war department officials take a philosophical view of the reported capture by the insurgents in the vicinity of Zamboango of the arms and armament on the Spanish gunboats, which were to become the property of the United States. They say that General Otis has withheld payment for any of these boats until they were delivered to him at Manila. It is regretted that the insurgents should possess the guns, but it is said they will not be able to secure and keep on hand a supply of ammunition for them. The United States forces have so far had no trouble with the insurgents on the island of Mindanao.

The British Budget.

London, April 14.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Hicks-Beach presented the budget in the house of commons yesterday. He said the trying periods of last year's Spanish-American war and the differences on the Niger and the Nile had no prejudicial effect on the country's revenue, the result for the year being a small surplus. He estimated the expenditure for the coming year at £112,927,000, an increase of £6,098,000 over last year, the total increase of expenditures during the last four years being no less than £19,076,000. If this increase was to continue, the speaker pointed out, parliament must agree to a large increase in taxation or discover new and productive sources of revenue, or the result would be a reaction against great expenditure, and he feared that such a reaction might impair the efficiency of the defensive services to the point in which they unhappily stood during the last generation.

An Embalmer's Testimony.

Washington, April 14.—At the army court of inquiry yesterday Rudolph K. Spicer, a funeral director and embalmer of Harrisburg, who had served in Porto Rico, said he had paid especial attention to the meat issue. The cooks had found it necessary to cut off two or three inches of the refrigerator beef because of the greenish discoloration. "I also noticed crystalline scales on this meat," he said. "It was generally in the crevices and joints, and it immediately occurred to me that some article like soda or boracic acid had been used on the meat, such as we embalmers use on human bodies when they begin to crack." He had eatern of this meat only once and it made him sick. Mr. Spicer found the canned roast beef slimy and disagreeable. Much of it had been thrown away by the men.

Victims of Live Wires.

Elmira, N. Y., April 14.—William H. McClure, a lineman, was electrocuted by a live wire yesterday, while aloft on a pole. It is supposed that he lost his balance and grasped the wires in an endeavor to save himself.

Norwich, Conn., April 14.—John Toomey, a painter, was killed yesterday by coming in contact with a live wire while working on a telegraph pole. The man was on the pole painting the cornice of a building, when he slipped and came in contact with the wire. He remained suspended in the air until taken down.

Boston's Smallpox Cases.

Boston, April 14.—Another case of smallpox has been reported to the board of health, making five cases.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Wool Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

A FACT TO REMEMBER.

The "Aurora" is made on the same lasts and patterns as the so-called New Shoe for Women, sold everywhere at $3.50.

Comparison is the true test. We invite it.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ England is said to be a heavier user of intoxicants than either the United States, France or Germany. Per capita figures are apt to be misleading, but the per capita consumption of intoxicants in England is given as 32.71 gallons, an amount which, reckoning for the non-users, ought to give the average Britisher all he can drink.—New Bedford Standard.

Experience Social.

The Experience social given Thursday evening by the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Wollaston Congregational church proved to be the most original as well as the most successful social of the season. The war programme arranged by Mrs. Swartwout was interesting and patriotic. The Dewey glee club rendered touchingly "The Swanee River" and "Tenting Tonight. Bugler Johnson of Co. K, 5th Regimen, gave the army calls. Mrs. Collyer sang "The Star Spangled Banner," Miss Marion Bailey, Mr. Edward Hewitson and Mr. Elijah Swift recited patriotic pieces. The "Experience" poems relating how each of the ladies earned a dollar for the church carpet were the brighest effusions ever produced. The judges awarded first prize to Mrs. Robbins. Light refreshments were served from the Spanish and American booths. The ladies raised over forty dollars.

NEW VALUATION.

Assessors Expected to Make Many Changes.

Will Let the Tax Rate Take Care of Itself.

City Divided into Two Districts; Study Being Made.

Two weeks from next Monday the Assessors will start on their tour of the city. As usual the city will be divided into two districts. Wards One, Two and Three will be assessed by Messrs. Federhen, Drake and Curtis Wards Four, Five and Six will be assessed by Messrs. White, Fay and Hall. It is the intention of Principal Assessor Hodges to accompany the Assistant Assessors as much as possible.

Busy weekly meetings have been held of late every Thursday afternoon mapping out the work.

The list of land values of 1898, as published in the Daily Ledger will be considerable help in the re-adjustment of values. The city has preserved the publication in convenient form for reference, and are making it a study.

That part of Mayor Keith's inaugural address relative to the assessment of taxes received considerable comment and its reproduction at this time will be of interest.

"This is one of the most important matters to engage my attention, and though it falls wholly within the province of the executive authority, I think it proper on this occasion to offer some thoughts, with which I may frankly say I do not expect all to agree.

"Equalization of taxes is the grand point to be accomplished. This is not gained either by raising or lowering all valuations indiscriminately. Regard should be had to what property will bring if purchased for investment. Regard should be had for what property will produce or may be made to produce. Locality should be a large factor in assessment, and the fluctuations caused in localities by changing circumstances should be considered. For instance, property in one ward may be actually decreasing in desirability and therefore in value, while in another ward there may be a constant or increasing demand. Assessors should bear in mind what property brings or would bring if sold under ordinary circumstances.

"Lastly, raising the valuation in order to keep down the tax rate is an unwise plan for two reasons. First, it usually deceives the taxpayer for a time into thinking that his tax is to be smaller, but when he gets his bill he finds that he has more money to pay. Second, and more important, as the borrowing capacity of the city depend on the valuation, it is increased by an increase of valuation and the council of the succeeding year is offered the temptation of spending a larger sum.

"Furthermore, the fixing of the tax rate is only an incident not an object of the assessors. They are sworn to assess property of the city acording to law; they should do that and let the tax rate take care of itself.

"I hope to be able to notify you soon of the appointment of a Board of Assessors who will make their assessment in harmony with the view. It will take more time and labor than is usually devoted to the task, but I trust that the result will be satisfactory.

Grand Church Supper.

They came from all parts of the city and Braintree and all denominations on Thursday evening and the Easter supper of the guilds of Christ church was a great success. The tables were prettily set with new dishes of blue and white and new silverware, and everything was attractive. The ladies served cold meats, salads, rolls, cake, coffee and all the extras, and it was necessary to set the table a second time to provide for all. But food was plenty and of excellent quality.

An entertainment was also provided and greatly enjoyed. Prof. F. H. Lord and his pupils gave several musical numbers on mandolins and guitars. Miss Lucy Thatcher gave readings and impersonations which were capital.

MANY APPLICATIONS.

For Head Master of the Quincy High School.

The sub-committee of the School Committee who have supervision over the High school met Thursday evening. The resignation of Mr. F. A. Tupper, head master of the school, was received and accepted with regret. Just when Mr. Tupper will sever his connection with the Quincy schools is not as yet certain, but it is the desire of the School Committee that he remain as long as possible which may be two weeks.

No action was taken by the sub-committee on filling the vacancy, although the committe has received a number of applications for the postion.

Many people of Quincy have expressed a preference in favor of John O. Hall, Jr., of this city for the position. Whether he is a candidate or would accept the position they do not know, but they feel that Mr. Hall is well qualified; that he is a Quincy young man of exemplary character, and that as acting master of the Adams Academy he has shown his abiliy.

The Late Mrs. Bradford.

The funeral of Mrs. Clara E. Bradford, a direct descendant of Paul Revere, took place Thursday afternoon from her late residence, on Bellevue street, Longwood. The services were brief and simple and were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Hamilton. The interment was at Forest Hills.

Mrs. Bradford was the fourth in line of descent from Paul Revere. Her grandmother was a Revere. She was born nearly 52 years ago on Purchase street, when that street was occupied by well known residents of Boston. Her mother was born in a building which used to stand on the lot now occupied by the Hotel Reynolds, and which was then known as the Rupp estate.

Mrs. Bradford had only lived in Longwood about six months. She was the wife of John R. Bradford, who is a lineal descendant of Gov. Bradford of the Plymouth colony. Mr. Bradford is the 10th in line.

Their only child is Mrs. Walter Wilson, who of late has made her home with her parents; Mr. Wilson is a Quincy man and recently resided on Merry Mount road. Mrs. Wilson will inherit a large estate.

Sentenced for Assault.

There was another row at the Huntington boarding house at Wollaston Tuesday night between Frederick Huntington and Patrick Scully, the cook at the place. Rows at this place have been frequent, and Scully has been frequently brought before the court for drunkenness and assault. The last time Scully was in court was for drunkenness. He was found guilty and appealed. The case came up on appeal at Dedham Tuesday when Scully paid $10.

Huntington's version of the affair Tuesday night was that he was in his room when his wife came in. When she went out he followed her to the door, when he met Scully who hit him over the head with an oil can. The force of the blow blackened Huntington's eyes and cut his head. The force of the blow also smashed the can and covered him with oil.

Scully claims that he was going up stairs with an oil can in his hand, to fill the lamps, when he met Huntington who kicked the can which smashed it. Mrs. Huntington says that she and her husband had a row, and that during this she threw him upon the bed and struck him several times. She did not see anything of the assault. The court thought Scully's story rather slim and had no confidence in what he said. It had no doubt but what it was a conspiracy, and imposed a sentence of four months in the House of Correction.

To Be Heard, Not Read.

Dr. William Everett, replying to an inquiry as to whether his lectures on John Milton will be published in book form, observes, with characteristic pungency, that the lectures were written to be heard, not read. Dr. Everett is evidently of the opinion that lectures are not entitled to rank as literature, and we suppose he is correct on this point. There are a great many less interesting lecturers than Dr. Everett who do not share his opinion here, and they accordingly proceed to have their lectures published—Herald.

TODAY'S COURT.

Patrick Scully was sentenced to four months in the House of Correction for assault on Frederick Huntington at Quincy. Appealed.

William Jackson was arraigned for assault on Ellen Jackson at Weymouth. He was sent to the House of Correction for three months.

The continued case of John Mulhall, for drunkenness, was called and he paid a fine of $5.

Nicholas T. Murphy of Quincy was arraigned for bastardy. Case continued until Monday.

Fall River Line Service.

The Priscilla and Puritan have taken the place of the Plymouth and Pilgrim on the Fall River line. The service via this route was never at a higher standard than at the present time. Music remains a feature on the boats at all seasons of the year. Sunday trips will be resumed commencing May 7.

—An ad has done it work when it has awakened interest, created a desire or provoked an inquiry.—American Machinist.

The subject next Sunday evening will be, "The Number of Resurrections in the Bible."

Morning subject next Sunday, "The Cripple at the Beautiful Gate of the Temple."

The Parish Guild of Trinity church met with Mrs. J. H. Flint, Front Street Weymouth, Thursday evening, Apr. 12. There was a large attendance. The guild will have an ice cream party on Thursday evening April 20, at the residence of the Robert McDowell in East Braintree.

In addition to the services at Trinity church, next Sunday Rev. William Hyde will preach at Gardner Street Chapel, South Hingham, at 2.45 P.M.

The Ladies of Trinity church, Weymouth, will hold their Annual Easter Sale, in May. Entertainment will include Shakespear's "Taming of the Shrew," "The Violin Maker;" also the comedy in 2 acts, "In Danger of His Life."

The Beef Inquiry.

Washington, April 13.—Generals Adna R. Chaffee and A. R. Arnold, Dr. Huidekoper and Captain Williams of the commissary department, were before the beef court of inquiry yesterday. General Chaffee said that while he considered the refrigerator beef supplied to the army at Santiago wholesome, the officers and men of his command refused generally to eat it. He attributed this largely to the fact that most of them were sick. Dr. Huidekoper said the canned beef was generally of poor quality. Captain Williams told of the condemnation of the beef on board the transport Panama. General Arnold's testimony dealt with the beef supplied at Jacksonville, which was, he said, generally wholesome.

K. of H. Elect Officers.

Boston, April 13.—At the convention of the Knights of Honor, the record of Reporter Pratt showed the present membership in Massachusetts to be 5818. There are permanent invested funds of $16,842, and the present value of lodge property is $20,168. The report of Treasurer Richardson showed receipts of $6475; payments, $6908. Grand officers were elected as follows: Dictator, A. Kidder; vice dictators, W. F. Murray and J. J. Underhill; assistant dictator, J. Battison; recorder, E. G. Pratt; treasurer, G. E. Richardson; chaplain, E. M. Jones; guide, E. G. Richardson; guardian, H. W. Cooke; sentinel, Henry Asker.

Attributed to Maple Sap.

Lewiston, Me., April 13.—George Helland, 11 years old, died yesterday after an illness believed to have been caused by impure maple sap, and Joseph, his 14-year-old brother, is critically ill from the same cause. The boys had gathered some maple sap and left it standing in a tin pan in the cellar of their home. They drank some of the sap, and soon after became very ill, their sickness developing into spinal meningitis.

All Is Forgiven.

Boston, April 13.—Thomas Gaffney, Jr., who recently forged his father's name to a check, ran away with a young woman, came back, was taken into custody, indicted and then sought forgiveness from his father, has been forgiven. Mr. Gaffney interceded in his son's behalf, and the young man came into court yesterday, retracted a former plea of not guilty, entered one of guilty, and was placed on probation and discharged.

To Resist Carlists.

Madrid, April 13.—In view of the Carlist revival, Minister of War Polavieja has dispatched strong detachments of troops to important points in the Basque provinces. The garrisons of the towns in Catalonia and Valencia have been increased. The Spanish cruiser Conde de Venadito is watching the Basque coast line.

Two Dead Over Trivial Quarrel.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 13.—Walter Goodrich, aged 19, shot his brother, Wallace, aged 35, and then killed himself at a villa north of this city yesterday. The brother will die. The brothers had quarreled over the matter of hitching up a horse.

Trouble Ahead.

Des Moines, Ia., April 13.—The first contingent of 500 colored miners came yesterday from Pana, Ills., to take places of striking whites in the mines of this district. Whites here threaten fight if it is attempted to operate the mines with negroes.

IN ADVANCE GUARD.

Harry R. Osgood Writes of Experience in the Philippines.

The Ledger has been very fortunate in securing a very interesting letter from Harry R. Osgood of Wollaston, who is in E Co., 18th infant., U. S. Regulars at Iloilo, Philippine Islands. The letter was written to his mother, Mrs. F. D. Osgood of Wollaston and is in the form of a graphic narrative showing better than anything that has yet appeared, the life of a soldier in the antipodes.

Jaro, Philippines Islands,
February 13, 1899.

We have been on land just three days and in that short time I have been in more narrow escapes, have had harder work, but yet have enjoyed it all, better than all the rest of my life put together.

I will now begin from the morning of the 11th and try and give you a description of my adventures until tonight. Of course you have probably read about the capture of Iloilo and Jaro in the papers, but I know you would like to hear of my personal experience.

Last Saturday morning we were eating our breakfast on the Arizona, when the Petrel and the Boston opened fire on the city. What an excited mob we became in an instant. We climbed up in the rigging and gave cheer after cheer when a good shot was made. In half an hour the city was in flames and at 10.40, the marines landed at the fort and hauled down that hated rag, and raised Old Glory in its place, which brought such cheers from our throats that it shook the boat.

Ten minutes later, boats were lowered and the two lucky battalions, the first and second got into them and were towed nearly to the shore and we rowed the rest of the way. I jumped out in the water over waist deep, for I was afraid I would be detailed to row the boat back, for I was one of the crew. But luck favored me, and in five minutes we were advancing to the burning city. We went through streets where it was so hot that we could barely stand it. The smoke and flames were terrible and for a while the enemy were forgotten, as it seemed we would be cut off by the fire.

Gen. Miller ordered Capt. Wheeler to send out an advance guard, and "Andy" Welton, the best and one of the bravest non-commissioned officer in the 18th, was told to pick out his squad of eight men.

Now, "Andy" is an old Boston boy, and knowing how we boys from there wanted to get into it, picked every one from Boston, except one, to pick out the way for the company.

Our lieutenant went with us, and in a few minutes we were creeping along picking away at insurgents setting fire to buildings, dropping behind a convenient wall when a particularly strong volley swept over us, but always advancing.

Capt. Wheeler tried to keep us from firing so much and wanted to hold back his men a little, as we were far in advance of the other companies. But Gen. Miller said, "Let them go ahead if they want to, I never saw men so anxious to fight."

I had lots of fun chasing natives that had no guns, but were armed with big machets. I saw one fellow making his escape across a meadow a long way off, and some fired on him, but I put after him, and talk about cross country runs! I had my gun, haversack loaded with cartridges, a belt full of them, and a canteen. He was in regulation uniform, which is about the same as a running suit only not quite so many clothes. He led me a chase over ditches and everything else and I got so far away from the rest of the boys they shouted for me to shoot him or come back. But my "Irish" was up and I was bound to win that time prize or die. At last he dropped from exhaustion and I came up and took away his big machet and it is a dandy. The handle is carved and the blade is about three feet long and as sharp as a razor. I pretty near cut my finger off with it. I sent the fellow back to the main line and in another minute was in hot pursuit of another one, but it was a short run and I soon had his machet but his knife wasn't much good.

The lieutenant called me back and told me if I did anything like that again he would have to send me back with the company. So I said I would be good, but I knew I was prevaricating when I said it.

In a few minutes we were in a sharp skirmish but with the same result the enemy retreating before we could get to close range.

At last we came to a big bridge and after driving them over it received such a warm reception we had to wait for the main body to come up. Gen. Miller wanted to send back for more troops but Capt. Wheeler said E Co. can take it alone. The mausers were coming across pretty warm but we couldn't see the enemy.

Serg't. Welton took us up stairs in a house and through a window we could see them lying in the trenches just on the other side. But there wasn't room for eight of us to fire from that window so I soon had my boot through the side of the building, and the others did the same, and then we just pumped shot after shot into them until my gun got so hot I could hardly handle it. That was too much for the insurgents and away they went again.

We came down and the Capt. gave the order to go forward and you ought to have seen us double time over the bridge and jump into the trenches. Two of the enemy never left at all and we could see blood all the way up the road.

Gen. Miller was delighted. He thought it would take two days before we could get that bridge, and here one company had taken it. He praised Capt. Wheeler and his men, and today he puts us in the most critical places in times of danger. We have our quarters right by his headquarters when we are relieved.

In about two hours the rest of the regiment came up and we went back to rest, as we thought, but the only sleep I got was after three o'clock for I was on picket duty from nine until half past two. The next picket to me shot four times at a fellow trying to burn a building but he said he guessed he missed him as he was a little shaky out in that dangerous place.

The next day we found a dead native with two bullets through his back and a box of matches clutched in his hand so the picket didn't miss after all.

The Frosty Town.

The following song was written by a member of the Fifth regiment, and appropriately applies to the weather at Greenville, S. C. Members of Company K may be able to appreciate the writer's intentions. The words are to be sung to the tune of on the "Banks of the Wabash:"

I used to think it cold when up in Boston,
Now I know I never knew what coldness meant,
Until I struck this frosty town of Greenville,
And sprung the floor by shivering in my tent;
There's an axe that's always busy at the wood pile,
And the chips they fly around you in a storm,
I've bucked a saw until I've nearly fainted,
Oh! its awful work, this trying to keep warm.

CHORUS.

With a club you break the ice whenever you wash,
In the fields your breath would freeze upon the hay,
On the stove we keep our candle light from freezing,
In our paper tents in Greenville, far away.

When they tell us that the South is warm and sunny,
If I dared to laugh I know my face would crack;
Like a fool around I wandered in my shirt sleeves,
Then I thawed the shirt to get it off back.
Oh! this place is near as cheerful as a graveyard,
And the weather's getting colder every day,
I'm sure that we'll be frozen stiff as herrings,
If from Greenville, they don't take us far away.

CHORUS.

Oh! the sunlight's rare with us way down in Dixie,
A polar bear around here wouldn't stay,
We chase ourselves around to keep from freezing
In cold storage, Greenville far away.

I've often wished that I was in Siberia,
Or any place that's not so cold as here,
For I watched the cook at work a pealing onions,
And down his cheek there rolled a frozen tear.
At reveille, I missed a little roll call,
They soaked me, and I hope I'll miss no more.
I tried to raise, but found my hair was tangled
In an icicle that formed upon the floor.

CHORUS.

For the frost would break a stone wall all to pieces,
On your face the wind won't let your whiskers stay,
And I'm certain that the north pole has got twisted.
And is now down in Greenville far away.

"Red Book" Barred.

Philadelphia, April 13.—Senator Quay gained a partial advantage in court yesterday by the apparent refusal of Judge Biddle, for the present at least, to admit as evidence against him the famous "red book" which has figured so prominently in the trial, and which is alleged to contain the key to the case of the commonwealth. This book was found in the desk of Cashier Hopkins of the People's bank after the institution had closed its doors and that individual had taken his own life. It is an ordinary day book. Twelve pages are devoted to what the prosecution charges is Hopkins' record of his transactions in money deposited by the state treasurer for the advantage of Senator Quay. It contains entries extending over several years, and figures are written in it which apparently show the calculation of interest on sums of money approximating the state deposit, less certain deductions, for the benefit of Senator Quay. These figures, the prosecution alleges, were "posted" from the red book to the regular ledger of the bank containing Senator Quay's account.

Poor Chicago.

Springfield, Ills., April 13.—The "Greater Chicago" project, having in view the consolidation of the municipal and county government in that district, was defeated in the house yesterday. That body refused to give to the resolution the two-thirds majority required by law. The debate and voting aroused considerable feeling, and there were sharp exchanges between the metropolitan and county members. It is not likely the measure will come up again at this session.

Vermont Hotel Burned.

Bellows Falls, Vt., April 13.—Town's hotel, one of the largest hotels in this section of the state, was destroyed by fire last night, entailing a loss of nearly $75,000 on the house, contents and stores on the ground floor. The fire was first discovered about 9 o'clock, and before the department reached the scene the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the upper stories, and the building was practically ruined.

From Frying Pan to Fire.

Belfast, Me., April 13.—Horace Marden, Deighton Knox and William Young, whose terms in Waldo county jail for horse thieving expired yesterday, were rearrested on leaving the jail on larceny charges brought in Kennebec county. They were taken to Augusta for trial.

Waterville, Me., April 13.—Charles Young, Horace Marden and Dighton Knox were before Justice Foster yesterday for alleged horse stealing. The justice found probable cause for placing each of them under $500 bonds for appearance at the September term of the court. Failing to secure surety, all were committed to the Augusta jail.

Want McDonnell Reinstated.

Lawrence, Mass., April 13.—Fifty iron moulders, employed at the Davis iron foundry, conducted by James F. Lanigan, left their work yesterday on account of the discharge of Jeremiah McDonnell, a fellow workman, who was fined in the police court Tuesday for assault on a non-union man who took the place of one of the strikers at the Merrimack foundry. The men refuse to return to work until McDonnell is reinstated.

Will Be D'Arcos.

Washington, April 13.—The appointment of Count D'Arcos as Spanish minister to the United States is accepted as settled in those diplomatic quarters having fullest information, and it is understood that positive statements to this effect have already come through official channels.

Prospectors In a Bad Fix.

COURSE IS APPROVED,

Admiral Kautz Has Received No New Instructions From Washington.

Baron Sternberg the Third Member of Commission.

Evidence That Recent Collision at Apia Will Be Settled Diplomatically.

Washington, April 14.—Admiral Kautz's actions in Samoa, as far as they are set out in the official dispatches and the newspaper reports, are fully approved. He was instructd by the last mail steamer from Auckland to avoid needless collisions, but to protect property and life until the three treaty powers decided how to deal with the situation. No further instructions have yet been sent to him, and if any go forward by cable within the next 24 hours, which is the limit of time available if the outgoing steamer is to be caught at Auckland, they will be simply a repetition of the original orders. Department officials point out that from the accounts so far received, the admiral appears to have acted in conjunction with the British forces only in pursuance of the policy of defense of foreign interests. It is expected that he will not abate his efforts to secure the restoration of peace, and it is probable that when the high commission arrives at Apia it will find its work facilitated through the suppression of the rebellion.

The Samoan commission will sail for Apia on the transport Badger, leaving San Francisco on the 25th inst. This arrangement was made yesterday after Baron Sternburg, first secretary of the German embassy, had called on Secretary Hay and advised him of his appointment as the German member of the high commission. This completed the body.

The formal announcement of Baron Sternberg's appointment was received from the German foreign office and gave general satisfaction among officials and diplomats, as throughout the recent troubles he exerted his influence in such manner as to win the heartiest approval of the state department as well as the British ambassador. His choice, therefore, was accepted as an evidence that the commissioners would be able to cooperate and to reach the unanimous decision called for by the agreement. The early sailing of the commission is regarded as evidence that the recent collision at Apia will be settled diplomatically. Baron Sternberg comes of a distinguished German family.

As Viewed Abroad.

London, April 14.—The Daily Chronicle remarks editorially this morning that, if Lord Salisbury has yielded on the question of unanimity, the Samoan commission may as well save itself the voyage.

The Standard prints the following dispatch from Berlin: The tension between Great Britain and Germany over the Samoan question has somewhat increased since yesterday (Wednesday), the conference between Baron Von Buelow (German minister of foreign affairs) and Sir Frank Lescolles (British ambassador at Berlin) having failed to settle all the disputed points.

The Berlin correspondent of The Times says: The Roman Catholicism of Matafa has been made the most of by the German press, and Malleota Tanus is described as the candidate of a London missionary society, at whose station Chief Justice Chambers was a guest for many months.

The Berlin newspapers continue their bitter comments on Great Britain. The semi-official Post strongly urges the reichstag to place at the government's disposal forthwith the whole amount of the appropriations passed in annual installments for the naval increase.

Acceptable to Canada.

Washington, April 14. — When the United tates government recently proposed a modus vivendi on the Alaskan boundary to overcome the possibility of a lawless outbreak pending a final adjustment, the British authorities referred the proposition to the Canadian authorities at Ottawa. The Ottawa government has responded with an acceptance of the general idea of a modus vivendi. This must now go to the British foreign office.

Can Read His Own Obituary.

London, April 14.—The Press association of this city yesterday announced in unmistakeable terms the death of John S. Sargent, the American artist. All the afternoon papers here printed the announcement, and some of them contained lengthy and appreciative reviews of Mr. Sargent's career. Investigation showed the report to be untrue. Mr. Sargent is alive and enjoying good health.

Ball Players Don't Like It.

Washington, April 14.—During the practice games of the various baseball clubs it was found that the balk rule adopted by the national league was unsatisfactory. The old rule, in relation to the bases, provided that a motion made by the pitcher to throw to any base without delivering the ball should be a balk. A change has been adopted so as to make the rule apply to first base only.

Gaynor a Dissenter.

New York, April 14.—Justice William J. Gaynor of the supreme court of Brooklyn has written to the chairman of the $1 dinner, under the auspices of the Chicago platform Democrats, declining the invitation to attend, on the ground that he would be unable to agree with all the $1 dinner stands for.

Again on Duty.

Boston, April 14.—The steamer Admiral Dewey, which went ashore at Cuttyhunk some time ago, and was brought here for repairs, left the Atlantic works yesterday for Jamaica, where she will load with fruit and return to Boston. She carried one passenger and no freight.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

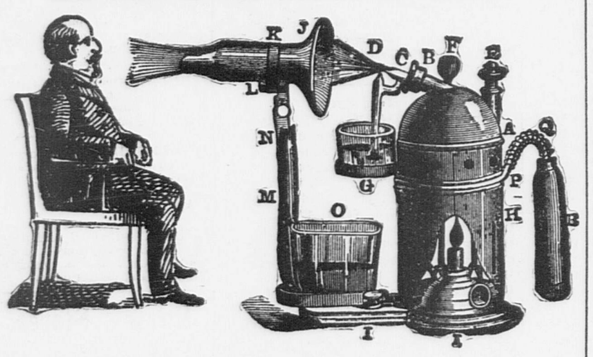

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

NUMEROUS ROBBERIES

Laid at the Door of Willard Spaulding of Peabody, Mass.

Confesses to Breaking Into the Howard Villa.

Police Suspect That He May Know Something About a Murder Mystery.

Boston, April 14.—A dispatch from Peabody says that not for years has there been so much excitement in that district as followed the arrest of Willard Spaulding. A minister's son, and apparently one of the most respectable men in the district, his arrest on the charge of breaking and entering Mr. Howard's summer residence at North Reading and stealing furniture therefrom came as a shock to the community.

They could scarcely credit the charge, but when the stolen goods were found in his house, and later he confessed to the robbery, the people of the neighborhood were astounded.

But this is the least important part. The police soon gave out that they thought they were on the track leading to the solution of the numerous crimes, all baffling detection, which have astonished the people of that section during the last year or 18 months. Many houses have been mysteriously robbed, and in several cases they were set or fire to hide the crimes.

But most singular of all, there was a fearful murder which shocked the whole community. A year ago Easter Sunday Miss Annie Geary, a young girl, 18 years old, was found murdered near her home, and despite all the efforts of the police and detectives, the murderer has never been found.

Now it is believed by the police that the mysterious robberies and burnings, and the mysterious murder, are all part of one record of crime, and traceable to the same criminal or criminals. Furthermore, though the police have not charged Spaulding with the crime, they were started on the investigation by a singular remark which Spaulding made while being taken to the lockup after being arrested. He turned to one of the officers and blurted out: "It is a pity you could not find the man who killed Annie Geary; I wouldn't do anything like that."

It is the opinion of those who are cognizant of the facts in the case that Annie Geary was murdered by the party or parties who were committing the robberies of a year ago. It now seems almost certain that in some way she came to learn who was the robber and firebug, and that she was killed to prevent her from disclosing his identity.

Annie Geary's father was suspected of being a party to numerous breaks in the country houses surrounding West Peabody. One day the police sharply interrogated the girl about her father and the suspicion resting against him. She stoutly denied that her father was a robber or that suspicion could honestly be directed against him. She told the police "to look for people more respected in the community and they could find the guilty persons."

She would not tell whom she meant, but the police believed that by proceeding slowly she would divulge what she knew.

One of the houses robbed was close by the Geary farm. Investigation showed that in taking the plunder away, the robbers had crossed the Geary lot. It is supposed that Annie saw the man and recognized him. The principal hope the police held to was that the girl, to clear her father, would say whom she meant.

All this got about among the people there. The choice morsel of news that Annie furnished was carried from one farm to another, and was widely discussed. An arrest of some well-to-do resident was expected daily.

While the people were talking of probabilities, the murder of the young girl took place. Her body was found by the roadside with the head crushed in. No motive was ever found for the murder. The principal theory—that of assault—was not substantiated by the slightest fact.

A half-witted young man, who lived on the Geary farm, was suspected, but not arrested. He never attempted to escape, and is still living with the Gearys.

Spaulding was not married and lived alone, cooking his own meals and associating with no one. He kept a horse and several teams, which he admits to the police were very handy in taking away the plunder. It was by the team he owned that his arrest was accomplished.

Spaulding is 49 years old. His father was a member of the legislature. Both of his parents were much esteemed in the county circles. He was brought up in private schools.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 14.—After a debate lasting nearly all day, the house advanced the bill placing telephone companies under state supervision one stage. The vote, however, was remarkably close, there being a majority of only one in favor of the bill. The bill has still to be engrossed, after which it must run the gauntlet of the senate, before reaching the governor's hands.

Several amendments were made by the house to the bill to bring the Boston municipal election on the day of the state election, but the bill was eventually thrown out by a large vote. A similar fate was accorded the bill providing that candidates for state representative or municipal office shall be nominated by direct vote in caucuses. The senate passed to engrossment the $170,000 gypsy moth appropriation bill.

The senate killed the resolution favoring the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

The rules were suspended to admit a bill providing for the retirement on half pay of judges of the probate courts who have attained the age of 65 years and served on said court 20 years, if incapacitated by reason of sickness or otherwise. A bill was reported to regulate and supervise wires over streets and buildings in towns.

Bills were engrossed to authorize Melrose to appropriate money for celebrating the 250th anniversary of Malden, and to authorize the Northampton and Amherst Street Railway company to construct a bridge over the Connecticut between Northampton and Hadley.

Unexpected Dismissals.

Springfield, Mass., April 14.—Orders were received from Washington yesterday at the United States armory in this city to discontinue the manufacture of the new army rifle sight until further notice. These orders were put into immediate effect, and as a result 100 men employed on the work were discharged at noon. No explanation for this action on the part of the war department accompanied the order. The manufacture of these sights was first begun in November, and none of them have yet been used upon the army rifles in regular service. The sight is the one recently subjected to exacting tests by a board of experts.

Suspicion of Foul Play.

Pawtucket, R. I., April 14.—The body of a man apparently about 60 years of age, and supposed to be John Thayer, a farmer at Limerock, was found on the railroad track near an overhead bridge a short distance above the Pawtucket station, last night. The body was terribly mangled, and the authorities entertain suspicions that foul play may have been the cause of death, and that the body was thrown from a bridge to the railroad tracks and became mangled by a passing train.

Three Exceptions.

New Haven, April 14.—Officials of the fire department yesterday made a tour of the buildings of Yale university and announced that they found the buildings, for the most part, as well protected as could be expected. Exceptions were made in the cases of three dormitories Recommendations will be made to the university authorities.

Mrs. George's Attorney Testifies.

Canton, O., April 14.—The feature of yesterday's proceedings in the trial of Mrs. George was the testimony of Attorney Werntz, who had represented her in a number of civil actions prior to the killing of Saxton. He sought to evade testifying on the ground that what he knew had been told him by Mrs. George and was a privileged communication between counsel and client. However, the court decided to admit the testimony and Werntz told of a series of threats and plans for their execution on the part of Mrs. George against the life of Saxton, and the defense brought the remainder of the conversation out which proved to be three recitals of Mrs. George's version of her relations with Saxton and the wrongs she claims to have suffered at his hands.

BAY STATE'S YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Declare Themselves as Opposed to the Administration's Policy in the Philippines.

Boston, April 14.—At a special meeting of the Young Men's Democratic club of Massachusetts a declaration of principles was adopted and issued for publication.

The club declares that it is contrary to the American principles of civil liberty for the United States to force its sovereignty upon unwilling peoples.

It believes that the inhabitants of the Philippine islands have a right to erect an independent government for themselves.

It believes that our native industries and our foreign commerce will best be promoted by sparing our producers the heavy burden of taxation inseparable from the adoption of an un-American system of militarism.

It believes that the patriotic soldiers who enter their country's service have a right to demand that the President of the United States shall guard their lives and welfare rather than jeopardize them by paying his party debts with his appointments to office.

It believes that the trusts are disastrous to the interests of the laborer, the merchant and the consumer.

In addition, it reaffirms its declarations in regard to national issues, and to the conduct of state affairs.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, Safe but Effectual Cure for it.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable.

The usual symptoms are a full bloated sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the lungs and heart and difficult breathing; headache, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out and languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue, and if the interior of stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate disease is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily and thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach.

To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do, and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastrse, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids.

These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and, not being a patent medicine, can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, of 2710 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom, passing back into the throat, reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me three years for catarrh of the stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I can not find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Send for book, mailed free, on stomach troubles, by addressing the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

New Church Organ.

The First Presbyterian church on Water street has just purchased a very fine organ, which will be used for the first time on Sunday. The instrument is a Mason & Hamlin Listz organ of the largest size. The case is of quartered oak, corresponding with the pews, and is very rich and massive, without false pipes or any superfluous ornamentation. There are three manuals and a pedal base. There are six hundred and sixty-three reeds—over five times many as in an average parlor organ. A first class pipe organ with an equal number of pipes would cost several thousand dollars. For sweetness and richness of tone it is justly comparable with a pipe organ while for power it amply fills the demands of the church in which it is installed. The church is to be congratulated upon securing this magnificent instrument.

The Presbytery of Boston.

The Boston Presbytery of "The Presbyterian church in the United States of America,"—which is the legal title of the great body of nearly 1,000,000 members commonly called the Northern Presbyterian church,—will meet in the Fourth church, Broadway, South Boston, next Tuesday. In the evening, the retiring moderator, Rev. Robert Westly Peach, pastor of the Quincy church on Water street will preach a sermon. The Presbytery of Boston comprises all of New Enlgand east of the Connecticut river. It was a small body until within fifteen or twenty years, but is now growing rapidly, having over forty churches, sixty ministers, and nearly 7,000 communicant members.

"Jubilate Deo,"	Schubert

Solo, "The Pharisee."	Beardsley

—It is announced from Washington that the total expenditures on account of the Spanish war have now reached about $232,000,000. This probably includes only the money directly paid out in settlement of accounts. It is a bookkeeper's statement of running expenses. The real cost of the war mounts up far beyond these figures, and the contingent and future expenses will add enormously to the total. Has the war been worth what it has cost? In answering this question we must bear in mind that war costs lives as well as money, it costs wounds and sickness and suffering—and it costs pensions. These are things that can't be reckoned in present value, and they count up terribly. Now, for $232,000,000 we could have bought Cuba from Spain, with the Philippines thrown in—if we would take them, which we never would have thought of doing—and we should be just where we are now without firing a shot and without some 10,000 of our citizens killed, wounded and dead of tropical diseases. City Solicitor Blackmur Entitled to Much Credit.

Editors of the Ledger:

Representative Sheppard has undoubtedly done conscientious and good work for the Quincy boulevard, and due credit should be given him; but it seems to me that your paper in giving him all the credit for the progress accomplished on the Mayors' bill at the State House, has been doing an injustice to the City Solicitor Blackmur, who drew the bill and got Mr. Sheppard to introduce the same at the State House on behalf of Mayor Keith; and he has put in a great deal of work and has given constant attention to its successful passage.

Mr. Blackmur attended the committee meetings of the citizens and conducted the hearing at the State House and got the attention and interest of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs by closing for the petitioners' case with a very forcible argument and address. Since that time, he has been in constant touch with the committee and has accompanied the committee while taking views of two occasions. When the Metropolitan Committee took a view of the shore front, Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Titus accompanied them from the State House, and Mr. Blackmur met them at the Atlantic station with carriages and conducted the committee in their investigations thereafter.

To these three gentlemen who have given so largely of their time to this matter, due credit should be given.

The Quincy Boulevard is not yet an accomplished fact, by any means. If Quincy gets it, there must be united work on the part of not a few men, but of all the citizens; particularly, those through whose property the parkway is proposed to be built. The Committee on Way and Means has yet to pass upon the project, and it has been openly stated by members of the same that, unless the options were clear and regular, without conditions, and comparatively small sums, the Legislature would not approve of taking up the work. The cost of construction itself is by far the largest item; but if the property holders insist upon obtaining the market value for their land, the bill will eventually fail, because of the expense of the entire taking.

Observer.

Unity Club.

There was the usual large attendance at the regular meeting of the Unity club at the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church last evening. President Finch presided and Mrs. H. W. Lull acted as secretary. Mr. Frederic Allison Tupper was to have conducted the meeting but was unavoidably compelled to be absent.

It was voted to place the entire charge of the banquet in the hands of the executive committee. It will probably be held at some Boston hotel.

Miss Madeleine Fish of the High school presented an interesting paper on "the unification of Italy," Victor Emanuel, and Cavour; Mrs. Wilson Marsh spoke on Garibaldi, and Mrs. George G. Saville on Carlo Dolce and his Madonnas.

Professor Marceau of the Quincy Mansion school conducted the musical part of the programme opening by reading a paper on that great Italian volinist and composer Arditi. Miss Isadore Chase Lull, a pupil of Professor Marceau' then sang with pleasing effect one of Arditi's songs, "Why do I love." Mr. Cressman of the Quincy Mansion school played a group of two pieces on the piano by Schuman, "Soaring" and "Whims"; Professor Marceau sang another of Arditi's songs, "The Gondelier's last good night," and Mr. Howard, the instructor in violin at the same school, played a solo.

—The City Council has carried its point over the Mayor's veto and provided by ordinance that every male subordinate employed in the municipal departments must be a voter in the city of Boston. This is all right, if such an ordinance will hold good under the charter. The Mayor thinks it will not; that the City Council had gone beyond its powers in interfering with the executive in the employment of labor. This is a point for the courts to decide—if ever a case is brought before them, which is not likely to happen. There is some force in the objection of the Mayor, stated in his veto message, that by the terms of the new ordinance all minors would be excluded from employment in the city service; and there are a good many of these. But setting aside this point, there is little doubt that public opinion will sustain the policy of employing only citizens of Boston in the work of the city of Boston.—Boston Courier.

A SETBACK FOR QUAY.

Expert Says "Red Book" Was Undoubtedly a Book of the Bank.

Considered a Decided Victory For the Prosecution.

Philadelphia, April 15.—The fifth day's proceedings in the trial of ex-United States Senator Quay opened with the continued examination of William E. Hagan, the handwriting expert.

Mr. Quay entered the courtroom 10 minutes before the opening, and taking his accustomed seat, conversed with the expert accountant engaged by the defense. It became apparent upon the arrival of Mr. Quay's counsel that at almost any stage of the proceedings would come the battle over the admission of the "red book." Mr. Watson and Mr. Shapley went carefully over its pages, and made copious notes therefrom.

As the trial proceeded, persistent, keen and brilliant argument developed between District Attorney Rothermel on the one side, and Messrs. Watson, Shapley and Shields on the other, upon the admission of testimony which may go a long way to establish the alleged guilt of Mr. Quay, and it culminated in a decided victory for the prosecution.

The "red book" found in Cashier Hopkins' desk after his suicide, and upon the admission of which the commonwealth so largely rests its case, was the shaft the district attorney aimed at the defence. To pave the way for the final effort to introduce the book itself, he succeeded, after frequent clashes with the opposing counsel, sometimes bitter and personal, in presenting expert testimony to prove that the book was necessarily a book of the bank, as accounts in the books admitted under the court's ruling would be made intelligible by the "red book."

Before starting his examination, Mr. Rothermel read to the court a statement of what he intended to prove. The expert, he said, had made a thorough examination of all the books in the case. He found that previous to April 30, 1891, the People's bank paid interest on the state deposit to the state treasurer; that records of such payments were kept in a regular way on the books of the bank. After April 30, 1891, when Mr. Hopkins appeared on the scene, a new system was adopted. This entailed the addition of another book, now known as the "red book," to the books heretofore kept by the bank.

Meyer Goldsmith, an expert accountant, was the witness upon which the commonwealth depended to accomplish its contention. During the whole course of the expert's examination, objection after objection was made by the defense, and as frequently overruled by Judge Biddl while the district attorney in logical sequence drew from the witness his conclusions as to the book, based upon a comparison of what was writte n on its pages with what appeared in the other books. After it was all over, four hours of examination and cross-examination, interspersed with argument, this much was sworn to by the witness:

Two accounts of upwards of $1000 in the regular books were incomplete and inaccurate, unless explained by entries in the "red book." One was an item for $1519, entered in the individual ledger to the credit of the person who received it. The witness was not permitted to designate the person by name. He found this item on the stub of the cashier's check book, but what it represented he could not say until he had examined the calculations in the "red book." Here he found the amount entered, and the indications that it had been paid by the cashier's check on Nov. 4, 1897.

Another item of $5532.10 he found in the regular book, dated May 24, 1894, and found the same item in the red book dated Oct. 30, 1894. He stated that there were other entries in the red book which explained transactions in the regular book, but the two instances specified were the only ones in which he could reach accurate conclusions as to their nature and purpose.

Mr. Goldsmith said that when he first opened the "red book" he did not consider it a book of the bank, but when he compared the calculations entered on its pages with the transactions in the other books, he was forced to consider it a book of the bank. He explained this by saying that prior to 1891 calculations such as appeared in the "red book" were regularly entered in the ledger, but since then the "red book" had been substituted and fulfilled and fixed the same results.

During the cross-examination of the witness, which was conducted by Mr. Shields, he testified to a page which was missing. The defense repeatedly endeavored to get from him the statement that there might have been figures and words on that page which would clearly explain the entries on the other pages and that the book as it now stands is undesirable. This was ruled out, following an objection by the district attorney. This would seem to indicate that when the final effort to present the book in evidence comes, the defense will make another determined opposition to it on that ground, even if the court should decide that with relation to the transactions testified to it is a book of the bank.

During all the examination touching on the book with the exception of the two items mentioned, no intimation of the amounts or names was allowed to reach the jury. The prosecution all along, however, has alleged this book will show that Cashier Hopkins computed interest on state funds and deposited the money to Senator Quay's credit.

Licked Up by Flames.

Norwich, Conn., April 15.—A fire at "Bean Hill," a suburb, at a late hour last night, totally destroyed the Waverly hotel, two tenement houses, two barns and partially destroyed a third house.

CONCLUSIONS REACHED BY ALGER.

Returns From His Visit to Cuba and Porto Rico With Renewed Faith.

Washington, April 15.—Secretary Alger returned last night from Cuba and Porto Rico, where he spent the last three weeks making a personal investigation of conditions in those islands. In an interview last night Secretary Alger said: "I had no adequate idea of the wonderful possibilities of Cuba and Porto Rico before my personal investigation, and I return to Washington with renewed faith. All that I ever imagined has been more than realized. Under no circumstances would I now consent to the surrender of Porto Rico, which is now our territory, nor would I place the slightest check upon the great work which is being done for Cuba. The duty we have taken upon ourselves of holding Cuba in trust for civilization is a noble one."

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 15.—By a yea and nay vote the senate rejected a bill for a uniform rate of wages and hours of labor for workmen engaged in public work.

Bills were engrossed to permit Fall River to incur indebtedness for a textile school; as to allowance to be paid in certain cases to the widow and children of a deceased person; to prevent erection of unauthorized structures in a city or town; to raise salary of clerk of the third district court of eastern Middlesex; to provide for establishment of textile schools in all large textile cities.

A bill to permit cities and towns to take not more than an acre of land for public uses by right of eminent domain was rejected.

Reference to the next general court was reported in the house on a bill appropriating $25,000 for five mural decorations at the state house, and on a bill for the survey of forest and waste lands in the state.

Mr. Dean of Brookline introduced a bill, which was referred to the committee on rules, to extend the time for the filing of petitions for damages for land taken for the new southern station. Mr. Smith of Waltham offered an order giving the committee on manufactures authority to send for persons and papers in connection with the consideration of the 14th annual report of the board of gas and electric light commissioners. The order went over.

Mr. Feiker asked the house to substitute his bill to require vestibule street car platforms to be used during the winter months for the adverse report of the committee on street railways. The bill was substituted.

Mr. Carey asked the substitution of his Haverhill grade crossing bill for the bill reported by the committee on railroads. Substitution was refused and the bill passed to be engrossed.

When the bill including refrigerated companies in the act relating to the use of streets by corporations came up an amendment was offered restoring the provision that such companies shall be subject to such restrictions as the mayor and aldermen of a city or the selectmen of a town may impose. The amendment was adopted and the bill passed to be engrossed.

Mr. Davenport moved an amendment to the bill for the codification and amendment of the laws relating to the preservation of trees by striking out the provision requiring towns to elect tree wardens. The amendment was rejected and the bill engrossed. Mr. Davenport raised the point of no quorum. When one was secured, the vote on the bill was 104 to 0 in favor of the bill.

Freshies Got Worst of It.

Troy, N. Y., April 15.—The annual banquet of the sophomore class of the Rochester polytechnic institute was held here last night, and the attempt of the freshmen to prevent it almost precipitated a riot. The students came into collision with the police, and several were severely handled and others arrested. The sophomers captured nearly the entire freshman class, keeping the members in out-of-the-way places until the banquet hour, and held its feast amid great enthusiasm.

Plunged Into an Abyss.

Seattle, Wash., April 15.—A Post Intelligencer special from Wellington says: While a rotary snowplow was clearing the Great Northern track this side of Madison it was struck by an avalanche and dashed 100 feet down a canyon. There were seven men on the engine in addition to the regular crew. All have been dug out of the snow but one. Four men were injured, three probably fatally. About 170 men are searching for the missing man.

To Cross Bats Today.

New York, April 15.—The baseball championship season will be opened in this district today with a game between the Brooklyn and Boston teams. Livelier interest was never manifested in the opening game than is felt in the contest between the Brooklyns and the champions. The game will be preceded by a concert.

Infant Strangled.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 15.—The dead body of a female infant about 3 weeks old was found in the west part of the city last evening, the circumstances indicating that it had been strangled with a piece of cord. An autopsy was held, and it is more than hinted that some very sensational developments will follow.

Three Years For Manslaughter.

Corning, N. Y., April 15.—In the supreme court here, Delancey F. Dubois, who killed Jerome Mattice by fracturing his skull with a water pitcher at the state soldiers' home in January, was allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter in the second degree and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Gans Became Exhausted.

New York, April 15.—Joseph Gans, the Baltimore lightweight, went down before George McFadden of New York in the 23rd round of their fight last night. Gans was not completely knocked out, but fell from exhaustion and was unable to regain his feet after he dropped. It was a rattling good fight.

Arkansas Justice.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 15.—The grand jury has refused to indict any of the men held by the coroner's jury to have been responsible for the killing of Chief of Police Toler, Sergeant Goslee, Detective Hart and Lewis Hinkle in a street fight a few weeks ago.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

Situation In General Appears to Be Highly Satisfactory In All Branches.

New York, April 15.—Bradstreet's says: Real spring weather has improved the tone of general trade, particularly at retail, and correspondingly helped jobbing distribution, but, at the same time, brought last winter's injury to the wheat crop more in evidence. The regular monthly government crop report proved rather more favorable than expected. Other cereals are but little changed, while the movement of our breadstuffs abroad at present seems to be on a lessening scale. Among the favorable features coming to light this week might be mentioned the receipt of continued good railroad earnings reports, advices of widespread industrial activity, accompanied by rather less than usual friction, as reflected in strikes for higher wages, and a largely improved distribution of wool, which appears to have wakened at last from its long sleep. Sales of this staple, indeed, are the heaviest reported for many weeks past, mills inside and outside of the combinations having bought freely of territory and other domestic grades. Large quantities of wool, however, have been bought for re-export, English buyers bidding freely for high grade Australian sorts. The strength of raw sugar has finally been reflected in higher rates for refined.

The iron and steel industry remains firm, though the tone of the market generally is quieter.

Current demand for dry goods at the east is quieter, though fall orders are reported notably good, and dress woolens are in satisfactory demand.

Boots and shoes are firm at the advance made over the season's opening quotations.

Bank clearings for the week reflect heavy financial operations, consequent on new trade and industrial combinations and active stock speculation.

Business failures for the week number 248, as against 190 last week, 215 in this week a year ago, 195 in 1897, 244 in 1896 and 219 in 1895.

Old-Time Politician Dying.

Worcester, Mass., April 15.—Eli Thayer, familiarly known at one time throughout this country as "the father of Kansas," is fatally ill with an acute kidney trouble, brought on by a cold. He is now in a comatose state, and his death is thought to be a matter of but a few hours. He was elected to congress from this district in 1856 on a fusion ticket, receiving the votes of the members of the Republican and American parties. He served two terms and was then defeated.

Iron Moulders' Grievances.

Providence, April 15.—The Iron Moulders' union here will present a demand to the foundry men for increased wages. Piece work is also to be considered. The movement is to be started simultaneously in Providence, Pawtucket and Worcester. The moulders wish to have the matter submitted to arbitration and do not expect any trouble. They will not give any definite statement until they have presented their demands to the foundrymen, but admit that certain demands will be made.

Will Soon Be Needed.

Washington, April 15.—In anticipation of a largely increased demand for notes of small denominations when the fall crop movement begins, the secretary of the treasury is making arrangements materially to increase the treasury holdings of these small notes by raising the capacity for the production of ones, twos, fives and tens from $492,000 per day to $780,000, or $800,000 a day. It is thought that by July 1 a sufficient amount of these notes will be available to meet any possible emergency.

A FINE RESIDENCE.

This Design Requires Large and Well Kept Grounds.

[Copyright, 1899, by George Palliser, 32 Park place, New York.]

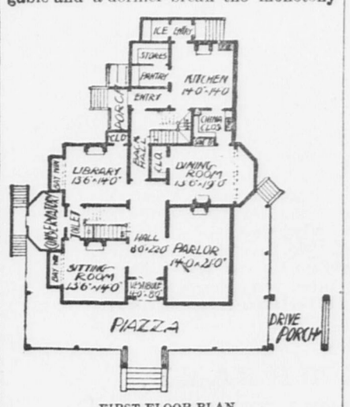

A well balanced plan and exterior need not be in symmetrical lines or built so that every part of the center line is a facsimile of every other part. The greatest utility has no use for symmetry. The most useful plan is that which best gives the rooms and conveniences for the greatest comfort of its inmates, and this condition generally brings forth irregular forms and surfaces. A careful study of an irregular plan of the practical architect will bring it out so that it will look well balanced and not appear incongruous or one sided. This latter is an element a careful man works to avoid, and, although he may have large and small openings side by side, he so reconciles them in detail that they agree and naturally become parts of a harmonizing whole. Variety is the spice of life. So is it in architecture. But variety with harmony is an essential and must be had for the sake of balance. The true architect aims to balance his irregularities, and by his composition he attracts the eye and gratifies the mind. This is art, and all art ought to be beautiful and certainly will be if it is pure.

In the erection of a large frame country house where the different rooms are of varied sizes the arrangement must of necessity be varied. The roof lines are irregular, giving a good sky line. A tower, a gable and a dormer break the monotony and, if grouped and properly balanced, lend a charm that is pleasing. Above all things, avoid deceit. Let there be no imitation windows, no false blinds, no fakes of any kind. Be honest and truthful in the construction. Let each part be true to nature, everything with a purpose, for a purpose, and let sincerity rule. Perpetrate no lies. Let your wood be wood, your brick be brick. Use all honestly and wisely and with practical common sense, and you will have the elements and resources leading up to success. And, depend upon it, nothing succeeds like success. This is as true in the planning and erection of a home as in any other business transaction.

In planning a home after this design it is necessary to study many points to attain the result. First an ideal site is needed. This should be on a corner if possible. An eastern front, with side to south, would be preferable. This would bring the veranda and the conservatory into full and proper play and place the rooms and conveniences in the best positions. The center hall and entrance running through the house are most desirable, the rooms being on each side, well adjusted and grouped together for family use. The kitchen part is carefully adjusted. The pantries, the back stairs, the connection with the halls and the arrangements generally present a model it would be well to follow. The house requires a large site, plenty of ground, well kept lawns, shrubs, plants and flowers as accessory embellishments and a well filled purse to enjoy all.

Polishing Up Old Furniture.

To polish up old furniture, where paint is not desirable, there are numerous furniture polishes, all said to be good. A "home remedy," which if not repeated too often is very efficacious, is a woolen cloth moistened with coal oil. This removes the grease and smoke. It should, however, be used sparingly, as it is likely to affect the varnish. If rubbed thoroughly afterward with a chamois skin or fresh cloth, there is very little of the disagreeable odor left. With any of the polishes a good rule to remember is, Avoid putting on too much of the polish, but don't be afraid of rubbing.—Exchange.

Turkish Chairs.

No home is completely furnished without one or more Turkish chairs. They are at once inviting and an evidence of hospitality. The cheaper ones are covered in denim and the higher priced ones in leather. They also come in imitation leather, which has excellent wearing qualities.—Exchange.

Care of Lamp Wicks.

Lamp wicks need to be boiled out and cleansed every two weeks. This prevents danger from explosion and greatly increases the size and brilliancy of the flame.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

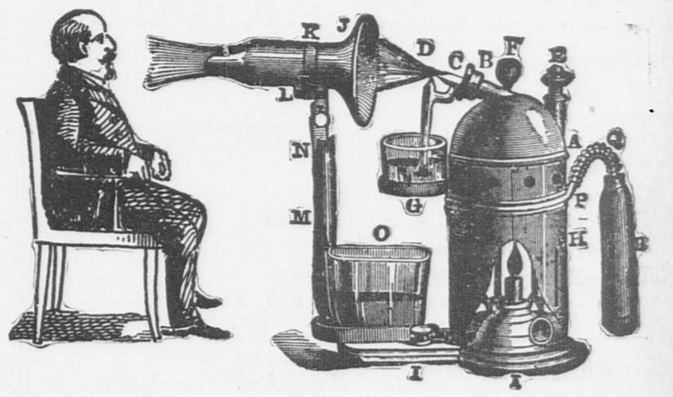

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet if their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

PINGREE ON "TRUSTS."

Great Industrial Evil Overshadows All Other Political Problems.

New Jersey Invited to Secede From the Union.

The Governor Makes Suggestions Looking Toward Industrial Freedom.

New York, April 15.—The announcement that Governor Pingree of Michigan was to speak last night under the auspices of the Peoples' institute in Cooper Union hall, attracted an immense gathering. His subject was "Trusts," and he said in part:

"There is no more important problem before the people today than the 'trust' and what to do with it. Is it a menace to our commercial institutions? Does it imperil our national life and character? Should it be made a legal outlaw, or merely to be regulated by law? Can the problem be solved with equal justice to capital and labor?

GOVERNOR PINGREE.

"Like all questions, it has two sides, and both must be fairly stated. It cannot be solved by denunciations on the part of those who believe in drastic measures. On the other hand, the manipulator or managers of trusts cannot quiet the public clamor by looking on with a 'what-are-you-going-to-do-about-it' attitude.

"The Christ religion given to the world by the Man of Nazareth has given mankind spiritual freedom. The emancipation proclamation gave man physical freedom. Industrial freedom is now demanded by nine-tenths of the world's population.

"The trust creates conditions more serious than any of our people have ever faced, slavery and secession alone excepted. It may suit the plans of some people to push the trust into the background and treat the problem of imperialism and expansion as the only issue of the day. But, ignoring the industrial evil means either shielding the trusts or planning to profit politically on an artificial enthusiasm over war and new possessions.

"The trust of the present day is technically not a combine of many corporations. It is one huge corporation. The corporations whose property it has swallowed have dissolved and gone out of existence. In this way the trust of today seeks to avoid the anti-trust law.

"I believe that the trust problem should not be made the football of politicians and political parties. I think all parties should make common war against it."

"Do not think that I am prejudiced if I suggest that the trust evil might be cured if all of the other states should extend an invitation to New Jersey to secede from the union. This, however, might be embarrassing just now. Our vice president and attorney general are both citizens of New Jersey.

"I am confident that the people of the United States who are suffering from the operations of the trusts would raise no objection if New Jersey should comply with such an invitation."

Continuing, Governor Pingree outlined his belief in government and municipal ownership of public utilities, state supervision and limitation of corporations, "which will do much to rid the country of the trust evil. It can at least prevent the watering of stock and the creation of excessive bonded indebtedness.

"This subject of the proper regulation or prevention of the trust is a very serious one. It must be dealt with in a spirit of respect for property rights. Above all, let us remember that life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are infinitely more important to the welfare of our country than the interests of incorporated wealth of all its people."

Values His Time.

Havana, April 15.—W. N. Hammond, who was formerly in business here, and who avers he was at one time "a bishop of the American Baptist church," and who was arrested at Holguin on General Ludlow's order in March for alleged swindling in Havana, has published a letter inveighing against American justice. Hammond, who claims to be a British subject, demands $5000 damage for each week he has spent in prison.

Italy Is Lenient.

Rome, April 15.—A semi-official note says that at the request of the government of the republic of Colombia, Italy has decided to grant a further delay of three months in carrying out the conditions of her ultimatum, at the same time insisting that during such interval Colombia must provide for the complete execution of President Cleveland's award by payment of the Cerruti debts.

Thirty Years More.

Plattsburg, N. Y., April 15.—James Williams, a colored convict, who stabbed Keeper Van Gorder at Clinton prison, was yesterday sentenced to 30 years in state prison, sentence to begin at the expiration of his present sentence in 1910.

CHAMBER'S DECISION REPUDIATED.

Conditions Were Changed, However, When Admiral Kautz Arrived at Apia.

Washington, April 15.—The Samoan situation occupied the attention of the cabinet at its meeting yesterday. A full account of the proceedings there was laid before the cabinet by Secretary Hay, and also a rough draft of his instructions to Special Commissioner Tripp. The one important feature in which the report of affairs made yesterday differs from that of the newspapers is in making the attitude of Germany in the whole matter seem much more reasonable; at least, that idea was gleaned from conversation with cabinet officers. It appears that the three consuls had at first agreed in refusing to recognize the decision of Chief Justice Chambers in seating Mataafa as king, but when Admiral Kautz arrived on the scene, he declared that the Berlin treaty had been violated, and after a conference with all parties interested, it was agreed between the American and British consuls to repudiate so much of an agreement as they had made with the German consul and to resist Mataafa, saying that what they had done had been done merely to avert riot and anarchy.

Mr. Tripp is allowed wide discretion in negotiating with the other commissioners for a new scheme of government for the islands. It is suggested that the new plan will differ from the present one principally in eliminating the natives as a factor, and especially in their nominal claim of naming the king. If the commissioners cannot agree, the matter will revert to diplomatic channels.

After hearing yesterday from the British and German embassies, the state department was enabled to announce positively and finally that the three parties to the Berlin treaty had agreed upon the instructions to be given their Samoan commissioners, and that it was certain that the commission would leave San Francisco on the 25th on the Badger for Samoa.

A Suicide's Statement.

Cumberland, Md., April 15.—Professor J. C. Eckford, aged 63 years, who has been a teacher of violin and piano music in southern colleges, and was a member of Stuart's cavalry, Confederate army, attempted suicide by shooting in front of the residence of Governor Lowndes yesterday. He will probably die. Eckford is a distinguished looking old school gentleman with flowing beard. Among his effects at a boarding house was found the following statement: "The reasons for my killing myself are nobody's business. From a customary curiosity people meddle and inquire into things that concern them not. Let the law take its course. I am solely and responsible for being dead. I recognize no God, for there is none. The few appurtenances I have will certainly defray my expenses at the Porter House."

Keystone Senatorial Tangle.

Harrisburg, April 15.—A paper is being circulated among the Republican senators for a general conference of Republican legislators next Monday evening to discuss the senatorial situation. This meeting will be held after the conference called by Senator Grady. The anti-Quay Republican senators and members will probably attend the conference. A conference of the Republicans whose slogan is "Quay or nobody" will also be held Monday evening. The outcome of these numerous gatherings on the senatorial deadlock is awaited with much interest.

Threats by Mrs. George.

Canton, O., April 13.—During the trial of Mrs. Anna George yesterday numerous threats by Mrs. George against the life of Saxton were testified to. Many of the statements were coupled with Mrs. George's story of the alleged wrongs to her at Saxton's hands, which she told witnesses in connection with her threats. A disappointment to the prosecution was the failure of a witness to satisfy the court that he was qualified to judge Mrs. George's writing, and thus identify a letter which it was sought to prove she had written.

Victory For Juniors.

Cambridge, Mass., April 15.—The annual eight-oared race for the Harvard class championship was rowed yesterday afternoon over the mile and seven-eighths course in the Charles river basin. The juniors won after a very pretty race, the seniors having lapped the winners from start to finish. The sophomores finished over a length behind the seniors. The freshmen did not enter a crew. The race was rowed in the record time of 9m. 28s., under conditions slightly less favorable than those under which the record was made.

New Yorker Ahead.

Boston, April 15.—In the national fencing tournament at the Boston Athletic association, George Kavanagh, representing the New York Athletic club, demonstrated his superiority over the crack foil fencers of the country. It was a close contest for second place between Charles Latham of the Fencers' club of New York and Brownell of the Boston Athletic association, the former eventually winning after an extra bout.

Will Be Named Colnmbia.

New York, April 15.—Secretary Oddie of the New York Yacht club has received a dispatch from C. O. Iselin of New Rochelle, stating that the new cup defender will be named "Columbia."

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:02; sets, 6:27.
Moon sets—12:08 a. m.
High water—3:30 a. m.; 4 p. m.

The area of low barometer which occupied upper Michigan Thursday night has moved eastward over the St. Lawrence valley and diminished in energy The passage of this disturbance has been attended by light showers from the middle and upper Mississippi valley over the Ohio valley, the lake regions, and the middle Atlantic and New England states. The weather will be fair and cooler in New England, and fair weather will prevail generally in all districts. Along the Atlantic coast fresh westerly winds will prevail, becoming variable.

PUSHING NORTHWARD.

Five Sharpshooters Killed by Rebels Under Cover of Bushes.

Filipinos Desert Towns as Americans Advance.

Lawson Cannot Garrison Places Entered, as He Lacks Sufficient Troops.

Manila, April 15.—General Lawton is marching north, along the road between the hills and the lake, with the army gunboats Kapiden and Laguna de Bay abreast of his troops. The enemy is retreating northward.

On Wednesday the troops crossed the Pansanghan and concentrated at Lambun, at the north of the river. After leaving two companies of the Fourteenth regiment to guard the entrance of the river the troops marched to Longas and found it deserted. Furniture which had been dropped in the flight of the natives was scattered along the trails leading into the hills.

Major Welsenberger's sharpshooters were sent toward Pactos Ancontonia in the afternoon. They ran upon a nest of rebels in some thick bushes, which afforded a splendid cover. Five men of the North Dakota regiment were killed and two were wounded, two of the former dying after having been brought to Longas church.

The main body of the American troops, while at dinner in Longas heard the firing and advanced to the support of the sharpsnooters. A scout from a hill saw the little fight and many whitecoats running into the hills. The Laguna de Bay, at the beginning of the fight, shelled the hills, making them too hot for the enemy.

The Americans entered San Antonio at sunset without meeting with any resistance. Twenty unarmed prisoners, bearing copies of a proclamation of the United States Philippine commission, which they had somehow secured, were afterwards released and sent outside our lines with bundles of proclamations to distribute.

Starting in an easterly direction along the road to Pansanghan, a party of 60 sharpshooters, under Lieutenant Southern of the Washington regiment, came upon a trench across the road about a mile out of Santa Cruz. Lieutenant Southern was wounded. The Americans then advanced with the mountain guns and the Fourteenth infantry battalions in the center, a battalion of the First Idaho infantry on the right, and a battalion of the First North Dakota infantry on the left, both flanking. The trench was carried without loss to the Americans.

Pansanghan was found deserted. Four monuments on the border of the village celebrate the proclamation of Filipino independence, issued last year, and glorify "Aguinaldo, the liberator."

The troops on entering the abandoned houses found them in perfect order. A few guerilla shots were exchanged; and one member of the Fourteenth regiment was shot in the leg by his comrades, who were aiming at a cariboo.

One Filipino was killed and five wounded in the encounter beyond Longas. This was an ambush. Eight men of the North Dakota regiment, moving in single file through the woods, received a volley from a clump of bushes about 50 feet away. Only one got off unhurt. He dragged a comrade with four bullets in his body to the main force and then led the troops back to the spot of attack. The Filipinos were easily scattered.

An additional Filipino dead found north of Santa Cruz swell the number of the enemy killed on Monday to 150, including Paolo Aguirre, one of the leaders and 12 officers.

According to the statement of some of the prisoners the Filipinos drove 100 Spanish prisoners and 12 priests into Santa Cruz at the point of the bayonet on unday night. Four other priests died of starvation. It appears that the Filipino force at Santa Cruz consisted of 300 rifles and 1000 bolos.

As he lacks sufficient troops for garrisoning, General Lawton will withdraw from the towns entered. Not a house has been burned, the only confiscation being of pigs and chickens. It is hoped that this respect for property will convince the natives of the good intentions of the Americans.

At Pansanghan a woman was found hidden in a basket and a youth buried in mud, except as to his head. Both were given food and money, to their great astonishment.

All non-combatants are released with American proclamations to be distributed to their friends; and all church valuables are forwarded to the archbishop.

Lieutenant Brooke has brought to Manila one of the captured steamers, with five of the American dead, 10 of the wounded and 50 who were sick. Most of the sick attribute their disorders to the Cuban campaign. Through the treachery or ignorance of the Filipino pilot the steamer was stranded a whole day, the provisions failed and there was some suffering on that score.

Body Had Decomposed.

Providence, April 15.—The body of James Cameron, aged about 60, was found in an attic room yesterday, and from the stage of decomposition reached the medical examiner decided that life had been extinct for about four weeks. The old man died from natural causes. He lived alone, and the other occupants of the house had paid little attention to his coming or going. It was the stench caused by the decay of the body that led to the discovery that Cameron was dead.

HEADACHES

Are almost invariably the result of defective eyes, and a common and serious defect is Astigmatism, the amount and axis of which is not always perfectly corrected by the methods in ordinary use.

We use the opthalmometer to discover astigmatism. This instrument is relied on by oculists and will reveal the trouble where other tests fail.

If you have a difficult case consult us. We will give your case careful and special attention, and we feel sure that you will not be disappointed at the result.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

It is possible that some of our customers who painted their houses ten years ago may be thinking now that it is time to brush up their property, and this advertisement is to remind them that the Chilton Paint is made to-day as it has always been made, of pure Linseed Oil and Turpentine Drier. It is measured by the United States standard gallon, and it is just what it purports to be, the best article of paint that can possibly be manufactured.

Most of the dealers who handled it years ago continue its sale. They find that it is an article of merit and it brings them business in other lines. Other paints may be bought cheaper, but the Chilton in the end is the cheapest paint of all. It cannot look streaked, because the tints are ground into the liquid paint. If you buy a gallon you get a gallon and not part of one. Tested by weight, measure, covering properties and durability, it stands at the head and is standard.

Good Afternoon.

There does not seem to be a very clear understanding among some, of the effect on the maturing municipal debt of future years if $100,000 is refunded. They have an idea that if the taxes are eased up a little this year, that they may be oppressive some other year. Such is not the fact if the Council of 1899 and future years are more careful in apportioning new loans. Aside from new loans, the effect of refunding $40,000 this year, $40,000 in 1900 and $20,000 in 1901 would be as follows; the first column showing the amount now maturing, and the second the new adjustment:

Year.	Now Maturing.	Readjustment.
1899,	$81,950.25	*$41,950.25
1900,	62,700.00	†26,700.00
1901,	32,655.61	‡20,655.61
1902,	17,300.00	27,300.00
1903,	16,900.00	26,900.00
1904,	16,000.00	26,000.00
1905,	15,500.00	25,500.00
1906,	13,500.00	23,500.00
1907,	5,000.00	15,000.00
1908,	4,000.00	14,000.00
1909,	0.00	10,000.00
1910,	0.00	6,000.00
1911,	0.00	2,000.00

*$40,000.00 extended in 1899.
†$40,000.00 extended in 1900.
‡$20,000.00 extended in 1901.

This would put the city in excellen shape. If we pay off $41,950 25 this year, we will be paying over fifteen per cent. of the municipal debt of $265,505.86, and that is enough. It is always necessary to make some one-year loans, but these with the proportional part of other loans contracted this year should keep the maturing debt for 1900 below $40,000, that is provided $40,000 is refunded as proposed. As the valuation increases, the taxpayers can pay a little over $40,000 per year, but Quincy should not after 1900 be called upon to pay more than $2 per $1,000 on its tax rate for maturing debt. In 1900 the valuation will be about $20,000,000 and the average increase per year will then be about a million dollars each year, so that $2 per $1000 will pay $40,000 in 1900, $42,000 in 1901, $44,000 in 1902 and so on. It should be easy to keep the tax rate below $17 in future years.

The curfew law to amount to much should fix a still earlier hour for younger children to be indoors. Nine-thirty is rather late, even for some boys of fourteen and fifteen. Then again 9.30 in winter is much later than 9.30 in summer. It is a difficult matter to regulate.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The big dailies are printing pictures of the St. Louis judge who gave a decision that husbands, under certain provocation, might beat their wives. The pictures indicate that the judge is a man who, on very slight provocation, could do a little wife beating on his own account. He is not fitted for his exalted position and every self-respecting husband in St. Louis should at once petition for his removal from the bench he has so signally disgraced.—Hyde Park Gazette.

☞ Representative Bennett of Saugus is evidently a believer in the early bird theory, since he has already launched his canoe for the speakership of the next House. There are times, however, when the bird gets up too early for the worm. But as between himself and Mr. Meyers of Cambridge, Mr. Bennett possesses superior qualifications for the place, despite his at times rather ardent temperament. Nobody disputes his ability, and people in these days rather prefer the man when he strikes from the shoulder when he believes such muscular exercise to be necessary. Mr. Bennett does not always smile, but you can always tell where to find him, which is better.—Milford Journal.

☞ Why should not a city add a Board of Publicity to its outfit? Cities need advertising, are desirous of increasing their population and amount of their business. A city might profitably establish a bureau, in which the possibilities and drawbacks of the city, in the way of attracting new manufactures, could be considered. It would have charge of the work of interesting capitalists and manufacturers in the question of new locations. It could have the oversight of the industries of the city, and when a small manufacturer shows sufficient progress to warrant the investment of further capital, it might aid the city by increasing the business of the city's own small manufacturers.—Lynn News.

☞ Many leading physicians don't take much stock in the alleged discovery of the cancer microbe. It isn't so many years ago that leading physicians didn't take stock in the microbe theory in any direction. Now it's pretty much all microbe, and why not give the cancer microbe a show? "Live and learn" is as good a motto for the medical fraternity as for any other walk in life.—Milford Journal.

Q. H. S. Defeated.

The Quincy High School nine played its first game of the season at the Park Friday afternoon, being defeated rather easily by the Hyde Park High school, 22 to 10. The game was loosely played by both sides, though Quincy showed up weak where strength was needed. Hyde Park batted strongly and fielded well at times. For Quincy Reardon did clever work in left field and made the first run for Quincy in the fifth inning.

She is also one of the founders of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the first suggestion about its formation coming from her and the first meeting looking to organization being held at her house in Washington. New College For Women.

Joseph Sawyer and Henry G. Nichols of Boston, trustees under the will of John Simmons, an old Boston merchant who died about 25 years ago, have petitioned the legislature for an act to incorporate them and their associates as trustees of the Simmons Female college, which institution, under a clause in the will of Mr. Simmons, was to be founded when a certain sum had accumulated in the hands of the trustees. This amount, it is stated, has now reached $2,000,000.

The bill which accompanies the petition states that the purpose of the institution is to furnish to women instruction in such branches of art, science and industry as may be best calculated to enable them to acquire an independent livelihood.—Boston Letter

To Banish Flies.

Flies are always objectionable and annoying, and especially so in a sick-room, where they may also be the means of spreading infection. It is a good thing to know that fumigating with carbolic acid not only acts as a disinfectant, but also as a preventive of the fly nuisance. A simple fumigator is made by fastening a patty pan by means of a bracket made of twisted wire attached to and projecting from the neck of a ginger beer bottle above a night light. As the light burns the carbolic fumes of the disinfectant in the pan will fill the air and make it unbearable to insect pests. It is necessary to place the fumigator well out of reach of children, for not only is carbolic acid poisonous, but it is capable of inflicting the most dreadful burns.

Women Gardeners.

The women's branch of the Horticultural college at Kent, England, has had in the past seven years 125 students, of whom 38 have completed their training. Thirty-eight of the students are reported as holding or having held positions in gardens, public or private. There can be no more agreeable and useful occupation for women than that of horticulture, and the results from this college are most encouraging. There is a greater demand for women gardeners than the institution is able to supply. One of the institutions named as employing a woman gardener is the Lady Henry Somerset home, at Duxhurst.

Texts For the Young Wife.

There are scores of texts upon which the young wife will do well to heed exhortation—keeping herself beautiful and young and her household cheerful, orderly and exquisitely clean; studying deeply the right selection of human foods; adapting herself to her relations-in-law; liberally tolerating if not subscribing to her husband's politics and religion; bravely defending him against the adverse criticism of others, and never, never censuring his weaknesses to relatives or friends.—Carrie E. Garrett in Woman's Home Companion.

FRANCE.

The name of the new president of France is pronounced as though it were spelled "Loobay."—Nashville Banner.

The French republic has again baffled the widespread desire in Europe to predict its death and attend its funeral.—Philadelphia Press.

There is another humane thing in the French form of government. They don't incarcerate a man in the vice presidency over there.—Washington Post.

If France ever hopes to enjoy the respect of the great bulk of civilization some day, she will elect a president with a name like Smith or Jones, so the newspaper reader can pronounce it without a day or two for practice.—Pittsburg Times.

Fair are the fields in the spring with the sweet perfumed breath of the meadows,
Fresh as the green mossy dells where the gorse flares its torches of gold;
Winter has gone from the earth and returned to the kingdom of shadows;
Feelings rush out from the heart, like to frozen streams losing their hold.

Yet as I stand in the light of the sun and in gladness rejoice
Deep in my heart there arises a restless, dissatisfied voice—
"Life's hopes are never fulfilled; there is always left something to long for!"
—Lilian Eleanor Barlow in Madame.

A MAN'S LIFE.

"It is a question," Professor Kirkhoffer said, quietly, "between this and that."

Saying thus, he looked down at the two objects between which choice had to be made. "This" was a man, a brown skinned man of the upper Asian steppes. He lay prone upon the desert sand, his eyes unseeing eyes, wide open, motionless save for an occasional twitching of the limbs as the fever shiver shook him; silent, except when his parched lips moved in the inarticulate mutter of delirium. The professor's gaze did not linger upon this piteous figure. It traveled to "that"—two loads of clay tablets, evidently of extreme antiquity and closely covered with a strange cuneiform character, which had just been carefully strapped by his companion to the backs of two kneeling camels.

"Seeing we are now reduced to two beasts only," he went on, his eye shifting for an instant to the body of a third camel, which lay dead some 20 yards off, "seeing also that we are in a waterless desert, probably 24 hours' ride from the nearest well and that this man is a dead weight on our hands"—

"You don't dream of abandoning the poor chap?" Dick Harding broke in.

The professor glanced uneasily over his smoked spectacles. Harding was a puzzle to him, a man of distinguished scientific attainments, capable of strong scientific enthusiasm, yet occasionally betraying a vein of sentimentality altogether out of place in connection with scientific exploration. Kirkhoffer had had inconvenient experience of this peculiarity more than once during the year spent with Harding in the remote fastnesses of Tibet.

"You wouldn't leave him here to die?" the Englishman persisted.

The professor rubbed his forehead thoughtfully. "He's bound to die soon in any case."

"I don't see that at all. If we can keep him alive till we get out of this"—

"Impossible, my friend. He cannot walk, and these two camels cannot carry him in addition to you and me and the tablets."

"Then leave some of the tablets behind."

The professor fairly gasped for breath.

"Leave—leave behind some of the tablets?" he stammered. "Leave the records of a civilization to which the Arcadian is a thing of yesterday—to be swallowed up by the next sandstorm? Give my great discovery, the greatest of the century, maimed and imperfect, to the world? Harding, you must be mad. What's the life of a Khirgiz Tartar beside these priceless things?"

Kirkhoffer's shortsighted eyes gleamed angrily behind his glasses; his voice was thick with passion.

"What's a Khirgiz Tartar?" he growled like a wild animal.

"He's a man, anyway," Harding retorted. "Suppose I refuse to leave this fellow?"

"Then"—the professor became all at once ominously cool—"I shall be forced to remind you that I am the head of this expedition and you my salaried assistant; also that these animals are my property. I go, and they go with me. You can join the party or not, as you please."

Harding grew pale. "That is the choice you offer me? Then I say you are a blackguard.

"And I say," indifferently, "that you are a fool. Come, will you mount?"

"No!" furiously.

The German shrugged his shoulders. "Have it your own way," he said. And, gathering up the long leading rein which he had fastened to the head of one camel, he prepared to seat himself on the other.

But here Harding sprang upon him suddenly. "No, you don't," he cried. "You shall leave me one, you brute, though it were a hundred times your property!"

"Stand off!" the professor cried.

Harding's answer was to close with him silently, and there ensued a trial of strength whereof the issue seemed for several minutes doubtful. The men were not ill matched. Kirkhoffer was the taller and heavier, but then he was also the elder by 20 years, and Harding's naturally lithe habit of body had known an English public school and university training. The result of the conflict was still uncertain when the professor suddenly loosed his hold and fell back, leaving the prize of contention, the led camel, almost in the other's clutch. Harding stooped to seize the creature's halter and rose again, to find himself covered by his antagonist's revolver.

"Now, perhaps," the man of science observed, "you will consent to hear reason. No use, my good friend," as Harding's hand went briskly to his breast pocket. "I drew the charge while you were asleep this morning in view of possible difficulties. You see, I know something of your strange English character. There is nothing like being ready for difficulties as they arise."

Dick Harding, under the covering revolver, stood erect and—dumb. To argue further with a man prepared to commit murder on behalf of his tablets of baked clay were simple waste of breath.

Keeping the muzzle of his weapon pointed full at Harding's breast, Professor Kirkhoffer mounted his camel, made both the great beasts get up and began to move on. As long as Harding remained within running up distance he continued to hold the revolver raised and leveled, sitting sideways on his animal to insure an accurate aim. But after a minute the camels broke into a long, awkward trot. In two minutes they were beyond pursuit. Then the professor pocketed his firearm and threw his leg across the saddle. "Your own fault, remember!" was his final greeting before he disappeared over the top of the nearest sand dune.

When he had disappeared, Harding looked about him, reviewing the situation. It was no cheering prospect that met his eye—a dead waste of sand hills to north, south, east and west, white hot in the glare of the tropical sun. Two dark blots alone broke the pale surface of the wilderness, the stiffening bulk of the dead camel and the limp figure of the fever stricken camel driver—truly no pleasant place to die in, more especially if you happen to be young and strong and the death to which you stand condemned is death by hunger and thirst. A few hours would exhaust the scanty remains of food and water left in the skin and saddlebag lying hard by the dead camel, and then—

Harding shook off anticipations of coming torture to take stock of his wretched commissariat and, rummaging in the bag, found a priceless treasure, nothing less than an untouched bottle of quinine! Why, with this he might hope to revive the Khirgiz, whose case, but for the supposed exhaustion of the expedition's medicine chest, had never been a serious one. Escape was yet possible.

Escape! From a trackless wilderness in which they could only wander aimlessly to and fro, having no single instrument by which to determine their position or point the way? Saving his assistant's pack, the professor had carried off everything.

No, not everything. Even as this thought sank like a stone into Harding's heart his eye fell upon something glittering at his foot. With a shaking hand he grasped it, lifted it—and broke into a cry of mingled triumph and thanksgiving which startled the Khirgiz from his lethargy. Pushing back his long hair, the man made an effort to sit up.

"The master? Where is the master?" he asked, looking about him in surprise.

Harding laughed grimly. "Heaven alone knows, since he has left his compass here."

And heaven alone knows to this hour the course of the wretched Kirkhoffer's wandering. When Harding and the Khirgiz, guided by the instrument which he had dropped in his scuffle with the Englishman, reached, after manifold toils and sufferings, the confines of human habitation, they could obtain no tidings of their vanished chief. And, although Harding insisted on organizing a new expedition to search for him, its labors were fruitless.

His fate remains as unknown to the world as the history of that ancient empire whose records lie buried with him in the sands of central Asia.

A FRENCH GOWN OF DOTTED BATISTE FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

A very dainty design for transparent dress fabrics, a pattern of which is issued with the current number of Harper's Bazar where the gown appears, represents one of the many varieties of skirts now in vogue, and a charmingly simple bodice which is worn with a fichu. The skirt has a front gore, the rest of the upper part of this garment being fashioned to keep the circular lines but with this difference; a very slight fulness is allowed, which may be gathered in the centre of the back or turned inward at the placket in two single pleats. This circular back of the skirt is only a little longer than a yoke would be, but attached to it and slaping upward from about one-third of the lenght of the front gore is a flaring ruffe which assumes the dimensions of a short train in the back. The seam, which is formed by the joining of ruffle and circular top skirt, is hidden under a full ruffle of point d'esprit, which not only flurves around the hips, but extends down the front seams and around the full ruffle. An allowance of ten inches is made in the back of the pattern for the train. The back of the bodice shirred at the waist-line, and the front is fitted in the same manner. A fichu, here rendered in batiste and edge with point d'esprit, but which may be made as effective if done in white mull or musseline, is the only garniture of the bodice, except the peau de soie ribbons which are employed at waiste and collar. The easy-fitting sleeves are slightly gathered over the shoulders, the fullness being distributed between the two notches which appear on the pattern. The wrists are finished with a sharp point formed over the upper part of the hand, and a fall of lace is added, but this may be omitted if desire.

Misplaced Sympathy.

There was once a paterfamilias who was eloquently indignant about the way his daughters imposed upon the laundress in the matter of white petticoats in winter. "It was a shame at all seasons," he said, "but in cold weather, with no excuse for wash skirts, it was cruel to ask that poor, hardworking girl to slave and toil over their washing as she was obliged to do."

One day the paterfamilias, happening to pass through the laundry, tore up stairs, white with rage, to where his daughters were. "Well, girls," he cried, "this is too much. White petticoats in winter are bad enough, but when it comes to such white petticoats as I saw Delia breaking her back over just now down stairs—ruffles from top to hem and tucks and lace and embroidery—why, it's a day's work to look at one of them. If you must have such extravagant fripperies, for heaven's sake have them plain."

The daughters investigated. Since the last paternal outburst they had given up white petticoats, either ruffled or plain, and in either spring, summer, autumn or winter. It was as they feared; the "extravagant fripperies," ruffled from top to hem, over which poor Delia was breaking her back, were the property of poor Delia herself.

His Plan Was Simple.

Frederick the Great once requested his generals to submit to him plans of campaign for a suppositious case. Hans Joachim von Ziethen, the famous cavalry general, produced a queer diagram in black ink. It represented a big blot in the center, intersected by two black lines, whose four terminals ended each in a smaller blot. The king was furious and upbraided his old comrade in arms bitterly for what he considered disrespect.

In explanation Von Ziethen said: "Why, your majesty, I am the large blot in the center—the enemy is any one of the four smaller blots. He can march upon me from the right or left, from the front or rear. If he does, I simply advance upon any of the four lines and lick him where I find him."

Frederick was satisfied.

A Historic Schoolhouse.

On the Isle of Wight stands the old Jacobean grammar school where Charles I held his court during the abortive negotiations with the parliamentary commissioners who sat at the old town hall. The schoolhouse stands on the road to Carisbrooke castle, where the king was a prisoner. The royal apartments were in the gabled front facing the street leading to Cowes, and the schoolroom was used as the king's presence chamber.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 16—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—The eternal morning and modern missions.—Isa. lx, 1-12.

This chapter is a song of triumph upon glorified Zion. It is a magnificent picture of the church in its glory and beauty after the light of God has shone upon it, and may be looked upon as a picture of the ideal Zion after the return from captivity or a picture of the New Jerusalem or heaven. Three characteristics of this eternal morning are prominent—darkness, moral and spiritual, in the church is to disappear; many of the nations of the world are to be gathered into heaven; the nations that will not serve God are to be destroyed.

The bearing of this passage upon the subject of modern missions is clearly evident.

1. In the light of the eternal morning modern missions are seen to pay. Modern missions have two specific purposes, (1) to dispel the spiritual darkness of the world and replace it with the light of God, and (2) to lead the gentile nations to God through Christ and to eternal salvation. The picture of the prophet in its application to eternity proves that both these results are to be accomplished. The darkness of the church is to be dispelled and the light of God is to shine upon it. The nations of the world are to flock to the church of God and are to bring their wealth and consecrate it to God. These facts prove to us that mission work is successful; that it does pay. The cry that missions are a failure should be forever silenced by this picture of eternity as given to the prophet by God Himself. It gives us a view of the result of missionary efforts, and it is one that should encourage and inspire all who are interested in this great cause of God to increased zeal and earnestness in the cause.

2. In the light of the eternal morning we see the necessity of modern missions. "Darkness shall cover the earth" except where the church exists. How important therefore that the church of Christ should extend over the whole world, that this glorious light of God may be worldwide. Again it is said that at that time the nation and kingdom that will not serve God shall perish; those nations shall be utterly wasted. But how can the heathen nations serve God unless they first know God? And how can they ever know God except the church of Christ sends them the knowledge of God? The responsibility for the salvation of the world is upon us. How will we meet it? Depending upon God for strength and encouraged by the assurance of success, let us rise to the full measure of our responsibility.

Bible Readings.—Isa. xlix, 20-23; lii, 1-7; Nah. i, 15; Math. xxviii, 19, 20; Luke xv, 1-10; Acts i, 1-8; xiii, 1-3, 44-49; xvi, 8-10; Rom. x, 14, 15; Rev. vii, 9, 10; xxi, 22-24.

The Pledge In England.

The pledge that is generally used by Endeavorers throughout Great Britain is the original one, with the introductory sentence, "Relying on the Lord Jesus Christ for salvation, and trusting in God for strength, I promise Him." No one seems to know who composed this introduction. The theologians think that there is a confusion of persons in the Godhead in the phrase. They ask, "To whom does the 'Him' refer?" Some societies, especially the Irish Methodist, have adopted the American revised pledge. It was agreed by the British National council, at its recent session, to adopt, after the phrase, "I will pray to Him and read the Bible every day," the words, "that I will support my own church and its services in every way in my power." This is to be the form suggested for ordinary use.

Faith In God.

In view of the prevailing and abiding love of Him in whose hands all power in heaven and on earth is lodged what a folly seems our unbelief and what a sin and shame our worry! We have but the duty of the present. The provision for the morrow is our Father's care, and because He cares and wills that we should have the help that never fails His trusting children in their hour of need we can put our whole strength into the moment's work, assured that the morrow's task will never be allowed to pass beyond the morrow's strength. —Congregationalist.

Purity Is Power.

The rose, among the sweetest and most beautiful of God's creations, is armed with thorns, nature's sharp bayonets for warding off attack. Purity is the defence of beauty; modesty is the safeguard of innocence. The severe chastity which repels familiarity is as absolutely essential for the safety of the soul as genial attractiveness is for its beauty.—A. J. Gordon.

The Life Within.

All as God wills, who wisely heeds
To give or to withhold
And knoweth more of all my needs
Than all my prayers have told!

Enough that blessings undeserved
Have marked my erring track;
That whereso'er my feet have swerved
His chastening turned me back.

That more and more a Providence
Of love is understood,
Making the springs of time and sense
Sweet with eternal good.

That death seems but a covered way
Which opens into light,
Wherein no blinded child can stray
Beyond the Father's sight.

That care and trial seem at last,
Through memory's sunset air,
Like mountain ranges overpast,
In purple distance fair.

That all the jarring notes of life
Seem blending in a psalm
And all the angles of its strife
Slow rounding into calm.

And so the shadows fall apart,
And so the west winds play,
And all the windows of my heart
I open to the day.

—John G. Whittier.

ON CORREGIDOR ISLAND.

New Site For the American Army Hospital at Manila.

THE SITUATION IS DELIGHTFUL.

Island Where Our Soldiers Are Taken to Recuperate Is at the Mouth of Manila Bay—Natural Fortress That Commands the Approach to the City.

Arthur C. Johnson, special war correspondent of The Rocky Mountain News, writing from Manila under date of Jan. 22, describes the new site for the American army hospital at Manila as follows:

Corregidor island may be termed one of the beauty spots of the Philippine group. Compared to nearly all the other islands of the archipelago it is but a mere speck protruding from the sea, but close investigation discovers a stretch of nearly three miles of picturesque rocks, banana and pineapple groves, bubbling springs and sheltered little bays on the shore line.

Corregidor, or Alderman, island is located squarely in the entrance to Manila bay. Its rocky promontories have for centuries frowned down on the sea craft which have crept past its base to gain the broad expanse of Manila bay and tack away to the city of Manila, 28 miles off. It halted the Spanish galleons which 200 years ago entered and left the bay bound to and from Mexico twice a year with their loads of treasure. The island was the first to inspect the ships of England, France and Germany when they came poking their noses into the bay looking for trade. When Dewey and the Americans sailed past the island in the gloom of midnight a hoarse gun on a Corregidor hill demanded "Halt!" but failed to bring down its man when the order was not obeyed.

On Dec. 1 the government took its first steps toward instituting a convalescent hospital on Corregidor island. The 5,000 bed hospital which formerly existed in Camp Merritt, San Francisco, had been transported to Manila on the Scandia. Major Owens, with Steward R. F. Geraghty as his right hand man and 50 hospital men of the regular service, went to Corregidor and cleared space for the hospital. Today there is a little colony of tents situated where the old Spanish arsenal stood, and 200 patients who have run the gantlet of the army hospitals in Manila bask in the sunshine and drink in the drafts of fresh sea air. The waves of a tiny cove lap the shore beside the camp and make an excellent bathing place.

The regular boat service to Corregidor was inaugurated on Christmas day, 1898. Thomas J. Tarsney, formerly adjutant general of the state of Colorado, is at the head of the enterprise, and the company is already doing a lucrative excursion business as well as handling government transportation contracts. The side wheel steamer Manila leaves the Pasig river wharf each morning at 8:30 loaded with the 24 hours' supply of fresh meat for the Robinson Crusoes on Corregidor, pale faced soldiers and pleasure seekers.

The journey requires three hours. At the end of that time the traveler has begun to pay some attention to the little heap of rocks and is able to discern a tower on the very pinnacle of a small mountain, which turns out to be the celebrated revolving Corregidor light, which may be seen 20 miles out in the China sea. This lighthouse is now in charge of a United States signal corps detachment. There are about 500 Filipinos on the island, so it is necessary to garrison the place to protect the hospital. The Pennsylvania camp is but a few hundred yards along the shore from the village of Corregidor.

High up on the promontory overhanging the town may be seen the vine clad ancient fortifications of the Spaniards. From the wharf the road divides, one branch entering the little thatched village and the other passing through a queer little gate built into the cliffs and opening the way to the collection of arsenal buildings, little whitewashed stone affairs, which have all been occupied by Steward Geraghty and his hospital.

The tent space for the hospital has been cleared from banana groves. The tents are pitched end to end, usually on slightly sloping ground, which is well drained. The front opening of a ward discloses a long aisle of center poles and cots. The patients are all dismissed and either running about or lolling on their army blankets. The buildings which were occupied by the old Spanish garrison have been turned into quarters and storerooms. One of the principal places of storage for the hospital is the little Corregidor church. This is a cement building about 40 feet long and fitted with the regulation chapel altar. A huge sheet of canvas has been hung up to protect the images and fittings of the altar and the entire front of the church piled with scores of chests of military medical supplies, barrels of brandy, army blankets, mattresses and all the necessaries of a well equipped hospital.

The island is heavily wooded with mountainous tropical growths, and the shore is niched with bays. The rocky points have command of the region for 30 miles around and will make wonderfully strong battery points when the United States commences to modernize the defenses of Manila.

At 3 o'clock the steamer draws away from the wharf, and Corregidor has pulled up her drawbridge for the night. During the present insurgent troubles the little garrison on the island, including the hospital corps, stays by its arms, for the natives of the island have been infused with Aguinaldo doctrines and are continually in signal call with their brothers of the mainland.

BRAINTREE.

The Bird club met with Miss Florence Fish Wednesday afternoon.

There was no school yesterday on account of the teachers' institute held in Weymouth.

The carnival given recently by the Braintree band and Cuff's orchestra netted the sum of fifty dollars.

Rev. C. H. Williams was given a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fisher, Wednesday evening.

How many boys are there in Braintree the age of Master Frank O'Brien, that can saw a cord of wood in two days? He did it.

Mrs. Doty of Somerville has been the guest of Mrs. F. C. Roberts.

The Social Club Committee will meet April 25 th to draw up an application for a charter.

Rev. Father Johnstone of St. Francis church came out strongly against the rum seller and the rum drinker, in his sermon last Sunday.

Officials of the New Haven road were in East Braintree on Wednesday, looking around in the vicinity of the Quincy avenue crossing.

Several Braintree people were handsomely entertained by the Monday club of Weymouth on gentlemen's night, which occurred Wednesday evening.

Rev. W. B. Heath returned from Provincetown on Tuesday where he attended the conference of the New England Southern Methodist association.

The attendance at the Universalist church is increasing. Last Sunday the quartette of the Hingham Universalist church took the place of the regular singers.

Miss Mary Simpson of Franklin street gave a birthday party to her friends on Thursday evening. She was presented with a handsome watch by her brothers, and many other valuable presents were bestowed upon her by her gests. Ice cream and cake added to the good time of the evening.

A good joke is going the rounds on one of our South Braintree hotel men. One of the lodgers in a certain hotel asked the above gentleman if he had heard that Max Schraut, the baker, had broken his leg. The lodger said that he had and it was too bad for he was such a good fellow. He asked how it was done, and when informed that he fell into the hole of a doughnut the laugh was heard over to the depot. The boys say they have not as yet received any cigars.

Thomas McHenry, the trick cyclist received a severe injury while riding on Sunday. His wheel "ran away" from him and he was thrown to the ground. His face was badly scratched. He was brought into the Hampton House and his injuries were dressed. He is able to be about once more much to the satisfacion of his many friends.

A Race of Tailed Men.

Africa is a continent rich in tailed men myths. There is supposed to be a caudate race of pygmies somewhere in the uplands of Abyssinia. The Main-Mains are a celebrated case. A good many years ago the French government dispatched a M. Descouret with instructions to explore some of the least known parts of Africa and to ascertain the exact degree of truth in the various stories about the Main-Mains. He describes the people as being mostly under five feet in height, ill proportioned, thin, weak and ugly, with short, woolly hair and with an external elongation of the vertebral column, which, he says, "in every individual, male or female, forms a tail two or three inches long."—Medical Record.

Just a Year Ago.

Mme. Patti, resplendent in a gown of delicate gray and a toque of pink tulle and shading her happy face with a big white parasol, was the most admired figure on the Pincio a few days ago. It was just a year ago that she and her wee dog, Chi-hau-hau, drove about San Remo, diva and doggie both smothered in crape in memory of Nicolini.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

PORK CAUSED AN INDIAN WAR

A Question of Beef Cost Uncle Sam $20,000,000 In Another Case.

"The present beef inquiry," said an official of the war department, "recalls the fact that one of the most expensive Indian wars we ever had was caused by the efforts of a contractor for furnishing supplies to the Indians to foist upon them a lot of hog meat that did not come up to the standard. This was back in 1862. The contractor unloaded a consignment of what he pretended was prime pork, but proved to be the refuse portions of hogs, consisting mostly of heads. It was the Sioux Indians he wanted to feed on this, but they made a vigorous kick. The contractor very unwisely tried to force his objectionable pork on them, and there was a rebellion. The Indians put on their war paint and went scalp hunting. Generals Sibley and Sully, with fully 15,000 men, had months of the hardest kind of fighting to bring the braves to their pork. Our loss of life was not great, but the campaign was an expensive one.

"Ten years prior to this war the great Sioux war began, and this, too, had the beef question mixed up in it—in fact, was the cause of the war. However, the beef was on the hoof and not in cans or refrigerated. Near the military post at Fort Laramie some Sioux were camped, and one day a train of Mormon emigrants came along, having with them several cows. Some of the Indians were beef hungry, and a brave stepped out and killed one of the cows, and he and his friends had a feast. The Mormons complained to the officer in charge of the post, and he sent out 20 men under command of an officer. The soldiers demanded the surrender of the Indian who had killed the cow, but this was positively declined, the Indians declaring, however, that they were ready and willing to pay the Mormons the full value of the cow. The officer would not listen to any such proposition, and after again demanding the surrender of the cow killer and meeting with a refusal he ordered his men to open fire.

"Well, in less time than it takes to tell it the Indians had killed and scalped the officer and his 20 men. This blood made the Sioux ugly, and they were ready for more, and the fight which began about the shooting of one cow was the beginning of a war which lasted for more than three years and cost this government $20,000,000, to say nothing of the loss of hundreds of lives. I am forced to say that this war could have been—or, anyway, might have been—averted if the officer had acted with any degree of judgment and discretion."—New York Sun.

QUICKEST CAMERA KNOWN.

What is to be the fastest camera in the world is being constructed in Chicago for the Smithsonian institution at Washington. The specifications for this splendid instrument require that it shall be capable of making a successful exposure in one-six-hundredth part of a second, and it is hoped that this speed will be so greatly increased that a good negative may be secured by an exposure of only a thousandth of a second. This marvelous rapidity in photographing has never been approached save by one camera, which is said to have secured a negative by an exposure of one-five-hundredth of a second.

A better appreciation of the marvelous alertness of this mechanical eye is to be gained from the statement that it is capable of catching the image of an arrow speeding through midair while the bowstring is still quivering from the recoil of its propulsive action. The snap of its trigger when its sights are well aimed for an instant on the body of the fleetest game bird in full flight will imprint on the negative a faithful picture. The camera is designed by William Gaertner, who was formerly in the employ of the Smithsonian institution.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch

FILIPINO COURTSHIP.

It Sometimes Results In the Death of the Intending Bridegroom.

A St. Paul man who has recently returned from a journey in the wilds of Luzon describes the courtship of the natives as follows:

The courtship of the natives is novel, to say the least, sometimes resulting in the death of the intending bridegroom. When the would be husband finds his ideal, he goes to her father and asks for her hand. If the parent approves of the young man's choice he says, "All right, my boy," or words to that effect, and the would be goes to seek the object of his admiration.

They stroll together in the forest, he whispering soft nothings, she cooing and on the lookout for two fine palm leaves. Upon finding them she holds one under each arm while the wooer stands at a prescribed distance and, brandishing his spear, attempts to pierce the leaves, one after the other. Should he miss his mark and mark his miss she gives an ear splitting whoop, and her father arrives on the scene and slays the clumsy spearman with his own weapon.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Scales For Weighing Baby.

About the first important ceremony after baby's appearance in this busy world is to weigh him, and scales for this special use are now made. These are generally finished in white enamel. The weight plate is of iron, polished until it looks like a steel mirror. The "pan" is an oblong basket, fashioned with a view to the convenient and comfortable holding of the baby.

This basket is also enameled. The base of the scale projects in front to afford a place for the weights, which are of polished iron. The larger weights are provided with handles. There are no very small weights, the fractions of pounds being recorded by a sliding weight on a beam attached to the scale.

Boston Museum.

Hall Caine's dramatic version of his famous novel, "The Christian," has established the most phenomenal success ever scored by any dramatic production made in America in many years. It run 22 weeks in New York to receipts exceeding $225,000, and is now repeating its great metropolitan hit at the Boston Museum, taking over $13,000 each week at the box-office. "The Christian" is a great play. Its sentiment is of that deep and sincere character that appeals to everyone. But, it cannot be gainsaid that its extraordinary public reception has been very largely due to the talent of Viola Allen, the star of the organization that presents it, who has made an unparalled hit as Glory Quayle, the heroine.

She is a daughter of C. Leslie Allen, an old member of the Boston Theatre stock company. She made her debut in the title role of "Esmeralda" at the Madison Square theatre, when fourteen years of age, at a salary of $20 a week. Two years later she received $100 a week. She became leading lady at the Boston Museum; principal actress of Charles Frohman's great companies; leading lady for five seasons of the New York Empire Theatre stock company, and is now star of the company presenting "The Christian," at a salary of $1,000 per week and a percentage that will make her income this season exceed $50,000.

Miss Allen is a very beautiful woman. She was most carefully reared and at an early age joined an Episcopal church in Jamaica Plain, Mass., a membership that she has since faithfully retained, and is all that goes to make up a true, good woman of high aspirations and purity of life. An artiste whose place before the public has been established and is held by earnest work.

It is expected that the Museum will reopen next week, the fire causing the house to be closed only a few days.

Castle Square Theatre.

The Castle Square theatre management announces as its attraction for next week the amusing comedy "The Senator," written for Mr. William H. Crane some ten years ago. Mr. Crane's success in this production and the merits of the play will be pleasantly recalled, and its selection by the Castle Square management will undoubtedly afford much pleasure to the patrons of this play house. The plot deals mainly with the efforts of the Senator to secure the passage of a Bill by Congress, to make good a just claim for services rendered the country but the story told by its several scenes, introduces many amusing incidents of life in social and political circles in Washington, together with laughable situations resulting from the Senator's devotion to the passage of the Bill. The cast arranged for this production is as follows: Senator Hannibal Rivers, J. L. Seeley; Count Ernest Von Strahl, William Humphrey; Richard Vance, Tony Cummings; Lieut. George Schuyler, Charles Mackay; Isaiah Sharpless, Lindsay Morison; Mrs. Hillary, Maude Odell; Josie Armstrong, Mary Sanders; Mrs. Schuyler, Lizzie Morgan; Mrs. Armstrong, Ida Glenn; Mabel Denman, Marian A. Chapman.

Some Old Jokes.

This is the time of year when Mrs. Churchgo meets Mrs. Churchno and says, "I saw you out to church last Sunday with your sister. I never see Mr. Churchno at church any more and he used to go regularly before you were married." Mrs. Churchno smiles the calm, contented smile of a woman who knows that her dress for Easter Sunday will paralyze the other one, and says sweetly, "Regularly, Mr. Churchno is one of the most regular churchgoers you ever see. He always attends church on Easter Sunday," and she smiles again and says, "Why don't you come and see me? Do come," and she boards a car for home.

There are also some of the old jokes bobbing up in stores just now. Hats that were born in 1897, were still on earth in 1898, are just now being shown as new in 1899.

Some alleged swell suits for children that are being shown this week were just as swell a year ago and somewhat sweller in 1897.

Quincy Clothing Co. has none of these old jokes. The large business we have in this line has enabled us to close out each season's goods in the season they were made for. Our new goods for 1899 were made in 1899. They are neither our last season's goods or anybody else's leaving. They are bright and fresh up-to-date goods.

We are showing today in Children's Suits more bright new suits than you will probably find in all Quincy. You will find Short Pant Suits from $1.00 to $4.50 and Boys' All Woll Long Pant Suits from $3.00 to $8.50. But you won't find any chestnuts. They'll put you in mind of the one's you saw some where else from $1.50 to $10.00, for they're just like them.

SHE DID HER SHARE.

Graphic Story of Life Aboard the Raleigh at Capture of Manila.

All Regretted That the Battle Ended So Quickly.

Warship Receives an Enthusiastic Reception on Her Return to New York.

New York, April 17.—The career of the cruiser Raleigh, from the time she left this port nearly two years ago until her return home Saturday night, has been a remarkable one. The accounts of her participation in the fight at Manila are intensely interesting. The following sketch of the firing of the first shot in that battle is told by an officer on the Raleigh, the time dating from the hour when the cruiser was stripped for action:

About 6 p. m. Saturday, April 30, the commanding officers of the fleet repaired on board the Olympia for final consultation with the commodore. Captain Coghlan returned with a typewritten document and ordered "All hands called to muster" on the quarter deck. Amid a dead silence he mounted one of the poop ladders and said: "I want to read the proclamation of the governor general of Manila to let you see what he thinks of you."

(Consul General Williams had brought a translation of this remarkable document, which had been published in all the papers and placarded over the town on the 23rd—the day he left Manila.)

The captain then read it. In amazement we listened to its language. "We were composed of all the social excrescences of the world. A squadron manned by foreigners, possessing neither instruction nor discipline, was coming to their archipelago to try to rob them of life, honor and liberty." We were "to enslave the natives, pillage the holy Catholic churches and gratify our lustful passions at the expense of their wives and daughters' honor.

"Vain designs, ridiculous boastings. The struggle would be short and decisive; the God of victories would give them one as complete as the righteousness of their cause demanded," etc., etc.

Towards the close, mutterings among the men could be heard and faces were seen to draw and assume a look of ironical amusement and gross determination. As he finished the captain said: "We run the forts tonight and attack the fleet tomorrow morning. Then show them what you are made of and can do. Pipe down."

Roar upon roar, cheer upon cheer of defiance went up from the crew. Practically the same scene was enacted on each of the other ships.

At 8 p. m. all preparations had been made. All lights save one stern light to keep position by were extinguished or obscured. The crew were silently sent to quarters. Corregidor island, which rises in the mouth of the bay, could be seen ahead and on our port bow. The bright moonlight made it seem impossible that the enemy should not discern us. The guns were loaded. As we had a long night before us, and the time when the battery would be needed was uncertain, as the intention was to slip by the forts unobserved if possible, the word was passed along that the crew need not remain strictly at their stations, but be ready for an instant call. The officers and gun captains were to remain in the immediate vicinity of their guns.

The men were gathered in knots around the deck, chatting and laughing in subdued tone, and watching eagerly the dark mass of Corregidor island and the steady course the flagship light stood. The powder division were all below at their stations for passing ammunition from the magazines. In this division, it may be noted, were all the servants of the officers, including Chinese and Japanese, a mixed lot that could not be expected to burn with a great degree of patriotic fervor. How they would act when the shells began to scream was doubtful. When the fight was over it was a matter of comment and mild wonderment among the officers at the cheerful and cool manner in which these Celestials and Latins performed their duties and entered into the excitement of the battle. Not a man showed fear, but on the contrary all expressed regret that there was "no more fight."

At about midnight the fleet was exactly between the islands of Corregidor and El Fraile and about three-quarters of a mile distant from the latter. Beyond the flash of a couple of signal lights on shore, the enemy gave no evidence of having discovered us. The men below decks not being able to watch passing events had gotten out their banjos and guitars and were singing softly the old patriotic and familiar songs of country, home and mother. This form did not have a cheering effect. Suddenly, by a stroke of inspiration, one who felt as most of us did started up, "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." The strain was relieved and a quiet but mirthful laugh went around while each joined in the chorus.

We were still laughing at some improvised and appropriate words when a flash came and the whistle and scream of an 8-inch shell caused everybody to grow silent and "duck." Each man looked at his neighbor to see if he had done likewise and sighed with relief when he saw that he had company. This shell passed directly over the forecastle of the Raleigh and knocked up the water in a white geyser a couple or nunured yards ahead on our port bow. Immediately the order was shouted from the bridge, "Fire from the after five-inch gun." This gun, in charge of Ensign Babin, had been kept pointed at the rock, and almost simultaneously with the order the electric firing key was pressed and the first shot of Dewey's fleet went hustling on its way. The first hostile shots had been exchanged and the war in the Philippines had practically begun.

The celebration attending the return of the United States cruiser Raleigh from Manila, which had to be postponed Saturday, owing to the warship's late arrival Saturday night, occurred yesterday.

The Raleigh, accompanied by two small war vessels captured from the Spaniards last summer, and a fleet of about 25 excursion steamers and tug boats, paraded from Tompkinsville to Grant's tomb, and from there back to anchorage in the North river, off Thirty-fourth street. It would have been difficult to have selected more inclement or disagreeable weather than that which prevailed all the time that the Raleigh was passing in review before the thousands of enthusiastic people who lined the river banks, and gave her their hearty cheer of welcome home.

The cruiser did not leave her anchorage off Tompkinsville for the parade up the bay and the Hudson river until shortly before noon, and an hour before that time a drizzling rain commenced to fall and this soon turned into a steady downpour, which continued the remainder of the day. The air was raw, and the officers and men of the Raleigh stood upon the decks three hours, drenched to the skin and shivering with the cold. There were very few people along the river front in the lower part of the city owing partly to the weather and partly to the fact that the entrances to the piers are generally closed on Sundays. But great crowds assembled in Riverside park, overlooking the Hudson, and men, women and children stood there for hours under umbrellas watching the vessels on their way up the river and on their return.

The ferry boats were crowded with people, and several of them ran alongside the Raleigh for a short distance Captain Coghlan was on the bridge nearly all the way up the river. The captain was obliged to bare his head to the rain a great deal of the time in answer to the salutes.

Just before arriving off Grant's tomb the cruiser slowed down preparatory to turning, and while the cheering and whistle blowing were at their height, two 6-pounders on the Raleigh commenced their salute of 21 guns. The last shot had hardly died away when the Alvarado and Sandoval opened with the national salute, and a battery on the shore joined in the tribute to the dead president. When the salutes were concluded the Raleigh turned slowly and headed down the river.

The run back to anchorage, off Thirty-fourth street, was made slowly, and amid the same enthusiasm displayed as on the run up the river.

When the Raleigh finally anchored, she was surrounded immediately by a fleet of excursion boats, and as fast as these could reach her gangway the people aboard them climbed on the cruiser and extended personal welcome to the officers and crew. Many relatives and personal friends of the officers and men went aboard, and the day's celebration concluded with general and individual receptions.

An Election Unlikely.

Harrisburg, April 17.—The legislature will adjourn side dine at noon on Thursday next in accordance with a joint resolution adopted early in the session fixing April 20 as the date for final adjournment. The outlook at present indicates adjournment without the election of a United States senator. The selection of United States Senator Quay to succeed himself is scarcely possible under the existing strained relations of the factions. Three separate conferences of Republican legislators have been called for tonight. The outcome of these conferences is awaited with interest.

Disturbances at Wheeling.

Wheeling, April 17.—It was Sunday in name only on the lines of the Wheeling Railway company yesterday. There were several disthurbances, the most serious occurring when a car was surrounded and a spectator attempted to pull a deputy marshal from a car. The officer pulled his revolver and the crowd retreated. United States Judge Jackson will come to Wheeling and open a special term of court today. Persons arrested for violation of his injunction will be given trials at once.

Yarns Discredited.

Washington, April 17.—Official German circles here are not a little amused at the latest Chinese news, which ascribes to Emperor William the intention to make his brother, Henry A., German king on Chinese soil. The statement is characterized as a wild and baseless invention, and the same, it is announced on the highest authority, can be said of the alleged interview published by the Paris Soir and cabled to some American newspapers, quoting the first secretary of the German embassy in Paris as saying that the Americans must take the responsibility for all that has happened in Samoa, and that they, intoxicated by their victories over the Spaniards, consider themselves a military nation of the first rank.

Anxious to Come Home.

Washington, April 17.—The desire of the volunteers to return to this country is evidenced in a report which shows that of those who have been offered opportunity to re-enlist, with the offer of a bonus in travel pay of over $500, only about 7 percent will accept. The volunteers desire to come home by organizations instead of individually. Some discharges of individual soldiers have been brought about by congressional pressure, but as a rule General Otis has been disapproving all applications for discharges except in the case of sick or wounded and disabled soldiers.

Asked to Resign.

Cleveland, April 17.—The Cleveland Bar association has adopted resolutions requesting Judge Frank E. Dellenbaugh to resign from the bench of the common pleas court. The resolutions refer to the recent sensational trial of Judge Dellenbaugh and State Senator Burke on the charge of unprofessional conduct in the Manning divorce case, and to the fact that Judge Dellenbaugh was found guilty by the circuit court and sentenced to disbarment. Judge Dellenbaugh says that he will not resign, but will follow the advice of his counsel.

Present For President.

New York, April 17.—The British steamer Indrani, Captain Trotter, which arrived yesterday from Japan and China ports, brought a parcel said to contain a very beautiful silk combination United States and British flag of large proportions to be presented to President McKinley. The parcel was forwarded by United States Consul Johnson at Amoy. The flag was designed by the Merchants' association at Amoy, and is of pure silk, the American and British colors being artistically arranged.

Poisoned Candy Case.

Hastings, Neb., April 17.—Miss Viola Harlocker, the stenographer accused of trying to kill Mrs. C. F. Morey by sending her a box of poisoned bonbons, and who disappeared several days ago, returned to Hastings last night, accompanied by her mother and friends, and will face the charges against her. An analysis of the poisoned candy here shows that each bonbon contained four grains of arsenic. Both Mrs. Morey and Mrs. Gaslin, who ate of the candy, are out of danger.

Where Polygamy Flourishes.

Boston, April 17.—In the course of a sermon on "The Mormon Problem" in the People's temple, Dr. T. C. Iliff of Salt Lake City said that since Utah became a state the law against polygamy had been openly defied. "Polygamy is at present safe, because the sheriffs, judges and jurors, as well as the weight of social opinion, are overwhelmingly in favor of the practice, and the anti-polygamy laws are, therefore, practically dead."

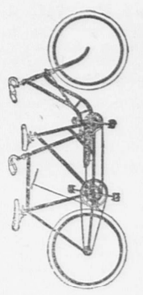

Horse Show Opens.

Boston, April 17.—With a well-filled entry list, thousands of dollars in prizes and every box sold at large premiums, the equine exhibition, which begun at Mechanics' building today, promises to be one of the most memorable ever held in this city. Nearly all the prominent owners of high-class horse flesh in the country are represented in the different classes, and the competition is sure to be very keen throughout.

Good Afternoon.

Chief Hayden's heart is in the right place on proposed curfew ordinance. Nine o'clock is plenty late for the youngsters to roam the streets unattended by parents or guardians. It is a good deal of satisfaction to know that Chief Hayden has taken such a personal interest in this ordinance. It means that it will be enforced right up to the letter. The cities and towns throughout the country which now enforce it number nearly 200.

With the Herald, we believe that the days of usefulness of the Massachusetts Yacht Racing Association are over. The Herald truly says, "It is evident there is considerable disgust over the acts of the executive committee of the M. Y. R. A. during past years, so much so that yacht owners and clubs are not at all enthusiastic over the present condition of affairs; and this is clearly shown by the inaction of those who feel that they have been unjustly treated by the M. Y. R. A."

The school committee will find it hard work to find a man to equal Mr. Tupper as head master of the High school. He is a man of exceptional ability. There is little wonder that the attendance at the High school increased 170 per cent during his tenure of office. Richer towns and cities are always on the lookout for the best in the educational line and as soon as a clever teacher is discovered he is immediately coaxed away with a tempting offer. Our children then have to suffer and a new teacher has to be broken in.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ In the discussion of public questions there is need for more sanity. Brilliancy alone is dangerous. What is wanted is calm, deliberate judgment based upon reliable information. There are altogether too many conclusions jumped at. Prejudice supplants insight and vision. The people are bewildered rather than benefitted and guided.—Beverly Times.

☞ The leading Methodist church in Columbus, Ohio, has passed an order requiring the female worshippers to remove their hats during the service. But as it has not provided any place where the hats may be deposited it is difficult to see how the rule can be enforced. Every church edifice built in the future should have a dressing room where women can deposit their hats, and put a mantilla or some other head gear over their heads during divine worship; for the apostle said it was a shame for a woman to appear in church with her head uncovered.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ There is an old saying that "every tub should stand on its own bottom," and the public insists on the moral of this holding true in publicity. If you have anything to sell, tell its merits with as little reference to other's goods as possible. Never decry a rival. Human nature is as contrary a thing as can be conceived. If a man is too much praised we begin to dislike him, and if another is too violently condemned we begin to think he is not as black as he is painted.—Inland Printer.

ALL IN FAVOR.

Would Make Hour in Curfew Ordinance Nine O'clock.

The City Council Committee on Ordinances gave a public hearing Saturday evening on the order establishing a curfew ordinance. A number of citizens were present and the sentiment was unanimous in favor of such an ordinance. The order as introduced by Councilman Packard fixed the hour at 9.30 but all those at the hearing favored 9 o'clock.

Chief of Police Hayden said he had receive a number of complaints from parents concerning young boys and girls who were on the streets at night. He had also seen many things personally which made him favor it. With such an ordinance an officer would have authority to send them home. He favored 9 o'clock as the hour and thought it would be a good plan to strike a signal on the fire alarm.

Councilman Packard said he had inquired among professional men and had been told it was a common thing to see young girls and middle aged men out together at night. It was a fact that there were many young people out at night who were a nusiance.

James F. Merrill said his attention had been called to the matter by observing young boys and girls out at unseasonable hours, and he thought the parents were to blame. Some means should be taken to require parents to keep their children in. He had been told that in size of population the morals of Quincy were more illegitimate than Paris.

T. A. Wason said hundreds of parents would be glad of such a law. Many children get the best of their parents by asking to go out for half an hour and remaining longer. Such a law would help conscientious parents. Get out children over 16 years with right habits and there will not be much trouble.

Councilman Jameson asked some questions. One, if arrests were made would they have to be confined in that pest house down stairs?

Chief Hayden replied yes, but they could be bailed out.

Charles Sampson read letters from Cambridge and Chelsea, to show the good effect of the curfew law. It would strike at the root of all evil. All wards of the city have corners that were pest holes. It was abominable. Boys and girls were going to the bad because we do not keep them in nights. He believed the officers would use discretion.

Secretary Hoehn of the Y. M. C. A. said in no place where it had been adopted was it a failure. Quincy should not follow but stand out alone for itself. Educate the children in their early days and you will stamp an influence on a child's mind that acts in the future. In Quincy at 9.30 it was time older people were at home. There were many benefits to be derived from such a law. Unfortunately, one half our people have no control over children and a word from an officer would be enough to send them home. It was better to bring up young men right than try to rescue them later.

Rev. E. N. Hardy said that last year he had made inquiries and he did not recall one who was against the curfew law. The sentiment of the better class was in favor of it. There was one class of people who neglected the children and it was from these that coming criminals will be produced. The only hardship is that it prevents criminals. Today there is but little the officer can do but if he had an ordinance they could tell children to go home and it would have its effect. To pass this ordinance would be in the line of progress.

Rev. R. W. Peach said the complaint against restricted legislation was antiquated. Preventative legislation is the line we are developing. Mr. Peach also spoke of the need of keeping young girls off the streets, as well as boys. Keep young girls off the street until they are 16 and they are better able to judge between right and wrong. He believed the ordinance should pass, and those who can not give proper care to their children would be benefited.

Charles H. Johnson spoke of his experience as a truant officer, and he was decidedly in favor of the ordinance. Anyone who hears the profane language used by children can not but see that something should be done. He was sure it would receive the commendation of the best people and those who have children. The opposition comes from those who need it the most.

Councilman Packard suggested that the order be changed to read 9 o'clock and that one blow be struck on the fire alarm at that hour.

Civil Service Test.

Representative Sheppard and House Chairman Wells dissent from the action of the Committee on Public Service, which voted to report an act extending civil service to counties. It provides that the secretary of the Commonwealth shall place on the official ballot to be used at the next State election the following question: "Shall the civil service law be extended to the county of (name of county) and if a majority of the qualified voters of said county voting thereon, vote in the affirmative then this act shall take effect in such county or counties on the first day of December following."

The committee also voted to report leave to withdraw on the petition of Henry D. Yeaton for the repeal of the civil service act, originally favored by it, until the attorney general decided against its referendum clause.

The Committee on Streets will report on the order relative to the extension of Maple place to Washington street. The plans that have been prepared by the committee call for the widening of Coddington street to sixty feet, between Washington and Sea streets, and the widening of Sea street to seventy-five feet between Coddington and Palmer streets. The Committee on Ordinances will report on the Curfew Ordinance, and the Committee on Licenses will report on several petitions. Cleverly was clinging to the bottom of his overturned boat and was well nigh exhausted when rescued. He was taken on board the schooner and furnished with dry clothing and piloted the Dunn up to her discharging berth this morning.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2.00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

FORAGE FOR GRUB.

Troops in Philippines Sometimes Resort to It.

Jaro, Philippine Islands,
February 13, 1899.

The next day at noon the firing began again, with our company in the reserve, as we did the work the day before, but before we got to Jaro we were the first ones to enter the town, and we went right through it, and five miles beyond, until it got so dark we couldn't see. There were only sixty four men, and a rapid fire gun, and it is a wonder we were not cut off from our regiment and slaughtered. But probably the enemy thought we were just in advance of the main body, so they let us alone.

We had to go back and finally halted on the edge of the town and had our supper of coffee and hard tack, which we divided up with L company, as their rations hadn't come.

The whole company was then sent out to do picket duty, from eight until twelve, and from two until six. That was pretty tough, only two hours to rest in after two hard days work, no sleep and hardly anything to eat. My eyes are fairly burning up from peering into the dark woods trying to see fifty feet ahead when it was impossible to see ten. But the night passed away at last and only a few shots were fired all night.

When we went to breakfast there wasn't a single thing to eat and then Capt. Wheeler had to do something terribly against his will. He had to let us "hustle" and forage for grub. Talk about sport. In half an hour we had chickens, eggs, fruit, sugar, coffee, two pigs, a lot of goats and a cow, and then we went to work getting breakfast. It was a regular slaughter house. Ralph and Dave and I had our breakfast together. I hunted Ralph up, for he cooks for captain and is an expert at it. I did the rushing and he and Dave cleaned and cooked the chickens. We had chicken soup, and there were four whole chickens in it besides rice and radishes to give it a relish.

Besides that we had coffee and canned peaches and sardines. I came across a fellow, with a loaf of bread, and I offered him a cow for the bread and he wouldn't take it. When a fellow would prefer a piece of bread to a whole cow he shows he has had all the hard tack he wants to eat and more besides. We ate everything we cooked, and felt like new men. I felt like an alderman looks, and I had to loosen my belt a good deal. After breakfast, Capt. Wheeler said, if we needed any undercloths and other articles we could take them. You see we didn't bring a single thing with us, not even our knapsacks, for if we have got to whip these people we have got to catch them first, and so the less we take with us the better. I got two sets of underclothes, stockings, pens and ink, this writing tablet which I am scribbling on, a hair brush and comb, towels, handkerchiefs and the Lord only knows what.

I only took things I needed, for I could have taken silk dresses, beautiful ornaments, and almost everything but money. If had my trunk here and was settled down I should have a lot of fine souvenirs but as we are on the jump all the time I can't carry them with me.

We found a dandy piano and we took it out in the street and had a fine time singing and playing. I think it was one of the most novel sights I ever saw. There were fellows standing around that piano singing, with guns in their hands ready to fight at a moment's notice but just then were enjoying themselves as much as if they had been at home at a concert and perhaps more so. We sang "There will be a hot time the in old town tonight," and it seemed to express the feelings of all of us so we made up verses about Jaro, Iloilo, E Company and most everything we could think of, until the player got so tired he refused to play it any more. We sang the "Star Spangled Banner," so loud that the natives must have been scared miles away.

At last we put the piano back in the house and hustled for dinner. It was fun watching the boys chasing the pigs and chickens, and of all the animals on this earth that is hard to catch I think it is a pig unless it be an insurgent. We own an ox and a horse and a couple of wagons so we won't have to carry, the food and amunition on our backs any more. Capt. Wheeler didn't ask us where we got them, for of course it wouldn't do any good if he did.

This is the place where the officers have to come down a bit and treat us like men. We have got two officers of the company who are not afraid of anything, and our lieutenant is a "beaut." He tires the advance guard all out trying to keep up with him. Gen. Miller has great confidence in Capt. Wheeler and I think he will probably have him made a major and we will be glad if he does, for he is all right.

Gen. Miller said that he was going to make special mention of E Company in his report. Last night we were relieved and are back in the centre of the town, but will be out on out post duty tonight and tomorrow. I had a fine sleep last night as the whole company was excused from duty, owing to the hard work they have done since they landed. This is a fine clean town and beats Manila and Cavite all out for having nice clean streets and buildings, but of course it isn't the business city that Manilla is. It is deserted now, and the only people that live here are the soldiers and a few Chinese. We expect reinforcements today, and then we are going to take the next city and I believe it is the last. The only troops here on the island are the 1st Tennessee of two battalions (800 men) and the 18th regulars (12,000 men).

We are so scattered, a few troops here and there, all we can do is to form a thin skirmish line with no reserve to back us up. But when we get spread out in a skirmsh line that thin blue line is a hard one to get through. I think the enemy is going to retreat keeping its main army out of our reach until they lead away back into the country to some spot favorable to them and then they will sweep down on us from all sides. But if they do that I am willing to bet that after the battle there will be five black bodies around every white one. They fight in such a mean way, just like the Indians, that we are getting so we despise them and if we do come across their main body we will fight like devils.

There is lots of fruit here, but it is not quite ripe. In another month we will have all the oranges, bananas and lots of other fruit I can't name, that we want to eat. I am feeling fine and baring my sore eyes I never felt better in my life. I am as happy as a clam and I guess they must be pretty happy. This is just the life I love and as long as I stay in the army I hope we will be on the move all the time. There is another in E Company that has stuck to me like glue since we landed. His name is Williams and his home is in Colorado. We were side by side in the skirmish line and we seem too agree with each other entirely when we get near a scrap, for he loves to be in a fight better than he likes to eat, and that is saying a good deal, for he has got a tremendous appetite. He is the picket that shot the fellow that night I was on duty. We are going to stick to each other until everything is over or until one of us is laid up for repairs.

But mother don't think because I love this life so well that I don't want to come home. When everything is settled and it won't be long, I shall get out just as soon as they will let me. I think of you in all my quiet moments and wonder what you are doing now. I don't suppose I will get a chance to mail this letter for a week or two and guess by that time I will have to put it in two envelopes. I can't write to the boys right away and so you can let them read this one. You must excuse this awful scribbling, for when bad paper, pen and penman are combined what could you expect. So with love, to you and papa and everyone I do love I will say goodbye. Harry.

Up-to-Date, Lively, Sparkling and Bright.

Wednesday will be a holiday.

Work finishing up the Wollaston section of the sewer will be commenced at an early date.

Those who do not advertise entertainments in the Ledger should not expect free notices in advance.

Headmaster Tupper of the High school has the programme all arranged for the prize speaking by pupils on April 28.

The dance held by the Walnut Associates of Neponset Friday evening in Music hall, Atlantic, was a very sociable affair.

Mr. Herman D. Root of Wollaston, who recently underwent an operation for appendecetis at the Boston City Hospital is convalesing.

The Board of Heath has awarded the contract for the collection of garbage to Edwin R. Wheble who will also make the collection at Houghs Neck.

Rev. C. B. F. Pease of West Troy, N. Y., preached in Bethany chuerh Sunday morning and evening. The text of the morning was from Galatians 5:16.

A gold portrait locket watch charm is advertised as lost. It was prized very highly by the owner, a member of Co. K, to whom it was presented while at Camp Wetherell.

If there were any homely girls in Quincy one of Miss Collin's spring hats would make her charming, but as there are none every lady is invited to call and see her display of the latest creations.

Lost, strayed or stolen—the sewer main laid on Bigelow street in the winter of 1897–98. A gang of four have been digging for it ever since last Thursday and it is still out of sigth.

The Rev. Rufus B. Tobey of Wollaston, who have been at Pinehurst, N. C., the past winter, returned home on Saturday. Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Adams and family, who have been stopping at the same place are effected to return home today.

The electric car which leaves Neponset bridge for Wollaston and Quincy at 7.15 on Tuesday evening will go through to Music hall without change. After the Pi Eta entertainment a car will leave the hall for Wollaston and Atlantic.

Oscar, the three year old son of Olaf A. Peterson of Arthur street, had a narrow escape from a serious accident Saturday afternoon. The child was playing about an empty bucther wagon, near his home when the horse started. The child was thrown down and the rear wheel of the wagon passed over his body. Dr. Elmere was called and found that fortunately the child was not seriously injured.

It is expected that some fine racing and exciting yacht contests will take place about Quincy Point and Fore River this summer, for there are to be three new boats launched into Bent's Creek this spring if they are finished, and the owners are hustling to complete the work. Mr. Wesley Sargent has increased the length of his boat. Mr. Bodwell is working on his handsome yacht which he will try to finish this season. The weather has been backward.

Rev. Francis A. Cunningham, for many years connected with St. John's parish in this city, was presented with a substantial purse on Sunday evening by a committee composed of Messrs. Michael O'Hara, Jeremiah Meaney, Anthony Sweeney, and Patrick Igo of Quincy, and Edward Sullivan and William Cuffe of Braintree. Fr. Cunningham during his curacy in Quincy, won many friends and all are pleased to hear that he has returned from his southern trip in improved health. It is expected that the reverend gentleman will be stationed permanently in a short time, and though the Catholics of Quincy are sorry to lose his services, they congratulate any parish that may be fortunate enough to enjoy the labors of Fr. Cunningham.

Hitch over Releases.

According to reports there is a hitch in the taking of a part of Washington street by the Highway Commission, and there is a possibility that the Commission will not take and build it.

The hitch is said to be that the abutters refuse to sign a release against any damage that might result from a change of grade. The release was taken to the several abutters within a few days for them to sign. Some signed it but more refused, and it is said the commission will not take and build the section until the releases are given.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

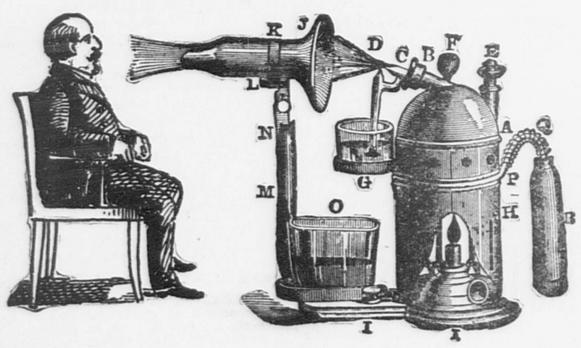

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet if their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

BOSTON ENGAGEMENT begins at 301 Shawmut Avenue, cor. Waltham Street, on MONDAY, April 24th. Come early and avoid the crowd. Consultation Free. apr7-1y

Thanksgiving Mass Described as "More Painful Than Moving."

Pope's Face Had the Appearance of a Ghost.

Fell Back Into Recumbent Position Before Completing the Benediction.

Rome, April 17.—The thanksgiving mass at St. Peter's cathedral, which was postponed on account of the illness of the pope from the anniversary of the coronation, was celebrated yesterday in the basilica, which was thronged with diplomats and foreign notables. The pope entered by an interior staircase communicating with the chapel of the Holy Sacrament. He was preceded by a procession of cardinals and prelates. In full vestments and wearing the triple crown, he was carried to the pontifical throne, the congregation raising loud acclamation until he took his seat. Cardinal Mazzella celebrated mass. At its close the pope solemnly gave his blessing and was then borne back to his private apartments amid renewed acclamations.

London, April 17.—The Rome correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, who found the contrast between the glittering ceremony and the debilitated figure of the pope "more painful than moving," says: The whole ceremony was unduly hurried. The pope remarked to an attendant afterward: "Ah, how weak I feel. I wonder if this will go down to history as my last appearance at St. Peter's."

The Rome correspondent of The Daily News, describing the thanksgiving mass yesterday at St. Peter's cathedral, says: When the pope came into view the people whispered. He had the appearance of a ghost when his face, overshadowed by the glittering tiara, became discernible, with the dark eyes peering from the deep sockets. His hand trembled and a sad smile played over the colorless lips. Holbein might have painted him then as the personification of the vanity of human splendor.

With his left hand he waved greetings, while the right did its feeble best to mark the act of blessing. During the mass he sat with folded hands. Twice he rose and he was supported while he knelt in prayer, reading the benediction. His voice was scarcely audible; but, in the absolute silence, his first words were caught by the assembled multitude.

He tried to raise himself, but fell back and pronounced the remainder in a recumbent position. A loud cry, like the bursting of a storm, broke from the congregation, and the pope, stretching his hand in benediction, was carried out.

BRITISH FLAG HOISTED

After a Little Gun Practice on Rebellious Chinese on Hong Kong Mainland.

Hong Kong, April 17.—The villagers of Tai-Poo-Su, one of the newly acquired places in the British territory on the Hong Kong mainland, who broke out in rebellion on Friday, burned some of the British sheds and then retired to the hills, and fired upon the British troops who were sent to quell the disturbances.

The British returned the fire, scattering the Chinese and killing some. The British suffered no casualties.

As the result of the conflict, the governor of Hong Kong went immediately in the cruiser Brisk, with a regiment, landed and hoisted the British flag in the Kow-Loon extension. The Chinese headmen sent a deputation to apologize for the disorders.

Insurgents Taking Advantage.

Manila, April 17.—During the absence of Major General Lawton's expedition to the Santa Cruz district, on the southeastern side of Laguna de Bay, the insurgents have been concentrating at the northern end of the lake near Pasig, and the American scouts report that several thousand are already there.

Two hundred and fifty Chinamen from Santa Cruz have arrived here. They left the town owing to their fear that the rebels, on re-entering it, would wreak vengeance upon them for favoring the Americans.

Because Italy Objected.

Rome, April 17.—The Tribuna asserts that the papal internuncio at The Hague has been ordered to absent himself from the city before the meeting of the peace conference on May 18. Assuming that the statement of The Tribuna is correct, the instructions to the internuncio are the Vatican's protest against non-representation at the peace conference, which the Italian government insisted upon as a condition precedent to sending an Italian delegate.

Left to Arbitration.

Bay City, Mich., April 17.—Operation of the street cars in the Bay cities has been resumed, with the cars in charge of the union men who struck nine days ago. Both sides agreed to submit all the matters at issue to the state board of arbitration. Pending the decision of this board, the company agreed to re-engage all the strikers as proposed some days ago by the mediation committee of the common council.

Holding His Gain.

Washington, April 17.—Vice President Hobart is holding the slight gain shown last week. He is able to partake of more hearty food, sits up about half an hour daily in his room and is a constant reader of newspapers. He will remain here until some time in May, and then if his health permits will go to Champlain, near Plattsburg, for the summer.

Warning Was Unheeded.

Topeka, Kan., April 17.—Twenty young farmers living near Carbondale decided to charivari Mr. and Mrs. George Markley Saturday night. They did not heed a warning from Markley, who opened fire with a shotgun, dangerously wounding one and slightly injuring two of them. Markley was arrested.

STABBING IN MAINE.

Two Men Knifed in Abdomen--One Will Probably Die of Injuries.

Waterville, Me., April 17.—A serious stabbing affair took place in Winslow at about midnight Saturday, wherein Louis Brassau, aged 23, received an abdominal wound from which the physicians give no hope of recovery, and Henry Deroseby, aged 25, received a wound also in the abdomen, though it is thought of a less serious nature, hope of recovery being expressed. The wounds were inflicted by a knife in the hands of parties whose guilt is not yet placed, though allegations are made against Frank Quiron, aged 23, and Joseph Quiron, aged 21. The affair was the outcome of a dancing party given by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fournier of Sand Hill, this place, which is largely settled by operatives of the Lockwood mills at Waterville.

Mr. and Mrs. Fournier have resided here but a comparatively short time, and to introduce his wife into the society of the neighborhood Mr. Fournier invited 24 guests to participate in a social dance at their home, 27 Corporation house, Saturday evening. The dance was a success up to 11:30, when a quarrel arose between Louis Enoch and Thomas Hyland over the right of position upon the floor, and Enoch is alleged to have choked Hyland, resulting in Mrs. Fournier's dismissing her guests. It is alleged by Fournier that during the evening Frank Quiron entered his house unbidden and demanded the privilege of dancing, which was denied him, and he was thrust from the house by Mrs. Fournier. Owing to this, it is further alleged, Quiron gathered a party of his friends and caused a general row upon the departure of Fournier's guests, and that during this fracas Louis Brassau and Henry Deroseby received their stabbing.

NOT EVEN IMITATIONS.

Fraternal Organizations In Bay State Cannot Carry Arms.

Spicy Debate In Legislature on the Subject.

Sarcastic Allusions to "Old Bettys" and "Tin Soldiers" Brought Out.

Boston, April 18.—The right of fraternal organizations to carry imitation guns stirred up the liveliest kind of a debate in the house yesterday.

Mr. Mellen intimated that there was a ring in control of the militia affairs of Massachusetts, and that to deprive organizations of the right to drill was class legislation.

Mr. Lanergan of Boston questioned the right of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery to carry arms. He characterized the organization as simply an ornamental one, for street parade purposes.

Mr. Donahue of Fall River said the present law was the creation of the imaginations of a lot of "old bettys," who think that because a man is given the privilege of drilling with a wooden gun he is an enemy of the country.

Mr. Litchfield of Middleboro saw danger in the passage of such a law, for no one would know what time these organizations might strike against the country. "In the Civil war," he said, "we saw what independent military organizations did to keep the country divided. If anybody wanted to carry guns there was plenty of opportunity for him in the regular army."

Mr. Judd of Holyoke favored the bill on the ground that it removed unjust discrimination. The Sons of Veterans were debarred from carrying guns, and this he said was a rank injustice. The country needed the services of our young men in time of war and unless they are proficient in the manual of arms they will not make good soldiers.

Mr. McLaughlin of Worcester said there should not be special privileges for some, and he told of the temperance cadets of Worcester and of the benefit to the temperance cause which resulted from enlisting the enthusiasm of the young men in this way. The law of 1893 led to their disbandment.

Mr. Mellen said: "Why, they tell us that if we get what is our right we will become anarchists, communists and socialists. If it was not for the fraternal organizations and the military instructions they received, the late war would have been without many soldiers. In 1861 the nation did not ask the Emmet Guards of Worcester whether it was independent or not, but was glad to get their services, and the training they received in that organization counted for something. The state has not room in its militia for the young men who would be glad to get into it. Religion and race lines should have nothing to do with this question."

Mr. Murphy of Lawrence told of how 80 members of an independent organization took the place of regular members of the state militia.

Mr. Driscoll of Chicopee said that the Second regiment was recruited in the last war largely from young men who were trained in the temperance and cadet societies.

Mr. Bresnahan of Boston, who introduced the bill, said that he favored it because there were in Massachusetts hundreds of young men who would like the opportunity of learning the manual of arms. No harm would come from carrying wooden guns, and he thought there was greater danger, if there was any at all, from carrying side arms. The present law was put upon the statute books to please a lot of tin soldiers who never went any farther than the state house or the camp at South Framingham.

Messrs. Harlow of Whitman, Reed of Taunton, Marden of Stoneham and Bleiler of Boston spoke against the measure. The bill was rejected, 105 to 65.

The house passed the order proposed Friday, giving the committee on manufactures authority to send for persons and papers concerning th bills for consolidation of Boston gas companies.

The bill providing that the city of Worcester may assess a portion of the cost of street watering upon street railway companies was passed to a third reading, without debate, as was the bill for a redistribution of aldermanic districts in the city of Boston.

The committee on harbors and public lands reported a bill for the improvement of the entrance to Wichmere harbor, in the town of Harwich.

The bill to prohibit the use of seines in Nantucket bay was rejected by a vote of 17 to 78. The bill amending the law relating to the purchase of gas and electric light plants by cities and towns was tabled.

In the senate the street railway committee reported a bill to incorporate the purchasers of the Newburyport and Amesbury horse railroad, as the Citizens' Electric Street Railway company, with a capital of $190,000.

A bill relative to discharges from the Massachusetts hospital for dipsomaniacs was engrossed in a perfected draft.

On the resolve to appropriate $18,000 to the Lowell textile school, Senator Putnam moved to amend the education committee's provision to make the tuition for outside pupils $150, so that it should apply to all textile schools now or in future to be authorized. He did not desire to see Lowell compelled to charge $150, while Fall River and New Bedford were charging but $100. The ways and means amendment, $200, was rejected. Senator Putnam's adopted, and the bill ordered to a third reading.

Governor Wolcott received a delegation to urge Massachusetts to have a good representation at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo in 1901.

Governor Wolcott signed the Malden bridge bill, providing for a 60-foot bridge, to cost the city of Boston not more than $200,000.

Easily Captured.

Thomaston, Me., April 18.—Holgson and Hobson, who escaped from the prison Saturday night, were captured at Port Clyde yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Smalley of Tenant's Harbor. They had on citizens' clothes, with their prisoner's garbs underneath. The sheriff found them in the hotel, and when the prison officials went after them they did not show any resistance. A reward of $25 was offered for their capture, and officers had been searching for them.

Strike at Lowell.

Lowell, Mass., April 18.—Two hundred or more weavers at the Middlesex woolen mills went out yesterday on a strike for higher wages. The whole plant employs 600 or 700 hands, and the strike threatens to put them all out of work and close the mill. The demand for increase means more than 20 percent in some cases and would probably average that amount, and the weavers also assert that the yarn is of so poor a quality that many of the operatives do not make $5 a week. In a conference with a committee of the weavers, Agent Saunders declined to promise any higher wages, but he agreed to allow for poor yarn. The strikers are not disposed to return on that understanding, and they drew up a price list, which contemplates an increase, and they submitted it to the agent. He promised to consider the matter.

The Horse Show.

Boston, April 18.—The opening day of the horse show at the Mechanics' building was not only extremely satisfactory to numerous exhibitors, but a great social success as well. All day long the tiers of boxes and the galleries were filled with the wealth and beauty of New England, while the tanbark ring was surrounded by a crowd of equine enthusiasts, who lined the enclosure three and four deep. The evening scene was a resplendant one, and the boxes glittered with fair women in fine gowns and well dressed men, all of whom paid something more than the usual casual attention to the exploits of the high class animals in the ring before them, the judging being sufficiently interesting to make the evening one of considerable excitement. The competitions in all classes was very keen.

Wounds Resulted Fatally.

Waterville, Me., April 18.—The Winslow stabbing affray of Saturday night has assumed a much graver aspect in the death yesterday afternoon of Louis Bressau from wounds alleged to have been received at the hands of Frank Quiron. Frank Quiron was arrested upon a warrant of assault with intent to kill, but one of murder has since been served upon him. The hearing before Judge Shaw was postponed to April 27 to permit County Attorney Heselton to conduct the case. Frank Quiron was taken to the Augusta jail. Joseph Quiron, a brother and important witness, is under $2000 bonds. Handry Deroseby, the other victim of Saturday night, is thought to be dying.

In Hands of Trust.

Lawrence, Mass., April 18. — Even though the management of the Washington mills is now under the direction of the American Woolen company, the trust taking possession yesterday, things are going along just as smoothly as if a most momentous event in the history of the corporation had not taken place. The property of the Washington mills is assessed at $1,646,075, the tax levy for last year being $25,678.75. At present there are 4500 hands employed.

Dangerous Walls.

Belfast, Me., April 18.—Great excitement prevailed throughout this city yesterday, caused by the high wind rendering the walls of the Pierce block unsafe. The building was destroyed by fire in February, and the brick walls remained standing. About noon yesterday the front end of the wall fell across the street, a distance of 100 feet, striking the Hayford block and frightening the occupants, two ladies having a narrow escape.

Arms Must Be Amputated.

Portland, Me., April 18.—Richard Fitzgerald, aged 16, son of M. H. Fitzgerald of Augusta, while attempting to board a freight train in the Maine Central yard yesterday afternoon, fell beneath the wheels, and both arms were so badly mangled that they will have to be amputated. It is thought that he will recover.

Bostons' Run In the Ninth Just Saved Them From a Shutout.

New York, April 17.—It was the turn of the home team. The persons locally known as "Hanlon's Superbas" rose up and avenged themselves upon the Bostonians, scoring four times to the champions' once.

There were 6000 "trolley dodgers" at Washington park to see the fun, inspired by reports of Saturday's magnificent game. It was largely a pitchers' game. Hanlon's pitcher, Dunn, was in fine form and sent puzzlers at the Bostonians through eight innings with such effect that goose eggs were the only scores. In the ninth the visitors got one run, and might have had another but for Dahlen's catch of Marty Bergen's hot one to third base.

Good Afternoon.

It was very singular that the City Council should have adopted for the "all in" signal for children, the "all out" signal of the fire department. To ring in the "all out" signal on the fire alarm when a serious fire was in progress might be serious business. At best its impracticable.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The mere appeal to discontent will no longer effect what it would three years ago. The people cannot be fooled again. Only one risk exists, and this needs to be soberly faced. The rapid organization of trusts on a large scale, the increasing consolidation of capital and the attempt of certain of these new companies to advance prices have undoubtedly raised many grave questions in many minds. These can all be met. Discussion, experience and the working of trade laws will show that these consolidations do not contain the dangers charged and cannot exert the powers or work the evil asserted and attributed to them.—Philadelphia Press.

☞ It is estimated by the New York Journal of Commerce that the capitalization of three-fourths of our big trusts is at least double that for which a modern plant of equal productive capacity could be provided. In raising prices in order to pay dividends on this fictitious capital these trusts thus offer the strongest possible inducement for an invasion of competent enterprises based on actual capital that can earn large profits on greatly reduced prices.

☞ The most valuable rewards which come to men and nations for well doings are not gifts which may be quitely enjoyed by the possessor, but burdens and responsibilities, which tax human powers to the utmost. These devolop strength of character and make for true greatness.—Beverly Times.

Quincy High Wins.

The High School team put up a most encouraging game Monday, and defeated the Whitman High School 16 to 7. After the second innings Quincy High had a safe lead, and was sure of victory.

The teams played as follows:

Quincy High,—Duran, c; Welsb, 2; Ballou, m; Slade, 3; O'Brien, s; Porter, p; Nichols, 1; Reardon, l; Lewis, r.

Whitman High,—Wood, l; West, c; Osborne, r; Holland, 3; Geogam, s; Clark, m; Dealtry, p; Freeman, 1; Bearce, 2.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Total
Q. H. S.,	0	8	2	0	1	0	3	2		16
W. H. S.,	0	1	3	2	0	0	1	0	0	7

The nine has a practice game on Thursday and plays Winthrop High on Saturday.

—Edward Atkinson figures that the tax rate of Boston would be $40 a thousand if the single tax scheme was in force. Further that a single tax title could be no security for raising money upon a mortgage; that is to say, no security that prudent trustees or managers of saving banks could possibly lend money upon.

SCHOOLS CUT.

Council Committee Reduce Estimate $1500.

Cut the Mayor's Estimates In Total $370.

$70,000 Voted for Sewers, and $25,000 Asked for Water.

Councilman Poland was the only member absent at Monday night's meeting of the City Council and many citizens were present.

APPOINTMENTS.

Mayor Keith forwarded communications appointing Francis A. Spear as sealer of weights and measures, and John C. McGowan as registrar of voters. Confirmed.

Elijah S. Brown, Edmund A. Shea and Benjamin F. Crane were drawn as jurors.

PETITIONS.

A petition was received asking for the completion of the culvert or water way on Willard street. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Newcomb presented a petition for the repairing or rebuilding of Sumner street. To Committee on Streets.

A number of petitions for State aid and minor licenses were received and referred.

James A. Little asked for a license for a merry-go-around at the corner of Washington and Temple streets.

This was laid on the table until later when Councilman Newcomb offered an order granting the license at the rate of $2 per week.

Some question was raised if it would not be objectionable, at which Councilman Newcomb withdrew the order and the petition was referred.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

The Committtee on Licenses offered an order granting a number of licenses which was adopted.

The Committee on Ordinances reported an amendment to the curfew ordinance making the hour 9 o'clock and providing that two blows should be sounded on the fire alarm at 8.55 P. M.

Councilman Jameson moved to amend by making it one blow on the fire alarm.

After some discussion his amendment was lost, and the original amendments adopted.

Under suspension of the rules the ordinance was passed.

STREET RAILWAY HEARING.

At this point a public hearing was held on the petition of the Quincy & Boston street railway for a location for another track on Washington street between Chubbuck street and the bridge.

President Graham said the Highway Commission wished the Council to pass on the petition so it had been brought. The petition called for the location on the side but he preferred the centre of the street. The road was ready to build immediately and it would benefit the city.

Councilman Bryant claimed that as the plan called for the side of the street and the railroad desired the centre it was useless to hold the hearing, and moved it be closed.

In response to a question City Solicitor Blackmur said if the petition called for a location on the side of the street a location in the centre could not be granted without another hearing.

Councilmen Badger, Swithin, Jameson opposed the motion to close the hearing.

In reply to a question by Councilman Pinkham, President Graham said if a location was granted on the side of the street the company would accept it, upon which Councilman Bryant withdrew his motion.

Councilman Pinkham: Would you accept if the condition that free transfers be granted were attached to it?

President Graham. It would be illegal.

Councilman Bryant asked a number of questions relative to the power of the Highway Commission to grant location.

City Solicitor Blackmur finally settled the matter by saying that as the law now was the City Council must grant the location, which must also be approved by the Highway Commission.

Councilman Pinkham: Did you not state before the railroad commissioners, that when consolidation was had that free transfers to a limited extent would be granted.

President Graham: Yes.

Councilman Pinkham: If we made that a condition would you accept the location.

President Graham: No. We intend to give one fare from Quincy avenue to Neponset.

Councilman Dugan: Does the free transfer include from West Quincy to Neponset.

President Graham: No.

Mr. Fred B. Rice asked what the width was between tracks.

President Graham: 4 feet 6 inches.

The remonstrance was called. Fred B. Rice said he did not wish to oppose if public travel demanded. He did not know why there should be 6 feet 6 inches, between the tracks there and more in the centre. He hoped no more locations would be granted where width between tracks was wider than absolutely necessary. If this road is sold we have got to meet a new body of men and shall have to fight for what we get.

Peter T. Fallon favored the granting of the location. He did not know why railroad should be opposed if it asks for what means rapid transit. It was the proper time for the railroad and Highway Commission to get together. Tracks should go in middle of street.

The hearing then closed and the order was recommitted.

CODDINGTON STREET.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for a public hearing May 1, on the widening of Coddington and Sea streets. Adopted.

The Committee on State Aid reported on a number of petitions for state aid which were adopted.

The Committee on Finance reported ought to pass an order locating street lights on Phipps, Payne, Sea, Washington, Ryden, Grove, Granite, Whitwell, Rogers, Bigelow, Copeland streets, Furnace avenue, West street, Bates avenue, junction of School, Pleasant and Fort, Beach, Billings road, Burke avenue. Rules suspended and order passed.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2 00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

FAVORABLE OPTIONS

Necessary Right Away to Get the Boulevard.

City Solicitor Blackmur dropped around at the State House in the nick of time Monday. Representative Sprague had give him the tip that the Ways and Means Committee of the Legislature would probably consider the parkway and boulevard bill of $800,000 which was reported. It was under discussion when Mr. Blackmur arrived; he was not prepared to convince the committee of the justice of Quincy's claim, but he did secure a continuance until Thursday morning at 10.30.

When seen by the Ledger, Mr. Blackmur said it was very important that the city should have signed options for all the land on the route to lay before the committee on Thursday morning. Further, it was necessary that the options on the large tracks of land should be at only nominal values. Unless the committee can see their way clear to take the land and construct the boulevard within the estimate already made for Quincy, the movement will fail.

For some days E. J. Parker, Esq., has been engaged in securing options.

It is reported that he has not met with great success in West Quincy in particular. That owners there are holding their land at fancy prices.

The bill as reported in the Legislature is a general one, and makes no reference to Quincy whatever and it should be easy to see that, as in past years, the money if appropriated may be diverted to other parts of the Metropolitan district which are clamoring for it.

Councilman Bryant offered an amendment by adding the words, "and receipts," to the appropriation for the Park Commission.

Amendment adopted and ordered to its second reading.

The Committee on Finance reported a slight amendment as to payment of notes on the order for $75,000 for sewer extensions.

Councilman Bryant moved to amend by making the amount $70,000. His reason was that the sewer act provides the maintenance shall be paid from assessments. The appropriation of $75,000 would use up all the amount for sewers, and the $5,000 might be needed for maintenance.

The amendment was adopted, and also another changing the order to conform.

The rules were then suspended and the order passed.

MOTIONS, ORDERS, ETC.

Councilman Packard offered an order for a permanent sidewalk on Greenleaf street between Hancock street and estate of Joseph Whall and for paved gutters on both sides of the street between Hancock and Putnam streets. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Hill offered an order that City Solicitor be requested to give his opinion in writing at the next meeting of the Council if the sidewalk assessment on the Memorial church, the First Universalist church and the Calvary Baptist church can be legally removed by the City Council. Adopted.

Councilman Jameson offered an order that the Ordinance Committee prepare an ordinance establishing the office of City Engineer and defining his duties. To Committee on Ordinances.

Councilman Pinkham offered at the request of the executive an order appropriating $25,000 and receipts of services for the extension of water mains, purchase of pipes, etc.

To Committee on Water Supply.

Councilman Clark offered an order appropriating $300 for the finishing of Payne street. To Committee on streets.

HANCOCK TABLET.

Will Be Placed in Position on Patriot's Day.

The master of Adams Academy has been informed by the architect, Mr. E. M. Wheelright, that the Hancock tablet will be in place on the 19th of April—a most appropriate day.

The inscription is as follows:

ON THIS SPOT
STOOD THE DWELLING
WHEREIN WAS BORN
JOHN HANCOCK
PRESIDENT OF THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES
XII JANUARY MDCCXXXVII

Dr. Everett in an interview said:

This inpscription has been criticised in some quarters, and preference expressed for the phrase "Continental Congress." But when Hancock signed the Declaration of Independence the Thirteen Colonies became the United States. The phrase "the Congress of the United States" is applied to the Continental Congress in the constitutions formed by Delaware in 1776, South Carolina in 1778 and Massachusetts in 1780. In the framing of this last, John Adams joined with John Hancock. The phrase is also used in the Treaty with France, signed by Franklin in 1778, and in a passport granted to Captain Cook on his voyage of discovery, in 1779.

As the most important act of Hancock's life was signing the Declaration which created the United State it seems eminently right that that phrase should appear on his tablet.

MARKED BY BOWLDER

Spot where Paul Revere's Ride Terminated.

An eight-ton boulder from the quarry of Field & Wild was on Monday placed in position between Lincoln and Lexington to mark the spot where Paul Revere dismounted on the occasion of his memorial ride. The boulder, which was placed through the efforts of Hon. Charles Francis Adams, formerly of Quincy will be dedicated Patriots' day. It bears a bronze tablet upon which appears the following inscription:

At this point on the old Concord road, as it then was, ended the midnight ride of Paul Revere. He had at about 2 o'clock of the morning of April 19, 1775, the night being clear and the moon its third quarter, got thus far on his way from Lexington to Concord, alarming the inhabitants as he went, when he and his companions, William Davis of Boston and Dr. Samuel Prescott of Concord, were suddenly halted by a British patrol, who had stationed themselves at bend of the road. Davis turning back made his escape, Prescott clearing the stone wall and following a path known to him through the low ground regained the highway at a point further on and gave the alarm at Concord. Revere turned to reach the neighboring wood but was intercepted by a party of officers accompanying the patrol, detained and kept in arrest. Presently he was carried by the patrol back to Lexington and there released. He next morning joined Hancock and Adams. Three men of Lexington, Saunderson, Brown and Loring, stopped at an earlier hour of the night by the same patrol, were also taken back with Revere."

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

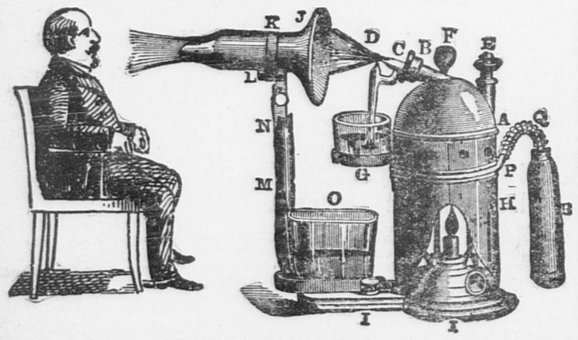

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomtzed and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invaiid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

A BRITISH OFFICER'S ADVICE

As to the Course Americans Should Pursue In Dealing With Filipinos.

London, April 18.—The Daily Chronicle publishes this morning an interview with Lieutenant General Clarke, agent general for Victoria and Tasmania, and former governor and commander-in-chief of the straits settlements, regarding the American policy in the Philippines.

Sir Andrew urges a thorough understanding of the native character, and a government, so far as possible, by native institutions. The Americans, in his opinion, should first discover Aguinaldo's source of supplies, and then turn these into agencies of trade for the settlement of the country. They should show the natives that this would be a better outlet for capital, and they would thus be depriving the enemy of the sinews of war.

After that, he continues, they should buy out the religious orders, with the sanction of the pope, and attach the secular clergy in some way to the administration, securing their powerful influence. "Underlying everything," says Sir Andrew, "must be the good will of the natives. Then, with carefully selected administrators, the United States would have nothing to fear from the Filipinos."

The interview was supplemented by a report based upon the experience of British administrators in the straits settlement.

The Spanish Elections.

Madrid, April 18.—Judging from the returns thus far received, the government may be expected to get 250 out of 410 seats; 243 Ministerialists have been elected. Senor Sagasta has been returned by a small majority from his birthplace, Logrone, capital of the province of that name, after a sharp contest with a Republican. For the first time since 1868 Senor Robledo failed to get a seat. Senor Castelar, the distinguished Republican statesman, was defeated at Murcia. He is badly disappointed at the non-success of the Republican candidates as a party. The Socialists have been defeated, but they polled an increased vote. There was a good deal of bribery at Bilbao; and in the rioting at Tortosa, southwest of Tarragona, two persons were killed and several injured.

Awarded to Palmer.

London, April 18.—At the National Sporting club last night, in a glove contest for the bantam weight championship between Pedlar Palmer of England and William Rotchford of Chicago, for a stake of £200 a side and a purse of £500, Rotchford was disqualified in the third round for hitting low. The men weighed in at 115 pounds each, though Rotchford is two inches taller than Palmer. The fighting was spirited, but Rotchford was repeatedly cautioned against holding and hitting low. In the third round, after fighting about a minute, Rotchford delivered a blow much lower than before, and Palmer fell heavily in great pain. Loud cries of disapproval were raised, and the referee disqualified Rotchford. The betting was 100 to 40 on Palmer.

Vatican Politics.

London, April 18.—The Rome correspondent of The Daily Telegraph sends the substance of an interview he has had with a prelate who assisted in the celebration of the 21st anniversary of the coronation of the pope at St. Peter's cathedral. The prelate in question said that Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state, is the real pope, and that his object is to elect himself or one of his nominees to succeed Leo. "To attain this," declared the ecclesiastic, "it is necessary that the pope should create new cardinals, as the sacred college is now so grouped as to leave Rampolla no chance. The object of Sunday's ceremony was to benefit the pope's health, as excitement of this character relieves the tedium of his ordinary existence."

Inquiries as to Smuggling.

St. John's, April 18.—Joseph Chamberlain has written the Newfoundland customs department requesting information upon 16 important matters concerning smuggling from St. Pierre to Newfoundland and Canada. The customs officials are compiling the chief particulars asked for, and the colonial secretary's inquiry seems to indicate that the report of the royal commission upon the French shore question is not likely to be presented to parliament for some weeks yet.

GIVE THE CHILDREN A DRINK

called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it because when properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about 1-4 as much as coffee. 15 and 25c.

Too much importance cannot be given to the placing of the paint upon a dry surface. If the pores are filled with moisture, every paint will come off. If your house is worth painting, have it well painted. Obtain the best painters and those who have a reputation for honesty. If you are going to paint your house well, get the Chilton Paint, for it takes less of it to cover a given amount of surface than any other kind of paint, and it looks better and wears longer.

Thin coats of Pure Linseed Oil Paint, well brushed out, will prove to be the most lasting covering in the world. This means CHILTON.

BARRELS OF SAMPLES.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Quincy Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder, and Blood Rheumatism Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler let it stand 24 hours if it has a sediment or if it is pale or discolored, milky or cloudy, stringy or roppy your Kidneys or Bladder are in a bad condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy speedily cures such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it, frequent desire to urinate especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous affects on the system produced by the use of whiskey, wine or beer. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 for a large bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

WAR OF REVOLUTION

Fought to Secure Liberty's Blessings and Government of Righteousness.

Doctrines Still Dear to the Hearts of Americans.

Senator Hoar and Ex-Minister Taylor Deliver Addresses at Boston.

Boston, April 20.—The Sons of the Revolution observed Patriots' day by the unveiling of a tablet placed up the tomb in King's chapel burying ground which marks the resting place of William Dawes, whose daring midnight ride of April 18-19, 1775, was of the same character and accomplished the same purpose as the ride of Paul Revere.

The ceremony was followed by a banquet at the Hotel Vendome, at which Senator Hoar, Former United States Minister to Spain Taylor and Collector Lyman were the principal speakers.

Mayor Frank H. Briggs presided at the banquet and introduced Senator Hoar, who spoke in part as follows:

"It is an important purpose of your society, as I understanr it, to gather and preserve the history of the Revolutionary time. The war of the Revolution was no vulgar contest for empire or for glory. It was not even a contest for liberty alone. Our fathers fought for two things:

"1—To secure the blessings of liberty for themselves and their children, and

"2—That they might found on earth a government of righteousness and on the law of God. It is this which has given to our fathers of the Revolution their peculiar glory. You would think from some recent utterances that some people were of the opinion that if the American soldier is to be respected in the world hereafter, he must be half a savage and half a beast, fighting to impose his dominion upon unwilling peoples and subject races, and that in that way only the sons of the Pilgrims, and the men of the Revolution, are to become a world power. The men or the nations who fight for freedom or justice, who fight for the great doctrines of the opening sentences of our declaration of independence, are the men and the nations that live in the grateful memory of mankind, and not the men or the nations who fight for dominion or empire. We should as soon have thought, three years ago, of asking the Savior of mankind to come down from the mount and take service under a Roman centurian, or go into the employ of Tiberius in order not to be isolated, as to have asked the American people to descend from its lofty height to engage in the diplomatic quarrels of Europe, or the scuffles for empire in Asia.

'Mr. President, I for one do not believe that the temper and character of the American people has changed in a 12-month. I believe that the principles of the constitution and the principles of the declaration, that the doctrine on which the Revolution was fought and won, are still dear to the heart of the American people."

Hannis Taylor then spoke on "The Fathers of the Revolution as Standards for Imitation." His remarks were as follows:

"Only after a careful review and accurate understanding of what has been and may be the legitimate bounds of our expansion in this hemisphere, within the circle of influence which the fathers contemplated, is it possible to measure the stupendous folly and danger involved in a wild scheme of military conquest, which is now threatening not only to draw us into new methods of government, into the maintenance of a large standing army, with its consequent expense, but to inevitably bring us very near to the crater of eruption in the far east whose activity is imminent."

"We have no right, either legal or moral, to reduce the 9,000,000 of far-distant Filipinos to servitude through bloodshed and slaughter; we have no commercial interest in such an enterprise to justify the sacrifice in tropical jungles of our heroic sons, ever ready to die for their country. Let us gather hope from the fact that the growing opposition to this unwise and unholy undertaking is confined to no party."

The Marathon Race.

Boston, April 20.—Lawrence Brignoli of the Cambridge Gymnasium Athletic association won the third Boston Athletic association's Marathon 25-mile road race yesterday, leading his nearest rival, Dick Grant of the Knickerbocker Athletic club of New York, by over half a mile. Owing to the heavy easterly gale, against which the men ran all the way, the race was more severe than the two preceeding, and Brignoli was over 12 minutes behind the record. With the exception of Hallen of the New West Side Athletic association of New York, all the men were completely exhausted when they finished, every one losing from three to five pounds. Brignoli and Grant had a grand race to within six miles of the finish, when the latter collapsed. Brignoli was also forced to rest when within two miles of the line. Seventeen started and 11 finished.

Good-Bye to Bosfon.

Boston, April 20.—While the Eighth Massachusetts, U. S. V., is still in the service of the country, the citizens of Boston have seen the last of the organization, as yesterday its members were scattered, and the men furloughed until April 28, with the exception of a few who have not yet been physically examined. These will be tackled this morning, and all will be excused until Friday, April 28, at 8 a. m., when every officer and man will assemble at the south armory, receive his pay for service rendered, and once more enter the ranks of civil life.

Fulfilled His Threat.

Lynn, Mass., April 20.—George W. Stone, 78 years old, living on Market street, had not been well for some months, and frequently threatened to end his life. Yesterday he gave his watch and pocketbook to his daughter, and, after she had helped him on with his coat, he told her he was going away to end his life. She tried in vain to detain him, but he left the house, and, although she summoned the neighbors, no trace of him could be found. Later in the day his body was found floating in the water off Nahant.

Two Men Asphyxiated.

Fall River, Mass., April 20.—Zemon Pelletier of Norwich, Conn., and Michael H. Thibeault of New Bedford were found dead in their room at the White House, in Flint village, death being caused by illuminating gas. They were strangers to each other and registered at the hotel at different times Tuesday night. There being two beds in the room they were assigned to it. Pelletier was the first to go to his room, and it is supposed that Thibeault blew out the gas when he retired a few hours later.

Weavers Return to Work.

Saco, Me., April 20.—The strike among the weavers in the York mills, who left their looms last Monday because of the non-adjustment of grievences regarding the question of wages, was practically ended Wednesday, when the majority of the strikers returned to work. It is understood that the agent has satisfied some of their demands, and that they will trust to his promise to settle the rest in a few days.

Delaware Corruption.

Dover, Del., April 20.—Attorney General White is continuing a sweeping investigation relative to allegations of violations of the election laws by various persons who are alleged to have paid money to electors to register and vote at the election in November last for members of the legislature. The state authorities yesterday examined about 50 witnesses and caused several warrants to be issued, on the strength of which several politicians of prominence are to be arrested.

The Lafayette Monument.

Denver, April 20.—The National Society of Sons of the American Revolution elected a committee, of which Walter G. Page of Massachusetts is chairman, to act in conjunction with the La Fayette memorial committee for the erection of a La Fayette monument in Paris. All the old officers were re-elected, and Washington was chosen as the permanent meeting place of the society.

Copper Mines Idle.

Calumet, Mich., April 20.—The Tamarack, Osceola, Tamarack, Jr., and Kearsarge copper mines have been compelled to close on account of a strike at their stamp mills. About 2500 miners are out of employment through the strike of 300 men at the mills. The miners are in sympathy with the mill men and are likely to demand a straight 10 percent raise before resuming work.

Indictment Dismissed.

New York, April 20.—The indictment charging Roland B. Molineux with the murder of Mrs. Kate J. Adams was formally dismissed Wednesday by Justice Williams, in the supreme court. The order which he signed to that effect is very short, and gives as the reason for the dismissal of the indictment that it was found on illegal evidence. The order provides for the submission of the case again to the grand jury. Assistant District Attorney Osborne said that Justice Williams' order did not provide for the discharge of Molineux from prison. Bartow S. Weeks, of counsel for Molineux, declined to say whether he would apply for a writ of habeas corpus in order to have the legality of Molineux's detention settled.

Tom Reed's Decision.

New York, April 20.—Thomas B. Reed, speaker of the house of representatives, who, it is officially announced, has made arrangements to become a member of the law firm of Simpson, Thacher & Barnum of this city, was seen at the Hotel Manhattan, where he is staying pending his departure for a European trip. When asked if he would tender his resignation to the house, Mr. Reed said: "I would rather not talk on that subject; in fact, I have not given the matter any consideration as yet." The speaker declined to talk about his business transactions or intentions, and was equally reticent as to whether he would take up his residence in this city after his return from Europe, where he intends to pass the greater part of the coming summer.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2 00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

All the street railways do not get their franchises for nothing. This week the aldermen of Brockton granted a franchise on Centre street, with these conditions which have been accepted by company. The company to pave between the rails and also the southerly gutter from Commercial to Cary streets. The drinking trough is to be removed across the street and connected, and the entire street, from Carey to the Abington line, must be macadamized and the gutter on the side on which the tracks are placed paved. If any change of grade is necessary, it must be made by the company and all damages settled. A certified check of $2000 is provided for, to be deposited with the city treasurer and forfeited in case of failure to comply with the provisions of the franchise.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The leading teacher of elementary classics in the United States, W. C. Collar of the Roxbury Latin school, says that this year his pupils "were allowed to choose between Homer and chemistry and the larger proportion chose chemistry. Such incidents are instructive. As a teacher of latin for many years, I must say my appreciation of the value of Latin is not rising. It is no longer necessary to get access to ancient life through the Latin language." In the estimation of a good many "modern educators," this will be regarded as treason, rank and undiluted, despite its high authority.—Milford Journal.

☞ The speculative public is not a close student of history, financial or otherwise. Had it been there would hardly have been such a scramble for these new ventures, with a value mainly depending on future earnings in view of the lesson taught to English investors in the days of the South Sea Bubble, when all manner of companies were launched and eagerly sought by the people. There was no difficulty in the early days of the eighteenth century in capitalizing and selling stock in such schemes as making oil from sunflower seeds, another for rendering salt water fresh, another for fattening hogs, and still another for importing jackasses from Spain into England.—

☞ Governor Roosevelt continues to make speeches impartially at attacking both impracticably theorists and political spoilsmen, and apparently he has touched a popular chord, for his reception grows more and more enthusiastic. He seems to be filling his place at New York capital in a way to escape both extremes.—Lowell Mail.

THE PI ETA'S PLAY.

A Society Event, Lively, Sparkling and Amusing.

The event of the season in this city was the "Belles of Bellesley" given by Pi Eta society of Harvard under the patronage of the Quincy Yacht club at Music hall on Tuesday evening. Society turned out en masse. Quincy people did not by any means monopolize the house. Well known people from Braintree, the Weymouths, Milton, Cambridge, Boston, Dorchester and Dedham were noticed among the great audience. From the first notes of the Symphony orchestra until the final scene, there was one continuous round of applause and no end of merriment at the queer situations, the boys dressed in girls costumes, and the jokes and local hits. Some of the boys made up "out of sight" as girls, Chipman '01, he with the blonde wig and complexion was particularly entrancing, although only a chorus girl.

The music was catchy, refreshing and tuneful. The parts were all well taken without a slow space in them. Owing to the smallness of Music hall stage, it was impossible for the society to use all of its scenery.

When the curtain went up on the first scene the audience spontaneously burst into loud applause. It showed a background of college lawns and buildings, with a group of college girls gayly singing at their play. They were an athletic-looking set, with their paddles, golf sticks and tennis rackets in hand, and as they sang the brisk music of the chorus there was a generous flourishing of lingerie and languishing glances at the jolly old "grads." Then a messenger boy burst into their midst with a telegram for the dean from the newly elected president of Bellesley College.

With the appearance of the dean, which caused no end of amusement the plot begins, and thickens still more with the entrance of Freddie Seltzer, the make believe president, and Herr Professor Fritz von Stophelweissererulenspiegel, the real president elect of the college.

The rest of the plot is, briefly, as follows: Lucy Lennox, a student, meets Freddie Seltzer, her lover, on the campus alone, and later she is forced to introduce him to Mrs. DeKoy as Prof. Gigger, the new president. Freddie assumes control of the college. The English of Prof. von S., the real president is so poor that he cannot make himself understood, and he is accounted crazy. Two detectives appear upon the scene, out of a job. They scent a mystery, and try to discover who the professor really is. Mrs. DeKoy pities him, and tries to thwart the detectives, as do both Freddie and Lucy, fearing that their deception will be found out. Freddie announces that there will be no final exams., and that the class day exercises will be held on the morrow. He declares his intention of delivering the degrees to all seniors.

In act 2, Freddie distributes the degrees, and declares a grand holiday. Freddie and Lucy are frightened, and are about to give up some stolen letter to the detectives, but fail to find them. Inez Small announces that the detectives have abducted Tommy Tuffer. All go in search. Pat Quinn begs Freddie to give back the paper he stole from the professor. Freddie consents to do so. Inez Small finds the two sleuths and Tommy, and Freddie bribes them to release the boy. On learning of the deception, Mrs. DeKoy consent to forgive Freddie and Lucy, and declares her intention of marrying Prof. von S. The characters and performers were as follows:

Fraulein Katrina von Ditto, his schwester, a Dutchess, T. L. Holmes, '99
Freddie Seltzer, an effervescent youth, B. Taylor, '01
Patrick Quinn, a Frenchman from Kilkenney, W. S. Parker, '99
Tommy Slocum, a messenger boy, C. E. Baldwin, '99.
Shylock Homz, a sly sleuth, J. McC Ross, '01
J. Bird, 'nother, H. Hackett, '01

Sophia Learner, instructor C. C. Brayton, '01
Maria Tasker, instructor, F. Prescott, '01

Lucy Lenox, Freddie's sweet-tart, P. L. Fish, '01
Mrs. DeKoy, acting president of Bellesley, A. W. Hollis, '00

IN THE FOYER.

The song and cake walk of the messenger boy, Tommy Slocum, and the freshwoman, Inez Small, was the hit of the evening, and they were twice recalled.

The Quincy Yacht club gave the Pi Eta's treasurer its check for $400; at the close of the play.

It is understood that the Yacht club netted a tidy sum out of the play.

By one o'clock Wednesday morning the scenery and other properties had been loaded onto two caravans and started for Newton.

The ventilation of the hall was very poor.

The five plays have cost the Pi Eta society $3,000.

It seemed as though nearly every person of social prominence in Quincy was present.

Ex-Commodore Shaw did the honors as in days of yore when he was at the head of the Quincy Yacht club. He was noticed in a local druggists at the close treating a large number of Harvard boys to soda.

Houghs Neck.

The street railway ran half hourly trips on the Houghs Neck line on Wednesday. Many improved the opportunity to go down and look over their cottages, air them out and do a little work upon them, preparatory to moving down in a few weeks.

Up to the present time things are rather dull at this resort. Some of the booths were open but the great majority have not taken down their shutters as yet.

There are plenty of signs of the severe November storm yet to be seen in the way of overturned buildings, seaweed on the main street, etc.

Building is not active as yet, but a number of new cottages will probably be erected this spring. A new store has been erected on Sea street near Bell street and a handsome new double house has been erected on the site of the Beatrice cottage on Bell street.

Postmaster Dunham has built an addition to the front of his building and is better prepared than ever to attend to the wants of the public.

Another new house is also being erected on Great Hill.

All of the cottages that were moved from their foundations by the November storm have been replaced.

The schooner M. E. Rogers which went ashore at the causway, has not as yet been moved.

Holiday Fires.

The Central Station Combination was called out by a still alarm at 10 o'clock Tuesday night for a fire in the tool house at Merrymount Park. The fire was evidently set and the building was destroyed.

The alarm from Box 42 at 10.30 Wednesday morning was for a slight fire about the steps leading to one of Barney Clark's houses on Clark avenue caused by children.

The alarm from box 45 about 1 o'clock Wednesday was for a slight fire on the roof of McGillvray's house on Willard street. The loss was limited to a few shingles.

There was a lively brush fire near the house of Mr. Elisha J. Barlow Norfolk street, Wollaston, on Wednesday afternoon. It looked one while as though it would escape control so word was sent to Hose Two house and driver Morrissey responded with the apparatus. The blaze was soon extinguished.

Methodist Pastors.

No changes in Quincy pastors were made at the Methodist conference, Rev. Hilmar Larson, Rev. C. W. Wilder, Rev. J. E. Waterhouse and Rev. H. C. Wright all being returned. Some of the former Quincy pastors were located as follows: Rev. H. B. Swartz at Mattapan, Rev. J. H. Humphrey at Cherry Valley, Rev. Henry Hanson at Boston and Cambridge, Rev. E. W. Virgin as chaplain at Dedham house of correction, Rev. Fred H. Knight at Salem.

Scandinavian Banquet.

The Scandinavian club held a banquet at Wilsons hall Patriots' night, at which nearly two hundred were present, including fifteen members of Co. K in uniform as honored guests. Oratory was on tap and national, state and municipal issues were discussed in a brilliant and interesting manner in several languages. Mr. E. J. Sandberg acted as master of ceremonies and kept everybody in good humer.

Mr. Spear the Engine er.

The Sewer Commissioners held a regular meeting Monday evening and transacted routine business. It was decided, however, that when the pumping station of the plant should be put in operation that Elihu T. Spear should be the engineer. Mr. Spear was employed as engineer of the pumping station of the Water department until it was abandoned, and is a thoroughly competent man for the position. The Sewer Commissioners expect that the plant will be put in operation at an early date, probably before the first of May.

A horse attached to a tip cart was thrown down a steep bank on Bridge street near McDonnell's stone shed, Wednesday morning and landed on a pile of rocks. The animal escaped without serious injury. The accident was caused by the breaking of the harness.

The pupils in the civil government classes of the Wollaston and Massachusetts Fields school are grateful to Representative Sprague for copies of the manual for the General Court and other state documents. On Friday the two classes will be entertained by Mr. Sprague at the State House.

The next great society event at Wollaston will be the Unity club's annual banquet. It calls out an array of fashion and talent which is worth seeing and hearing. The club always commands the services of the best after dinner speakers in the city. It will probably be held this year at the United States Hotel.

Rev. Robert Westly Peach of Quincy the retiring president of the Boston Assembly of Presbyterians was on Patriots' day elected one of the three commissioners to the General Assembly of United States to be held at Minneapolis May 18. It required a two-thirds vote to elect commissioner and Mr. Peach was the only successful one on the first ballot.

Mr. N. G. Nickerson of Wollaston has sold the house recently erected by him on Marion street to Mrs. Marie Bauer Neff of Boston. Mr. H. T. Whitman has sold for Mr. Nickerson the Duggan estate consisting of seven and a third acres of land to Mr. Russell of Milton. It is understood that the estate will be leased to the Wollaston Golf club. Mr. Nickerson has bought 15,000 feet of land situated at the corner of Merry Mount road and Hancock street upon which he will build a block of stores.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

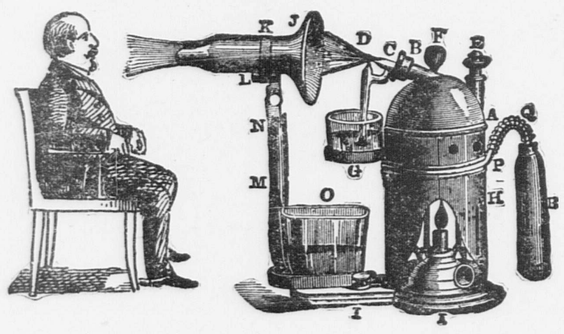

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distiuctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet if their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

BOSTON ENGAGEMENT begins at 301 Shawmut Avenue, cor. Waltham Street, on MONDAY, April 24th. Come early and avoid the crowd. Consultation Free. apr7-1y

There was a very large attendance at the "Summer Party," given by Mrs. Rhines at Faxon hall on the afternoon of Patriots' day.

The children were received by the matrons, Mrs. Jesse F. Curtis and Mrs. Frank F. Prescott, being presented by the ushers, Miss Annie Graham and Miss Audrey Rhines.

Grand march was led by Master Harold Curtis and Miss Alice Dinegan, followed by Master Rathburn Sprague and Miss Mildred Rogers and thirty-five couples.

Curfew Law in Effect.

Hereafter children under 16 years of age must keep off the streets at night after 9 o'clock as the new curfew ordinance has gone into effect. The ordinance passed the City Council Monday night and reached Mayor Keith Tuesday afternoon, and His Honor immediately affixed his signature to it. Tonight the warning alarm of two blows will be sounded at 8.55 on the fire alarm circuit for the first time.

For the present the enforcement of the ordinance will be left to the Chief of Police and the regular patrolmen. The ordinance is advertised today.

Some Suggestions.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Those who personally have no decided opinion in regard to the proposed curfew ordinance would be prepossessed in its favor by the character and reputation of its advocates. Yet the writer believes that several suggestions could be made which would increase its efficiency.

First, Why wait until nine o'clock; the danger begins at dark.

Second, One stroke on the fire alarm would be often unheard in high winds or when the attention is preoccupied; a number of strokes would be better.

Third: Councilman Jameson hit the nail square on the head when he asked if the children who might be arrested would be confined in the pest-hole police station. This would be indeed a terrible thing, for aside from the horror of confining a child, perhaps a female even, in this dark, dismal, antiquated, inadequate, yea, often verminous place, there would be the added stigma of thus putting the idelible stamp on a child of having occupied a felon's cell.

The children, if arrested at all, should be turned over to the truant officer and taken in charge by him, and detained in a suitable place, away from the police station. The truant officer should, of course, be compensated for the additional work this would impose upon him.

The idea, the purpose and the practicability of such an ordinance are certainly commendable. LEX.

WEYMOUTH.

Officers Butler, Fitzgerald, Richards, Walker, Pratt and Peare raided the premises of Antoine S. Veader at North Weymouth Wednesday night and seized 118 bottles of beer, seven pints of whiskey, and 25 empty beer bottles. The officers found the liquors in a trap under the floor which was covered with a carpet and a cot bed upon which a man was sleeping. Veader and Julius Wosch, the man on the bed, were arrested.

Driscoll Confesses.

The Post says, A case which developed sensational phases came up Tuesday before Judge Blodgett in the Superior Criminal court.

It involves five shoe dealers, Abraham Lobovich, Morris Cohen, Kalman Moses, Abraham Fine and Joseph Melvick, all with places of business in Boston and William J. Driscoll, a youth of 18, living in West Quincy, figures as the sixth defendant.

Young Driscoll is an intelligent and well-dressed lad. He was employed as shipper by Charles W. Royce a large jobber in boots and shoes, with headquarters in the building 96-98 Summer street.

The five retail dealers in shoes are charged with receiving stolen property and the youth was indicted on the charge of stealing large quantities of shoes, not only from the man who employed him, but from the quarters of other jobbers located in the building on Summer street.

The sensational feature of the day's proceedings was the acknowledgment of guilt by young Driscoll, and later he took the witness stand and turned State's evidence. He testified that he stole more than 300 pairs of shoes from the several concerns and disposed of them to the defendants. Thirty cents, he claimed, was the highest he ever received for a pair of shoes, and sometimes he got only fifteen cents.

Victory for Adams.

The Adams Academy team played its third game on Tuesday, defeating the Hingham High school in a close game by a score of 16 to 15.

The game was won in the ninth inning by timely hitting. Hingham was one run ahead and Adams needed two to win. Doble began with a two-bagger, Bennett followed suit and Doble scored, tying the score. Then Hodges went out on a fly to left field, Mahon got his base on balls and Bennett scored.

The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Adams,	8	3	1	0	0	0	2	0	2	16
H. H. S.,	1	1	2	2	0	2	0	6	1	15

Earned runs—Adams, 6; Hingham, 6. Two base hits—Doble, Bennett, James, Buckley. Double plays—Gibson and Buckley, Cresswell, James and Buckley Passed balls—Burchsted, 1; Breen, 11; Wild pitches, Bennett, 1. Hit by pitched ball—James, 2; Hodges, Daly. Time—2 hours, 15 minutes. Umpires—Reardon, Slade, Kelly.

No Worse than Brockton.

The Brockton Enterprise comments on the curfew law thusly: The neighboring city of Quincy is talking of adopting the new curfew law, the bell to ring at 9 o'clock in the evening. According to the testimony of police officers and professional men who appeared before the city committee having the matter in charge, Quincy needs the curfew law. Is is possible that such shameless goings on are possible in quiet and respectable Quincy where the Faxonian spirit of purity is supposed to permeate everything and everybody?

The reputation of the Fifth Regiment band is already established in Quincy, and the Co. K boys desire all their friends to hear the concert on Saturday evening.

We know that the corner of Hancock street opposite City Hall is a busy corner but the police should keep the curb stone loafers from blocking up the sidewalk and preventing people from having free access to and from the depot.

The John Hancock Memorial tablet was placed in position on the Adams Academy building shortly before noon today. There was no ceremony of any kind. Councilman Newcomb who introduced the order for the tablet, was present to see that it was fastened securely. The tablet occupies a position on the outer wall to the left of the entrance.

Woodward Alumnae.

The meeting of the graduates of Woodward Institute Monday evening was most successful. Miss Baxter of Vassar College and Miss Randall of Bryn Mawr, could not be present, but with one other exception every graduate cast her vote on the important matters under consideration.

An alumnae association was formal and the following officers elected:

President, Eugneia M. Hatch, '97,
Vice President, Eloise P. Flood, '96,
Secretary, Mable L. Drew, '97,
Treasurer, Alice G. Thompson, '97,
Executive Committee, the officers and Maud M. Macfarland, '98,

The principal addressed the meeting, speaking of the present work and condition of the school, in which all the graduates showed an enthusiastic interest.

Subjects pertaining to the good of the school were discussed, and many were voted upon.

The business meeting of three hours was voted a delightful one. Another meeting will be held in May.

Electric Sprinkler.

A street sprinkling car arrived in Quincy Wednesday noon and will be tried as an experiment for a few weeks. It runs on the street railway track. The sprinkler was put in operation, immediately upon its arrival, and its good work was soon made apparent, especially on Hancock street, which was in a terrible dusty condition. The car is provided with long arms on each side and will sprinkle most any street its entire width unless it is of unusual width. At present the car is filled from a hydrant and carries water enough to sprinkle a street for a mile. This system of street sprinkling is in successful operation in several cities.

Over Two Hundred Thousand Trial Bottles Sent Free.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Quincy Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING.

Bostons Bury Brooklyns Under Goose Eggs In Game at the Hub.

Boston, April 20.—The baseball season was opened in this city in the presence of more than 15,000 enthusiastic spectators, who saw the Boston champions shut out the strong Brooklyn team, while Boston got in seven runs by sharp, clean hitting.

It was the 29th spring opening at the south end grounds, and the 10th straight opening for Pitcher Nichols, who outdid his former efforts by way of a grand performance in the center of the south end diamond.

When the 11-inning shutout at Brooklyn last Saturday is added to the nine lovely caromels of yesterday, it goes on record as 20 straight innings without a solitary run, a remarkable piece of engineering. Score:

The Pugilistic Arena.

Hartford, April 20.—Jack O'Brien and Dave Sullivan fought a 20-round draw at the Coliseum last night. Sullivan hit repeatedly in the break aways and refused to break clean. This helped him considerably. The men were strong at the finish. O'Brien did the most leading and landing and should have had the decision on points. Sweeney of New York defeated Lawler of Worcester in three rounds. Considerable money was up on both fights. Lawler was overrated and was no match for Sweeney. Lawler went down four times in the second and quit in the third.

But One Senator.

Harrisburg, April 20.—The great battle for United States senator ended yesterday without an election, and, unless Governor Stone calls an extra session, at which there should be an election, Pennsylvania will have only one representative in the United States senate during the next two years. The senatorial contest began on Jan. 17. On that day Senator Quay received his highest vote, 112 men casting their ballots for him. This was 13 less than necessary to a choice, and he never came nearer an election during the more than three months of the struggle. The fight has been distinctly on Quay and anti-Quay lines, and both sides have had numerous representatives here at all times keeping a close watch on the members and on each other. Both sides promise that the contest will be carried into every county in the state and waged incessantly until supremacy is assured.

Many Charges Against Him.

New York, April 20.—Frederick King, 24 years old, of New York, yesterday pleaded guilty to five indictments for forgery and grand larceny. King has a number of allases. There were 24 complaints against King in New York city. Captain McCluskey says King is wanted in Baltimore, Boston, Washington and Chicago on similar charges. King was remanded till Tuesday.

Blocked With Ice.

Montreal, April 20.—The St. Lawrence river is blocked with ice opposite this city, the water rising to a great height, the dyke alone preventing the flooding of the lower portion of the city. The ice down the river is reported as being still quite firm, and as long as it remains so the city will be in danger from a flood. The opening of navigation promises to be delayed.

Jones Going Abroad.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 20.—United States Senator J. K. Jones of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic national committee, denies the published statement that he intends resigning the chairmanship of the committee. The senator expects to visit Carlsbad for his health. He is arranging to go abroad within the next two weeks.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:54; sets, 6:32.
Moon sets—2:34 a. m.
High water—8 a. m.; 8:30 p. m.

The disturbance which occupied the Florida peninsula Tuesday night has moved northeastward. Heavy rain has fallen along the Carolina coast, with high northeasterly winds. Partly cloudy to fair weather will prevail in New England states. Along the New England coast the winds will increase from easterly.

QUITE UNEXPECTED.

Prosecution In the Quay Case Has Presented All the Evidence It Possesses.

Philadelphia, April 20.—The prosecution in the trial of ex-United States Senator Quay for alleged conspiracy closed its case yesterday. The general opinion had been that the trial would drag through many more days. The end came at 2 o'clock, and after a brief consultation among counsel for the defense and Judge Biddle, the latter adjourned court until today in order that Mr. Quay's lawyers might have time to consider what steps they should take with respect to the presentation of their side.

It was stated that the question of entering demurrers to the prosecution's evidence or proceeding with the taking of testimony would be decided by the defence's counsel at once. From the evidence already presented it is apparent that the commonwealth depends largely for conviction on the testimony of its expert, Meyer Goldsmith, as to his interpretations of the accounts in the "red book" and other books of the People's bank, and upon the jury's opinion of the books, papers, letters, telegrams and checks offered in evidence.

As to what extent the testimony of the defense's expert, should he be called, may offset Mr. Goldsmith's testimony, remains to be seen. The contention of the defense in argument and cross-examination has been that the calculations of Mr. Goldsmith are not borne out by the books, but, on the other hand, show that Mr. Quay did not use state money nor receive interest on state deposits, and that whatever loans he received were made in the customary manner and backed by sufficient collateral.

The Chilton Paint is an old-fashioned one except that it is made by modern machinery, and the colors are ground into the Linseed Oil instead of being stirred in with a stick. The grinding of the pigment into the oil makes not only a smoother and more perfectly amalgamated product, but also one that is less liable to fade, and can never look streaked. One coat of Chilton Paint means something. In painting a house it is cheaper to use a good paint and one that will last for years, rather than an inferior article which does not cover or protect. Note that the Chilton Paint contains no benzine and is not put up by short weight or measure.

PRISONER OF BRITISH.

German Commander at Samoa Said to Have Been Arrested.

Surprised While Supplying Rebels With Arms.

Officials at Washington Inclined to Look With Doubt Upon the Story.

Vancouver, B. C., April 21.—The steamer Aorangi, which arrived last night, brings advices that the commander of the German man-of-war Falke, at Samoa, has been arrested by the British, and is now held a prisoner on the British vessel Porpoise.

He was surprised by a squad of British sailors handing arms and ammunition to Mataafa's men. The report was brought to Australia by the passengers on the steamer Upola.

After the arrest of the Falke's commander, a conference was held between Captain Sturdee and Admiral Kautz, and the Porpoise and the Philadelphia steamed into position on either side of the Falke. Orders were then sent aboard that if the Falke made a move of any kind she would be blown out of the water. No one is allowed to go aboard or leave the German ship-of-war without permission, written and signed by either Captain Sturdee of the Porpoise or Admiral Kautz.

Fighting continues between the forces of Mataafa and Malietoa Tanus. Bush fights, with slight loss of life are daily occurrences, and business is practically at a standstill.

There is considerable sickness among the seamen of the Porpoise and the Philadelphia. Three of the Porpoise's crew died from fever. Lieutenant Garnet of the Porpoise is among the sick. Mataafa's cause in waning.

April 4 is the date on which the reported arrest was made.

Doubted by Long and Hay.

Washington, April 21.—The statement that the commander of the German cruiser Falke had been arrested at Apia by the British naval commander was at once scouted by the officials to whom it was referred here. Both Secretary Hay and Secretary Long expressed their disbelief in the accuracy of the report. It is suggested that the steamer's crew had heard of the arrest of the German manager of the plantation where the American and British sailors were ambushed and had concluded that the person arrested was the German commander. It is pointed out in official German quarters that the arrest of the commander of one warship by the commander of another ship is an absurdity.

Does This Explain It?

San Francisco, April 21.—Mail advices received here from Apia, and dated March 24, tell of a little incident which occurred just before the bombardment by the American and British warships commenced. The German man-of-war was about to leave the harbor on some mysterious mission, when Admiral Kautz signalled her to return and take care of the German residents, as the bombardment of the city by the American and British was about to commence. The German returned to her position and during the shelling took on many German residents. This incident, combined with the arrest of a prominent German planter for aiding the rebels, is, perhaps, the one referred to in the Victoria advices, and in some manner misconstrued by the passengers on the Aorangi.

The George Trial.

Canton, O., April 21.—The defense for Mrs. George yesterday put on the stand a witness who testified that she saw a man in a long black mackintosh and cape, wearing a white sailor hat, passing her home, which is on one of the routes from the Althouse home to the center of the city, soon after the shooting of Saxton. This evidence was intended to corroborate a witness who previously testified that a "man in black" was seen approaching the Althouse home. Newton George, the 17-year-old son of the accused, testified as to the intimate relations between his mother and Saxton. Quite a number of court records were introduced in evidence. The defense has nearly concluded its case.

Extensive Migration.

Montreal, April 21.—The exodus of Canadians to New England this spring is the heaviest for many years and is causing the immigration officials some uneasiness. The backward spring in Canada, higher wages and improved outlook in manufacturing towns in the States are the causes of the movement. It is estimated that almost 20,000 persons, a large proportion of whom are French-Canadians, have crossed the line this season. Usually at this time the tide of travel favors Canada, but this year the influx is very limited.

True Philanthropy.

Vienna, April 21.—The Neue Freie Presse asserts that the estate left by the late Baroness Maurice de Hirsch de Gereuth, who died April 1, is valued at £25,000,000, of which £20,000,000 will be expended in carrying on the various charities founded or fostered by the baron and baroness. The Hirsch fund in New York receives £240,000, and the institute of Montreal 1-10th of that amount.

SENATORS OUTCLASSED.

Bostons Had Everything Their Own Way in the Washington Game.

Washington, April 20.—The Champions fairly smothered the Senators in their first encounter of the season. The weather was the finest the Bostons have struck, and they improved it by playing brilliant ball in all departments.

Willis was an enigma and allowed but three scattered hits, the Senators' lone run being due to his own carelessness. In the seventh he hit Slagel on the shins, helped him along by giving Casey a base on balls, and after Freeman's out had advanced him to third, presented the little man with a tally on a palpable balk.

With the exception of a gift to Hulen and Mercer's hit, the big fellow mowed the Senators down in one, two, three order for six innings. In the eighth and ninth he varied the monotony by giving a base on balls and hitting a batsman.

En Route to Manila.

Buffalo, April 21.—Companies A, C, G and H, of the Thirteenth United States infantry, left their quarters at Fort Porter last evening, and, escorted by the Seventy-fourth regiment, and the officers of the Sixty-fifth, marched to the station of the Lake Shore, and started for San Francisco, en route to the Philippines.

New York, April 21.—One battalion of the Thirteenth United States infantry, consisting of companies B, D, F and I, left Governor's island for Manila yesterday.

Youngstown, N. Y., April 21.—Companies E, K, L and M, of the Thirteenth United States infantry, left Fort Niagara yesterday for San Francisco, where they will embark for Manila.

San Francisco, April 21.—The transports Newport and Warren sailed for Manila yesterday. The Newport carries light batteries of the Fourth and Fifth artillery, 125 marines to reinforce Admiral Dewey's fleet and some Red Cross nurses. The Warren carries eight batteries of the Sixth artillery, 200 recruits and 50 men for the hospital corps. Both transports are heavily laden with food, provisions and ammunition for the army and navy.

Curiosities at Providence.

Providence, April 21.—The Spanish gunboats Sandoval and Alvarado dropped anchor in the harbor here while on their way to Portsmouth. Last night the officers were entertained at the Hope club. Today a reception will be tendered them by Governor Dyer, and the governor and staff will pay a formal visit to the boats. It is not known how long the boats will remain here, no orders having as yet been received.

PROGRESSING SATISFACTORILY.

Story That General Otis Has Thus Reported Concerning Peace Negotiations.

New York, April 21.—The Press prints the following dispatch from its correspondent at Washington: At the war department the hopeful feeling concerning the Philippine situation is encouraged by a cable from General Otis Thursday. He reports that the negotiations for peace are progressing satisfactorily. The commanding general says that he does not wish to make definite promises or predictions, but he believes he soon will be able to announce a result of communications passing between the commission and the leaders of the insurgents. The state department has similar information from civil sources, and confidence is expressed that the outcome of the efforts to establish American authority will be a success.

Precisely what the terms are is not known. It can be stated on authority that even the president is not aware what terms the commission is offering to Aguinaldo and his associates. The commission has much discretion. It can give assurances in regard to amnesty and local government. It is in a position to make the conditions of surrender liberal. The president has believed for some time that if the commissioners could get into free communication with the insurgents they would satisfy them that the interests of the Filipinos lay in the acceptance of American authority.

It is understood that Agoncillo, hearing of the negotiations at home, intends coming to the United States from Paris. He wishes to be in reach of the president or the state department, that he may not be left out of the deal. He will not be received officially, but he can be afforded the privilege of talking with the American authorities, if he has any desire for information. He will be told again concerning the power of congress to provide a form of government for the Filipinos. He also will be made aware of the impossibility of President McKinley granting immediate independence to the archipelago, as was demanded in the beginning.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 21.—After a debate lasting nearly all day the house killed the bill providing for a change in the method of distributing taxes on corporations.

A bill perfecting the present law on caucuses was passed.

The senate killed the bill reorganizing the Boston school committee.

An appropriation of $5000 for a Massachusetts exhibit at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo was reported by the federal relations committee.

Ought not to pass was reported on the bill to allow labor organizations and trade unions to pay sick and death benefits.

Senator Putnam had an order to permit the committee on manufactures to send for persons and papers in connection with its investigation of the question of the consolidation of Boston gas companies tabled, to await an opinion of the attorney general as to the right of the state to compel consolidation.

The governor appointed a man to fill the place until recently occupied by Henry M. Whitney as chairman of the pharmacy board. This nominee was Charles F. Nixon of Leominster. Mr. Nixon is about 45 years old, has a drug store in Leominster and is at present an instructor in the Massachusetts college of pharmacy in Boston.

Wilmot R. Evans was reappointed on the metropolitan water board, and David N. Skillings of Winchester on the metropolitan park commission.

He Got Excited.

London, April 21.—There was a curious scene at question time in the house of commons yesterday. James M. MacLean, Conservative, commenced questioning the secretary of state for India, Mr. Hamilton, in an irritating manner, for which he was frequently called to order by the Ministeralists and by the speaker. Finally, turning angrily to the Ministerial benches, Mr. MacLean shouted: "If the Unionists do not want me, I can join the opposition." Suiting the action to the words, Mr. Mac Lean crossed over to the opposition benches, where he was greeted with a storm of Liberal applause and ironical ministerial laughter. The angry member finally left the house.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2.00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Wabash is to be the first city in the world lighted by acetylene gas. Let us hope that this won't inspire the song writers to perpetrate any further deeds of violence on the banks of the Wabash far away. — Lewiston Journal.

☞ The Chinese are a queer set. They must know that they were soundly whipped by little Japan, but this does not prevent them from pitching into England when she attemps to take possession of the recently ceded territory, opposite Hong Kong. The Oriental is a funny chap.—Malden Mail.

☞ The Hullabaloo about colonies being a new and untried experiment in his country is laughable. It is much ado about nothing. True we hold our inducements to our colonies or territories to develop capacity for statehood. But some of our territorial colonies have been colonies for fifty-four years, and knock in vain at the door for Statehood. They may wait a dozen years longer, perhaps. We shall let them in when they are fitted to come in. And that is what will be done with our island territories. When they show a capacity for self-government they will come in and make a part of the Union. Perhaps the Philippines may be set up in housekeeping by themselves. But Porto Rico and Hawaii will come in.—Philadelphia North American.

☞ Municipal affairs in St. Louis are no better than the same matters elsewhere judging from the majority report of the investigating committee of the Missouri State Senate. It criticises the methods in vogue in some of the municipal officers, and recommends that the investigation be continued to all departments. The report says that the city and State annually lost $369,000 through the escape from taxation of street car property alone, and that on real estate and personal property the loss aggregated $1,136,750. There is a good chance to institute reform for the benefit of the great body of taxpayers.—Lynn Item.

☞ The growth of electric railways is a remarkable illustration of progress, when we come to look at it. From 1880 when no electric power at all was used in street railways, to 1898, when almost all such roads are so operated, is only eighteen years, and not only has the motive power been revolutionized in that time but we have eight times as many miles of roads as well. In all Europe, with 400,000,000 population, there but 10,000 miles of street railway as compared with 16,000 miles for a population of 80,000,000 in this country. In other words, one mile to every 40,000 inhabitants in Europe; one mile to every 5,000 inhabitants in the United States.—Milford Journal.

GRAND POW-WOW.

Red Men of Wollaston Celebrate Anniversary.

It was just four years ago when the Great Senior Sagamore, Walter G. Betts and suite, of the Improved Order of Red Men visited Wollaston and instituted Hodenosaunee tribe No. 62.

The anniversary was fittingly observed at the tribe's wigwam on Thursday evening. The council fire was kindled at half after seven o'clock. At eight o'clock palefaces were admitted.

Great Senior Sagamore William A. Jordan was the grand factotum of the pow-wow and after a few remarks introduced the Great Sachem, Alfred E. Steele of Northampton. He spoke interestingly of the braves and palefaces not forgetting to tell a story about Brother Jordan when he was a member of a school committee down in Maine.

Deputy Great Sachem J. Frank Gardner also made an interesting talk. Braves were present from Nahanton and Uncataquisset tribes.

The entertainment went off with a snap especially the bout of four rounds between two Boston coons with soft gloves. Joe Lynch was referee.

The rest of the entertainment consisted of harmonica solos by Joe Howard; humorous vocal solos by Rev. George B. Cutter of Somerville; tenor solo by Mr. Edward E. Bullock of the Temple quartette; and banjo duets by the Brothers Cushman accompanied by Mr. Dorr.

After the entertainment corn and venison were served.

A Creditable Job.

A work of art which is attracting considerable attention may be seen at the yards of McGrath Bros. It is a massive Quincy granite monument, six feet square at the base, sixteen feet high, weighing about 20 tons.

On the lower part or sub die the family name, "Smith," is cut in raised rounded letters on the polished surface. Above a richly moulded cap stands the main die of the monument, surrounded by polished pillars, with carved capitals and bearing a portrait medallion of Mr. Smith, executed in Italian marble. Above the cap crowning this die is an unique feature, showing the Celtic cross polished on each of the four sides, and the whole is surmounted by a polished Egyptian vase with carved handles and bearing the significant Alpha and Onega in monogram. The quality of the stock is most even and perfect, and the character of the work is of the finest style, making a most perfect and harmonous whole.

Mr. Edward Smith is an ex-alderman and influential citizens of Pawtucket, and called with his wife this week to view the work. He expressed satisfaction with the fine monument.

All the work was done in the yards of McGrath Bros., including the modelling which was by Beattie. The likeness on the medalion is excellent.

The Curfew Law.

The new curfew ordinance went into effect for the first time Thursday night, and reports received from the several sections of the city show that it was generally observed, and that the police were not called upon to send any children home. They were all on the watch to hear the alarm struck, and many were seen scampering away toward home as early as 8.30; so that when the alarm was sounded those who were not at home lost no time in getting there. The youngsters were brave enough during the early part of the evening, but as the time grew shorter their bravery grew weaker, and between 8.30 an 9 o'clock they fought shy of the officers in uniform, of whom they stood in fear, believing that if caught out they would surely be taken to the lockup.

THE BOULEVARD.

City Solicitor Blackmur Tries for Specific Sum.

Considerable Opposition to It on Precedent.

A Member of the Committee Favors It, However.

Quincy was represented by City Solicitor Blackmur, and a stenographer to take evidence, at the State House today before the Committee on Ways and Means, at a hearing on the general appropriation bill for the Metropolitan Park Commissioners, wherein there is supposed to be provisions for the taking of the Quincy shore reservation and boulevard, although no lot or bound is specifically mentioned.

Mr. Blackmur attempted to get the Committee to report an amendment to the general bill, specifically designating Quincy as the place wherein certain sums should be expended for reservation and boulevard for this year.

There was considerable opposition to the amendment, on the ground that it changed the precedent of not giving specific appropriations to the Park Commission. The committee, however, took the matter under advisement.

One of the committee made the statement after the hearing that he was convinced of the justice of the Quincy's request, and that he would be prepared to offer a minority report of the necessity to secure the incorporation of a specific reference to Quincy in the bill they were considering.

He also stated that he had since been informed that the committee intended there should be out of the appropriation of $300,000, $100,000 for takings and $25,000 for construction of the Quincy shore reservation, and that out of the $500,000, $55,000 was for Quincy.

Mr. Las Casas, chairman of the Park Commission, in answer to a question of Mr. Blackmur, stated that at the request of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs he had prepared a statement of the cost of the taking of the Quincy shore front, and had submitted the same to them. He further stated if the reservation or boulevard could be taken for $180,000 that undoubtedly his commission would regard it their duty to expend that sum for the purpose.

There were present besides Mr. Blackmur, Representative Sprague and Sheppard, Mr. Titus and Mr. Forbes of Milton.

—There is a mania for trusts in our land at the present time. Every branch of business except popping corn aspires to a monopoly. Cotton spinning, carpet weaving, whisky distilling and beer fermenting and a thousand and one combines, reject the old aphorism that competition is the life of trade and desire to establish close corporations The sugar trust and the oil strust set the example, and mills and mines have sought to establish giant organizations that will crush small rival establishments. Some of the amounts at which they are capitalized are enormous, and thoughtful people are inquiring, What is to be the end? —Pawtucket Gazette.

The Cat a Mirror.

Louis Wain, the famous cat painter, professes to believe that a cat owned by a woman is the mirror of its mistress' temperament. He says that if a cat that has been constantly with its mistress is suddenly removed from her society the creature will show the characteristics madame has displayed. If she has been snappish, pussy will scratch; if she has been sulky, pussy will sulk too. If this were really true, it would pay a prospective husband to steal the cat of his ladylove before taking the fatal matrimonial step. As the cat is about the most independent creature alive, one can't help being skeptical of Mr. Wain's theory.

They Ought to Unite.

Here is a story of a Milwaukee couple who agreed to separate after 15 years of married life: They continued to reside within a block of each other and to pass the time of day impersonally when they met. When the silver anniversary of the wedding came on, both celebrated it, although separately. Two church ceremonies were performed in the church where they were wedded 25 years before, the husband's ceremony being at 8 o'clock in the morning and the wife's at 9. That evening each gave a reception at the residence at the same hour, and the same friends called to pay their respects, successively going from one house to the other.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

PETITION DISMISSED.

Commissioners Give a Hearing on Houghs Neck Car Service.

The Herald thus reports a case of interest to Houghs Neck and Quincy people. "Stop pulling my coat-tails," shouted Lawyer Charles A. Baker in the railroad commissioners' hall of justice Thursday morning as his impetuous client, Mr. Andrew A. Meyer, grabbed hold of the rear part of Mr. Baker's outer garment and gave it a downward yank. "I can't examine a witness when my coat-tails are being pulled," continued the lawyer, excitedly, as he switched one hand around to the rear. Mr. Meyer settled back into his seat and impatiently waited until his legal representative would lend him his ear.

This incident was in connection with a hearing on a petition brought by Mr. Meyer, the owner of a hotel at Houghs Neck, in which he asked that the Quincy & Boston Street Railway Company, in its operation of the branch line that runs between Quincy and Houghs Neck be compelled to operate on 15 minutes' headway, and do certain other things that will inure to the benefit of the company's patrons.

President Graham and Supt. Weeks of the railway company were present to protest against the granting of the petition.

Mr. Meyer was the only witness called in behalf of the public. His testimony went to show that the branch in question was as rough as the rocky road to Dublin, that derailments were of frequent occurrence, that an insufficient number of cars were run, that at times certain parts of the road were covered by at least six inches of water, that many of the ties were in a state of decay, that the bonding was imperfect, that the rails had rusted away to such an extent as to render travel unsafe, and, worst of all, that the insulation was so poor that at one time a part of the electrical current strayed from the wires and run up Mr. Meyer's legs while he was standing on the front platform. This caused him to balance his body upon the heels of his boots, an operation that was not conducive to his comfort, and which was difficult to maintain.

President Graham denied most of Mr. Meyer's statements, saying that the branch was in as good shape as nine-tenths of the trolley roads in the state. Being asked to particularize, he replied that the condition of the Houghs Neck road was 100 per cent. better than that of the Newburyport & Amesbury line. Mr. Graham also made a point by saying that his company had petitioned the city council of Quincy for authority to construct two new turnouts, but, much to his surprise he was given leave to withdraw. At present there is but one turnout, making it impossible to operate cars on less than a half-hourly schedule. He had heard of but six derailments and these were, in most cases, caused by a spreading of the rails, due to imperfect ties. The company had prepared plans of a location on the new boulevard that the city had under contemplation and when work upon it began the railway line would be entirely reconstructed.

In the first stages of the hearing, the fact was developed that Mr. Meyer had a suit pending in the courts against the Quincy & Boston Railway Company on a question of contract, and, before the commission arose, it decided to throw out the petition on this ground, a position that the board always takes under similar circumstances.

Temperance in the Schools.

The mid-year meeting of the executive Committee and Board of Superintendents of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union which closed a two days' meeting at Northampton last night, passed the following resolution:

RESOLVED 1st, That we reaffirm our belief that the study of physiology and hygiene with special reference to the nature and effects of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics in the public schools is one of the most efficient methods for the prevention of the vice of intemperance. Therefore we deeply regret the outcome of our recent legislative campaign for a stronger law requiring this study, and we recommend that efforts for the education of public sentiment on this subject shall be continued.

RESOLVED 2d, That meantime we will as an organization devote our efforts to the maintenance and enforcement of our present law and in this we hope and expect to have the co-operation of the educational forces of the state.

LOSS TO THE CITY.

Henry H. Faxon Says We Have Too Much Unused Property.

To the Editor of the Ledger:

In viewing matters from a business standpoint I have for years, been astonished at the dereliction of duty on the part of city officials in not caring for, or disposing of property under their supervision.

The following is a list of parcels of real estate which should be improved or sold at once:

Property as valued by the Assessors:

School lot at Germantown, assessed for	$100
School lot at Houghs Neck,	100
Old High School Building,	4,000
Land, 31,460 square feet,	5,000
Engine House, School street,	2,000
Land, 21,345 square feet,	3,000
Water Department, engine house and tenement,	6,500
Land, Pumping Station, 7 and seven-tenths acres,	4,000
Stand Pipe,	10,000
Land, Franklin street, 1 acre,	300
Reservoir and Gate House,	1,500
Sheds,	400
Lot 97, Mears' ave., Houghs Neck, 7,300, square feet,	250
	$37,150

A total of $37,150, the interest upon which at 5 per cent. per annum amounts to $1,857.50, with the additional sum of $668.70 for taxes at the rate of $18 per thousand, making $2,526.20 which the city is virtually being deprived of every year through the neglect of it officials. Moreover, where the property consists of buildings, the depreciation in value is very great, especially when glass is broken and other damage is done by vandals, as in the case of the Steamer and Hose house on School street.

The pumping station, which is no longer used for the purposes intended, should be utilized or disposed of in some manner, as machinery when not running rapidly decreases in value, unless given special attention. For the past three months this plant has been run for no other purpose than to sound the fire alarm whistle, consuming about one thousand pounds of coal per day, in addition to the expense of an engineer's salary and house rent.

These unbusiness-like transactions continue, while real estate owner look calmly on and wonder why their tax bills are so large and are amazed at the annual dwindling of their net incomes.

I hope that the present administration will either dispose of the property to which I have referred, or explain to the suffering taxpayers the reason for leaving it uncared for.

Knowing what I do of the political affairs of this city, I would not advise a man with visible property to make Quincy his abiding place, unless he desires to be taxed out of existence. When a blow is struck at real estate interests by exorbitant taxation, the most desirable class of citizens are deterred from settling here.

If there are any misstatements in this article I trust they will be criticised. I have endeavored to secure definite information upon city matters from interested officials, but in many instances their safe of knowledge was hermetically sealed when drafts were made upon it.

BANKERS OF ENGLAND

Control People of United States, In the Estimation of Bryan.

Republicans Blamed For Need of More Soldiers.

Opposed to Christianity When Necessary to Fir It From a Gatling Gun.

Syracuse, April 21.—Three thousand persons listened to an address by W. J. Bryan at the Alhambra last evening. He said that the principles that he advocated were as good in the east as in the west when as well understood. The difference was that the people of the east were not as free in opinion as those of the boundless west.

He spoke of the income tax, and said that with the tax on telegrams and every other document, the people were beginning to understand the income tax. This country could place its citizens before an enemy's guns, but could not put its finger upon accumulated wealth.

Referring to the money question, he said: "It requires all the Christian virtue I have to keep from getting mad when I talk with a gold bug. The word lunatic is, perhaps, the kindest term the gold bug can use in reference to us, for he thus relieves us of all mental responsibility. The gold bug divides people into two classes. The first is that in favor of gold, and the other those opposed, and believes there is no use talking to the latter. We divide gold bugs into two classes, but believe in arguing with those opposed. It is the bimetallist who can afford to look with contempt upon gold bugs."

He then reviewed the currency question from 1792 to 1873, and said: "No party asked for a change from the double standard. The gold standard came without anticipation; even the newspapers did not know it. We kept it 23 years before any party knew it was good. Do you call the gold standard a success when 6,500,000 declared against it? You all remember the Chicago platform. Does anybody recall the St. Louis platform? The Republican party promised to get rid of the gold standard and substitute the double. There was a party in '96 which was the only one to declare for a gold standard. It was the gold Democratic party. We counted them, and they carried one precinct in the United States, in western Kansas. There were six votes in the precinct. McKinley sent a commissioner to Europe asking to help get rid of the gold standard. A Republican congress stood behind him. It would not vote $100,000 to get rid of the gold standard if it was good to keep. Why did France, with a gold standard for 25 years, vote to help us? England's workingmen petitioned the government for bimetallism. England did not join us because England's bankers, meeting in secret, influenced the government. England controls Europe, and Europe, through the Republican party, controls the United States. You heard me called hard names in '96, but you haven't a name hard enough to keep me from protesting against a handful of English bankers controlling 70,000,000 people in this country.

"In '96 we opposed the trusts so much that they all opposed us. We oppose all trusts, especially money monopoly. The Republicans are trying to organize a paper money trust to turn over the money market to the national banks. Unless the trusts are throttled there is no chance for the young men of today. We ask Republicans to help us save the government.

"A large standing army is a burden to tax payers and a menace to the republic. This nation can depend upon its volunteers. They can defend it in the hour of danger.

"What has happened to make more soldiers necessary? Nothing but a Republican administration. The president says our occupation of Cuba is temporary. There is no trouble in Porto Rico. Seventy thousand soldiers are wanted to carry the benign blessings of freedom to 9,000,000 Filipinos. Common people furnish soldiers, and syndicates get the money paid for war. I don't want a single soul to be brought under the American flag unless he can share in every blessing of this government.

"Shall we call our chief executive President of the United States and Emperor of the Philippines? Government by one man, backed by force, is despotism. People who are opposed to taking the Philippines plead not for the Filipinos, but for the American people who may, by becoming accustomed to despotism, be prepared to yield to despots.

"I oppose Christianity fired out of a gatling gun. The man who is hit does not need the gospel. Does the laboring man want Oriental labor to compete with him? Every nation in Europe wants us to be guilty of conquest. If we are to become an empire let us send Bartholdi's statue back to France, and go to England and borrow a statue of William the Conqueror. Let us treat the Filipinos as we would the Cubans, and we will erect in the harbor of Manila a new statue of liberty in the old world."

Detroit Reaches Greytown.

Washington, April 21.—The Detroit arrived Thursday at Greytown, for an inquiry into the state of affairs there before proceeding to Bluefields. United States Minister Merry has started for the latter place from Managua, and it is believed that he will soon adjust satisfactorily, with the presence of the Detroit, the issue between the authorities under General Torres and the American merchants, growing out of double taxation.

CITY OF QUINCY.

In Council, April 17, 1899.

WHEREAS, in the opinion of the City Council of the City of Quincy, the public necessity and convenience of the inhabitants of said city require that Coddington street from Sea street to Washington street should be widened to sixty feet, except that Coddington street at its junction with Washington street should be widened to a still greater width by taking the entire estate of N. B. Furnald at this point; also, that Sea street from Coddington street to Palmer street be relocated and widened to seventy-five feet, all as is more particularly shown on plans and profiles of said proposed widening of Coddington street and said relocation and widening of Sea street, made by H. T. It is therefore hereby ordered that due notice be given to Napoleon B. Furnald, Henry M. Faxon, Henry H. Faxon, Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company, Trustees of the Quincy City Hospital, Zenas S. Arnold, Lois K. Wales, George W. Morton, John W. Hersey, Charles K. Pratt, James Nicols, A. E. Lucas, Fannie C. Adams, and all others interested, that the City Council intends to widen and lay out and relocate the ways above mentioned and to take therefor a portion of the land of said parties, and to lay out the same as a way under the provisions of law authorizing the assessment of betterments; and to the Quincy and Boston Street Railway Company, having a location in said streets, that it is the intention of the City Council to alter and change the grade of said streets as aforesaid under Chapter 51 of the Public Statutes and Acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, and Sections 20 and 21 of Chapter 578 of the Acts of 1898; and that Monday, the First day of May, A. DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

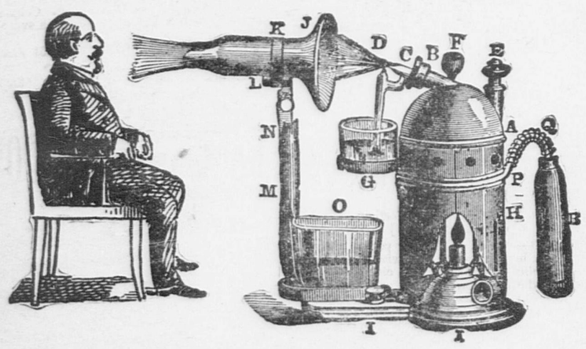

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

BOSTON ENGAGEMENT begins at 301 Shawmut Avenue, cor. Waltham Street, on MONDAY, April 24th. Come early and avoid the crowd. Consultation Free. apr7-1y

NATIVE ARMY ROLLS

Will Be Accepted as Bona Fide In Distribution of Cubans' Money.

General Ludlow Wants to Get Rid of Hammond.

Troublesome Prisoner For Whom Nobody Is Willing to Be Responsible.

Havana, April 21.—Governor General Brooke, in the distribution of the $3,000,000 to the Cuban soldiers, has determined to treat the Cuban officers as soldiers and gentlemen and not to endeavor to go behind the rolls they submit. Hence the Cuban lists will be accepted on their face, with the eliminations as previously cabled, namely, those who entered the army after July, 1898, and those who are actually holding office. Any Cuban named on the lists who is identified by his captain will get a share. General Gomez will also probably receive a share.

Linel Carden, British consul general here, recently suggested to Major General Ludlow that he ought not to hold in custody any longer without trial W. N. Hammond, formerly in business here, who avers that at one time he was a bishop in the United States, and who was arrested at Holguin two and a half months ago by order of Colonel Hood as a generally suspicious character.

After he had been in jail there six weeks, Hammond asked the British consul at Santiago to be sent to Havana. His request was complied with, and he has been detained here for four weeks. General Ludlow offered him transportation to the United States, but he refused to go, threatening to begin proceedings for damages, appealed to Mr. Carden and wrote a long letter to the newspapers.

After that General Ludlow made up his mind to send him to Holguin, and issued an order on Tuesday to that effect, but the steamer was missed. He now offers to release Hammond on $200 bail, but no bondsman is forthcoming. Yesterday he told Mr. Carden he would be glad to give Hammond to him, but the British consul general laughingly refused to accept the charge.

Lionel E. G. Carden, British consul general at Havana, has notified Colonel Bliss, secretary of the treasury department at Havana, that he consents to act in consular matters for the United States and will certify invoices.

The archbishop of Santiago, who has been residing with the Franciscan friars at Guanabacoa during the past fortnight, sailed for Corunna, Spain, yesterday, on board the Spanish steamer Alfonso XIII.

The Spanish bank here is understood to be merging with a New York bank to found a bank of Cuba, with a capital of $10,000,000, half of which is to be supplied by the Spanish bank.

Several Washington law firms, through Havana connections, have agreed to push Cuban and American claims, at no expense to the claimants, for 40 percent of the amount of the money secured. At present there are about $30,000,000 of claims on file.

Important to Farmers.

Washington, April 21.—The agricultural department's year book, which now takes the place of the annual report, is rapidly nearing completion. It contains 36 separate papers of particular interest to agriculturists, covering road making, new plants, noxious and valuable birds, animals and insects, meterological observations, forestry and new fields of farming industry. The edition will number 500,000 copies, but the department quota of 330,000 has been absorbed in advance by its regular correspondents, so that applicants will have to depend generally on senators and representatives to whom the remaining volumes have been apportioned.

Yale to Row Naval Cadets.

New Haven, April 21.—For the first time in the aquatic history of the university Yale will this year send a crew to the Potomac to race with the naval cadets of the United States academy at Annapolis. The negotiations have been pending for some weeks, and the university faculty have finally decided the matter. The second crew is permitted to race on June 3 at some point to be selected on the Potomac. The naval cadets are not permitted to leave the academy to come north even as far as New York, and for that reason Yale oarsmen will go all the way to the course.

For Far Off Guam.

Boston, April 21.—A detachment of marines, consisting of four sergeants, two corporals and 26 men, left the Charlestown navy yard yesterday for New York, on their way to the island of Guam. Major Kelton also went to New York, where he will join the transport Yosemite, which is to convey the expedition of marines to Guam. Major Kelton will be the commandant of the garrison at Guam, and will have 300 men under him. The men were in heavy marching order as they left the yard and were given a stirring farewell by the remaining marines.

Burglars Got Nothing.

Northampton, Mass., April 21.—After operating all day, an expert workman succeeded last night in drilling through the lock of the Haydensville Savings bank vault, so that the mechanism of the lock could be released and the doors opened. This work was necessary from the fact that burglars practically wrecked the vault on Tuesday, although they could not gain entrance. The contents of the safe were found to be intact.

Jury Disagreed.

Halifax, April 21.—The trial of the suit of H. B. Clarke, manager of the Academy of Music here, against Rev. J. F. Dustan, a prominent Presbyterian clergyman, for alleged libel, was finished Thursday, and the jury reported they had failed to agree. They were discharged. The alleged libel was contained in a letter Mr. Dustan wrote to one of the newspapers criticising the "Devil's Auction," and declaring it an unfit performance for the public stage, according to the bills.

CONDITIONS IMPROVING.

Statistics by Locomotive Engineers and Carpenters Presented to Industrial Commission.

Washington, April 21.—The industrial commission yesterday heard statements from Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Secretary McGuire of the Organization of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

Chief Arthur said his order had written agreements with 20 percent of the railways as to the conditions of work. Strikes had been severe and generally successful in the past, but were on the decrease.

Their strike fund had not been touched for several years, and now amounted to $100,000. Two other funds were set aside, one for current expenses and the other for the relief of widows and orphans. Of the latter, $42,000 was disbursed last year. The insurance feature of the order was important, $8,000,000 having been paid on this account. Mr. Arthur said that 90 percent of the 36,000 locomotive engineers of the country belonged to the brotherhood.

Mr. McGuire said the carpenters' and joiners' organization had been known and more or less dreaded as a striking organization because it was chosen by the Federation of Labor to inaugurate the great strikes for the eight-hour day from 1882 to 1887.

Since 1883 the carpenters had participated in 1036 strikes, had won 908, compromised 67 and lost 61. The necessity for striking had decreased, owing to the strength and determination of the organization. In the past three years they had struck only 73 times, losing twice, winning 64 and compromising seven.

Compared in purchasing power, the carpenters' wage was 30 to 40 percent higher than 30 years ago. The social conditions of the workers, as a rule, had improved in the large centers. They lived better, in better houses and wore better clothes. Still, there was a fierce struggle for existence.

Child labor and unrestricted immigration he regarded as the two great evils of the labor world, and he was in favor of well-considered but decided restriction in both cases. He had tried co-operation, and was satisfied that it was impossible under present conditions. Profit-sharing he regarded as a makeshift device.

—The divorce scandal of North Dakota is about at an end—for the present. The new law, known as the "Lamoure amendment" passed by the Legislature at its last session began operation April 1, and under its provisions a residence of one year in the State is required to qualify a person to enjoy the privileges of the divorce law. Up to this time, the term of residence has been only ninety days, and a tremendous business has been built up in the judicial sundering of matrimonial ties. The procuring of divorces has become an established industry in State. The profession of "divorce attorney" has come to be recognized as legitimate. The courts have lent themselves to all manner of ingenious evasions of the law. To such a fine point has this practice been brought that it has not been necessary for the person seeking a divorce to visit North Dakota at all except receive the decree, the attorney attending to all such formalities as the registering of the name of his client at some hotel in Fargo, Grand Forks, Bismarck or Jamestown, ninety days in advance of the hearing of the case, and the judge conveniently consenting to sit in chambers for the granting of the divorce on the day set. — Boston Courier.

WOODWARD GIRLS.

They Have a Busy Day at Basket Ball and Visiting.

Yesterday afternoon the Woodward Institute team played a game of basket-ball with the freshman team of Boston University in the B. U. gymnasium. The game was a tie, the score being: Woodward Institute, 6; B. U. Freshman, 6.

The Woodward girls are to be congratulatde upon this result, as it is the first time they have played out of their own gymnasium, and only the second game played with outside teams, the first being last year with the B. U. sophomores, over whom they won a great victory. This event was celebrated in rhyme by a young friend who evidently considered "slang" most expressive English:

The 'Varsity girls are pretty,
The 'Varsity girls are nice,
But when it comes to basket ball,
The Woodwards cut the ice.

To this poetic enthusiasm another friend now adds:—

The Woodward girls are pretty
The Woodward girls are nice,
And not alone in basket-ball
The Woodwards "cut the ice."

The Woodward girls are witty,
The Woodward girls are wise
What ever they do, you'll find is true
The Woodwards "cut the ice."

Throughout our famous city
Are maidens beyond price;
Go, search them out, and still you'll shout,
The Woodwards "cut the ice."

After the game, refreshments were served; and the Woodward girls, decorated with white ribbon and white carnations, and jubilant over their score, returned to Quincy.

On Friday afternoon, also, members of the German department, accompanied by their teacher, Miss Moury, listened to a German play in Boston; and students in the Science departments visited the Agassiz Museum in Cambridge, under the guidance of their teacher, Miss Dodd.

Flag Drill.

There was a flag drill and entertainment given at the Park and Downs Chapel Wednesday evening in which the following young ladies took part each one representing a different nation: Addie Conrad, England; Julia Marr, Scotland; Millie Hirtle, Ireland; Marguerite MacKay, Spain; Emily Hirtle, Italy; Hannah Easan, France; Alice Hirtle, Germany; Maud Maxwell, Austria; Elvira Hirtle, U. S. Navy; Alda Shay, Army. There were duets by Misses Agnes Kelly and Edith Chick, solos by Mrs. Miller and Miss Brown, readings by Master Louis Coons and Mr. Segar and others. Mr. George Wardwell was manager and director. After the entertainment cake and ices were served by the young ladies. At the close of the evening all joined in singing My Country 'tis of Thee.

The Crib Club.

The Quincy Point Crib club gave the last of its series of winter entertainments on Wednesday evening when it entertained 30 guests at an oyster supper. Mr. William F. Cain, the president of the club, was at the head of the table, and Mr. Harry L. Whiton was toastmaster. After supper, cards, pool and checkers served to pass the hours all too quickly away, and it was with regrets that good nights were said. Already the club has plans made for several novel entertainments for its members and friends during the summer season. With the opening of the fall season a cribbage tournament will be held, for which suitable prizes will be offered.

—Revenue department reports show that of the war revenue taxes collected during the first six months that the law was in operation, one-half was derived from tobacco and beer, and the great bulk of the rest from stamps. The yield of the stamp tax is particularly surprising, and if the second six months show up as well as the first the treasury will receive from that source about $45,000,000 for the year. The brewers will have to pay for the twelve months about $36,000,000, and the tobacconists, including the cigar, cigarette and snuff makers, about $20,000,000 Of the other taxes levied under the war revenue measure the only ones amounting to anything are those classified as "special," which yielded during the first six months $4,000,000, and will probably bring in as much more for the second period of six months.—Milford Gazette.

JUSTICE IS DEFEATED.

Opinion of John Wanamaker Concerning the Acquittal of Senator Quay.

Sharp Thrusts at "Boss Rule" and "Machine Jobbery."

Won on a Technical Verdict, but the Prosecution of Plunderers Will Continue.

Philadelphia, April 22.—"The acquittal of Senator Quay," says ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker in a statement issued last night, "will be a disappointment to every lover of justice and every friend of good government throughout the United States. It records with emphasis the difficulty of convicting potent political defendants charged with public crime, no matter how clear, convincing and overwhelming the evidence may be.

"The story of the corrupt use and speculation in public money in Pennsylvania is an old one and has been a matter of notorious accusation against a long line of state treasurers and political bosses for many years. Mr. Quay himself has been again and again accused of participation in treasury jobbing by the newspapers of this and other states with circumstantial detail. Heretofore, however, the basis for these accusations largely consisted of oral testimony and of allegations by political opponents. The case which terminated today, however, unlike previous accusations, was founded exclusively upon documentary proof in his own handwriting and that of his friends and confederates. The evidence of his guilt did not depend upon the veracity of any man or men, but was supported exclusively by his own letter and by written entries and statements recorded by his trusted friends and supporters.

"From the day the prosecution against him was instituted until the verdict was recorded he has sought by every device to delay and obstruct the efforts of the commonwealth's officers to produce the written evidence of his misdoing and to bring him to trial for his offenses.

"The removal of the case from the lower court on the eve of the day when it was first set down for trial by an extraordinary writ issued by the supreme court, which that court subsequently dismissed, was successful in taking the prosecution away from the management of former District Attorney Graham, whose ability, zeal and effectiveness as a prosecutor had been demonstrated by 18 years of service. The same efforts to prevent a full exposition of his acts as a public official and his connection with the private use of the public money, marked every step in the extraordinary line of defense which his skilful attorneys adopted during his trial in resisting the zealous and able efforts of District Attorney Rothermel to introduce all the inculpating evidence in possession of the commonwealth.

"By technical objection he excluded the evidence offered to show that during his term as state treasurer he was paid interest on state deposits and also the receipt of interest by subsequent treasurers charged in the bill of indictment as being co-conspirators with him in crime and finally failed to take the stand in his own defense and submit himself to cross-examination upon the charges made. The "red book" kept by his trusted friend, Mr. Hopkins, and which set out the story of treasury corruptions, was overwhelmingly corroborated and its verity established by the testimony and admission of his friend, McKee, and by the signature of his friend and co-defendant, B. J. Haywood.

"Notwithstanding all this proof, emanating exclusively from the lips and the pens of himself and his closest friends, and in face of his own silence and failure to testify to his innocence, he was acquitted.

"This is a new chapter of shame for Pennsylvania, a new record of failure in the administration of justice that will do much to encourage corruptionists and public plunderers generally throughout the country. The first shout of defiant exultation over his acquittal has proceeded from the governor of the commonwealth, who has promptly appointed him a United States senator, without authority and in violation of law and in defiance of the will of the people as expressed by the votes of the legislature. It is fitting in every way that the capstone should have been thus put upon the edifice of boss rule and machine jobbery by the Quay representative in the governor's chair. The people will thus see more clearly, it is to be hoped, the reckless disregard of right and decency, of public morality and political purity that characterizes the Quay machine, now intrenched in office in Pennsylvania.

"But friends of good government should not despair. There are other indictments undisposed of still hanging over Quay, and whatever may be their fate, even though it should be a technical acquittal, the contest against the degrading forces, practices and principles which Quay and his machine represent, will be carried on until justice and right, morality and honesty shall triumph. The friends of good government will re-enlist in this warfare today, and must continue unremittingly and unflinchingly the strife against all wrong-doings and wrong-doers in any party and in all parties, regardless of temporary setbacks or defeats, until treasury jobbers shall be driven from official power in the commonwealth. Today's verdict settles nothing but the fate of the single bill of indictment upon which Mr. Quay was tried. The facts of the treasury speculation and jobbery elicited in his trial, and wholly unanswered by him or any other witness, cannot be effaced by the surprising verdict of today. They must be iterated and reiterated and laid bare in all their hideous deformity before the people, so that a verdict in accordance with the truth may be reached by that larger jury, before whom the special pleading of attorneys and the stolid silence of the accused will be unavailing. Quay has got his technical verdict, but the trial of corruptionists and public plunderers will still go on."

Suspicion of Arson.

Providence, April 22.—Two alarms were rung in for a supposedly incendiary fire in the building owned by Charles H. Perkins at the corner of Harrison and Westfield streets early this morning. An alarm was rung in for a fire in the same building about 8 o'clock last evening, and the fire at that time was, according to the firemen, extinguished. The second alarm was rung by four men who were in a buggy. As soon as they had turned the key in the box they drove away, and considerable suspicion is attached to their presence and sudden disappearance. The loss and damage cannot be stated at this hour. The building was valued at $20,000.

For Lower Taxation.

Portland, Me., April 22.—W. H. McLaughlin of Scarboro, who has set about to organize a farmers' movement for lower taxation, has received a letter from Governor Powers, in which he says: "I am decidedly in favor of a revision, equalization and many radical changes in our system for taxation in Maine. I believe that the farms, mills, stores and other property of this kind bear more than their fair share of the burden. There has been such an inflation of valuations by the state assessors that the tax is already burdensome. Especially should there is a rigid inquiry into exemption from taxation."

Dividend of Twenty Percent.

Boston, April 22.—The committee in charge of the affairs of the Electrolytic Marine Salts company, of which Rev. Prescott F. Jernegan was president, and which was thrown into difficulty by Jernegan's unexpected departure for Belgium several months ago, have announced to the shareholders represented by them a dividend of 20 percent, payable May 1. Just how much more will be forthcoming and when it will be paid the chairman of the committee who announced the present dividend cannot tell, but he ventures the opinion that the company will pay 30 percent at least.

Mayor Will Obey Law.

Lawrence, Mass., April 22.—State Inspector Wasley was here yesterday looking up alleged violations of the law regarding employment in the city departments. Complaints have been made that men employed in the street and health departments have been obliged to work more hours than the law allows. Inspector Wasley had a conference with Mayor Eaton, the outcome being that the mayor promised to see that the law was strictly lived up to in all the departments.

Alleged Briber Located.

Boston, April 22.—Information has been received by the police that John E. Foye, wanted in this city to answer to an indictment charging him with bribing a juror, and arrested in Seattle, Wash., has been released on bail. The Boston authorities were considerably surprised to learn that the amount of bail is only $200. Foye's case has been continued until May 1, when a hearing on the matter of requisition will be held.

Italians Quit Work.

Gloucester, Mass., April 22.—The strike at the Rockport Granite company's plant does not show any approach to a settlement. There is considerable uneasiness among the 200 Italians recently sent there to work in the quarries, and yesterday, with the exception of 15, all refused to go to work. The strikers are firm, and declare they will not return until their demand for nine hours' work at nine hours' pay is acceded to.

Honored Citizen Gone.

Norwich, Conn., April 22.—Ex-Congressman John T. Wait, one of the best known citizens of Connecticut and the oldest practicing lawyer in the state, died at his home here yesterday. Death was caused by old age. He had been confined to his home since last November and for the past 10 days his death was hourly expected. He was unconscious for 48 hours before his death. He was born in New London in 1811.

Priest Not Guilty.

Augusta, Me., April 22.—In the trial for manslaughter of Merrill and Priest for causing the death of Henry Bushby at North Vassalboro, last December, the jury last night rendered a verdict of guilty as to Merrill and not guilty as to Priest. The latter was discharged and the former gave bonds in $2000 to prosecute motion and exceptions for a new trial.

Fatalities at Boston.

Boston, April 22.—An unknown man attempted to cross Commercial street between two electric cars last evening and was run over and killed by an engine of the Union freight railway. Smith Papperson, aged 23, was run over by a city department vehicle yesterday and died last night from his injuries.

Convicted of Bank Robbery.

St. Albans, Vt., April 22.—The jury in the Richford bank robbery case of the state vs. Powers came in with a verdict of guilty. When the verdict was rendered the prisoner arose and said that if there was ever a man in the state of Vermont who was not guilty of the crime charged he was that man. Powers' counsel at once filed exceptions.

May Go to Philippines.

Boston, April 22.—While official news is still lacking, the members of battery G, Seventh artillery, who are at present at Fort Warren, in the harbor, understand that the regiment will be ordered to the Philippines. Batteries of the Seventh are scattered all over the country, two of them being at Portland.

A Case of Suicide.

Worcester, Mass., April 22.—The man drowned in Lake Quinsigamond Thursday night was found yesterday in about 35 feet of water. He has been identified as John M. Carney of Whitman. It is supposed that he was demented when he drowned himself. He had been out of work about a year.

Directed at "Ringers."

Toronto, April 22.—Racing bicyclists in Canada will be compelled to take out licenses before they will be permitted to ride at Canada Wheelmen's association meets. Each rider will be assessed 50 cents by the racing board. The license will be a sort of identification card and will, it is expected, put a stop to "ringing," which has been so prevalent in late years.

CANNON A CANDIDATE

For the Position Made Vacant by the Retirement of Speaker Tom Reed.

Chicago, April 22.—Congressman Joseph G. Cannon came to Chicago from Danville yesterday, told his friends he was an avowed candidate for the speakership of the house of representatives and took a train for Washington.

HON JOSEPH G. CANNON.

As a result of the growing rivalry between the supporters of Congressman Hopkins and Cannon for Mr. Reed's place, there is talk of a conference of Illinois Republican congressmen, to decide which of the two they will support.

Not Encouraging to Teachers.

Washington, April 22.—In a report to the secretary of war, Dr. Victor Clark, sub-director of public instruction in Porto Rico, says that only $50 a month can be offered to American teachers, with transportation to the island from New York. As understood in this country, there is no system of higher education in Porto Rico. No school on the island affords adequate preparation for American college work. The public schools are kept open 12 months in the year and six days in the week. There is no co-education of the sexes. No schoolhouses exist on the island, the schools usually being held at the residences of the teachers. Only a part of the pupils have text books. In many cases the pupils take to the schools the chairs which they occupy. The pupils study aloud. About 525 schools are reported in the island and a little over $300,000 is annually paid for their support. A great desire is manifested to learn English.

A Daughter's Devotion.

New York, April 22.—Hirsch Coppelman, who pleaded guilty a month ago to swindling Jacob Bernstein of Cincinnati out of $10,000 by means of the gold brick scheme, was yesterday sentenced to four years and 10 months in prison. Paul Jacobs is now serving a sentence of seven and one-half years in Sing Sing prison for the crime committed by Coppelman, who was arrested in church after having made a confession to Minnie Jacobs, the daughter of Paul Jacobs. She searched the country for the real offender in order to effect the release of her father. A petition is now being signed for the pardon of Jacobs.

Captain Bernier's Proposed Route.

Ottawa, April 22.—Captain Bernier, who is about to undertake a voyage in search of the north pole, delivered a lecture last night to members of parliament and others. He said he proposed to start from Vancouver and go through Behring strait into the Arctic ocean, and after striking the Siberian shore, strike due north for the pole. He will take eight men and a number of dogs and reindeer for ice travel. He will also take with him a number of buoys, which he will throw out in case of accident, so that even if he is lost there may be some record of the expedition.

Were Colored Men Barred.

New York, April 22.—In the account of the Jefferson dinner by the Chicago platform Democrats, in this city, on the night of April 15, the statement was made and telegraphed that colored men were present. This, it is stated, is entirely incorrect, and that no colored man was seated at the dinner table. When the speaking commenced a colored man and his son appeared on the platform, and upon this fact was based the statement that colored people were present as guests of the dinner, which the managing committee of the banquet state is not the fact.

Davis Highly Recommended.

San Juan, April 22.—The recall of General Henry to the United States is regarded regretfully here. He says he was obliged to ask for relief on account of poor health, and that he feared to stay here throughout the summer. The general knows Brigadier General Davis, his successor, and congratulates the people of Porto Rico upon having such a capable governor. He says General Davis is better fitted than he to govern Porto Rico.

Conflict of Authority.

Havana, April 22.—The captain of the port of Havana, Commodore Cromwell, has stationed a guard of marines to protect customs employes working at the Casade-Pasageros against the efforts of the police to eject them. Both Chief of Police Menocal and the secretary of the treasury department here, Colonel Bliss, claim the right to occupy the building.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:51; sets, 6:35.
Moon sets—3:21 a. m.
High water—9:30 a. m.; 9:45 p. m.

The storm which occupied the western part of the gulf of Mexico Friday has moved northward. This storm has been attended by rain in the states of the Mississippi valley and in Texas and Oklahoma and by high winds on the middle and west gulf coasts. In the upper Mississippi valley rain has been followed by clearing weather. Indications point to fair weather in New England today, probably rain by Sunday. Brisk easterly winds will prevail along the Atlantic coast and probably increase in force.

AN IMPRESSIVE SPEECH.

How an Opponent of Henry Clay Stopped a Monument Project.

A Kentuckian who has seen a good many years of active, busy life told the other day a story of an event which he witnessed a long while ago and which he had never forgotten: "My father, hearing the news of Henry Clay's death, had taken me from our home in Boyle county to Lexington. Hundreds of other Blue Grass farmers had also come post haste upon receipt of the sad intelligence. A monster meeting was being held at the old courthouse to take action for the building of a splendid monument to the memory of the great commoner. There was grief upon every face. Speech after speech had been made. One citizen after another had pledged himself to subscribe for a monument fund. Suddenly the cry went up for Marshall to speak. Old Tom Marshall was one of Clay's greatest political enemies, but, like every Kentuckian, he had a deep admiration for 'Harry of the West.' 'Marshall, Marshall, Marshall!' the crowd kept calling.

"My father was on the platform, and I stood near, behind his chair, peeping over at the sorrowful assemblage with wide open eyes. As I looked a man began to rise or rather to unfold himself from the seat in which he had been doubled up, sucking the head of a cane. To me, as he straightened out, he seemed the longest man I had ever seen. A hoarse cheer ran through the crowd. It was Marshall. He raised his arm, and, as silence fell upon the multitude, he spoke in a deep, rolling voice. Young as I was I realize that this was almost a history making moment for our state, and so deep was the impress upon my mind I have never forgotten his words.

"'The friends of Mister Clay,' he said, 'have asked that I speak upon this sad occasion. Men of Kentucky,' and his voice fairly rang, 'the man who lies dead today needs no monument. He wants no shaft of carved stone to commemorate his deeds. As long as hearts throb the sweet memory of Henry Clay will live and breathe in Kentucky.'

"That was all. He slowly doubled up again. And the crowd dispersed, and everybody went home. There were no more speakers. And for the time there was no more talk of a monument to Henry Clay."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A BYGONE BADGE OF THRIFT.

When Did the Habit of Nailing Insurance Signs on Houses Stop?

One by one the old fashioned things are falling away until the middle aged man of today can find very little left to remind him of his boyhood days. It used to be the habit years ago for fire insurance companies to label the house on which they had taken a risk. It was a matter of pride for the householder to have a small embossed metal sign on which was stamped in gilt letters, "Niagara" or "Aetna" or something of the sort tacked on the gable end of his porch. It was an indication that he was a business man and took life seriously. One rather pitied in those days the family of the man on whose house there was no insurance sign. It indicated that the head of the house was probably not a "good provider" and unthrifty.

One day last week a man was walking from his home to his place of business. He looked at the houses as he passed with idle curiosity. He stopped suddenly in his walk, arrested by a small metal sign on a house porch. The house was built of ancient bricks. It was clearly old fashioned—so old fashioned that the little insurance sign, from which the gilt had long ago been washed by the weather, had not been taken down. Its discovery recalled the fact to the man that the bygone fashion of insurance signs on houses had stopped without his having noticed it, and he wondered how long ago it had been and if it had been gradual or sudden and why he had not noticed it before.

But it is a fact. This little badge of thrift has gone out of usage, probably because fire insurance has become so necessary and common that it is not worth while to call the attention of the world to the fact that you are protected against loss if your house burns.—Kansas City Star.

Cutlery Grinders.

Of the dangers to which the cutlery grinder is exposed much has been written. The terrible results of the constant inhalation of dust compounded of stone and steel arrested and appalled the imagination. The expression of public opinion led to the adoption in the act of 1878 of provisions for the removal of this dust, which were afterward supplemented by the act of 1895. Although it cannot be claimed that grinders' phthisis has been extirpated, it has been largely diminished by the use of ventilating fans. With the example before us of the overthrow of such insidious perils by apparently simple methods point is given to the dangers that remain behind and to the indefensibility of allowing them free play. It is the more obvious risks which remain uncontrolled—those engendered by the bursting or flying of a huge grindstone running at a speed of from 200 to 300 revolutions per minute or of a smaller stone running at a higher velocity, which reaches even 1,500 revolutions per minute.—Fortnightly Review.

Unofficial Railroad Inspectors.

Quite frequently conductors will notice a good looking, well dressed man riding on the little seat at the end of a common coach or in some part of a rear Pullman, where he can look over the road. He never takes his eyes from the track and the roadbed and makes copious notes on a paper pad with a lead pencil. There are a number of such men traveling all the time, and they are employed as experts by Wall street financiers to look over and make reports on the physical condition and the equipment of certain roads. It is surprising what a great fund of useful, practical and accurate information these men can turn in after a month's trip through the states.—Pittsburg Post.

Can You Blame Her?

It was raining when the fair young caller prepared to leave.

"We have only two umbrellas," said the hostess, "and I am sorry to say the boys have been playing pranks with them. That one hanging up has painted on the cover in big letters, 'Kiss Me!' and the one standing in the corner has painted, 'This Is a Stolen Umbrella!' You can take your choice of them."

"Well," said the fair young caller without a moment's hesitation, "I don't want people to think I'm a thief."—Chicago Tribune.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

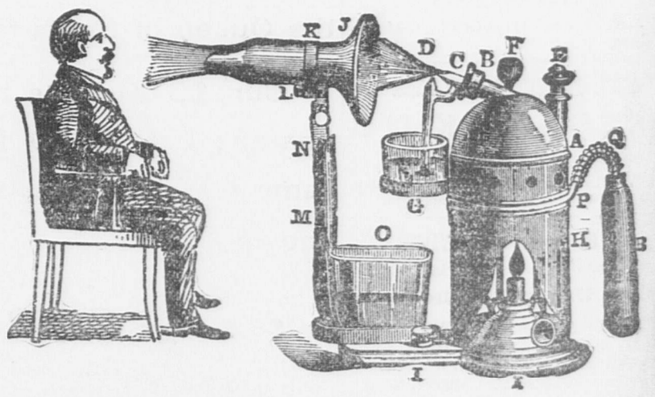

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet if their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

CONVENTION OF 1900.

Personal Considerations Will Not Enter Into Democrats' Deliberations.

Williams and the Vice Presidential Nomination.

Bay State Leader Says Bryan Has Not Broached the Subject to Him.

Boston, April 22.—George F. Williams, the Democratic leader of the state, has given to The Herald a statement in answer to the report that he had been invited by Mr. Bryan to accept the nomination for vice president on the national ticket, if tendered him, in the event of Mr. Bryan's nomination for the presidency. Mr. Williams was credited with receiving the invitation in New York last week and in having it under consideration, but Mr. Williams quickly disposes of both reports. He says:

GEORGE FRED WILLIAMS.

"The mere suggestion that Mr. Bryan has expressed a personal wish with reference to the vice presidential candidate is gross injustice to him, and is inconsistent with what are clearly his views of duty. The subject has never been touched upon, even remotely, in any conversation I have had with him, and I know nothing about his feeling in the matter, even through report from others. Mr. Bryan ought to take just the course he is taking of refraining entirely from any personal connection with the question of the vice presidential nomination.

"There are undoubtedly many of his warm friends who have an honorable aspiration after the vice presidency. Of this number I am not one; but every man who is looking in that direction has a right to ask of Mr. Bryan that, as the candidate for the presidency, he should not cast his powerful influence in favor of any particular candidate.

"To charge Mr. Bryan now with having taken a false step is a wrong which should be immediately suppressed. The convention of 1900 will settle the question. Probably no one will ask Mr. Bryan to commit himself in favor of any particular candidate. I believe there is a spirit of consecration among the leaders of the present Democracy which can hardly be understood by those who have accustomed themselves to nominations secured by manipulation, by canvassing, and even by corrupt methods under the old regime. Personal ambition will play no part in the nomination for the vice presidency.

"The convention will select the man best fitted for the duty, and that man will take it whether he wants it or not. Men may be mentioned for the vice presidency, but there ought to be no candidates.

"I wish to see the convention of 1900 as free from personal contentions and the influence of candidates as was the convention of 1896, and, saving the present unanimous sentiment in favor of Mr. Bryan's renomination, I doubt whether any personal considerations will enter into any of the party's deliberations."

Mr. Williams' statement also contains his denial that he has expressed a desire for the attorney generalship in the cabinet should Mr. Bryan be elected in 1900; and declares that the dollar dinner was not an issue against Tammany.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 22.—Governor Wolcott yesterday signed the resolve for a new edition of the Bradford history of Plymouth plantation, the measure that occasioned lively opposition in its passage through the senate. Under the resolve $3500 is to be expended for the edition, of which each member and officer of this year's legislature is to receive 12 copies, each doorkeeper, messenger and page two copies, the rest to be distributed under the direction of the secretary of state.

Without debate, the bill for a Wachusett mountain state reservation was ordered to a third reading.

A bill relative to additions, alterations and repairs on Boston school buildings was taken from the table and put in Tuesday's orders.

Bills were engrossed for a state exhibit of drawing in the public schools; to incorporate the Citizens' Street Railway company of Newburyport; to legalize the election of a board of health in Plymouth.

Election bills took up the most of a rather dull session of the house. The bill for two polling places in certain Boston wards was refused a third reading, and the attempt to save the bill for compelling returns of small election expenses by reconsideration was futile.

In the senate the railroad committee secured an extension of time until May 5 for its report on the Fairhaven bridge matter, and a bill was reported to extend the time for beginning suits under the metropolitan water act. The manufactures committee has postponed further discussion of the Boston Gas company consolidation until next Tuesday, when the attorney general's opinion as to the right of the legislature to compel the consolidation is expected.

The house had a heated discussion over the bill to allow salaries for the metropolitan park commissioners, the chief

ANOTHER FOR BOSTON.

Senators Again Fall Before Heavy Batsmen From the Hub.

Washington, April 22.—The Senators pulled themselves together and gave Boston a good argument for six innings. After that the 800-odd spectators were never in doubt as to the outcome. The Senators started off with a rush, scoring three earned runs on two singles, a sacrifice, double and triple. After that only one man reached third, and he was nailed at the plate in trying to score from first on a long single. The champions, on the other hand, played a safe and sure uphill game, evening up matters in the fourth and getting a winning lead soon afterward.

Manager Selee chose his new left-hander, Streit, to take his first turn against a major league club, and right well did the young southerner acquit himself. He was cool and collected, had good control of a fast, straight ball, but invariably fell down when experimenting with curves.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Situation In General Lines of Trade Continues to Show Great Strength.

New York, April 22.—Bradstreet's says: The general business situation is one of quiet strength, while in industrial lines activity continues unabated. The well-nigh universal testimony of damage of the winter wheat crop has had surprisingly little effect on prices as yet, owing partly to improved weather conditions, strengthening the hopes of a larger area in spring wheat, and also to good crop reports abroad, and increased visible supplies as compared with a year ago.

An enlarged demand for this country's manufactured products is in some degree counterbalanced by the falling off in the value of agricultural exports, notably cereals and cotton, as compared with a year ago. For the month of March a drop of $18,000,000 in exports of breadstuffs, cotton, provisions, live cattle and mineral oils has been partly made up by a gain of nearly $10,000,000 in other products. Imports reflect the increased purchasing power of the country, the total for March being the largest since May, 1897. For the nine months' period, exports, as a whole, are a little less than double the imports.

In iron and steel new business is of even smaller proportions, a notable exception, however, being in the line of wire goods and nails, on which prices have been generally advanced.

The cotton goods situation is still strong, though current demand from agents is light. Heavy orders booked for gray goods some time ago make for strength in this line, but converters complain that finished goods have not advanced proportionately.

Retail distribution of staple products has been improved by more favorable weather, thus encouraging hopes of future good records from wholesale hands.

Following the outburst of activity in wool last week, business has father fallen off, but values remain steady. Continued buying of high grades of foreign wool for re-export is reported, and there is some talk of high grade American wools being bought for shipment in England.

Leather and hides are strong, and boots and shoes hold recent advances.

Business failures aggregate 187, against 243 in the preceding week, 224 in this week a year ago, 216 in 1897, 240 in 1896, and 223 in 1895.

Roosevelt Is Commander.

New York, April 22.—A meeting of the Naval and Military Order of the Spanish and American War was held here last night. The following officers were elected: Commander, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, U. S. V.; senior vice commander, Captain Henry Taylor, U. S. N.; junior vice commander, Brigadier General Wallace Randolph, U. S. V.; secretary, Lieutenant Dr. J. Sears, U. S. N.; registrar, Lieutenant Theodore C. Zerega, U. S. N. V.; chaplain, Charles A. Parks, U. S. N.

TO SUCCEED HIMSELF.

Quay Appointed to United States Senate by Governor Stone.

Action Quickly Followed His Acquittal by Jury.

Friends Say He Will Not Be Brought Before the Bar of Justice Again.

Philadelphia, April 22.—Immediately on receipt of the news that Mr. Quay was acquitted of the charges against him, Governor Stone appointed him United States senator to fill the vacancy until the next legislature meets, and notified Vice President Hobart as follows:

"By virtue of the power vested in me as executive of the state of Pennsylvania, under article 1, clause 2, section 3 of the constitution of the United States, I hereby make temporary appointment of the Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay to be United States senator from Pennsylvania until the next meeting of the Pennsylvania legislature to fill the vacancy now existing in this state."

Governor Stone said that in appointing Mr. Quay he felt that he had done the fit and proper thing. He thought it would make the issue, and it was better done now than to wait for weeks.

The authority mentioned by the governor says that the governor of any state may make temporary appointment during a recess to hold until the next legislature meets.

This interpretation is disputed by those who say that the vacancy did not occur during a recess, but while the legislature was in session.

Mr. Quay was declared not guilty of the charge of conspiring to use for his own unlawful gain and profit the funds of the state of Pennsylvania deposited in the People's bank of this city.

At the time the jury filed into their places there were comparatively few people in the courtroom. There was an attempt at a demonstration, but this was sternly repressed by the court officers. The officers were unable, however, to keep back those who struggled to get to Senator Quay and congratulate him. Chairs were upset, tables were brushed aside and hats were smashed by the onrushing crowd. Senator Quay, with a broad smile on his face, responded pleasantly to the greetings and congratulations of those who crowded around.

Although the court officers prevented the cheering in the courtroom, their jurisdiction did not extend to the corridors of the city hall, and the first group of men who left the courtroom sent up a mighty shout, which was taken up and repeated by the crowds gathered outside.

Four ballots were taken by the jury before the final decision was reached. The first ballot stood 10 to 2 for acquittal, the next two stood 11 to 1.

District Attorney Rothermel was questioned regarding the remaining indictments. There are three of them, and they are still pending, but he would not say what his course would be regarding them. In two of these indictments Senator Quay is charged with conspiring with Hopkins and Haywood, as he was in the one under which he was acquitted. In the remaining indictment he is charged with conspiracy jointly with his son, Richard R. Quay.

Senator Quay's lawyers say the district attorney picked out the indictment on which he could make the best case for the trial just ended, and he will not dare bring the senator to the bar again.

Handler Won.

New York, April 22.—One of the hardest and fastest fistic battles which has even been seen in a roped arena was witnessed here last night. Jimmy Handler of Newark, N. J., who is a protege of Bob Fitzsimmons, and Dick O'Brien of Lewiston, Me., were matched to fight 25 rounds at 153 pounds. The match was made at catchweights, but Handler refused to go on when he saw his adversary turn the scales at 161 pounds against his 149½. Madden immediately substituted his man, Charley Goff, the California middleweight, but this substitution proved an incentive for Handler, who said: "Well, I'll go on if he weighed a ton." At the end of the 12th round of the fight O'Brien's seconds threw up the sponge and Handler was declared the winner.

The Gloucester's Victim.

Santiago, April 22.—The wreck of the Spanish torpedo boat destroyer Pluton, which was sunk in the battle that resulted in the destruction of Cervera's squadron, was discovered yesterday about three miles west of Morro Castle in eight fathoms of water. It was found by divers from the Yankton, who made a thorough inspection, finding the hull lying on the port side and with no indication of having been struck by a heavy shell, as was originally reported. The vessel, however, is badly stove and literally riddled with six-pound shot. Evidently the Gloucester did her work well that day, for the Pluton is utterly ruined and no attempt will be made to raise her.

The Chicago's Breakdown.

Washington, April 22.—The secretary of the navy has made public the result of a court of inquiry which was charged to fix the responsibility for the breaking down of the steering gear of the cruiser Chicago as she left the New York navy yard Feb. 6 last. The court found that Naval Constructor Hibbs was responsible, but as he is now in Cuba and has not had an opportunity to be heard, no action has been taken in his case. John Nolan, master shipfitter, and Darius Gallagher, leading man in the New York navy yard, are also charged with responsibility and are suspended for 10 days from work and pay.

Bryan at Buffalo.

Buffalo, April 22.—Three thousand people crowded music hall last evening to listen to William J. Bryan. When he appeared upon the stage he was enthusiastically received, the crowd rising and cheering for some time. His speech was along the lines of his recent addresses.

If it were the policy of the Chilton Company to put up its paint short weight or measure, it would make so much difference that it would amount in the course of a year to a handsome profit, but this would all come out of the customers of Chilton Paint and therefore the scheme of short quantity has never been entertained.

The Chilton Paint has always been made with Pure Linseed Oil and will continue to be so made until a better vehicle can be found, and, should an oil be made which is superior to that compressed from flaxseed, the Chilton Company would be the first to use it, and would then inform the public of the fact through its advertisements. Linseed Oil is the old-fashioned oil for paint and the one which should be used. Nothing has ever been found which approaches it for the purpose intended. No benzine or benzine drier is ever admitted to the Chilton Paint.

It enjoys the confidence of the people and deserves it.

CANCER CURED
BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

Good Afternoon.

Mr. Henry H. Faxon has seldom written a communication to the press which is open to so many criticisms as the one in yesterday's paper. First, on general principles, no one who is working for the good of the city should rush into print with such a reckless statement as this: "Knowing what I do of the political affairs of this city I would not advise a man with visible property to make Quincy his abiding place unless he desires to be taxed out of existence."

It is not true that political corruption is causing high taxes in Quincy.

It is not true that the taxes are exorbitant or above the average in Massachusetts. Real estate in Quincy has suffered with the country generally, but is sure to recover speedily and too advance rapidly in value. Quincy land free from antiquated buildings can be developed so as to pay a good investment.

The principle that it is unwise for the city to carry unused property will have no dissenters. Neither is it wise to give away or sacrifice public property. If any of the unused property can be sold, even for a fair value, the opportunity will be promptly seized, but people are not buying stone engine houses and pumping stations for water works every day. The city must wait its chance.

Mr. Faxon included in his list considerable property that is still needed by the city, notably the stand pipe and land on Penn's hill valued at $10,500, about one-third of its total. The old High school building is still used, and should be kept for emergency rather than sacrificed. Should either the Coddington, Adams, Washington or John Hancock buildings be destroyed it would prove handy. Large daily newspapers often have emergency plants.

If the Germantown school lot is sold to the Sailors Sung Harbor, the only ones likely to buy it, no income would be derived from taxes. Germatown and Quincy Neck may want a playground s soon and it would be cheaper to keep them twenty years, than to sell them for $100 each and then pay $1,000 for a similar lot.

Mr. Faxon does not seem to practice what he preaches. He does not give away or sell any of his vacant houses, and he says he has many. He very seldom if ever sells any piece of property he gets hold of. Improvements which the city have made, have doubled the land value of nearly every lot he owns, and he should be the last to complain.

The statement is often made that the City Council has refused to allow the Street Railway Company to double track Hancock street to Neponset, and also that it has refused to allow additional turnouts on Sea street half way between the present turnout and the termini. Both should not go longer unchallenged. There never has been any hindrance on the part of the city to double tracking of Hancock street from City Square, but when the company attached as a rider a double track to School street, there were some restrictions to that part of the location. The situation was the same on Sea street; there was no objection to the turnouts en route, but at the Houghs Neck terminus certain changes were wanted at the same time which Houghs Neck people objected to. If the company desires additional turnouts on Sea street, which better service seems to demand, it has but to ask for them separately. The same with Hancock street between Adams street and Squantum street.

We wish Quincy could afford to make a clean sweep of all the buildings on the right hand side of Coddington street between Washington and Spear streets and the Crane library. The lands thus taken and the library grounds would make a fine park. The erection of a handsome granite band stand would complete the improvement and the whole would be a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Quincy needs a breathing space in the Centre for band concerts and for public use.

The hearing at the State House yesterday placed the Metropolitan Park Commissioners on record, in that the chairman said if the land could be taken and boulevard constructed for $180,000 his commission would undoubtedly regard it a duty to do the work. The discouraging part of it, however, is that land owners on the route are not willing to cooperate, but in too many cases are holding their land at two high a value. They should realize the benefit which the expenditure of $180,000 of State money in Quincy will bring and not be obstructionists.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Not to advertise is not to satisfy one demand of the public. When time seemed not to fly so fast and the humdrum of life was undisturbed the placed tradesman was content to patiently await the coming of customers and if they didn't come it appeared to be no great matter; but the swish and the swirl of modern life have swept the ambitious merchant into the vortex of the trade whirlpool, and have compelled him to slash around for selfpreservation with the most effective means at his command. The best means he has so far found is extensive continuous and judicial advertising in the columns of a widely-read newspaper. That attracts, persuades and finally compels the public to inspect his wares and buy them.—Philadelphia Record.

☞ That 20,000-mile cruise scheduled for the Chicogo will prove a most interesting trip to those on board and will also familiarize the people of African ports with the appearance of an up-to-date American warship. The world has a most especial interest in American war-vessels after the record made in the recent war.—Brockton Times.

☞ The shiretown of Dedham has again voted against the adoption of the sewer system, thus keeping in touch with other sleepy towns of the commonwealth that are disregarding sanitary conditions. The town could have this system at very little expense in view of the Neponset Valley system being at its very door and which could be used for an outlet. What the town needs is less street railroad talk and more sewerage!—Hyde Park Gazette.

Dealer—"I'll sell you that wheel for $50. It weighs twenty-two pounds."

Rube Scudder—"Why, my boy Ab. bought one for twenty-five t'other day that weighed ninety pounds. You can't soak me, by gum."

Tommy's Papa—"This is a restaurant, my son, take all the sugar you want."

STANDS AT HEAD.

Anniversary of Odd Fellowship Observed at Faxon Hall.

Odd Fellowship not only flourishes in Quincy, but the figures presented at the anniversary at Faxon hall last evening show it to be not only the first in history but first in members, a good thing which improves with age.

Members of the order are proud of Odd Fellowship, and for this reason they annually celebrate the anniversary.

Every seat in Faxon hall was filled last evening with members of Mt. Wollaston lodge, George L. Gill Rebekah lodge and lady friends. First came a pleasing entertainment. Past Grand W. H. Cobb, as Chairman of the committee welcomed the gathering, and introduced as presiding officer, Past Grand Franklin Jacobs. Bro. Jacobs is well up in the history of the order, both local and general. He spoke of the early history as a beneficial and social order and gave figures showing the growth. He said there were now over 11,000 lodges and over 804,000 members. Mt. Wollaston lodge has 221 members, and there are in Massachusetts 237 lodges and 51,000 members. The order in the State spent last year $19,000 for relief, and has funds amounting to $91,000. There were also 150 flourishing Rebekah lodges.

Grand Master Tirrell, who was born in Weymouth recalled some early history of Quincy unknown to most of the residents of today, relative to the toll gate at Quincy Point, the old militia musters and gambling, and the Adamses. Odd Fellowship, he said, was made up not of the Adamses and Quincys but the average men of the community, and the permanent success of the order was assured. He noted the fact that there was in every regiment in the late war enough Odd Fellows to form a lodge.

Rev. L. B. Hatch spoke of the question—Has Odd Fellowship a place in American society, and is it antagonistic to the church? While the church had opposed Odd Fellowship a century ago he noted that the persecution was passing away, and that they now cooperated.

Mrs. Henry P. Furnald gave a pleasing reading and was recalled. Then came a selection by Hunt's orchestra, tenor solo by John Knight, and recitation by Miss Mabel House, all of which were encored.

Rev. E. N. Hardy of Bethany church was the concluding speaker, and opened with bright sallies of wit, following with congratulations to the order on its good work. After a piano selection, all adjourned to the first floor where tables were spread in all the rooms. Dancing closed the festivities.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Harry Osgood and Volunteers Praised for a Good Job.

February 18, 1899.

I will start in where I left off, and let you know what has taken place since I wrote you last. A Company were attacked 3 P. M. on the 14th with the loss of one man and four wounded. The advance guard ran into an ambush. We came to their rescue but found them back behind the artillery so we were not needed.

We then took our place at the Jaro bridge, which place we guarded twenty-four hours. Besides the bridge the river is fordable and we fear an attack at that place. Six of us were stationed at the ford where we remained all night. It was an awful strain on eyes and ears as it was very dark. Two of us were on post at the same time and we lay right on the water's edge with no shelter at all. Dave Akins and I were on together.

The next morning the artillery shelled a sugar building and drove hundreds of people back into the woods.

Then Capt. Wheeler called for ten volunteers to cross the bridge and burn the shacks on the other side. Nearly all the company wanted to go so he took us all. We burned all the huts and then started back.

There were a number of huts down the river from which the out post had been firing at our pickets. I asked captain if I couldn't burn them and he said if they were dangerous to our men he would like to have them burned. So I called for three men to go with me and of course three men from Boston responded. We ran down the bank about half a mile and in ten minutes had them all in flames and then retreated. I suppose if we had been attacked we would have gone under I got a lot of praise for that job and in fact all our boys are anxious to mix up all the time. We were relieved at four o'clock and had a night in.

On the 16th we were out again but I was orderly for the colonel and had an easy time. E Company was interior guard, so none of the boys were out on the line. I had to take a couple of walks out to the out posts to see if everything was all right, and I helped burn a lot of shacks, I asked Col. Valyah for his permission and he said yes, and gave me his revolver to take with me. I can thank our first sergeant for that easy job for he was the one that detailed me for orderly. It shows he appreciates my work.

Everything was quiet yesterday and Oliver Eskgridge and I rustled a fine big square bed. We have silk dresses for sheets and some of the most magnificent robes you ever saw for spreads. It is the swell bunk of the company. We have a big mosquito bar over us and last night we enjoyed a fine night's rest.

Today is the 18th and we go out on the line again this afternoon. This out post duty is a terrible strain, more so than advancing under fire. One imagines he see things in the night and my eyes are so strained they burn. We are out every other night and it is too much but it can't be helped.

We have our quarters in a chapel and there is a big organ in it and every night we are in, we have a good sing and dance. It helps us in every way to forget the danger. I don't believe we will go ahead until more troops come as we couldn't hold a place if we took it. I am feeling fine and enjoying myself. Harry R. Osgood.

A. O. U. W. Entertainment.

The grand open meeting and entertainment at Music hall next Wednesday evening, of the A. O. U. W., will be the largest meeting of any fraternal organization ever held in Quincy. Nearly two thousand tickets have been issued, which means that the hall will be tested to its full capacity. The entertainment will consist of stereoptican views, vocal and instrumental music, readings and brief addresses by the supreme officers. Those who have not already received tickets may obtain them free of charge from any of the one hundred and fifty members of the order. Electric cars will leave for all points after the entertainment.

HUNT—In Braintree, April 17, Mrs. Joanna G., widow of the late Ira Hunt, aged 80 years, 2 months and 17 days.

NATURE STUDY.

Some Holiday Observations by Braintree Pupils.

Just before the last vacation Mr. Field gave the pupils of the Monatiquot school at Braintree a few simple questions for vacation nature study. These questions were published in our columns. Although this work was entirely optional, many very interesting papers were passed in by the children. One little girl observed that "The robins have a very saucy way of turning their heads."

The following papers suggest how interested we should be if we could and would see what is daily before our vision:

BY MARGARET E CROCKER,—GRADE VI.

The birds I have seen are the chickadee, the song sparrow, the robin and the crow. As I was walking along I heard the song chickadee-dee-dee-dee-dee, and I looked and saw in a tree a fluffy little bird with a black hood and whitish gray sides and a very tiny bill. It builds its nest on the side of a stump or a dead stub.

The robin has a red breast slate colored brown head and back. His song is tril-la-ree, tril-la-rah. The robin often builds its nest in a fork of a tree. They build their nests of sticks and plaster it with mud. They feed on worms.

The song sparrow has a brown coat and dark breast. The farmers call them ground sparrows.

The crow is all black he is a very large bird. He builds his nest in marshy places. It is made of sticks loosely thrown together.

When you compare the birds you find that some are large, some are small. The have different ways and are of different colors.

Among the trees I have seen are the maple, pine, birch and the oak.

The branches of the maple tree grow all around the trunk. There are different kinds; the rock or sugar maple, the red maple, white maple and the cut leaf maple. They make maple sugar from the sugar maple.

The bark of the pine tree is rough. The kinds are the white pine, yellow pine and the pitch pine. The white pine has five needles in a case the yellow pine has three and the pitch pine has two.

The white birch is a small and slender tree, and its leaves are triangular.

The leaves of the white oak are smooth when full grown.

Post oak is a small tree with long, pale, rough leaves.

The acorns ripen the first of the year. The plants I have are: the brier bush, wild rose bush, blue berry and sorrel.

The brier bushes are green, they have thorns on the stems and they have dark blue berries, the leaves are bright green and very smooth. They generally grow on stony ground but they have been seen on many kinds of ground.

The wild rose bush; The stem is a reddish color. They have prickles on them. In summer they have single pale pink roses. In the fall these change to rose pips which are bright red.

The blueberry is blue. The flowers are white tinged with pink and the leaves are oval shaped. They grow in woods, fields and swamps.

The sorrel is bright green, very small, and it it grows by the roadside.

I have found and examined the pussy willow buds, the birch and white birch, the oak, and the maple.

When you compare trees you find that some are large, some are small, they grow in different soil and their leaves are of different shapes.

BIRDS.

BY LOUIE MONK,—GRADE VII.

The birds that I have seen during vacation are the robin, read headed woodpecker, English sparrow, song sparrow, crow, chickadee.

THE ROBIN.

The robin has a brownish red breast. There is a little black on his head. The robin is one of the first birds of Spring. He does not walk along in the grass but runs along. They have very keen hearing and eyesight. Their food is worms and fruits. The robin cannot see worms on the ground but he hears them. The robin builds his nest with a great deal of mud.

THE RED HEADED WOODPECKER.

The top of his head is bright red. His breast is white and the white apron strings, as they are called, are on his back. His tail and the rest of his body is a dull black. His food is little bugs and insects that he finds under the bark on the trunks of trees. He makes a little tap, tap, tap, when he gets his food. His home is in hollow trees.

THE ENGLISH SPARROW.

Everybody knows how the English sparrow looks. He is a very harmful bird and the Mayor of Boston is trying to get rid of the sparrows. There are a great many in city parks. Their chief food is different kinds of grains. They build nests as other birds. They are very unclean and often die from vermin.

THE SONG SPARROW.

The song sparrow is the same as the English sparrow except there is a large brown spot on the breast of the song sparrow. It has a very beautiful song. His song is three separate notes and then a canary-like warble.

THE CROW.

I will not stop to describe a crow as everybody is familiar with one. The crow's food is carrion. It builds very large and coorse nests made of very coarse straws and sticks. Its nest is very high in cedar trees. The crow is a timid bird.

THE CHICADEE.

The chicadee is like a sparrow but much smaller. The chicadee has a black top-knot and a very light gray breast. It lives in old stumps.

DIFFERENCE IN BIRDS.

If you should see a robin and a crow at a great distance so you could not see the size or color, the way to tell them apart would be in the way in which a robin runs, and the crow cannot do that. The distinguishing mark between an English sparrow and a song sparrow is the long, brown spot on the breast of the sparrow.

FLOWERS.

The flowers that are in bloom are trailing arbutus, hepatica or liverwort and skunk cabbage.

The blood-root and March marigold will soon be in blossom.

TREES.

The trees that are in blossom are willow, alder and red maple.

BY HELEN BAYLEY,—GRADE VI.

I have seen three kinds of birds this vacation. The sparrow, robin and bluebird. The sparrow has a gray breast and a dark gray back. I read in the papers that they are trying to destroy all the sparrrow nests on Boston Common. I don't understand why they do so, as I think they are very sweet and pretty.

The robin has a red breast and a brown back and is larger than the sparrow. He is one of the earliest birds. His nest is made of grasses and sticks laid together and lined with hardened mud.

The bluebird has a blue back and brown breast, and is called "The Harbinger of Spring.

I gathered three twigs. One from lilac, one from pussy willow and the other from maple. The buds swelled and grew larger, except the maple which did not unfold at all.

On the lilac the buds are opposite each other On the pussy willow they grow alternate.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

A grand day.

Rain is possible Sunday.

There was a heavy frost this morning

Concert tonight by the Fifth regiment band.

The Columbus band hold its annual party in the near future.

Regular meeting of the School Committee next Tuesday evening.

The short section of the sewer on Adams street has been completed.

Mr. Elwood M. Litchfield is out again after about two weeks' illness.

Registratrars of voters will continue to be liable for names omitted from the voting lists.

The street railway sprinkler was out bright and early this morning doing good work.

The street railway has its open cars all ready and are only waiting for warm weather.

The prize drill and entertainment of the Sons of Veterans is annouaced for next week.

Mr. F. A. Tupper will probably remain in charge of the High school all next week.

The ladies' auxiliary, No. 10, A. O. H., hold a shirtwaist party at Hancock hall early in May.

The general impression seems to be that 8.30 would have been late enough for the curfew ordinance.

The Sewer department is laying its pipes on Butler road from the main sewer toward Putnam street.

The foundation wall of the new Faxon block on the corner of Hancock and Saville streets is about completed.

The Sewer department will complete the laying of the short section of pipe on Hancock near Greenleaf street tonight.

There must be quicksand in front of the Greenleaf, for the sewer trench dug last fall continues to settle, although it has been filled and rolled down several times.

Mr. Hiram Phillips of Quincy Point is making this week a thorough examination of the piping about Central Wharf, Boston, at the request of the owners of the property.

The nomination of John C. McGowan as a member of the board of Registrars of Voters is favorably commented upon by many. He was until quite recently active in politics.

The conduits for the underground telephone wires have been laid as far as West Elm avenue. They will be laid to the Boston line when completed.

The employes at the granite plant of Field & Wild struck last night because they had not been paid for two weeks. The agreement between the manufacturers and cutters on this point is that they shall be paid every Friday. Mr. Field said if the men had come and asked for their money they would have been paid.

The one thing needed in Quincy in the line of improvement and necessity is the collection of rubbish, ashes, etc., which is at present a source of annoyance to every householder and often an eyesore to his neighor. A team making a house to house collection once a week would be often enough, for a beginning.

The class of 1900, Q. H. S., easily defeated the class of '99 at base ball yesterday; score 22 to 8. The players were as follows: 1900—Ballou, Hanson, Hayward, Hewson, Keys, Lewis, Foster, Donovan and Ide, with McGrath substitute. 1899—Pitts, Foss, Hewitson, Ford, Linnell, Northcott, Thomas, Michael and Murphy with Manguson substitute. The features of the game were the work of the 1900 battery and the catching of Pitts, '99.

The presentation of the drama "'Twixt Love and Money," by the members of St. John's C. L. & A. A., at Hancock hall this week was a very creditable performance and showed careful study on the part of those who impersonated the several characters, who were: Miss Nellie T. McCarthy, Miss Mary Costello, Miss Julia Duffy, Edward McGinty, Edward Heffernan, John McGuane, Timothy Sullivan, Harry McCabe, William Donovan, Miles Burke and John Sweeney.

BABY'S BIRTHDAY GIFT.

We didn't know what to give him,
Our darling baby boy,
The pet of all his aunties,
His mother's pride and joy.
Grandma was bent on mittens
And little hood to match,
But Auntie Lou said, "Cookies—
I'll bake him quite a batch."
But when I said, "They'll make him sick,"
Aunt Mary chimed in, too,
"I think he'd better have a toy;
A woolly lamb will do."
"No," said papa; "he's got more toys
Than any one I know.
I'm going to get him a Newfoundland dog.
That's best. Don't you think so?"
So that's the way they kept it up,
And baby's birthday came
Without a single, blessed gift.
Now, wasn't that a shame?
We gave him kisses by the score,
We took him for a ride,
And by the time next birthday comes
Perhaps we shall decide.

NOT A BAD DEAL.

BY RUDYARD KIPLING.

The little volume of verses entitled "To Lalage" made quite a stir in the literary world. One critic of note said that it was instinct with classic grace, another that it was informed by the true spirit of Hellas, a third that it had a whiff of Hymettus, a fourth that it was hardly suitable for family reading, and on the strength of all this laudation "To Lalage" was a success, and several copies were bona fide sold to complete strangers. Imagine, then, the bitterness of heart with which Adrian Pottles, the gifted author, saw himself compelled to maintain strict anonymity and to conceal from the world thirsting to know him that he was the "A. P." whose initials appeared in old English letters on the title page.

Yet he did not hesitate, for he knew that if his uncle, Mr. Thomas Pottles of Clapham Common, discovered that he wrote not only verses—which was bad—but amatory verses—which was atrocious—his means of present livelihood and prospects of future affluence would vanish into thin air. For Mr. Pottles was a man of strict views, and, whether one regarded this world or the next, there could be no question that a bank clerk of evangelical connections committed a grave fault in writing love poems.

So poor Adrian had to make up his mind to remain unknown and to hold his tongue even when he heard that another man had been claiming the authorship of "To Lalage." Luckily, perhaps, he failed to find out who this miscreant was, or probably his indignation would have overcome his prudence and he would at any cost have claimed his own.

The secret was well kept, and Adrian received the usual check at Christmas time, and with it the usual invitation to spend the festive season with his uncle and to bring with him his young friend Peter Allison, to whom old Mr. Pottles had taken a great fancy. Peter was a man of many engagements, but sought after as he was and proclaimed himself to be he remembered the good cheer at Mr. Pottles' and accepted the invitation. They went down together, Adrian bewailing his hard fortune and denouncing the imposter, Peter warmly sympathizing, but counseling continued silence and prudence.

"Ah, if I could only claim it!" cried Adrian, opening his Gladstone bag and gazing fondly at half a dozen neat, clean copies of "To Lalage." "I should be the lion of the season, Peter."

Peter smiled and shook his head. "A fortune is better than fame, Adrian," said he.

For a day or two all went well at Clapham. The old gentleman was in the best of tempers, and the two young men did their best to keep him in it, indorsing all his views as to the lax morality and disgraceful tone which pervaded modern literature and modern society, and when they had done their duty in this way they rewarded themselves by going in next door and having tea with Dora Chatterton, a young lady whom they both thought charming. Indeed Adrian thought her so charming that, after a short acquaintance, he sent her a copy of "To Lalage"—with the author's kind regards. Now, Miss Dora Chatterton adored genius. She had thought both Adrian and Peter very pleasant young men; she had perceived that they both thought her a very pleasant young woman, and she had been rather puzzled to know which of them she would, in a certain event, make up her mind to prefer. "To Lalage" settled the question. It was the gifted author A. P. who deserved her love, and A. P. obviously stood, not for Peter Allison, but for Adrian Pottles.

The very next morning she called early at Mr. Pottles'. She found him alone. The boys, he explained, had gone for a walk. Dora was disappointed, but failing the author himself she was content to pour her praises into the ears of an appreciative and proud uncle. She did so, expressing immense admiration for Adrian's modesty in not having told Mr. Pottles of his achievement.

"Humph!" said Mr. Pottles. "Let me see these—er—things."

The effect of "To Lalage" on Mr. Pottles was surprising and particularly so to Dora. In less than ten minutes she found herself being shown the door and intrusted with a letter to her brother in which Mr. Pottles stated that she had been reading wicked books and ought, in his opinion, to be sent to her own room for an indefinite period.

"And I shall know if you don't give it her," said Mr. Pottles, viciously.

Thus it happened that Adrian and Peter, as they were returning, met poor Dora on the steps with this horrid note in one hand and her pocket handkerchief in the other—for Mrs. Chatterton shared Mr. Pottles' views, and Dora did not enjoy having to deliver the note. They were just hastening up to speak to her when Mr. Pottles himself appeared on the steps holding out "To Lalage" in his hand. Adrian grasped the situation.

"For heaven's sake, Peter," he whispered, "say you wrote the beastly thing! I'm ruined if you don't."

"Eh? But he'll kick me out."

"I'll stand a pony"

"Two," said Peter, firmly.

"Well, two, but be quick."

Then Peter spoke up like a man and accepted the blame of "To Lalage."

"But your initials aren't A. P.," objected Mr. Pottles.

"To avoid suspicion I reversed the order. Mine are P. A."

"James," said Mr. Pottles to the footman, "pack Mr. Allison's bag."

But Dora gave Peter the kindest and most admiring glance as she murmured softly to Adrian, "They're lovely! Oh, don't you wish you could write verses, Mr. Pottles?"

Adrian started. He had not bargained for this, but Peter had overheard and interposed:

"I am more than consoled by your approval, Miss Chatterton." Mr. Pottles called to Adrian, and he had to go in, leaving Dora and Peter in close conversation, and to assure his uncle solemnly that he had been entirely disappointed and deceived in Peter, and, worse still, in Dora, and that he never wished to see either of them again. Mr. Pottles shook him by the hand and forgave him.

Adrian passed a wretched week. In several newspapers he saw it openly stated that Peter now admitted he was the author of "To Lalage." Peter wrote that the £50 were most convenient and that he had had a most charming letter from Dora, and that all the literary world was paying him most flattering attentions. Adrian ground his teeth, but he had to write back, thanking Peter for all his kindness.

Meanwhile Mr. Pottles grew restless. Every paper he took up was full of the praises of "To Lalage." The author was becoming famous, and Mr. Pottles began to doubt whether he had done well to drive him forth with contumely.

"Adrian," he said suddenly one morning, "I don't know that I did justice to young Allison. I shall have another look at that book. I shall order it at Smith's."

"I—I happen to have a copy," said Adrian timidy.

"Get it," said Mr. Pottles. Mr. Pottles read it—first with a deep frown, than with a judicial air, then with a smile, lastly with a chuckle.

"Ask him to dinner," he said. "Oh, and, Adrian, we'll have the Chattertons. I wish you could do something to get your name up, my boy."

"You like it, uncle?"

"Yes, and I like the manly way he owned to it. If he had prevaricated about it, I'd never have forgiven him."

After this Adrian did not care to confess. It was too bad. Here were both his uncle and Dora admiring Peter for his poems and crediting Peter with candor and courage. He was to lose both fame and Dora! It was certainly too much. A sudden thought struck him. He went to town, called on Peter, and, as the police reports say, "made a communication" to him.

"It makes me look like a scoundrel," objected Peter.

"Two hundred at six months," suggested Adrian.

"And she is a nice girl— No, I'm dashed"—

"A monkey at three!" cried Adrian.

"Done!" said Peter.

It was a sad tale of depravity on one side and self sacrificing friendship on the other, that Mr. Pottles and Dora Chatterton listened to that evening.

"He had made," said Adrian sadly, "a deliberate attempt to rob me of my fame before, and he repeated it. And yet, uncle, an old friend—boyhood's companion—how could I betray him? It was weak, but I could not. I stood by and let him deceive you."

"You're a noble fellow," said Mr. Pottles, in tones of emotion.

"Indeed, yes," said Dora, with an adoring glance.

"There, let us say no more about it," pursued Adrian magnanimously. "I have my reward," and he returned Dora's glance behind Mr. Pottles' broad back.

The next time he met Peter he said: "I am really immensely indebted to you, old fellow. My uncle has come down handsome, and if the monkey now would be conv"—

"By gad, yes!" said Peter. He took it in crisp notes and carefully pocketed them.

"And is Miss Dora kind?" he asked.

"She's an angel."

"And you are generally prosperous?"

"Thanks to you, my dear old friend."

"Then," said Peter, producing a piece of paper from his pocket, "you might persuade your publishers to withdraw this beastly thing." It was a writ, and it claimed an injunction to restrain Peter from claiming the authorship of "To Lalage."

"Then you've been publicly claiming it?"

"I had to keep up the illusion, Adrian. Do me justice."

"But," said Adrian, "how, Peter—how does it happen that the writ is dated the day before we went to Clapham?"

He paused. Peter grinned uneasily. A light broke in on Adrian.

"Why," he exclaimed, "you're the villain who"—

"Exactly. Wonderfully provident of me, wasn't it? What, you're not going?"

"Never let me see your face again," said Adrian. "I have done with you."

He rushed out. Peter whistled gently and said to himself, "Not a bad deal. He must stop the action or the old man will twig."

Then he whistled again and added, "Glad I got it in notes. He'd have stopped a check." A third time he whistled and chuckled and said, "Now, I wonder if old Adrian'll make five hundred and fifty out of it? Not a bad deal, Peter, my boy."

PARIS SHIRT WAIST OF NAINSOOK FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

A very pretty shirt-waist, and one designed especially for thin fabrics, is of nainsook with pointed yoke of machine embroidery. The pattern, published by Harper's Bazar where the shirt-waist appears, consists of back and front yoke, a separate band or box-pleat for the centre front, tucked sleeve pattern, and pattern, for lower part of back and front of waist. The lower part of the waist is laid in quarter-inch tucks, turning toward the centre from each side, which entirely girdle the body. The tucks are not traced but measurements are carefully taken so that the paper pattern indicates the exact amount of material required to get the effect shown in the illustration. The sleeves have four groups of three tucks each, extending from shoulder to cuff, lines for which are marked by perforations in the pattern. The cuffs are plain and rounded on the corners, and the collar-band is shaped to the neck. The box-pleat may be made separately or stitched upon the bodice, as may be preferred. When made separately, it is stitched upon the bodice, as may be preferred. When made seperately, it is stitched on both sides and has five eyelet-holes down the centre. The waist is finished under this band by plain hems, which should also be closed by eyelet holes. A pattern of the standing-collar does not accompany that of the bodice. This bodice design will prove a very attractive one for light fabrics, such as batistes and lawns, fine dotted Swiss, or sheer nainsook. To make this shirtwaist, 3 yards of nainsook, 36 inches wide, will be required, also 1-2 yard of 22-inch embroidery, and 1 1-4 yards of insertion for finishing edge of yoke.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 23—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—How Christ makes use of common lives. The man with the pitcher.—Mark xiv, 12-16.

The topical reference tells the story of Christ's arrangement for His last Passover. He sent Peter and John into Jerusalem, telling them they should meet a man, bearing a pitcher, whom they should follow, and request of his master a room in which Christ should celebrate the feast. The master of the house to which they were thus directed was probably John Mark.

The bearing of the pitcher in the incident was not without its meaning. It was a solemn religious act preparatory to the Passover. The act itself, however, would not be considered a very exalted one. It was performed by a humble person, a slave. It was an insignificant act in itself, and yet Christ used it for the help of His disciples, to manifest His own power and glory, and perhaps to teach His disciples a very important spiritual truth. It was the faithful performance of a humble duty of life, and yet Christ made very important uses of it.

1. Christ used this humble act of a common life to manifest His own power and glory. That Christ should have been able to describe the man whom they should see must have added to His glory and power. The fact that He would know beforehand that they would meet such a man must have testified to them of His divine character. Christ may often use common lives to attest His divinity and to manifest His glory. The faithfulness and fidelity of those in lowly and humble positions in life must often convince men that there is a divine power in their religion.

2. Christ used this humble act of a common life to direct His apostles in the discharge of a more important duty. Fidelity to Christ in little things may often be used by Him for the benefit of others. The faithful discharge of unpleasant and undesirable duties may often be the means, in the hands of God, of inspiring others to fidelity in Christian duty, or of leading them into larger fields of usefulness.

3. Christ may have used this humble act of a common life to teach an important religious truth—namely, that cleanliness must go before Christ. The water typified cleansing, and was to be used as symbolical of purification. It therefore may teach us this lesson—cleanliness must precede Christ. The house, the heart, the life into which He enters and abides must be clean and pure.

The uses that Christ made of this humble incident should encourage us to discharge faithfully every duty of life in whatever station in life God has placed us. No life is common if it is consecrated to God.

The Difficulty of Doing Good.

Whatever you attempt in the way of good is sure to entail upon you remarks and criticisms, and many times ridicule, and sometimes opprobrium. You will be near to doubting that you are not merely making a fool of yourself, bringing upon your head no end of erroneous conceptions from others, but this is "the checkered pathway that leads up to light."

You may never see the springing up or the fruitage of your seed scattering, but as sure as God sends the sunshine of spring to warm and cheer into salient budding life the tiny germ yet lingering in the brown seeds that restless winds of winter have blown here and there, so will come the sunshine of His promise and providence, and your seeds will spring up into a life of beauty and immortality.—Catholic Universe.

The Need of the Republic.

The essential failure of our Democracy hitherto and its supreme danger for the coming of time are that opportunity is so far closed to the best wisdom and strength; that its representative places are so largely filled by the cunning and passion which but ape these great qualities; that politicians wield the weapons and sway the forces of statesmen. The prime need of the republic is a revolution which shall open the way of fitness to all leadership and close the way to unfitness, which shall link opportunity inseparably to wisdom and strength.—Charlton T. Lewis.

Joining the Church.

The profession of faith is what is commonly called joining the church. The pastor is exceedingly anxious for his hearers thus to join the church—that is, to cast in their lot with the people of God so that they may inherit and enjoy the fulfillment of the promises of grace in full salvation. In the act of joining the church there is secured the full possession of the field with the hid treasure which cannot be had otherwise. It is to be in the ark of safety, outriding the flood of sin and danger.—Reformed Church Messenger.

The Music From the Books.

The finest music in the room is that which streams out to the ear of the spirit in many an exquisite strain from the hanging shelf of books on the opposite wall. Every volume there is an instrument which some melodist of the mind created and set vibrating with music, as a flower shakes out its perfume or a star shakes out its light. Only listen and they soothe all care, as though the silken soft leaves of poppies had been made vocal and poured into the ear.—James Lane Allen.

Why Not a Revolver?

A Christian warrior should always carry his fighting Testament in his pistol pocket. If you cannot carry around with you a double barreled Testament, always carry a single barreled one.—William Ashmore, D. D.

SHOT UP INTO SPACE.

AN UNEXPECTED BALLOON RIDE BY A VERMONT FARMER.

A Thrilling Voyage That Was Forced Upon Him by Accident—His Experience In Midair and His Descent to the Earth In Safety.

Eugene McCarthy, a tall, slender Irish Yankee who lived at Waitsfield, Vt., made a sensational voyage at the Mad River Valley fair on Sept. 1, 1897, in a hot air balloon. Tangled in the car ropes, a prisoner by accident, he shot into the air to a height of 3,000 feet, and after struggling and dangling in midair helpless below the car he returned to earth, not a corpse, but the same rugged Green mountain farmer.

More than 2,000 spectators had assembled at the fair grounds in order to witness the balloon ascension. To make the ascension as advertised the professor called to the crowd for volunteer workmen. Eugene McCarthy responded and took his assigned station inside the canvas balloon car. On the outside, by this time, the huge bag had been raised and supported securely by guy ropes on all sides. A fire had been started in a tunnel in order to furnish the necessary hot air. Fed by kerosene, the flame ran through the tunnel and came up inside the uplifted bag with a stream of sparks. McCarthy and the professor were there to prevent these sparks from firing the cloth. Gradually, as the current of hot air swept into the car, the top part swelled forth until the airship became restless in its attempts to leap heavenward. By the faint applause outside McCarthy knew that the young woman performer, who was to make the descent in a parachute, was ready to start.

At a given signal, in order to escape entanglement in the ropes fastened from the balloon car to the parachute, McCarthy jumped to the center of his small circle space. But he caught the hot air from the tunnel full in his face. Half blinded by smoke and flame, he naturally stepped back and unintentionally placed a foot across a raised parachute rope. So when the balloon car, freed from guy ropes, jumped upward, the volunteer workman felt the rope tighten under his leg. By natural impulse he grabbed the rope overhead in order to keep himself from falling head downward. He accordingly soon found himself, not on the ground where he belonged, but in midair, swinging 20 feet above the parachute performer and rushing skyward at express train speed.

In the first confusion of the start upward the spectators did not recognize McCarthy in the balloon. They saw a stranger in the rigging dangling below the big canvas bag and naturally thought, as everything went up noiselessly, his presence there an unadvertised part of the programme. What made the double ascension still more interesting to them was the everyday appearance of the man. He was dressed, not in stage ballet costume like the woman, but in modest farm clothes. Therefore, when a short, thickset man suggested a yell of approval, the 2,000 men, women and children sent up a mixed cheer to the balloon. In answer the young woman, who rested comfortably on a trapeze bar, bowed and threw a kiss to her admirers. As for the other performer, the man in shirt sleeves, he seemed frightened. He neither bowed nor waved his hand, but held on tight and took no notice of the spectators. They watched him rise to a height of 2,500 feet, where, like his companion, he was merely a dot at the end of a thread.

McCarthy, at the start, heard and obeyed the sound advice of the professor to hold on tight. He felt the earth sink rapidly as in an express elevator in a tall office building, and at 1,000 feet began to feel himself more at home. His car then began to go slower and steadier. So he examined his position in the balloon. For a seat, half way between the hot air bag and parachute top, he had a small iron ring, to which were fastened the ropes of the hot air car and parachute. He attempted to look downward, but as the thought of falling unnerved him he grew dizzy. Then he remembered a faint cheer and wondered why his friends seemed so much pleased at his dangerous position. His musings in midair continued until he heard the voice of his companion performer.

"Hello!" said she.

"Hello!" said McCarthy.

"Are you safe?"

"I guess so."

"Hold on, for I'm going."

"Goodby!" said McCarthy.

"Goodby!" said the girl.

Although at a height of 2,500 feet, McCarthy by this time had begun to be encouraged by the presence of his airship companion. He further had hoped that because of his accidental trip she might not make her drop in the parachute. Her announced start homeward therefore gave him some uneasiness. He naturally preferred her company. But with true Green mountain grit he held on to the ropes and patiently waited for her departure.

From his boyhood McCarthy had lived on a farm and had never studied at the little white schoolhouse on Waitsfield common such questions as the behavior of hot air balloons in the sky. Therefore he never expected when his friend left him to shoot higher in the air. Personally he was satisfied with 2,500 feet, but he was forced to obey the law of nature. Freed of the weight of the girl and parachute, which dropped toward the fair grounds, McCarthy and his airship leaped skyward again. For the next few seconds the solitary prisoner closed his eyelids, held his breath and grasped the ropes tighter. He quickly rose 500 feet, and there, at an altitude of 3,000 feet, floated lazily in the still mountain air. Far above Bald mountain he took a panoramic view of the scenery, which showed the Montreal mountain in Canada, the white peaks in New Hampshire, the whole sweep of Vermont to the south and Lake Champlain and the Adirondacks in New York state. But the man in the balloon soon tired of his view. He then waited for the hot, smoky air in the car to cool and take him home.

On the trip homeward McCarthy equalled in grace the parachute drop of the young woman. As the hot air cooled he slowly descended and finally disappeared not half a mile from the park behind a clump of trees in Fayston valley. On the ground again, he dodged the falling canvas and immediately started for the fair grounds. There McCarthy found himself a hero. In a few words he told the story of his wonderful experience in midair, then hitched up his horse, jumped into the wagon and started for home.—New York Sun.

Remarks on Winter Building—Laying Brick In Frosty Weather.

[Copyright, 1899, by George Palliser, 32 Park place, New York.]

The best time to build is when there is no frost. Any time outside of winter weather is suitable. To erect masonry in freezing weather is dangerous work, and especially so in the construction of stone work. Stone holds the frost, and when it is laid up in the wet mortar the mortar freezes and remains frozen until warm weather. The thawing of the mortar is likely to tumble the stonework over. Stone foundations laid up in winter are bad. I have known of houses started in winter the building of the cellars of which dragged along for weeks. Moreover, the ground around the walls being open, the frost penetrated and got below the walls, naturally more so in some parts than in others. When the ground was filled in, the frost was buried with it. In the middle of the summer, by which time the superstructure was up, the walls, of course, finished and possibly the house completed and occupied, much damage had resulted. This condition is sure to exist when work is so done. The frost gradually works out, the walls settle and crack, doors and windows refuse to close or fasten, and the house looks as if it had gone through an earthquake.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW.

This is more or less the result of all winter building unless the utmost care is used.

I should prefer to have the stone on a pile, the sand in a heap and the cement in the barrels rather than have things done badly. In the spring the work could be made to stay, and the extra cost of doing it would be cheap compared with the conditions named.

In masonry substantiality must be assured. The footings must be clear of frost and none of it ever allowed under them. This carefully looked to, you can build anything on top of them and have it stay rigidly. Avoid building brick walls, as far as possible, in winter. If the walls are heavy, the danger is slight, but if light they are very risky and hard to keep straight and plumb. Dry brick, fresh mixed warm mortar, careful bracing and protection from water are necessary to keep walls in place. If frost strikes a green wall and freezes it and the sun strikes one side, as is always the case, the wall warps and twists, settling on the sunny side, and crookedness ensues.

Foundations put in before winter should always be well covered up on the inside and protected from frost while the other work is going on. This will save settling and cracking later and is a case of the ounce of prevention being better than the pound of cure. Many people build in winter for various reasons. Sometimes it is cheaper, they think. I must confess I never found it so. The spring, however, is an admirable time for moving. But mechanics must have work in winter as well as in summer, and winter building will no doubt continue. Proper precautions must be taken, though, to preserve foundations.

The house here shown was erected in the winter time. It was completed and ready for occupancy by spring. It is a house we can recommend as being a perfect home.

Painting on China.

Good material is quite important. An old piece of china will do for a beginner to tint, as it may be rubbed off and reapplied until perfection is arrived at, but for painting pieces to keep and that are valuable get new china that has never been used or washed, says American Homes. Use a soft cloth to free each piece of dust and use the best oils and paint and select a simple design to begin with. Tinting seems simple, but is in reality important. An even tint over the surface enhances the beauty of whatever design accompanies it, and the only art this requires is practice. Few beginners can lay an even tint, but practice makes perfect.

Kitchen Floors.

Kitchen floors will give better results if treated only with an occasional painting with linseed oil. This sinks into the wood, and grease dropped on it will be quickly absorbed and leave no stain behind. Old floors in the kitchen should first be scrubbed and then sandpapered before the oil is applied. They will look almost like new then. Water mixed paints are far from satisfactory on floors. The only successful mixture of this kind in which water is employed is calcimine and kindred preparations. In these mixtures the hot water melts the glue and makes it stick, but there is no glue in so called paints.—New Voice.

FEMININE STRATEGY.

She Got the Bonnet She Wanted and Without a Scolding.

"I always like to consult your taste in millinery, Harry, dear," said Mrs. Fairfax as she took the wrappings off a box which had just been delivered and carefully extracted a dream of a bonnet from the tissue paper which protected it from the sides of the box. "That is the reason I didn't buy this bonnet, but had it sent on approval. How do you like it?"

"That seems to suit you," replied Mr. Fairfax after a brief examination. "What is the price?"

"It comes a trifle high, but I thought it would please your exquisite taste. The price is $25."

"Twenty-five dollars!" Mr. Fairfax repeated. "Do you think that the shade of ribbon is exactly suited to your style of beauty? Don't you think that something less ornate and possibly costing a few dollars less would really enhance the charms of your piquant face?"

"Well, I don't think it would, Harry. I tried on about a dozen of the bonnets that the madam thought would become me, and there were only two which I could wear at all. This was one, and the other was an imported bonnet. I was much tempted to get it, for it was the most becoming thing I ever had on my head. My choice really lay between that and this one, and if you think this is unbecoming I will send it back and get the other. I am positive you will be pleased with that."

"What was the price of this imported bonnet you speak of?"

"Oh, it comes a little higher, being imported! Forty-five dollars was the price, but I think I can get it for $40."

"Well, I don't know that I would trouble," said Mr. Fairfax. "Let us look at this again. There, stand in that light, dear. It becomes you much better than I thought. On the whole, I don't know when I have seen anything which suits you quite so well. Perhaps you had better decide to take it."

"Very well, dear, just as you say," chirped Mrs. Fairfax dutifully, and she said to herself:

"How much better that was than to tell him I had decided to take this hat and then have him fume and scold about the price."—New York World.

THE "NEWSPAPER GRABBER."

A Hotel Guest Who Is Tolerated For What He Spends at the Bar.

"Do you see that man?" asked the hotel clerk, nodding toward an elderly well dressed man who sat in one of the easy chairs with an air of proprietorship which would lead any one to suppose that he was a star guest.

"That's one of our regular customers. He comes here every morning regularly and reads the papers and writes his letters. He is a rich man and thinks nothing of spending $1 at the bar, but he never buys a newspaper. He sits around and 'rubbers' until some one gets up and leaves his paper on the chair; then he makes a dash for it and begins to read. But he is never so deeply interested that he misses other papers as they are left behind, and unless there are too many of his competitors on the spot he usually gets three or four papers every morning."

The clerk said that the same class of customers may be found in every large hotel. These men are good representatives of the class which is willing to pay $1 to get something that is worth 50 cents for nothing.

These men are known to the hallboys and other hotel employees as "newspaper grabbers." When they are objectionable and bear any resemblance to the "bum" class, they are not tolerated, but grabbers like the old, highly respectable man are allowed to grab whenever they can. "These people," continued the clerk, "mind their business and often spend 50 cents for drinks and cigars while they sit around waiting to grab 5 cents' worth of papers, and they advertise the house by sending hundreds of letters on our stationery. On the whole, the grabber is not an objectionable character, and he would be surprised to hear that any one knew by what means he secured his daily papers."—New York Tribune.

Some Slang Words.

A remarkable fact is that many slang words have a classical origin. For example, the word "mill," a vulgarism for a fight, is traceable to the Greek word "hamilla," which means a combat.

"Uncle," the affectionate term for a pawnbroker, is derived from the Latin "uncus," a hook on which the article pledged was hung.

To go before "the beak" is a distinct reference to the old Roman custom of adorning the platform from which justice dispensed with the beaks of ships, which platform came to be called the rostrum, that being the Latin for a beak or prow.

"To take one down a peg or two" has its origin in the old Norse habit of having drinking cups or horns measured off into equal parts with small pegs, one warrior endeavoring to drink a peg lower than his comrade. When the cups were to be drained, it was the custom to shout "Gar aus" (right out), and from this sprang our word "carouse."

Tried to Comply.

The manufacturer of a certain brand of cigar advertised it far and wide as "The Unparalleled—Everybody Smokes It. One day he received a letter from a man with whom he was only slightly acquainted, running thus:

DEAR SMITHBY—I want one of those cigars everybody is smoking. Send it to me by mail, securely done up in a small pasteboard box. Yours truly, BROWNSON.

Not even a stamp was inclosed for postage, but Smithby took some pains to comply with the request, and after a lapse of two or three days Brownson received 1 mail, duly packed in a small box, a stump of a cigar three-quarters of an inch long, accompanied by the following note:

DEAR BROWNSON—Impossible to send one that everybody is smoking, but here is one that 15 separate newsboys have smoked on. Yours truly, SMITHBY.

—Youth's Companion.

Odd Marriage Customs.

An Arab wedding lasts seven days. The husband sees his wife's face after the ceremony is over. It is then proper for him to cry out in delight at its loveliness, and then, as in the Bible, "the friend of the bridegroom, who standeth and heareth him, rejoiceth greatly because of the bridegroom's voice." The people outside the tent raise an answering cry.

In Turkey the bride stands behind a screen during a part of the ceremony and is first seen at its conclusion. A Moorish wedding is also a seven day affair.

Cat Love.

Tabby—Would you die a thousand deaths for me?

Tom—No; only nine.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

TEN LITTLE SLIPS.

How Aunt Alice Brightened the Rainy Day For Ted.

"Oh, dear! I wish 'twouldn't rain any more!" sighed little Ted as he looked forlornly from the window at the muddy street. "Seems as if it always rains when I come to visit auntie." And a tear he could not hide fell on the window sill.

"What, crying, little man?" asked Aunt Alice cheerfully. "That will never do. Cheer up, and we will do something that will make lots of folks smile."

"Why, auntie, how can we do that? You and I are the only ones here."

"You will see, Teddy boy," laughed auntie mysteriously. "Remain here," she continued, "until I call you, and I think my little boy will forget his disappointment." And giving him a kiss auntie left the room.

When he was left alone, he thought: "What can it be? I know it's something nice, 'cause auntie's just lovely 'bout surprises."

Auntie went to the unused nursery, outgrown by her own boys and girls, and selected ten toys and books. Returning to the sunny sewing room, she took 20 small slips of paper on which she wrote the names of as many little people whose lives were sad and stinted. Then, going to the library door, she called, "Now, little man, we are ready!" Ted came bounding into the room; but, seeing nothing unusual, his face fell.

"Here in this bonbon dish, Teddy, are 20 slips of paper, on each of which is written a child's name. You may draw ten slips and then we will allot a gift to each child and you may carry them to the little people."

"Oh, goody!" exclaimed Ted, with sparkling eyes.

The names were soon drawn, but Teddy gave a sigh and whispered, "I'm so sorry for the others!"

"Never mind, dear. We can do something for them some other time."

Then came the pleasure of deciding what each child should have.

"Little Maud is blind," suggested auntie, "and"—

"Then she must have this little music box. 'Twill please her, I guess, 'cause she can make it go herself. And lame Jack must have 'Beautiful Joe.' I most know he gets terribly tired lying in bed so long with nothing to do. Little Johnny will like 'The Brownies Round the World,' 'cause they're so funny, and the little Todd twins must have the sliced animals, and Alice the box of paints, and—it's such fun, auntie!" he said, with a sigh of pure delight.

The gifts were soon apportioned and auntie said, 'Ted, look out of doors!"

Sure enough the rain had forgotten to fall and the sun was shining brightly through the few remaining clouds.

"Now you may take your gifts to the children at once."

The little boy laughed happily as he replied, "I know now what you meant, and you are the dearest auntie in the world!"

"Oh, no, Teddy!" she replied lovingly. "Only think of the thousands of little boys who have aunties too!"—Minnie B. Caldwell in Zion's Herald.

Tastes Differ.

"I wonder," says little Bessie, "how my bunny can like to eat carrots. I have just had a bite, and I think cream puffs are ever so much nicer."

They Wrote Early.

Nearly all the women who are prominent today in literature began to write original compositions of some kind or another as soon as they could hold a pen. Mrs. Meade has produced over 100 works of fiction, and is still a lady in her prime. Mrs. Hodgson Burnett began her literary career in earnest at the early age of 15. Reverses had come to her family by reason of the cotton famine, and she was anxious to help the family funds. Edna Lyall began to write stories when she was about 9 years old. She wrote, as she says, "for the joy of writing," and because she could not resist the craving to describe the beloved heroes and heroines.

The Cat Is a Fraud.

All the people who have ever had much to do with cats say that they cannot be trusted. A dog will do as he has been taught, but a cat will only mind while it is watched. A lady who owns one has often whipped it for coming into the parlor, where, with its sharp claws, it tears up the curtains or anything else that flutters. While the lady is in the house the cat will never go into the parlor, but when she has been out she always finds pussy's black hairs on the parlor sofa cushions.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

BARBARISM.

The Law Defied by "Citizens" of Georgia.

Negro Roasted Alive In the Presence of Thousands.

Had Confessed to Having Committed Murder.

Victim Mutilated and Parts of Body Retained as Souvenirs.

Ex-Governor Atkinson Appealed In Vain to Allow Law to Take Its Course.

Newnan, Ga., April 24.—Sam Hose, the murderer of Alfred Cranford, and the assailant of his wife, was burned at the stake two miles from here yesterday afternoon, in the presence of 2000 people.

The body of the victim was dissected, and the bones were crushed into small bits. Those unable to obtain the ghastly relics direct, paid their more fortunate possessors extravagant sums for them. Small pieces of bone went for 25 cents.

As soon as the negro was seen to be dead, a rush was made for the stake, and those near the body were forced against it and had to fight for their freedom.

Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, former governor of Georgia, met the mob as he was returning from church, and he appealed to them to let the law take its course. In addressing the mob he used these words: "Some of you are known to me, and when this affair is finally settled in the courts you may depend upon it that I will testify against you."

A member of the mob was seen to draw a revolver and level it at Mr. Atkinson, but his arm was seized and the pistol taken from him. The mob was frantic at delays and would hear to nothing but burning at the stake.

Hose confessed to killing Cranford, but denied that he had outraged Mrs. Cranford. Before being put to death the negro stated that he had been paid $12 by "Lige" Strickland, a negro preacher at Palmetto, to kill Cranford. A mob of citizens is scouring the country for Strickland, who has left his home, and will lynch him if caught.

Sam Hose killed Alfred Cranford, a white farmer, near Palmetto, and, it is said, outraged his wife, 10 days ago. Since that time business in this part of the state has been suspended, the entire population turning out in an effort to capture Hose. He successfully eluded pursuit until discovered near Macon.

Hose has been on the farm of the Jones brothers, between Macon and Columbus, since the day after he committed the horrible crime. His mother is employed on the farm and to her little cabin he fled for refuge. She fed him and cared for him, but it is not believed she knew he was being hunted for by the authorities. The Jones brothers were not aware of the crime until a few days ago, and were not sure that Hose was the much-wanted man. Saturday morning one of the Jones boys met Hose, and as he was talking to him noticed that his "ginger" face was ebony black. Just below the collar of his shirt the copper color was discernible. Believing that the negro had blackened his face to escape detection, Jones became convinced that he was the negro for whom the authorities had been scouring the country for 10 days, and determined to arrest him. Sunday morning Jones took the negro to Macon, and put him aboard a Central of Georgia train, with the intention of taking him to Atlanta. At Griffin some one recognized Hose and sent word to Newman, the next station, that the negro was on the train, bound for Atlanta. When Newman was reached a great crowd surrounded the train and pushd into the cars. The Jones brothers were told that the negro could be delivered to the sheriff of Campbell county there, and it was not necessary to take him to Atlanta. This was acceded to and the negro was taken off the train and marched at the head of a yelling, shouting crowd of 500 people to the jail. Here they turned him over to Sheriff Brown, taking a receipt for the prisoner, thus making themselves sure of the reward of $250 for the "arrest and delivery to the sheriff of Campbell county of one Sam Hose."

Word was sent to Mrs. Cranford at Palmetto that it was believed Hose was under arrest, and that her presence was necessary in Newnan to make sure of his identification. In some way the news of the arrest leaked out, and as the town had been on the alert for nearly two weeks, the intelligence spread rapidly. From every house in the little city came its occupants, and a good-sized crowd had soon gathered about the jail. Sheriff Brown was importuned to give up the prisoner, and finally in order to avoid an assault on the jail and possible bloodshed, he turned the negro over to the waiting crowd. A procession was quickly formed, and the doomed negro was marched at its head through several streets of the town. Soon the public square was reached. Here former Governor Atkinson of Georgia, who lives in Newnan, came hurriedly upon the scene, and, standing up in a buggy, importuned the crowd to let the law take its course.

Governor Atkinson said: "My fellow citizens and friends: I beseech you to let this affair go no further. You are hurrying this negro on to death without an identification. Mrs. Cranford, whom he is said to have assaulted, and whose husband he is said to have killed, is sick in bed and unable to be here to say whether this is her assailant. Let this negro be returned to jail. The law will take its course, and I promise you it will do so quickly and effectually. Do not stain the honor of the state with a crime such as you are about to perform."

Judge A. D. Freeman of Newnan spoke in a similar strain and prayed the mob to return the prisoner to the custody of the sheriff and go home.

The assemblage heard the words of the two speakers in silence, but the instant their voices had died away shouts of "On to Palmetto, burn him, think of his crime" arose, and the march was resumed.

Mrs. Cranford's mother and sister are residents of Newman. The mob was headed in the direction of their house, and in a short time reached the McElroy home. The negro was marched through the gate, and Mrs. McElroy was called to the front door. She immediately identified the African, and her verdict was agreed to by her daughter, who had often seen Hose about the Cranford place.

"To the stake," was again the cry, and several men wanted to burn the negro in Mrs. McElroy's yard. To this she objected strenuously, and the mob, complying with her wish, started for Palmetto.

Just as they were leaving Newnan, news was brought that the 1 o'clock train from Atlanta would bring 1000 people from Atlanta. This was taken to be a regiment of soldiers, and the mob decided to burn the prisoner at the first favorable place, rather than be compelled to shoot him when the militia put in an appearance.

Leaving the little town, whose Sunday quiet had been so rudely disturbed, the mob, which now numbered nearly 1500 people, started on the road to Palmetto. A line of buggies and vehicles of all kinds, their drivers fighting for position in line, followed the procession, at the head of which, closely guarded, marched the negro.

One and a half miles out of Newnan a place believed to be favorable to the burning was reached. A little to the side of the road was a strong pine tree. Up to this the negro was marched, his back placed to the tree and his face to the crowd, which jostled closely about him. Here, for the first time, he was allowed to talk. He said: "I am Sam Hose. I killed Alfred Cranford, but was paid to do it. Lige Strickland, the negro preacher at Palmetto, gave me $12 to kill him."

At this a roar went up from the crowd. The intelligence imparted by the wretch was spread among them.

"Let him go on; tell all you know about it," came from the crowd. The negro, shivering like a leaf, continued his recital. "I did not outrage Mrs. Cranford. Somebody else did that. I can identify them. Give me time for that."

The mob would hear no more. The clothes were torn from the negro in an instant. A heavy chain was produced and wound around his body. He said not a word to this proceeding, but at sight of three or four knives flashing in the hands of several members of the crowd about him, which seemed to forecast the terrible ordeal he was about to be put to, he sent up a yell which could be heard for a mile. Instantly a hand grasping a knife shot out and one of the negro's ears dropped into a hand ready to receive it. He pleaded pitifully for mercy and begged his tormentors to let him die. His cries went unheeded. The second ear went the way of the other. Hardly had he been deprived of his organs of hearing than his fingers, one by one, were taken from his hands and passed among the members of the yelling and now thoroughly maddened crowd. The shrieking negro was quickly deprived of other portions of his anatomy and the words, "Come on with the oil," brought a huge can of kerosene to the foot of the tree where the negro, his body covered with blood from head to foot, was striving and tugging at his chains. The can was lifted over the negro's head by three or four men and its contents poured over him. By this time a good supply of brush, pieces of fence rail and other firewood had been placed about the negro's feet. This was thoroughly saturated and a match applied. A flame shot upward and spread quickly over the pile of wood. As it licked the negro's

ITALIANS ARE ARMED.

Intend to Resent Interference by Rockport Granite Strikers.

Mayor Refuses to Furnish Additional Police.

Gloucester, Mass., April 24.—The situation at the quarries of the Rockport Granite company at Bay View, the scene of a conflict Saturday night between the police and the striking quarrymen, was comparatively calm yesterday, although the strikers expressed themselves as determined to resist any effort to have more Italians take their places at the quarries.

There are still 21 of the Italians at the shanties, and it was stated there that fully 200 more are expected today. The strikers, on learning of this, were very bitter in their denunciation of the company, and claim that there will be trouble.

All the Italians are armed, a large number of them carrying Winchester rifles, while every one has a revolver or a knife. The men have also put up heavy shutters to their shanty, those that were up last night showing many bullet holes.

A representative of the Rockport Granite company had a conference yesterday with the mayor and city solicitor, and asked that additional police be sent to Bay View, but the mayor refused, stating that the men had done enough and were tired out. He told the granite company's representative that if the company needed additional protection it might swear in constables.

Concerning Church Membership.

Hanover, N. H., April 24.—The Fast day proclamation of Governor Rollins was referred to by Professor Charles D. Adams at the vesper service in Dartmouth College church last night. He said, in substance, upon the theme: "No executive has ever done better than Governor Rollins in proclaiming to the world that the religious condition of the people is vital to its existence." Professor Adams claimed that church membership in rural towns has not declined, pointing out the distinction between church membership and church attendance. He quoted statistics from eight typical New Hampshire towns to show that church memberships declined previous to the Civil war, but since that time the decrease has not been vital.

Shorter Hours For Railroad Men.

Boston, April 24.—An 8-hour day for steam railroad employes has been inaugurated by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. All the conductors, switchmen and brakemen employed in the shifting and making-up of trains in the Boston yards of this railroad were on Saturday given the 8-hour work day without any reduction of wages. In many instances there was a restoration of wages, which were reduced some time ago. Up to Saturday a day's work consisted of 10 hours, and the change to eight hours forced the company to employ a large number of additional men.

Where Prices Are High.

Amesbury, Mass., April 24.—A friend has received a letter from Havelock F. Hulbert, who left here in February, 1898, for the Klondike. The letter is dated Upper Lizard Post, Yukon district, and says, in part: "There are about 200 men wintering on the river, and nine out of every 10 will go out in the spring. The coldest weather we have had this winter was 63 degrees below zero; but we did not mind it very much, as the air is very dry. Flour is $30 per 100 pounds; bacon, $60 per 100 pounds; beans, $30 per 100 pounds, and oatmeal, $40 per 100 pounds."

Lynn Woman Missing.

Lynn, Mass., April 24.—Fully 200 men and boys searched the Lynn woods and the district between this city and Saugus yesterday for Mrs. Catherine Malley, who left home very suddenly early Friday morning in scanty dress, and has not been seen since. All the ponds, clay pits, and even the Saugus river were dragged, but no trace of the woman could be found. There will be a still further effort to find the woman or her body.

Broke His Neck.

Bristol, Conn., April 24.—Edward Burke, aged 50 years, an employe at the factory of the New Departure Bell company, made a misstep when coming out of his boarding house yesterday morning, which resulted in breaking his neck.

Knowlton's Ambition.

Boston, April 24.—A conference of the friends of Attorney General Knowlton was held in this city Saturday, and a committee was appointed to confer with Mr. Knowlton. As the result of an interview, Mr. Knowlton authorized the use of his name as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. Mr. Knowlton said that he had declared himself a candidate for governor after considerable deliberation, and only after being assured that there was a strong sentiment in the party favoring his candidacy.

Folding Beds.

It was an eagle eye and an active brain that first conceived the idea of a Folding Bed. The original Folding Beds were clumsy and hard to operate, but American genius can accomplish most anything, and the newest folding beds are works of wonder and ingenuity. You can have a perfect sitting room nicely furnished with your choice of an ornamental wardrobe with long mirror front, a chiffoniere, or luxurious couch. At night, by the slightest touch of your hand, these pieces are converted into comfortable dreamy beds. They are at least worthy of your inspection. Prices, $15.00 to $35.00.

Drift of Opinion.

☞Gen. Miles is not to be sustained by the inquiry board in his charges that chemically prepared beef was deliberately sent to the army. Outside of yellow newspaper offices, nobody has ever supposed he would be. The beef is shown to have been almost wholly good when forwarded to the front, though some of it undoubtedly was spoiled before opening. That was one of the fortunes or misfortunes of war. Therein it differed from Gen. Miles, who was spoiled by flattery and conceit, long before he ever saw Cuba. —Worcester Spy.

☞What nonsense is this attempt to have revoked the sentence of banishment passed on Roger Williams over two centuries and a half ago. The sentence stands on the books at present as a witness of the narrowness of the time, and is instructive to that extent. —Brockton Times.

Chaplain House.

Rev. T. L. House, chaplain of the 5th Mass. regiment, and recently pastor at Attleboro, gave an interesting talk at the men's meeting of the Y. M. C. A., on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Edward Anderson offered prayer and Rev. Edwin N. Hardy introduced the speaker.

Mr. House said he was glad to get back to civil life. He went because he felt it a duty he owed to the Commonwealth as chaplain of the Massachusetts militia. The subject of his talk was "Fleeting Time," during which he spoke of the growth of Christianity the multiplication of organizations, the increase of church membership, the accumulation of wealth for Christian and benevolent purposed. Showing that there was a considerable quantity of Christianity in the present day, and its growth was not waning as many pessimists say.

He believed, however, that while there was sufficient quantity the quality was somewhat lacking, that it depended upon we who live, to so color our influences that it will become a larger factor in the future.

Chaplain House had a good sized audience, including many Co. K boys.

Fifth Regiment Concert.

The Fifth Regiment band, Mass. Infantry, U. S. V., gave an excellent concert at Music halli on Saturday evening. It was not an aggregation from an iron foundary or brass works but musicians of ability and experience whose selections were well adapted for an indoor concert, and of a variety to please. There were difficult overtures, medleys, marches, waltzes, illustrated scenes etc., all beautifully rendered. The Indian war dance was particularly pleasing, and the band responded to an encore. It was surprising that the audience was not larger.

WEEKLY PAY DAY.

Suspension of Work Where Granite Manufacturers Neglected It.

There was a temporary suspension of work in many of stone sheds Saturday, owing to the action of the Cutters' Committee in ordering men out of the yards where payment of wages had not been made on Friday. There were half a dozen committees of the cutters, made up of two members each, and every yard in the city was visited. The question asked was, "Have you paid off?" And if the negative reply was received, the second question was, "When do you intend to pay?" If the answer to this was not satisfactory the men were ordered out. In a majority of the cases the answer was not satisfactory and out went the men.

In some cases the manufacturers drew their checks and paid the men on the spot. Those that did not, will probably pay today and the suspension will be only temporary.

The action was a surprise to the manufacturers, who claim that the cutters have violated the agreement entered into last month.

In this agreement was a clause reading. "There shall be a pay day every Friday, and workmen shall be paid in full up to the last day of the previous week. An employer failing to pay for two successive pay days shall be liable to a suspension of work by the Granite Cutters' Union."

The state law now compels weekly payments, and when this section was drawn up it is claimed the latter section was added to prevent suspension of work in case a manufacturer should fail to pay every Friday.

A few of the firms have paid every week, some on Friday and some on other days. In other cases some have paid every two weeks and still another who paid on the first and fifteenth of every month. These permitted them to keep within the latter part of the clause above referred to. The trouble Saturday it is claimed was not confined to those who were paying every two weeks but to those who paid weekly as well, and these latter received the word that if they did not immediately pay, out would go the men, in violation as the manufacturers say of the above mentioned clause.

The Manufacturers' Association held a largely attended meeting Saturday night, but beyond a general discussion of the situation, no action was taken.

There is another matter which the affair of Saturday may complicate and that is the matters now being considered by the State Board of Arbitration. The two clauses referred to them were, that relating to the number of apprentices to be employed, and that relative to special bargains. At the final meeting with the joint committee when these matters were referred to the state board, it was agreed that pending their decision there should be no lockout, strike or suspension of business. At this same time the State board stated that if this agreement was violated they should refuse to act further and the quesion now arises whether they will consider Saturdays affair a violation of that agreement.

The cutters deny that there was any agreement concerning a semi-monthly payment, and were of the opinion that this understanding arose at the time the bill was accepted. At that time the Union committee notified the manufacturers, in order not to be too hard and to give them a chance to straighten out their business financially, that the men would not object if they did not get their pay every week for the first few weeks. This was done purely as a matter of accommodation, and could in no sense be construed to mean that the men would accept pay day every two weeks. The men further say that they intend to enforce the bill of prices which calls for a pay day every Friday.

This morning the men in practically all of the sheds returned to work.

New Members Enrolled.

The Social Democratic party held a large meeting at Hancock hall on Sunday. The speaker Mr. W. P. Porter of Newburyport, argued that the working class were dependent on their employers for a living, rather than an independent people. He maintained as long as workers were dependent there could be no real independence. A government which allowed its citizens to freeze and starve and commit suicide for lack of employment could not properly be called a Christian government, such as the Socialists are working for.

At the close of Mr. Porter's remarks, a prominent Republican of this city stepped forward and in an able address said that the speakers sentiments were his, and in the future he should do all he could to further the cause of Socialism.

At this point the enthusiasm was intense and a large number came forward and enrolled their names.

Citizens from all sections of the city were present.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block.

INESTIMABLE VALUE.

Importance of Debating In Our Higher Schools.

At the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Association of Classical and High School Teachers on Saturday the opening paper was by Frederic Allison Tupper of Quincy on "Debating in Secondary and High Schools." He was reported by the Herald as follows:

Mr. Tupper began by describing the predicaments of men called upon to make speeches, and went on to urge that in a country like ours the occasions for public speaking were innumerable. In view of this, he asked, ought we not to pay more attention to the cultivation of the ability to speak clearly and acceptably?

I wish to make a plea this morning for the organization of debating societies in all our secondary schools, and I do this from the conviction that such societies, if properly managed, may be of inestimable value to our country. The average American ought to be able to speak with clearness, ease and effectiveness before his fellow-citizens. His enunciaton and his pronunciation ought to be vastly more correct than they are at present. His ability to think on his feet ought to be vastly increased. The power to persuade, to convey ideas in effective language, to detect fallacious reasoning, to publicly maintain the rights of the people, cannot have too much attention given to it. Having had 18 years' experience in this matter, it seems to me that too little credit has been given to the old-fashioned lyceum for the extraordinary excellent results which were sometimes obtained under the so-called old education.

I am fully aware of the fact that many otherwise intelligent persons are strongly opposed to debating, whether in secondary schools or in colleges. Yet, if public debate and speaking were restricted to those who know all about any subject, what a profound and death like silence would reign over the world! Will not the interest stimulated by debate, the study of authorities, the expression of one's ideas, the successful, or even the unsuccessful attempts to refute opposing arguments develop power and increase knowledge?

The speaker here proceeded to consider whether debating ought to be compulsory or elective. One of the principal objections to the elective system, he said, was that fewer pupils were benefited. The debate ought, he held, to take place during school hours. The best results were in fact to be gained through compulsory societies controlled by the teacher. Compulsory debating, if made sufficiently interesting, might shade into election.

For the last seven years, the speaker said, it has been my practice to meet once a week throughout the school year the senior and junior classes of my school. These classes form themselves into a debating society, with officers elected once a month. Parliamentary procedure is observed. The society is divided into six sections, each of which is sub-divided into affirmative and negative sides. The subjects for debate are selected by the teacher in charge, though pupils often suggest suitable topics. All subjects must be chosen with reference to the ages and individualities of the pupils.

The speaker finally gave examples of subjects for debate, and offered suggestions for the actual work of the debating society. The boys, he said, were intensely interested in the debates. He argued that girls also should have practice in speaking.

The paper was discussed by Dr. Horace M. Willard of the Quincy Mansion school, Mr. Knapp of Duxbury, Mr. Farnsworth of Kingston, N. H., Mr. Stone of Watertown, Dr. Haynes of the Boston Latin school and Mr. Tufts of Monson.

Won in the Ninth.

Adams Academy played its fourth game of the season with Milton High on Saturday, winning by the score of 15 to 11.

The score was tied until the ninth inning, when Adams made the four winning runs. In the ninth inning Burchsted got to first by a wild throw by shortstop, stole second and came in on Donaher's one-bagger. Donaher also stole second and scored on Bennett's two-bagger. Then Bennett and Tate scored, Doble struck out, Turner made a good hit and stole second, Hodges struck out, and Pinkham got out on a foul fly to the catcher.

Milton did not get any runs in the last inning. Littlefield flied out to Kent, Mahoney struck out, and Donaher caught Bowman's fly.

Donaher pitched a fine game, as usual, Burchsted caught well, and Kent at short, Bennett at second, and Turner at first, all played fine ball.

Third Hill Burned Over.

The alarm from box 58 at the corner of Adams and Beale streets, Wollaston, on Sunday at 5.07 P. M. was for a brisk brush fire on Third hill. The fire started at about noon on the southerly slope of the hill in the thick stubble and worked its way up to the top, then down among the pines and saplings on the westerly and northerly sides near the residences of Frederick H. Bishop, George W. Stover and Ward's greenhouses. Nearly all the afternoon a small crowd had been fighting the fire but finally becoming tuckered out decided to pull in an alarm.

In exactly three minutes from the time of the first round, Driver Morrissey of Hose 2 had his apparatus at the hydrant at the corner of Beale street and Summit avenue. In a jiffy he had an extinguisher in his arms and was climbing the hill to beat the band with an enthusiastic crowd behind him. It was but the work of a few minutes to subdue the flames and with the assistance of the extinguishers from the central station apparatus and 999 boys with spruce swithes the fire was put out. But it did look one while as though Mr. Bishop's flower garden would be stamped out of existence by the spectators. But with the aid of the garden hose and wrapping twine it was kept at bay.

DYING MAN'S ACCUSATION.

Claims That His Condition Is Due to Poison Administered by His Wife.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 24.—Dr. B. E. Patton, a physician, who is known throughout three states as a specialist in the cure of cancer, and who is the proprietor of a large sanitarium in this city, is lying at the point of death from what he claims is the effect of arsenic and chloroform poisoning administered by his wife. For some months past the physician has been materially losing strength. A few days ago he was compelled to seek his bed and now lies under the care of three physicians, who state that his chances for recovery are very slight. Since his illness forced him to take to his bed Dr. Patton has reiterated time and again in the hearing of his brother physicians that his wife was the cause of his condition. The attending physicians were inclined to believe at first that their patient was mildly insane on the subject, but were at last led to believe that there might be some truth in his statements. Late Saturday night the invalid asked that the prosecutor and coroner be summoned, and this was done. A sworn statement accusing his wife of poisoning him was made by the dying man. In addition Dr. Patton requested that a post mortem examination of his body be made.

Mrs. Julia Patton, the accused woman, has filed proceedings for a divorce and is now at one of her farms near Newmarket, Ind. She has been married four times and has property worth over $100,000 in her own right. No steps have yet been taken to apprehend her.

The Cigar Stamp Frauds.

Washington, April 24.—The internal revenue bureau has so far been notified of the discovery of over half a million cigars manufactured by Jacobs at Lancaster, Pa., and bearing counterfeit stumps. Three hundred thousand of these were found in Jacobs' own factory at Lancaster; 70,000 in San Francisco; 32,000 in Philadelphia; 150,000 in Cincinnati; 10,000 in Toledo and 8500 in the first New York district. It is believed that this amount will be largely increased as the search goes on. Orders have been issued to revenue agents to seize all cigars made by Jacobs' factory wherever found, and later they will be sold at auction, the purchasers being required to re-stamp them. The proceeds will be turned into the treasury. What relief, if any, will be extended to innocent purchasers of the Jacobs cigars has not yet been determined.

Victim of Apoplexy.

Atlanta, April 24.—Major George A. Vandergrift, paymaster in the United States volunteer army, who was stricken with apoplexy Saturday, died yesterday without regaining consciousness. Major Vandergrift was born at Vicksburg, April 13, 1840. When the Civil war broke out he became adjutant of the Second Ohio infantry, but was discharged on account of wounds two years later. He re-enlisted as major of the Thirty-seventh Ohio volunteers in 1864. After the war he engaged in steamboating and later became a master in the United States lighthouse service. Major Vandergrift's home was in Cincinnati. Since May last he served as a paymaster of volunteers with headquarters at Atlanta.

Hebrews Will Fight.

Halifax, April 24.—The dispatch stating that President McKinley had authorized application to the Canadian government for the extradition of Israel B. Goldstone, a Hebrew, arrested at St. John for a crime he had committed in New York, was an error. The arrest was made in St. John's, and and application must be made to the Newfoundland government for Goldstone's extradition. The fugitive came to Halifax from New York, and proceeded to St. John's under the name of Max Greenburg. The Hebrew fraternity in St. John's have combined to fight the extradition.

Red Cross Finances.

New York, April 24.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the American national Red Cross in this city the committee was dissolved and the affairs and fund of the organization here will be turned over to the national Red Cross in Washington. The report of Treasurer Boldt shows cash receipts of $90,140, of which $66,091 is set down to the credit of the American national Red Cross relief committee of New York and $11,732 to donations by firms and individuals; cash disbursements, $82,724, leaving balance of $7416.

A "General of Brigade."

Madrid, April 24.—One of the persons arrested Saturday by the Barcelona police on charge of being implicated in a Carlist plot describes himself as a general of brigade. The suspect most compromised is Senor Margenat, magistrate of the village of Sardonala. The police seized a quantity of documents, which indicated the intention of the conspirators to raise bands without the authority of Don Carlos. The rifles seized were of an old pattern.

Transportation Line For Sale.

Managua, April 24.—President Zelaya has granted an option, in force until Jan. 1, 1900, to Charles Nicoll, British consul at Managua, or to any company he may organize, to purchase the railroads and steamboats of Nicaragua, with the workshops appertaining to them, for the sum of 6,500,000 pesos.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

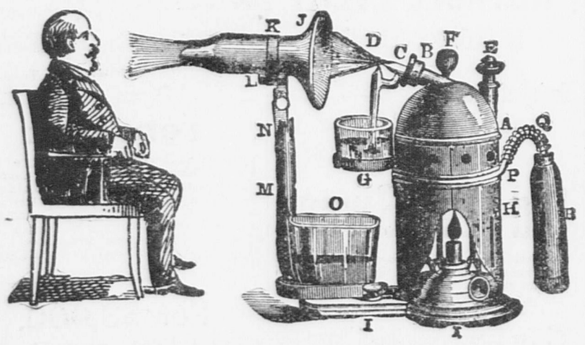

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomtzed and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

FROM A SAFE SHELTER

Filipinos Picked Off Many Men of the American Forces.

Seven Killed and Forty-Four Receive Wounds.

Colonel Stotsenburg, Brave Leader of Nebrask Regiment, Among Dead.

Manila, April 24.—Four men of the Nebraska regiment, including Colonel Stotsenberg and Lieutenant Sisson, and three men of the Fourth cavalry were killed and 44 wounded in an engagement at Quengua yesterday. The Filipinos retreated with small loss.

The engagement developed into a disastrous, though successful fight. The insurgents had a horse-shoe trench, about a mile long, encircling a rice field, on the edge of a woods.

Captain Bell, with 40 cavalrymen, encountered a strong outpost. One of his men was killed and five were wounded by a volley. The Americans retired, carrying their wounded under fire and with great difficulty, being closely pursued, the fog enabling the enemy to creep up to them.

Captain Bell sent for reinforcements to rescue the body of the killed cavalryman, and a battalion of the Nebraska regiment, under Major Mufford, arrived and advanced until checked by volleys from the enemy's trenches.

The Americans lay about 800 yards from the trenches, behind rice furrows, under fire, for two hours. Several men were sunstruck, one dying from the effects of the heat as they lay there waiting for the artillery to come up.

Finally the second battalion arrived, and then Colonel Stotenburg, who had spent the night with his family at Manila, came upon the field. The men immediately recognized him and raised a cheer.

Colonel Stotsenburg, deciding to charge as the cheapest way out of the difficulty, led the attack at the head of his regiment. He fell with a bullet in the breast, dying instantly, about 200 yards from the breastworks.

Lieutenant Sisson fell with a bullet in his heart.

In the meantime the artillery had arrived and shelled the trenches. The Filipinos stood until the Nebraska troops were right on the trenches, and then they bolted to the second line of intrenchments, a mile back. The Nebraska regiment lost two privates killed and had many wounded, including two lieutenants. The Iowa regiment had several wounded. The Utah regiment had one officer and three men wounded.

Thirteen dead Filipinos were found in the trench. Their loss was comparatively small on account of their safe shelter.

The Americans carried the second trench with small loss, and are holding the town.

The loss of the Nebraska regiment in the campaign is the greatest sustained by any regiment, and yesterday's disaster has greatly saddened officers and men, who promise to take fierce vengeance in the next fight.

Colonel Stotsenburg had won a reputation as one of the bravest in the army. He always led his regiment, and had achieved remarkable popularity with his men since the war began, although, during his first colncley, the volunteers, who were not used to the rigid discipline of the regular troops, thought him a hard officer.

Rebels Have Ample Aid.

London, April 24.—The Madrid correspondent of The Daily Mail says: A Spanish prisoner recently released by the Filipinos says that the insurgents have 50,000 rifles, plenty of ammunition and 200 pieces of artillery, some of them the latest pattern of quick-firing guns. According to his description of the situation they have established two large cartridge factories and, as it is impossible for the Americans to blockade such a coast as that of Luzon, the Filipinos can easily procure from abroad everything they require. The informant asserts that Chinese, European and even American merchants doing business in China are helping the Filipinos in this way.

Work of Mischief Makers.

Washington, April 24.—Secretary Alger has received from General Otis a report regarding the alleged treasonable communications which, it has been asserted, have passed between people in this country and the soldiers. The secretary felt from the first that there was no ground for the sensational statements made, but as a matter of public policy took immediate steps to learn from General Otis, what, if any, foundation existed for them. The latter's report shows that one of the regiments under his command received some cablegrams reading as follows: "Don't enlist, boys." One or two of these were signed "Committee" or "The Committee," while others had no signatures. The secretary did not make public the name of the organization to which the dispatches had been sent. The whole matter had been very much exaggerated, he said, as General Otis' report showed that it was only to the above extent that any communications of the character indicated had passed. He said he attributed them entirely to the work of mischief makers.

Many Seamen Drowned.

Oak Hill, Fla., April 24.—Steamer General Whitney, Captain Hawthorne, sank 50 miles east of Cape Canaveral. One boat load of 16 men, attempting to land at Mosquito lagoon house of refuge, was upset and 12 men, including the captain, were drowned. The chief engineer, assistant engineer, fireman and one sailor were saved. The captain's body has been recovered. Fifteen men in another boat.

Socialists Defrauded.

London, April 24.—According to the Madrid correspondent of The Daily Mail the recent elections to the Spanish chamber of deputies would have resulted in the return of socialists in Madrid, Bilbao and other towns had not the government tampered with the electoral figures in a scandalous manner to hide the true results.

Burned to Death.

Melrose, Mass., April 24.—Mrs. Charlotte Lynch was burned to death at her home yesterday by her clothing catching fire while she was preparing breakfast. An adopted son was asleep in the house at the time and was awakened by smoke. When he reached the kitchen he found his foster mother lying on the floor dead with her clothing completely burned off. Mrs. Lynch was a widow and was 54 years old.

Burns Caused Death.

Boston, April 24.—Mrs. Nellie Anasson, living in the North End, was so terribly burned by her clothes catching fire at a gas stove yesterday that she died later at a hospital.

Noted Preacher Dead.

Lexington, Ky., April 24.—Rev. Robert Ryland, probably the oldest Baptist clergyman and educator in the United States, died here yesterday, aged 94. He was for 28 years president of Richmond college. During much of this time he was also pastor of the largest African church in the world, 3000 members, nearly all Virginia slaves. His latter years were spent at the head of educational institutions and churches in Kentucky and Tennessee.

legs he shrieked once and began tugging at his chains. As the flames crept higher and the smoke entered his eyes and mouth Hose put the stumps of his hands to the tree back of him and with a terrific plunge forward of his body severed the upper portion of the chains which bound him to the tree. His body held to the tree only by as far as the thighs, lunged forward, thus escaping the flames which roared and crackled about his feet. One of the men nearest the burning negro quickly ran up and, pushing him back, said:

"Get back there into the fire," and quickly coupled the disjointed links of the chain.

The road for a distance of half a mile on each side of the burning negro was black with conveyances and was simply impassable. The crowd surrounded the stake on all sides, but none of those nearer than 100 feet of the center were able to see what was going on.

Yell after yell went up and the progress of the flames was communicated to those in the rear by shouts from the eye-witnesses. The torch was applied about 2:30, and at 3 o'clock the body of Sam Hose was limp and lifeless, his head hanging to one side. The body was not cut down. It was cut to pieces. The crowd fought for places about the smouldering tree and with knives secured such pieces of his carcass as did not fall to pieces. The chain was severed by hammers, the tree was chopped down, and with such pieces of the firewood as had not burned were carried away as souvenirs.

Strickland Captured.

Palmetto, Ga., April 24.—Elijah Strickland, the negro preacher who is accused by San Hose, the negro burned to death near Newnan yesterday, of paying Hose $12 to murder Farmer Alfred Cranford, was captured by a mob of people from this vicinity, three miles out of town last night. He was brought to Palmetto, and at midnight was placed on trial for his life by a court composed of those who had arrested him. Speeches for and against his character were made, and the trial is still in progress.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

3 O'CLOCK.

COUNTRY IS FLOODED.

Thousands Upon Thousands of Cigars Seized In Several Districts.

Bogus Revenue Stamps Issued From Pennsylvania.

Former United States District Attorney Said to Have Been Implicated.

Philadelphia, April 25.—Every day brings sensational developments in the great counterfeiting conspiracy. Revenue officers say that collectors in different parts of the country have confiscated 700,000 cigars put up in boxes bearing counterfeit stamps. The amount of money secured through the swindlers' operations is placed at $500,000.

Secret Service Agent Wilkie says he is close on the track of the men who were concerned in the operation of "Factory 3741," which was the official designation of the establishment operated by William M. Jacobs and his gang.

Cigar dealers in this city are heavy losers, and already 125,000 cigars with the counterfeit stamps on the boxes have been seized. Over 600 men were employed by the factory, and as the place was in operation some time, the output is believed to have been very large.

The second sensation of the big counterfeiting scheme came yesterday, when Former United States District Attorney Ellery P. Ingham was placed under arrest, charged with having been implicated with Harvey K. Newitt in the attempted bribery by the counterfeiters of the secret service men. While there had been rumors connecting Ingham's name with the case, his arrest caused the greatest surprise.

The warrant was issued by United States Commissioner Edmunds, and Ingham was held in $10,000 bail for a hearing. Harvey K. Newitt was also held in $10,000 bail for appearance Thursday.

Today's dispatches show seizures as follows:

Louisville—Forty thousand more cigars bearing counterfeit revenue stamps were seized by Collector Sapp yesterday, making, in all, 50,000 seized here. Collector Sapp expects the total to reach 200,000.

Terre Haute—Collector Henry states that so far 43,000 cigars bearing the counterfeit revenue stamps have been seized in this district. He expects the number will reach 100,000.

San Francisco—Internal Revenue Agent Thomas yesterday made a large seizure of bogus cigar stamps, making a total seizure of over $12,000 during the last few days, and he is on the track of several more large batches of counterfeits.

Houston—Revenue officers have seized in Galveston about 200,000 cigars in boxes bearing counterfeit revenue stamps. It is believed more than 1,000,000 cigars will be seized in Texas alone.

Norfolk—Revenue officers have seized upwards of 75,000 cigars here bearing the bogus revenue stamp issued by Lancaster, Pa., parties, and expect to increase the amount to 100,000 in the district.

Hastings, Neb.—Revenue officers yesterday seized 6000 cigars bearing bogus revenue stamps.

Youngstown, O.—Eighteen thousand cigars have been seized in this city in boxes bearing bogus stamps.

Rochester—Secret service officers yesterday seized 22,150 counterfeit revenue stamps issued from Lancaster, Pa.

Nashville—Revenue agents in this district have seized 125,000 cigars bearing bogus revenue stamps, and are on the trail of more.

New York—Deputy United States Revenue Inspector Cox yesterday secured possession of about 20,000 cigars and stogies in Paterson, N. J., which had bogus revenue stamps on them.

Easton, Pa—Eighteen hundred boxes of cigars, on which were counterfeit revenue stamps, were found in the wholesale house of J. Drake's Sons & Co., this city, yesterday.

Austin—The United States authorities at this place yesterday seized 100,000 cigars bearing fraudulent revenue stamps.

Toledo—Revenue officers yesterday seized 30,000 cigars with counterfeit stamps, making a total of 70,000 seized in this city.

Lynchburg, Va.—Deputy Collector Nelson yesterday seized 65,000 of the Lancaster, Pa., cigars from the Jacobs factory.

Scranton, Pa.—Revenue Collector Penman yesterday seized 9000 Jacobs & Co.'s cigars at Carbondale. A lot of 4000 was found at Shamokin, and three lots, aggregating 6000, were discovered in Wilkesbarre.

Altoona, Pa.—Deputy Revenue Collector Dunphy has seized 20,000 cigars that were stamped with the Jacobs bogus stamps. He expects to find more throughout this district.

Dubuque, Ia.—Collector Patton has seized a large quantity of cigars bearing counterfeit revenue stamps. Deputies are raiding the entire district and report large seizures, 30,000 having been captured at Cedar Rapids alone.

Omaha—Internal revenue officers yesterday seized 5000 cigars bearing counterfeit revenue stamps. These are the first located in this district.

Serious Charge Against Him.

Lancaster, Pa., April 25.—Samuel B. Downey, deputy interna. revenue collector here, was arrested Monday by Captain Burns of the secret service, who came here with Chief Wilkie from Philadelphia. Downey is charged with informing Jacobs & Kendig, the cigar makers arrested for counterfeiting, of the fact that Secret Service Agent Burns was after them.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 25.—In the legislature yesterday the committee on metropolitan affairs reported a bill to authorize the metropolitan park commission to take Nantasket Beach, the amount for the taking being limited to $600,000. The committee reported a bill for a day and a night force for the Boston fire department. Fire Commissioner Russell testified before the committee that it would cost the city at least $800,000 per year to carry this legislation into effect, as it would require a very large number of additional men in the department.

Governor Wolcott issued his proclamation naming April 29 to be observed as Arbor day.

The house took from the table and referred to the next legislature the bills for more subways in Boston and for an inquiry by the transit commission as to what can be done to promote rapid transit in Boston. Adverse reports were given on both the bills to nullify the acts of 1897 relating to the Boston sewerage works.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the bill to repeal chapter 426, act of 1897, relating to the sewerage works of the city of Boston. An adverse report was made on a bill to amend the sewerage act above mentioned.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the bill to provide that the taxes of Boston shall not exceed the amount allowed to be raised by statute.

Bills to compel railroad companies to sell tickets at reduced rates in the suburban district of Boston and to regulate passenger fares in that district were taken from the table and referred to the next general court.

A number of bills were enacted in the senate, among them a resolve for establishment of textile schools and the Wareham park bill.

The judiciary committee reported a bill to permit the use of typewriting machines for public records, provided that the ink used is approved by the record commissioner. The same committee favorably reported the bill to provide protection for historical monuments or tablets.

Sixty-Five Days In Ice.

St. John's, April 25.—The Canadian liner Gaspesia arrived here yesterday, convoyed by the sealer Kite, after being 80 days from Paspebiac, 65 of which she was frozen in ice floes in the gulf of St. Lawrence. The Gaspesia is considerably damaged through being nipped among the floes. Her rudder being disabled she was steered by means of spars.

The Men Behind the Guns.

New York, April 25.—One hundred and twenty sailors from the United States cruiser Raleigh, clad in their naval uniforms, were given a banquet in the Astor gallery of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel last night. The gallery was decorated with silken banners and flags, and a fashionable crowd was present to see and help entertain the sailors.

Ministers and Saloons.

Toledo, April 25.—The Toledo Pastors' union yesterday made a move towards sanctioning the municipal ownership of saloons. The matter created considerable discussion, the majority of the pastors seeming to favor the idea. It is probable a petition will be sent to the city council looking to some legislation on the subject.

Negroes Filling Strikers' Places.

Des Moines, April 25.—Negro miners are coming in large numbers daily to take the places of striking whites in this district. A meeting of strikers yesterday decided to take strong steps to prevent more negroes being imported.

FOUR STRAIGHT.

Bostons Again Wallop the Senators, Who Get But One Run.

Washington, April 25.—The Senators were like pigmies in the hands of the champions, who scored their fourth successive victory over the tail-enders "hands down." Freeman's long drive over the right field fence in the seventh was all that saved the locals from a shutout. Klobedanz had speed and control, and in one inning only did he allow more than one hit. He was backed up by exceptionally brilliant fielding of Long, while Collins and Tenney were not far behind. The latter's two errors were muffs of infield assists and counted only for the two "lives" at first. Not a Senator reached third until the seventh inning, when an incipient rally was nipped in the bud by Long's one-handed stop of Slagle's drive.

Good Afternoon.

Many gentlemen in public life regret that they cannot make a speech, and regret that they did not have the benefits of speaking and debates while in school. They agree with Mr. F. A. Tupper that debating is of inestimable value.

The per foot valuation of land as assessed in 1898 and published in yesterday's Ledger, was read with considerable interest by land owners of Ward One. But one sentiment has been heard, and that is, that such streets as Russell park, Saville avenue, Spear street, Maple place and others, are excessively taxed; while a portion of Hancock, Adams, Goffe, Washington, Elm, and others got off easily.

For the Socialists to assume that the working class is dependent on the employers, while the employers are not dependent on labor, is putting things in a strange light. What could be more self-evident than the fact that a manufacturer is dependent on labor. It is too true, undoubtedly, that some manufacturers and contractors do not pay wages which will permit of any comforts of life, but men are not bound to follow that pursuit; they may occupy any position for which they may qualify themselves. If they have not improved their opportunities, and exercised frugality during the first thirty years of their life, they must not hold employers responsible in later life.

A Democratic paper of Boston which is busy selecting a Republican candidate for Governor, has interviewed five Quincy gentlemen and while some were non-committal it draws the inference that the sentiment of the city "seems to flavor considerably of Knowlton." The district attorney may be a more brilliant man than the lieutenant governor, but W. Murray Crane is a very successful merchant and has considerably strengthened the State ticket in recent years, and would seem to have earned the nomination for governor. Without any movement upon his part, the people have looked to him as the logical candidate, and have faith in his ability both to secure the election and to discharge honorably the duties of the office.

After reading the annual report of the School Committee and Superintendent of Schools, and reviewing the financial report for 1898, and noting the large increase in pupils over a year ago, it would seem as though the Finance Committee of the City Council proposed to put on the screws pretty tight in reporting but $97,000.00 for the schools this year. To be sure this is an increase of $2,000 over 1898, but the School Committee said the schools suffered last year. The estimate for 1899 was $98,500.00, and the board say they asked for the smallest sum consistent. The estimate of the Water department could be cut $1,500 more and not be so handicapped as will the schools on $97,000.00. This sum allows but $20.75 per pupil according to the present number of pupils, which will be increased in September.

BAD SMASHUP.

Freight Cars In Splinters at Atlantic.

Train Parted and Then Crashed Together.

An All Night Job to Clear Up the Wreck.

There was a bad freight wreck on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Monday night, just south of the Atlantic depot, which smashed three cars almost into kindling wood and blocked the inward rail for several hours. The accident was caused by the train breaking apart and coming together again.

The train was made up of twenty-five or thirty cars, many of which were empty. It was the inward train due to pass Atlantic at 8.35. Just after passing the Norfolk Downs station the train broke apart at the thirteenth car, which caused the forward part of the train to spring ahead. The engineer whistled sharply for brakes but before the brakemen on the rear cars could set the brakes the two sections came together with a crash that was heard all over Atlantic, and for a few minutes the air was full of flying debris. People who witnessd the accident from Hancock street say that when the cars came together a sheet of flame shot high into the air.

The point where the two sections came together was directly opposite the switch tower, just south of the Atlantic depot.

The rear trucks of the last car of the main train were thrown off the rail. The next car was an empty box car which turned over on its side and landed in the swamp. Next to this was a flat car, which doubled up and broke in half. The forward half was wrenched from its trucks and landed on top of the overturned box car. The second half of the car left the rail and brought up against the tall railroad signal pole, which checked its mad plunge. Next to the flat car was another empty box car. The forward trucks of this were wrenched off, and the end of the car lifted into the air so that it rested on the overturned box car.

In leaving the rails the cars fortunately went toward Hancock street leaving the outward track perfectly clear. The derailed cars, however, ripped the covering from the boxes containing the wires and levers controling the interlocking system which for a time was rendered useless. Word was sent to Boston for the wrecker but it was after 10 o'clock before it arrived and active work was commenced clearing the track. Meantime the forward part of the train had been taken to Neponset and side tracked and the trains hands had succeeded in getting the trucks of the rear car of the main train onto the rail again.

The outward trains came through all right although delayed a few minutes but the local inward trains there were very late. The 9.12 was held at Quincy until after 10 o'clock and the 11.12 until midnight.

Fortunately there were no brakeman on that part of the train that was derailed, and no one was injured.

The loud crash of the cars coming together soon attracted a large crowd, which gathered about the wreck and watched the men clearing it away.

It was seven this morning before the last of the wreck was cleared up and taken to Boston.

Fire Near Powder House.

There was a lively brush fire near Sheep Rock off Willard Street, Sunday afternoon, and at one time it was thought the powder house of Robert Teasdale would take fire and cause an explosion. Mr. Teasdale and others fought the fire all the afternoon but did not make much headway. The fire was apparently gaining upon them and word was sent to the house of Hose 3 which responded and with their help the fire was extinguished. It is reported that an attempt was made to send in an alarm from Box 49, but as it was at the time the alarm from Box 58 was striking it did not work.

Folding Beds.

It was an eagle eye and an active brain that first conceived the idea of a Folding Bed. The original Folding Beds were clumsy and hard to operate, but American genius can accomplish most anything, and the newest folding beds are works of wonder and ingenuity. You can have a perfect sitting room nicely furnished with your choice of an ornamental wardrobe with long mirror front, a chiffoniere, or luxurious couch. At night, by the slightest touch of your hand, these pieces are converted into comfortable dreamy beds. They are at least worthy of your inspection. Prices, $15.00 to $35.00.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2.00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

Art Exhibit at Library.

There is now at the Thomas Crane public library for a limited stay an exhibit which is of great interest. It consists of one hundred photographs selected from the Sella Collection of Alpine and Caucasian views, the property of the Appalachian Mountain Club of Boston, which has generously loaned them to the Library Art Club.

These photographs are taken by Vittorio Sella, an amateur photographer, a resident of Northern Italy. By vocation he is a woolen manufacturer, but his summer vacations for ten years have been spent in mountaineering and photography. From 1880—88 he made annual excursions among the Alps, and in 1889—90 two visits to the Caucasus, in Southern Russia.

At the Geographical Congress in Turin in 1893, Mr. Sella was awarded the "grand gold medal and diploma of honor" in a competitive exhibition of landscape photography.

The Transcript said, at the time of their exhibition in Boston, "These uncommon pictures afford vivid glimpses of the wonderful and unknown world of snow and ice which exists in the high Alps, a world of terrible desolation and isolation and of awful beauty and majesty. Climbers have hitherto been the only ones to see these things, and it is the distinction of Mr. Sella that he has brought such a rare sensation within the reach of all. Snow scenery has never been so beautifully and faithfully represented. It testifies in a most convincing manner to his skill, his taste, his industry, and his courage."

The exhibit will be removed on the morning of Tuesday, May 2.

Against Despotism.

The resident Finlanders including the Swedish speaking as well as the pure Finns of Quincy and surrounding towns, will assemble in Temperance hall, Nelson street, on Thursday evening to remonstrate against the recently issued "ukas," by the Czar of Russia, abrogating all the laws and liberties of their beloved mother country, and reducing it to a province of barbarism, heathenism and military despotism.

A large petition, which is being circulated all over this country will be sent to the peace congress at Haag as a protest against the Czar's ill treatment of their people, their laws and most sacred rights.

The meeting will begin at 6 P. M. with good music and short speeches in the English, Swedish and Finn languages is assured.

There is no admission, but a collection will be taken. The general public is welcome and cordially invited to be present.

Come one and all and give the Finns your hand, sympathy and moral support in their struggle against despotism.

Castle Square Theatre.

At the Castle Square theatre this week the attraction is the popular modern play "The Banker's Daughter," which made such a notable success with the Castle Square players early in the history of this now well-known organization. Mr. Frank Sheridan makes his first appearance with the company in this production, the cast of which is largely the same as in the summer of '97.

On Monday, May 1, after long preparation, the Castle Square management announces an elaborate production of Franklin Frye's war play, "Cumberland, '61," which created such a sensation at the Boston Museum during the season of '97-'98.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

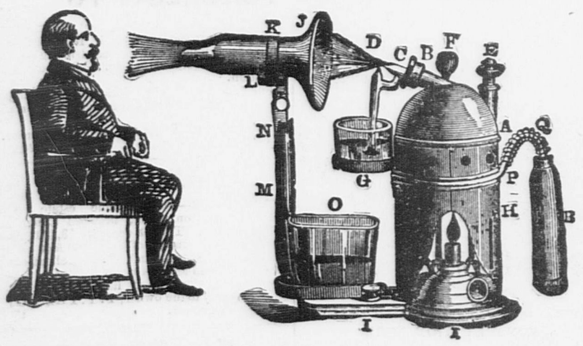

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invaild while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

BOSTON ENGAGEMENT begins at 301 Shawmut Avenue, cor. Waltham Street, on MONDAY, April 24th. Come early and avoid the crowd. Consultation Free. apr7 1y

Lige Strickland Swung From a Limb of a Persimmon Tree.

The Mob Gave Him Opportunities to "Confess."

Aged Victim's Employer Pleaded Eloquently, but In Vain, In His Behalf.

Palmetto, Ga., April 25.—When Sam Hose, the murderer of Alfred Cranford and the assailant of his wife, made his confession, immediately prior to his burning, he implicated Lige Strickland, a minister, aged 60. Hose contended that he had been offered money by Strickland to kill Cranford. It was known positively, however, that Hose had made false statements in his confession, and many of those who aided in his burning were disposed to disregard his statement in regard to Strickland.

The body of Strickland was found swinging to the limb of a persimmon tree within a mile and a quarter of this place early Monday. Before death was allowed to end the sufferings of the negro his ears were cut off and the small finger of his left hand was severed at the second joint. These trophies are in Palmetto.

On the chest of the negro was a piece of bloodstained paper attached by an ordinary pin. On one side of this paper was written:

"New York Journal. We must protect our ladies. 23-99." The other side of the paper contained a warning to the negroes of the neighborhood. It read as follows: "Beware all darkies. You will be treated the same way."

Before being lynched Strickland was given a chance to confess to the misdeeds of which the mob supposed him to be guilty, but he protested his innocence to the last. Three times the noose was placed around his neck and the negro was drawn up off the ground; three times he was let down with a warning that death was in store for him should he fail to confess his complicity in the Cranford murder. Three times Strickland proclaimed his innocence, until, weary of useless torturing, the mob pulled on the rope and tied the end around the slender trunk of the persimmon tree. Not a shot was fired. Strickland was strangled to death.

The lynching of Lige Strickland was not accomplished without a desperate effort on the part of his employer to save his life. The man who pleaded for him is Major W. W. Thomas, an ex-state senator. He did all in his power to prevent the lynching of the negro, and did not discontinue his efforts until he had been assured by the leaders of the mob that the negro would be taken to jail at Fairburn.

One mile from the spot where this promise was made Strickland was hanged. The negro was a tenant on the plantation of Major Thomas.

Late Sunday night about 15 men went to the plantation of Major Thomas and took Strickland from his little cabin in the woods and left his wife and five children to wait and weep over the fate they knew was in store for the negro. Their cries aroused Major Thomas, and that sturdy old gentleman followed the lynchers in his buggy, accompanied by his son, determined to save, if possible, the life of his plantation darkey.

They overtook the lynchers with their victim at Palmetto, and then ensued, with only the moonlight to brighten the faces of these grim men, a weird and dramatic scene. Strickland was halted directly opposite the telegraph office. The noose was adjusted around his neck and the end of the rope was thrown over a tree. Strickland was told he had a chance before dying to confess his complicity in the crime. He replied:

"I have told you all I know, gentlemen. You can kill me if you wish, but I know nothing to tell."

The negro's life might have been ended then but for the arrival of Major Thomas, who leaped from his buggy and asked for a hearing. He asked the crowd to give the negro a chance for his life, and said:

"Gentlemen, this negro is innocent. Hose said Lige had promised to give him $20 to kill Alfred Cranford, and I don't believe Lige had $20 since he has been on my place. He has never done any of you any harm; I want you to promise me that you will turn him over to the bailiff of this town that he may be given a hearing. I do not ask you to liberate him. Hold him for the courts."

The mob took the negro to a grove near the home of Marshall Givens of this place, and again the noose was adjusted. He was hauled off the ground, but was let down to allow him to confess. He refused to do so and the lynchers were about to haul him up again when the son of Marshall Givens came upon the scene and asked that the lynching not occur near his father's home. The negro was then taken to the yard in the rear of Dr. W. S. Seller's home and tied up to a persimmon tree and left hanging.

A coroner's jury held an inquest over the body yesterday afternoon and rendered the usual verdict—death at the hands of parties unknown.

Another mob is hunting the county for Albert Sewell, who has made himself obnoxious by remarks concerning the treatment given the negroes by the whites. There is not much prospect of his capture, however, as he has had a day's start on his pursuers.

Negro Lashed.

Rico, Ga., April 25.—Bud Cook, a negro, was stripped to the waist by a crowd of people here yesterday and 100 lashes administered him. His offense was the remark that the negroes should pay no attention to notices pinned on their doors to leave the country.

Captain Adams' Sentiment.

Boston, April 25.—Captain J. G. B. Adams, a former commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, denounced the lynching of negroes, at a banquet held by Abraham Lincoln post, G. A. R., last night. He said: "Comrades, the flag which we fought to save should never have beneath its folds such a disgraceful scene as was enacted in Georgia, when 4000 men went from Atlanta to witness the torturing of a man who had been denied the right of trial by jury. We all appreciate the enormity of the crime with which the negro was charged, but at the same time he should have been granted the rights of every citizen under the constitution."

And This Is Justice!

London, April 25.—David C. Murray publishes this morning the statement that he has learned from trustworthy sources in Paris that the superior council of war has decided that, under no circumstances whatever, shall Dreyfus be liberated. He understands also from the same sources that negotiations are now proceeding between the intelligence bureau and the judges of the court of cassation to secure a rejection of the request for revision and that the judges who favor revision are being subjected to terrible intimidation. More than this, he learns that everything has been arranged for a sham trial of Colonel Picquart, who is to be degraded and sentenced to imprisonment for ten years.

Death of Ex-Governor Oglesby.

Elkhart, Ills., April 25.—Ex-Governor and former United States Senator Richard J. Oglesby died at his residence here yesterday. The immediate cause of his death was a fall, his head striking the sharp edge of a piece of furniture. The remote cause was vertigo, which caused the fall. The blow made a sharp dent in the right side of the temple, from which the blood freely flowed. Death resulted from the concussion of the brain in about an hour from the time of the discovery of the body on the floor. He was unconscious from the time of his fall until he died.

Reinforcements For Phillppines.

Washington, April 25.—Although not officially announced, it is practically settled that the Nineteenth infantry, now in Porto Rico, the remainder of the Fourteenth infantry, returning from service in Alaska, and the remainder of the Fourth cavalry, serving in the far west, will constitute the bulk of the reinforcements to be sent to the Philippines, in addition to the troops already under orders to that station. Part of the Fourteenth infantry and the Fourth cavalry are already in the Philippines and the plan is to complete these regiments.

Lady Scott Found.

London, April 25.—Lady Scott, the wife of Sir Samuel E. Scott, member of parliament, and daughter of Earl Cardogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, who disappeared somewhat mysteriously while out shopping April 17, has been found, and is now with her relatives. The Daily Chronicle, which makes this announcement, says the matter is being amicably arranged.

Weavers Still Out.

Providence, April 25.—The striking weavers at River Point met last night and decided to continue the strike by voting to adjourn until Saturday afternoon. The meeting was not as large as usual, many of the strikers having left the village temporarily or permanently. At Saturday's meeting a secret ballot will be taken on the question of ending or continuing the strike.

Marie Burroughs' Troubles.

Toledo, April 25.—Marie Burroughs, who filed heavy damage suits against the cities of Fremont and Toledo for personal damages, was yesterday landed in jail on charges of perjury preferred by Superintendent Peckwith of the workhouse. The officers were compelled to break down two doors to secure the woman and to use force before she was placed in jail.

Man and Wife Drowned.

Winn, Me., April 25.—Wallace Speering and his wife, Rose, aged 26 and 23 years respectively, were drowned in the Penobscot river here.

"A good thick coat of paint" is an erroneous expression. It should read "a good thin coat of paint," for paint should not be plastered upon a building but spread on it with a brush and well brushed out. This wrist work of the painter makes him tired, but if he is conscientious and does his work carefully and thoroughly, he will use less paint with a much better result than the careless man who takes no interest in results.

Employ a good painter and pay him a fair price for his work. Have thin coats of Pure Linseed Oil Paint applied to a dry surface and have them well brushed out.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8 50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2 00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

SIX KILLED.

American Forces Now Before Calumpit.

Enemy Burning Large Buildings In the City.

Their Forces Well Drilled and Remarkably Firm.

Our Troops Pushed Through Jungles and Shelled Trenches.

Losses of the Insurgents Estimated to Be No Fewer Than Seventy.

Manila, April 26.—The division under General MacArthur fought to the trenches before Calumpit yesterday, advancing four miles through woods and jungle and crossing the Bagbag river.

Six Americans were killed and 28 wounded.

The South Dakota regiment pursued the insurgents to the outskirts of Calumpit, which was so strongly protected that General MacArthur deemed it best to withdraw the tired fighters and camp for a night's rest before assaulting the town.

The largest buildings in Calumpit were being fired by the Filipinos while the Americans were crossing the river, fully a mile away, indicating the enemy's intention to abandon the place.

The insurgents seem to have adopted a settled policy of retiring from one position after another after inflicting the greatest possible damage on the advancing army. Their forces yesterday were well drilled. Every foot of the ground was tenaciously disputed by thoroughly organized troops, who stood remarkably firm even before artillery.

General Wheaton's brigade approached the river along the railroad, leaving camp beyond Malolos city. General Hale's brigade, which started Monday, was earlier on the march, sweeping westward toward the railroad. The armored train was being pushed by Chinamen, the Twentieth Kansas regiment advancing in extended order on the left and the First Montana regiment, with the Utah light artillery, on the right.

The rapid-firing guns on the train "opened the ball" at 11:30 a. m., about a mile from the river, their popping alternating continuously with the boom of the six pounders.

The Montana regiment and the Utah artillery batteries at the same time entered the jungle, from which the insurgents, who were occupying a large, straggling village of huts, poured heavy volleys. In the course of an hour the Americans had forced a passage through the woods to the open space in front of the river, and the artillery, immediately on wheeling into the open, began shelling the Filipinos' trenches.

In the meantime company K, Twentieth Kansas, led by Captain Boltwood, performed one of the most brilliant achievements of the campaign. The regiment was being held in reserve, and company K charged a distance of a quarter of a mile over a cornfield to the bank of the river, near the bridge, where the insurgents from a trench were peppering the armored train, then about 200 yards down the track. The company found shelter in a ditch.

Colonel Frederick Funston called for volunteers to cross the river, and the colonel himself, Lieutenant Ball, a private of company K, a private of company E, Trumpeter Barsfield and Corporal Ferguson of company I crawled along the iron girders.

While this was going on the men of company K, from the ditch, were fusillading the trenches in the endeavor to divert attention, but the Filipinos got the range from a trench down the river and their bullets soon spattered the water under the structure.

Having reached the broken span the small, but valorous, party of Americans slid down the caisson, swam a few yards to the shore and crawled up the bank, the little colonel leading the way to the trenches, revolver in hand, while the few remaining Filipinos bolted.

General Hale's troops, on the right, had the hardest fighting. They followed the north bank of the river, nearest the town, from the east, with the First Nebraska regiment on the left and the First South Dakota and the Fifty-first Iowa beyond. The country to be traversed was mostly jungles, but the Filipinos stood their ground even in the open spaces.

About this time the cheers of the Kansas troops announced that the Americans had crossed the river. General Hale's men began to ford the Chico, a branch of the Bagbag, stretching to the northeast. The general himself plunged in up to his neck, and the regiments, all carrying flags, foundered across the stream.

The guns of the Utah light artillery were dragged over next and formed into an extended line to advance upon the trenches before Calumpit, from which the Filipinos were pouring continuous volleys.

The armored car had one man killed and two wounded. The Kansas regiment had three wounded during the charge and the Utah light artillery one killed and two wounded. Most of the other casualties befell the South Dakota regiment. It is difficult to estimate the insurgent losses, but they had no fewer than 70 killed, many of them by the artillery.

SOLVED NICHOLS' CURVES.

Phillies Played a Brilliant Game and Defeated the Beaneaters.

Philadelphia, April 26.—The unexpected occurred when the redoubtable Nichols, who had gone along for 20 innings without being scored on, was made to look like a plain everyday pitcher, instead of the finished artist that he is. Not only was he hit into double figures, but the stars behind him played as though they might have passed a bad night.

In the face of this delightful combination, from a local point of view, the Phillies played a superb game in the field; and, as it turned out, it was well that they did, for toward the close the champions began to take liberties with the delivery of "Red" Donohue. At the windup, the spectators were rent by conflicting emotions, and did not feel altogether right until Stafford, who had been called upon to bat in the place of Nichols, went out on strikes, leaving three corners of the diamond occupied. If Stafford had made a hit instead of fanning, there is no telling what might have come off, for there were evidences that Donohue was in danger of dissolution at any stage of the game.

Germany Will Not Wage War on Us, ··· In Senator Frye's Opinion.

Reed May Have a Political Anchor to Windward.

Peace Commission Thought Five Thousand Men Could Handle Filipinos.

New York, April 26.—The World says: Senator Frye and his family were received yesterday by a committee of the Merchants' association of New York and escorted to the Waldorf. Senator Frye was asked last night what he thought would be the result of the Coghlan incident. He said:

"It may be unpleasant to Captain Coghlan, but I have no idea that a war with Germany will be the outcome. There will be no war. If Germany should wage war on the United States she would lose her best customer and would have a revolution on her hands at home within six months.

"I believe that Speaker Reed intends to resign. In my opinion, Mr. Reed's retirement is actuated solely by a desire to improve his financial condition, and he thinks there is a better chance to do so in New York than in Maine. Still, I won't say that Mr. Reed has not also a political anchor to windward.

"The situation in the Philippines is not nearly so good as I should like to see. When we were in Paris no one connected with the commission believed that more than 5000 soldiers would be needed at any time.

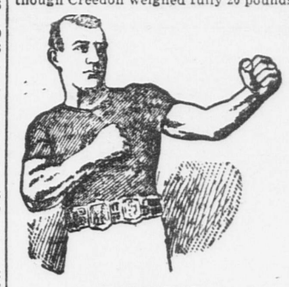

"I believe the Filipinos will soon learn that American governors are not like their Spanish predecessors. The idea that an army of 100,000 men will be needed to end the rebellion is a false one.

"I am hopeful that the troubles in the islands soon will come to an end.

"What will the senate do in relation to Quay? I can't speak for all the senators, but I know that I shall vote to seat Mr. Quay."

Dan Creedon's Finish.

New York, April 26.—Nearly 6000 sports assembled at the Lenox Athletic club last night in the hope of seeing a rattling bout between Joe Walcott, the negro boxer, and Dan Creedon, the Australian pugilist. They were matched to go 20 rounds at catch weights, but, although Creedon weighed fully 20 pounds more than his opponent, the negro made short work of him. With a left and two right smashes on the "mark," Walcott floored Creedon thrice. The third time the Australian went down he was "dead to the world," and Walcott was declared the winner amid the cheers of his backers, who won a pot of money. The bout lasted only 1 minute and 15 seconds.

DAN CREEDON.

Folding Beds.

It was an eagle eye and an active brain that first conceived the idea of a Folding Bed. The original Folding Beds were clumsy and hard to operate, but American genius can accomplish most anything, and the newest folding beds are works of wonder and ingenuity. You can have a perfect sitting room nicely furnished with your choice of an ornamental wardrobe with long mirror front, a chiffoniere, or luxurious couch. At night, by the slightest touch of your hand, these pieces are converted into comfortable dreamy beds. They are at least worthy of your inspection. Prices, $15.00 to $35.00.

Drift of Opinion.

☞Prominent devotees of the civil service fetich at the state house are now saying that it would never do to extend the system to counties, for the people would then demand the repeal of the entire law. This is an admission as ludicrous as it is damaging, since it means that the more the people see of the thing, the less they are to fall down and worship it.—Milford Journal.

☞Talk about the curiosity of women, a little incident in the Union Station at Boston recently gave evidence that the sterner sex shares in a generous degree in the possession of that virtue. The big policeman who saunters about there, stopped in his wanderings to address a man leaning against a post. In about two seconds he was surrounded with a crowding, pushing mass of men numbering fully 500, all anxious to know all about it. It must be said for the women present, and there was a goodly number, that however much they wanted to know what might be going on, only two yielded to the impulse and joined the crowd. And there was absolutely nothing to see, after all!—Marlboro Enterprise.

☞An up-country exchange tells us that Speaker Bates has "practically the solid support of the Methodist church" for the second place on the Republican state ticket. What has the Methodist church got to do with it? Mr. Bates's father and grandfather were both notable preachers in the Methodist denomination, and we presume that he is himself a member of that church, but we never heard that these were considerations to make any candidate politically solid with the church itself. If Mr. Bates really wants to be lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, he had better gag a few of his fool friends.

A. O. U. W. Entertainment.

One of the features at the open meeting tonight at Music hall of the A. O. U. W. will be the solos by Mr. Henry French, which will be illustrated by the stereopticon. Other features will be a duet by Mr. C. W. The indications are that it will be the largest meeting of any fraternal organization ever held in Quincy. No admission will be charged and no collection will be taken, everything being free. Tickets admitting gentlemen and ladies may be obtained from any member of the order.

WEYMOUTH.

At a special town meeting held at the Town Hall, Monday evening, it was voted to raise and appropriate $1,000 for the purchase of a new hook and ladder truck for the fire department of Ward 3. A committee of three, consisting of Engineer J. Rupert Walsh, Capt. J. Ross South, and Capt. John S. Bacon were appointed to purchase the same.

The fair in aid of the church of the Sacred Heart, opened Monday evening. There has been a large attendance. An interesting programme was furnished Monday by Nellie Donovan, soprano, and William Breman humorist.

The Bayside hotel at North Weymouth has been let and will be open to the public by the first of June.

SCHOOL MATTERS.

Monthly Meeting of the Committee.

Master's Assistants at Adams and John Hancock.

Vacancy at the High School Not Filled.

There was but little business before the School Committee at its meeting Tuesday evening, at which Messrs. Porter, Hunting, Hallowell, Peirce, Smith and Record were present.

The chairman called attention to the action of the Finance committee of the City Council in reducing the board's estimate for expenses and he did not see how the board could get along. There were 4,675 children and he did think the sum excessive. He was sorry that he could not have been present when the matter was before the Council Committee.

Dr. Hallowell, who appeared before the Finance Committee, said they made no criticism except on the item for fuel, which was for more than a year's supply. The amount of coal usually carried over from the previous year had been encroached upon last year, and the sum asked for was to carry the schools along all this year until June next year. Chairman of the Finance Commitee throught it would perhaps be better to let next year take care of next year's coal.

No further comment on the budget was made.

Dr. Hallowell reported that the attendance at the Coddington and John Hancock buildings was larger than ever before. There were five rooms that had too many for the room and it was not an economical condition as it was necessary to have assistants.

Dr. Peirce presented a request from Mr. Noble, who transports the Squantum children, that the old rate of $2 a day be established. To Committee on Transportation.

The chairman reported the resignation of Mr. F. A. Tupper of the High school and read the letters that passed between the board and Mr. Tupper in relation to the matter. As to his successor no one had yet been selected, as the sub-committee were not yet ready to report. Mr. Tupper was devoting part of his time to the school this week and the school had been placed in charge of Mr. Porter until a master had been elected.

Voted that janitor Gould of the Quincy school be paid the same rate for the room in Music hall building as paid the former janitor.

Dr. Hallowell spoke of the need of an assistant to master at Adams and John Hancock schools. The masters now have very little time to know of the presence or absence of pupils or of the personal work of the teachers as they are so closely confined to their rooms.

He then moved that an assistant be employed for the balance of the term who should give half a day at each school.

Dr. Record said he presumed there was plenty of money.

Dr. Hallowell did not know of any fixed sum it could be taken from as all the amount for salaries would be absolutely necessary. He however thought the sum would probably be arranged for.

Dr. Peirce inquired if an assistant could not be used and was informed that if one was used that it would not be right not to pay the assistant as it would require considerable work.

Dr. Hunting said as it was only a matter of $80 it was hardly worth discussing.

The motion was then voted.

An informal talk was then held as to the cause of the recent fire at the Wollaston school building. The opinion of the Commissioner of Public Works who had examined it was that an explosion of gases was the cause.

Fire Inspector Adams who also made an examination said the register was too near the floor timbers and that it was not put in right in the first place; that the heat had probably slowly carbonized the wood until finally it ignited.

The sub-committee on school accommodations were not ready to report.

The chairman announced that a special meeting in relation to the election of a master for the High school should be called at an early date.

Mr. Smith announced that Miss Marden would on Thursday have completed her twenty-five years of service as a teacher at the Washington school.

The finance report was as follows:

Financial statement, April 25, 1899.
Salaries,	$22,040.14
Fuel,	53.58
Janitors,	1,542.45
Transportation,	270.15

Alleyne street is in a very dangerous condition, and is hardly safe for a team to drive over. The condition is due to the sewer trench which was dug last fall. Street Sprinkling.

The electric street sprinkler which is here on trial is doing excellent work and giving satisfaction. It is probable that method will be adopted this year for the streets through which the street rails are laid. The car will hold enough water to sprinkle for about one mile, and the water mains are being tapped at the following points: Hancock near Savil, near Merrymount park, near Billings street and near the Neponset bridge; Farrington street at Wollaston; Washington street, near Mill street, and near Chubbuck street; Franklin street, near Independence avenue; Water street, near Quincy street, and near the West Quincy depot.

Commissioner Cavanagh informs the Ledger that the same appropriation will be required for the same mileage of streets as 1898, but he expects the streets will be watered better. One or possibly two horse carts will be required for the side streets.

Fifteen Hundred Relics.

Sarah Bradlee Fulton chapter D. A. R., is holding a loan exhibition in the "Royall house," Medford. This colonial mansion was built by John Usher, afterwards lieutenant governor of New Hampshire, and remodelled by Isaac Royall in 1737. At the end of the court yard is a low brick building where the slaves were quartered. General Stark occupied it during the Revolution as his headquarters. Almost fifteen hundred relics were on exhibition. A vase made from the ways from which the first vessel built in the plantation was launched attracted much attention. The records state under date of July 4, 1631 (old style), that "Gov. Winthrop built a bark at Mistick which was launched and called the Blessing of the Bay." These societies are doing a great work, and should be encouraged by all.

On Probation.

W. J. Driscoll, the West Quincy young man arrested for the embezzlement of shoes in Boston, has been placed on probation. The Boston Advertiser reports the case as follows:

Kalman Moses, Joseph Melnick, Abraham Labovich and Abraham Fine were on Monday convicted in superior criminal court upon the charge of receiving stolen goods. Morris Cohen, who was indicted with the others, was acquitted.

In each case, bail, which had been fixed at $1,500, was increased to $2,000, except in the case of Moses, whose bail was fixed at $3,000.

The evidence throughout was sensational. Inspectors Gaddis and Cleary learned that wholesale robbery of a shoe manufacturer's office on Summer street was in progress.

After looking the ground over, they found evidence that pointed to W. J. Driscoll as the thief. Driscoll, who is only 18, was employed by C. W. Royce, and seemed to have plenty of money, although his salary was only $6 per week. This, connected with his association with travelling salesmen, who were many years his senior, called attention to Driscoll, and finally led to his arrest.

After his arrest he was closely questioned, and finally owned up that he had been stealing shoes and selling them to the men named above.

The five men were arrested, and a large amount of the stolen property recovered.

At the trial Driscoll turned state's evidence and revealed the whole plot. He first sold Moses a pair of samples, and then under threats of exposure unless he complied, allowed Moses and the others to take about all the shoes they wanted, receiving in return sometimes 15 cents, and sometimes as much as 30 cents a pair.

Moses would go to the office after the place was closed at night and fill a bag with shoes; and Driscoll, fearing that such a wholesale depletion of the stock would lead to discovery, went into other offices, connected with the one in which he was employed and took shoes from these places and gave them to Moses.

Over 300 pairs of shoes were stolen in this way and turned over to Moses. To the other men Driscoll went with shoes which he sold at almost any price he could get. In these sales he claimed that he was acting agent for his father, who he said was a manufacturer in some place outside of Boston.

Driscoll has been placed on probation.

A Wide Open Race.

Although early in the season, the "wide open race" to be held by the South Boston Yacht Club on Memorial day, will probably be an old-time success. In a circular the club says: "We desire to call your attention to the 28th open regatta of the South Boston Yacht Club Decoration day, inaugurating the racing season of 1899, in conjunction with the opening of our new clubhouse. As racing is the life of clubs, we believe in the open door policy in this branch of sport, and that there should be a distinction between rules for match racing and interclub racing, and that yachtsmen should be encouraged in racing, not legislated out of it. If new boats should not be legislated against, surely old ones should not. If 20 boats in a class is picture making, it is a sorry spectacle to see but three in a class in an open race. Therefore, in order to encourage the starting of a large fleet of yachts in this season's racing, the S. B. Y. C. will start off in arranging special classes, outside association rules, with liberal prizes—a wide open race."

Nantasket Reservation.

The bill reported in the Legislature Monday for a park reservation at Nantasket, provides that the metropolitan park commissioners may take, at an expense not to exceed $600,000, a portion of Nantasket beach not exceeding 5600 feet in length, and adjacent land and water, including Straits pond, as a "public reservation for exercise and recreation. No licenses shall be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquor in any buildings within 400 feet of the reservation. The amounts assessed on the city of Boston is 40 percent instead of 50 percent, as under the general park act.

Implicates His Mother.

Pana, Ills., April 26.—Young Henry Brunet, who is confined in jail at Taylorville for the murder of his aunt, Jane Brunot, on April 10, made his second confession yesterday, implicating his mother, Anna Brunot. Mrs. Brunot was arrested, together with her son and her affianced husband, Frederick Sibley, last Friday, but was released. Brunot also admitted having bought arsenic for his mother a few days before his father died some three years ago. He said his mother told him she used the poison to kill rats. Two days after giving her the drug his father collapsed at the dinner table and his death followed in a few moments. His mother, he said, received $2000 insurance on his father's life two weeks later. Mrs. Brunot last night said that her son was a fool, who could not keep his tongue. A warrant for her arrest has been issued.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

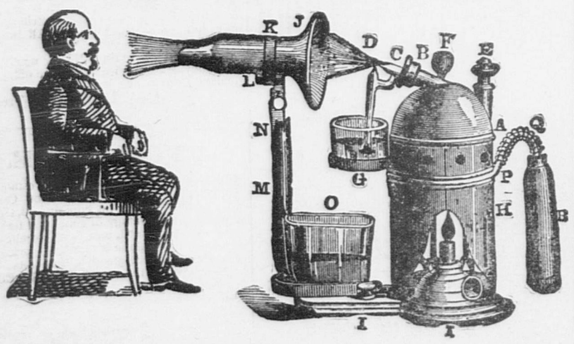

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

MAY BE REPRIMANDED.

Probable Actton of Navy Department In Coghlan's Case.

Officials Will Proceed Slowly In the Matter.

Germany Will Be Shown That He Is Not Supported by Superiors.

Washington, April 26.—It is the impression in some circles that the case of Captain Coghlan is losing importance as the days pass and his action is viewed in a more considerate light. A high official whose advice would have much to do with shaping the fate of Captain Coghlan said that in his opinion the needs of the case would be completely met by a sharp letter of reprimand addressed to him by the navy department if the captain admitted he was correctly reported.

The German ambassador has not communicated with the state department on this subject since Monday, and it is believed that the German government is now content to await the action of the navy department without further pressing the matter.

The view was expressed at the German embassy that the Coghlan affair was practically ended, and that with the administering of a reprimand by the navy department the incident would be closed.

The cabinet had an unusually long session yesterday, and after most of the other members had gone away Secretary Long remained closeted with the president. On leaving the White House he was asked for the latest developments in the Coghlan case. He said that an answer to his note of inquiry had been received from Captain Coghlan, but its contents he would not be able to divulge for the present.

Action would be taken on it, undoubtedly, within two or three days, but meanwhile the case presented phases which required consideration jointly by the president, the secretary of state and himself, and he did not consider that it would be proper to discuss the subject till a definite course had been determined upon.

At the navy department the impression was widespread that Coghlan would plead that he spoke at the Union League club thoughtlessly, and after the dinner had reached a point when the diners' tongues had been pretty well loosened; and that the second outbreak was caused largely by indignation at the report that the department had peremptorily silenced him, his repitition of the first offense coming in merely incidentally.

There are two considerations which make it seem expedient to proceed slowly in the matter. The first is, that if the captain declines to be chastised as to his utterances and holds his peace as Rear Admiral Meade did when called to account, it appears as if the department would be powerless to proceed further, and the discipline which ought to be administered to him as a proper sign of respect to a friendly nation will fail. The second consideration is that if a courtmartial were ordered the captain might plead justification for his offense and insist upon bringing the whole Manila story into the public prints, this being sure to lead to further international embarrassments.

RED CROSS COFFEE ROOMS

Suggested as a Means of Alleviating Prevailing Distress In Porto Rico.

Washington, April 26.—General Roy Stone and the members of the executive committee of the National Red Cross called upon the president yesterday to lay before him a plan for the relief of some of the destitution in Porto Rico. Over 100,000 of the natives, according to Dr. Henna, have been without bread and meat for six weeks, and are on the verge of starvation. General Grant has reported 39 deaths from starvation in a single province.

The aid the military authorities in Porto Rico were able to give the natives in the way of distribution of rations and employment on the roads has been greatly reduced since the free distribution of rations was suspended, and some of the Porto Rican planters and merchants have devised a scheme which they believe will afford much relief to the destitute and at the same time serve them by introducing Porto Rican goods in American markets. The price of coffee in Porto Rico is very low on account of the large crop in Brazil, and they offer to contribute a large amount to be sold in this country through the agency of the Red Cross, the proceeds to go toward the relief of the distressed upon the island. The Porto Rican Steamship company has offered to carry these contributions free. They also offer to contribute crystal sugar, fruit, preserves, cigars, cigarets, etc., and suggest the sale of these products at coffee rooms to be established in the principal cities by the Red Cross. They desire that these charitable contributions shall be admitted to this country free of duty. The contributors of these articles hope to profit later by the introduction of these products in the American markets.

WEATHER-CROP BULLETIN.

An Improvement During the Week, but the Season Behind the Average.

Boston, April 26.—The following climate and crop bulletin of the weather bureau, New England section, for the week ending April 24, is issued by the United States department of agriculture:

Pleasant weather has predominated throughout New England during the past week, the average number of clear days being 5, partly cloudy 1, cloudy and stormy 1. This element of the weather has averaged about 2 degrees above the normal, despite a cold easterly spell. The minimum temperatures have ranged as low as 23 degrees in northern sections, and have been below the freezing point in the south on several mornings. The weekly mean temperature for the district at large is 46 degrees. An unusually light precipitation for the season has characterized the week. Showers occurred in eastern New England on the 20th, and light rains in southern portions of the district on the 21st.

The past week has witnessed a decided improvement, although the season is yet considerably behind the average.

In the three northern states snow has disappeared rapidly under the influence of warm, sunny days, and, except in the extreme northern counties of these states, fields are for the most part bare. A large body of snow remains in the woods, and correspondents in Aroostook county, Me., report fields still covered with snow to a depth of two to three feet. Practically nothing has been done in the line of farm work in the northern states. Here and there, in exceptionally favored localities, a limited amount of plowing has been accomplished, and a very few early peas planted. General operations will not begin, however, for a week or more hence.

Maple sugar, a source of considerable revenue, suffers a great reduction this season. Numerous correspondents report it a complete failure, and the general opinion seems to be that the yield is but half a pound to a pound per tree.

In southern New England, where the season is naturally more advanced, full advantage is being taken of the prevailing favorable conditions of weather, although in northern and western Massachusetts not a furrow has been turned. In the far south, far work is in general progressing well, and at the present rate the season's tardiness will soon be made up. Snow is yet visible in a few places, rivers and streams are running full and meadows are overflowed.

Planting consists mostly of onions, peas and potatoes. In Newport county, R. I., there is the largest acreage of potatoes going into the ground ever known, and the first asparagus of the season has been cut.

Not Creditable to Boston.

Boston, April 26.—An investigation of one of the institutions of the city was begun yesterday by a committee from the city council and brought to light a number of interesting incidents. The place under official scrutiny was the boys' reform school on Rainsford island, in the harbor, of which John C. Anthony is superintendent. The hearing brought out the fact that the wages paid to male and female employes on the island ranged from $5 to $40 per month; that a majority of the employes came from outside the state, and that at least two obtained positions through an employment bureau. Many of the boys who are confined at the island testified that they had been cruelly and unnecessarily punished; that proper medical and surgical treatment had not been given to them when it was required, and that at least two of the officers were morally unfit for the positions held by them.

Molders Are Out.

Worcester, Mass., April 26.—The threatened labor troubles in connection with the demands made by the local Molders' union, for a change in the time card to take effect May 1, culminated Tuesday in a strike at the Worcester bolier works, conducted by Allen & Sons, and what is termed by the molders a lockout at Rice, Barton & Fale's works. In opposition to this the shops run by the Kabley Foundry company acquiesced to the demands of the molders. The trouble at the Allens' was caused by the molders refusing to finish cores made by non-union men, who had quit the shops. At Rice, Barton & Fale's, three molders refused to allow laborers to use their tools. They were discharged, and they claim the firm has declared a lockout on union men.

Voted to Remain Out.

Providence, April 26.—The Natick weavers met last night and voted to continue the strike. The vote was not unanimous, but the weavers in favor of returning and had the courage to say so were in a hopeless minority. It was asserted by several speakers that the weavers now at work were principally Italians, who had not been counted upon to stay out. The Pontiac weavers also met and again voted to remain out until their demands were granted or the Natick and Riverpoint weavers give up the fight.

Is It Genuine?

Boston, April 26.—A special to The Globe from Rockland, Me., says that Captain George Dyer of Islesboro brought news that a clew picked up on the shore at Islesboro bore the following message, written in lead pencil: "Steamer Pentagoet sunk off Cape Ann; crew all lost but myself, Captain Ingraham." On the other side of the cover are the words, "For proof," and here the writing becomes illegible.

Placed In an Asylum.

Worcester, Mass., April 26.—Andrew H. Wilcox of Des Moines, Ia., was committed to the Worcester insane hospital yesterday by Overseer of the Poor Kennedy of Lancaster. Wilcox was an attendant at the world's convention of the Seventh day Adventists here, and has remained here since. He has been forcing his peculiar doctrine on the pupils and faculty of the academy at Lancaster.

Women on Strike.

Exeter, N. H., April 26.—A small strike began in Gale's shoe factory yesterday, but the grievance is so slight that its adjustment is likely to be made soon. Fifteen women, known as the "closers on," not satisfied with the slight advance in wages given a week ago, left their work and appointed a committee to confer with the management.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 26.—Telephone supervision was again voted down for this year in the house yesterday. The roll call by which engrossment of the bill was refused was 82 to 105.

Ought not to pass was reported on a bill providing that industrial or prudential insurance companies doing business in this state shall be allowed to contest the validity or reduce the amount of any policy after the expiration of a year from the time it is issued. Reference to the next general court was reported on the bill to prevent boating or fishing on the ponds of the metropolitan water system.

The bill to increase the salary of the judge of the police court of Brockton was passed to a third reading.

The Metropolitan affairs committee reported against the bill for the repeal of the Boston board of apportionment act, while the state house committee received its appraisal of the property on Beacon hill that is wanted for a new park west of the state house toward Joy street.

An order was introduced in the senate asking for an investigation by the labor committee of the charges of coercion at Haverhill. In this connection Senator George asked that the anti-coercion bill, as amended by the senate, and with which the house refused to concur, be laid upon the table pending the investigation. He said that he had no doubt that an investigation would be full and thorough.

At a meeting of the joint committee on cities to consider various bills restricting the height of buildings in this city, it was voted to report a bill limiting the height of all buildings in the state to 100 feet.

Vol. II. No. 98. QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1899. PRICE 2 CENTS.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

3 O'CLOCK.

THE FALL OF CALUMPIT.

"Capital" of the Filipinos In the Hands of Americans.

Was Main Stronghold of Aguinaldo and His Men.

Intense Firing Upon Trenches and Defenses of the City.

Rebels Who Survived Fled to the Hills, Closely Pursued by the Victors.

Manila, April 27.—General MacArthur's troops captured the town of Calumpit yesterday. General Hale's brigade bore in on the right flank. The Americans are now in possession. General Otis cannot hear from General Lawton, as a small band of insurgents are cutting telegraph wires as fast as the signal corps repairs them.

Eight Americans were killed in the assault upon the city. The loss to the rebels was terrific. What remained of their army was finally driven back into the town and beyond it to the hills. General MacArthur had 6000 troops engaged in the attack. The valor was unparalleled.

Calumpit was on fire when the concerted advance of Major General MacArthur's division, comprising the brigades of Generals Hale and Wheaton, and the division of Major General Lawton was ordered.

The insurgents met the advance with severe firing. The greater part of Aguinaldo's army was in the town and the trenches before it, having made a stand there after the fall of Malolos.

The strategic attack upon the city was made by Hale's brigade, which moved down the right bank of the Quingau river; by Wheaton's brigade, on the left bank and by Lawton's division, which advanced from Narzagary, being joined there by Lawton's center column from Bocave.

The southern defenses of the insurgent capital were first attacked and taken. They were a mile south of the city and on the north bank of the Bagbag river.

The order to advance upon Calumpit was received enthusiastically by the American troops. There had long been a thirst among the troops to avenge the death of their fellows during the fighting march from Malolos, and they were eager for the capture of the main stronghold of Aguinaldo and his men.

Scouting parties sent out a short time before the attack returned to report that Calumpit had been set afire by the rebels.

In the attack the American troops were deployed in a long line before the city. This line was gradually closed in, maintaining an intense firing upon the trenches and immediate defenses of the capital.

It was short-range fighting, and the Americans were more than equal to it, while the insurgents were pressed back whenever they attempted a stand.

The guns of the Utah artillery did masterful work. They tore great gaps in the trenches and drove the rebels out with appalling slaughter. Then the infantrymen charged the trenches. The rebels stood their ground as long as they could, and then fled.

The Americans then had little difficulty in entering the city. The fire set by the rebels was spreading rapidly, and it seemed a forlorn hope to attempt to extinguish it.

On all sides was to be seen the havoc wrought by the intensity of the American firing The dead rebels lay two and neven three deep in some places. The trenches were choked with dead bodies.

What remained of the rebel army fled to the hills, closely pursued by the American soldiers, although the latter were in a worn-out condition from the continuous fighting of the last few days.

Seeking Japs' Aid.

London, April 27.—According to a special dispatch from Shanghai it is reported there that Aguinaldo's agents in Japan have issued a strong appeal for Japanese aid and sympathy and are urging Japan to a friendly intervention with the United States.

Dishonest Hebrews Sentenced.

Boston, April 27.—The four Hebrew shoe dealers who had been convicted in the superior court for receiving stolen footwear, were sentenced yesterday, Kalman Moses being adjudged a common and notorious receiver of stolen goods. He was given a three-years' sentence. The others received a six-months' sentence.

Wouldn't Compromise.

Exeter, N. H., April 27.—The strike of the stitchers in the Gale Bros.' shoe factory has caused the laying off of 200 hands. The strikers had been receiving 20 cents a case as "closers on,' and a week ago the price was advanced to 25 cents. The girls demanded 30 cents, but the firm offered to make it 27½. The girls refused to work, and struck.

QUAKERS NOT IN IT.

Practically Lost the Game to the Bostons In the First Inning.

Philadelphia, April 27.—The Philadelphias were never in the game. Wheeler started in to pitch and lasted just one inning, but in that one inning he made volumes of baseball history. For the Bostons he was anything that suggests a good thing. The regard which the champions manifested for him was positively touching. They couldn't get enough of his delivery, and before he was sent into retirement they put together five runs, the result of two bases on balls, a sacrifice, three singles and a double.

Manager Shettline concluded to make a switch, and, despite the pitcher's appeal for a chance to vindicate himself, Fifield was sent in. The latter, all things considered, did very well. The game was lost beyond redemption, and the Philadelphias had no chance to recover from the work of the opening inning, but, just the same, Fifield went grimly to work, and held the Bostons down to eight hits, scattered through six innings.

Inspectors Suspended.

New York, April 27.—As the result of an investigation instituted by Collector Bidwell and Surveyor Croft, charges were yesterday preferred against 22 customs inspectors, who have been, it is alleged, discovered in flagrant violations of the United States statutes and treasury department regulations governing the examination of baggage. The inspectors have been suspended from duty and have been served with a copy of the charges.

Half a Million Seized.

Lancaster, Pa., April 27.—So far 500,000 of W. M. Jacobs cigars bearing bogus stamps have been seized in Lancaster. H. H. Foy & Co. yesterday notified the revenue officers that they had 23,900. At the Pennsylvania railroad station 40,000 were seized. Deputy Collector Herr yesterday seized 310,000 at Hersh Bros.' store, Gordonville, and 7450 have been confiscated at Chambersburg.

"Our Mary" In America.

New York, April 27.—On board the steamer Majestic, which arrived here yesterday from Liverpool, were Mr. and Mrs. Antonio de Navarro. Mrs. Navarro was formerly Mary Anderson, the actress. This is Mrs. de Navarro's first visit to America since her marriage in Paris in June, 1890, at which time she retired from the stage and went to live in England.

Pugilists Jailed.

Pittsburg, April 27.—The coroner has begun the inquest into the death of "Kid" Lavelle, the colored pugilist, who was knocked out by John Cavanagh in a fight Friday night last, and died from the effects of a blod clot on the brain. After hearing several witnesses, the coroner adjourned the case until Friday, and remanded Cavanagh and his backers to jail on the charge of murder.

Bluejackets Assisted.

Vicksburg, Miss., April 27.—The Confederate Decoration day ceremonies were probably the most notable ever held here. Seventy-five marines and sailors from the United States gunboat Nashville took a leading part in the ceremonies. The bluejackets were heartily cheered by the Confederate veterans. Several officers of the gunboat also took part in the exercises.

Will Sustain Administration.

Washington, April 27.—The Wade court of inquiry continued the preparation of its report yesterday, and when adjournment was had, comparatively little work on it remained to be done. About 200 witnesses were examined during the investigation. The testimony alone covers 5000 pages of typewritten matter. The report, therefore, will be of considerable length. There has been no recent change in the conclusion of the members of the court. The report will unanimously sustain the administration.

Dreyfus Riots.

Paris, April 27.—The advocates and opponents of Dreyfus revision held rival meetings in Paris last evening and fights occurred afterwards in the streets. Several persons were injured.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ With the opening of spring comes cycling, and incidental to the wheel, as a sort of evil which the unfortunate public must endure, comes the crazy bicycle hosiery. This is the guide by which the taste of the wheelman can be rightfully foretold. If the hosiery be neat and modest the wearer will invariably have those ever desirable characteristics, while the loud plaids in vivid blue and green indicate, almost without exception, a man of little taste and generally loud in everything. Size up the wheelmen you know and see if this is not true.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ The mempers of the great Peace Congress can truthfully say that their respective countries are each for peace—only with a little difference of spelling. Russia wants a piece in China, and so does France, Germany, Italy, Japan and England. Austria alone has hitherto been rather modest about China. Then there is a piece of Africa that each would like. There is thus plenty of peace and pieces.—Framingham News.

☞ The appetite for lynching grows by what it feeds on. The more men lynched, the more they want to lynch, just as the more sheep dogs worry the more they want to worry, and the more human beings tigers devour the more they want to devour. Portions of the south seem to be getting into precisely the condition that a periodical lynching is necessary to their enjoyment of life. It does not require any serious offense to stir up a mob when this thirst for blood is aroused. The crimes that have been committed by this class within the past few years rival in atrocity those committed by any but the most barbarous of savages.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ There is a moral for some people in case of the late Senator Tabor. His misfortunes began when he put away his old wife, who had been the companion of his poverty and his struggle for wealth, and took a new one whom he thought was more suitable in manners and appearance for a millionaire. He never had any luck after that. From the time that the marriage bells ceased he began to go down, and kept going down until the man who had wasted millions actually became a charge upon the charity of his old friends.—Lowell News.

☞ "The best washerwomen of today are men. The best paid milliners are men; so it is with our dressmakers. Since man has usurped woman's place, for these were all her trades, it is not surprising that woman should invade man's professions. Why, the bosses of the laundry are men today. The only way a woman can secure a living without working is to become a "tramp," and who knows but the product of the coming century will be the woman tramp?" says President Lowe, of the National Federation of Women's Clubs. Nobody can vouchsafe that such will not be one of the queer products of the next century, as matters are trending, but it is to be hoped that a better state of society will prevail than admits of such an evidence of decline.—Lynn Item.

SUCCESS OF A.O.U.W.

The Aims and Objects Told at a Mass Meeting.

If anyone ever got the full value for the time expended the five hundred or more at Music hall Wednesday evening certainly did. It was an open meeting of Merrymount lodge, A. O. U. W., and with the vocal and instrumental music, and the speaking, there was not an unenjoyable minute during the whole evening.

The object of the meeting was to give those not acquainted with the order an understanding of its claims and objects and of the good work in the fraternal line it had done in the past and its prospects for the future.

From 7.30 to 8 o'clock, the Wollaston orchestra gave a delightful concert.

At the latter hour, George C. Ela the master workman of Merrymount lodge, briefly welcomed those present and introduced Grand Master Workman Nathan Crary as presiding officer. He spoke briefly of the order, which now numbers 353,000 members, and which had in its thirty years of existence paid out in death claims $85,000,000.

The next speaker was Dr. A. H. Gilson, the recorder of Merrmount lodge, who said the lodge was instituted June 29, 1891, with 22 charter members, and the total number added since then was 147. Of this number four had died, some had taken cards and joined other lodges, and some had withdrawn. Last year 42 were initiated and the membership now was 126. Of the four that had died, one had paid in $2, the second $37, the third $83 and the fourth $9. The death claims of these were all paid inside of three days after notice of death had been filed, and in the last case but one day elapsed. The order had never had a protested claim, and employed no paid attorney, and not one cent was ever deducted from the policy for costs.

Past Supreme Master Workman J. G. Tate of Lincoln, Neb., followed, and for an hour he held the attention of the audience, in his inimitable and interesting manner he told of the order and its work. The order, he said, had its ups and downs, and had made its mistakes, but with all it has been faithful to its purpose for protectection, and its integrity and honor was untarnished.

The last speaker was Grand Supervisor G. E. Wragg. He occupied but a few minutes, and devoted himself to comparisons of the cost of the A. O. U. W. with the old line life insurance companies, his figures being illustrated in a forcible and striking manner by the stereopticon.

The entertainment aside from the speaking consited of readings by Mr. Charles E. Snow, duets by Mr. Charles W. Page and Miss Page, solos illustrated with the stereopticon by Mr. Henry French, gramophone selections by Mr. Delano, banjo and piano trio by Messrs. Chase, White and Dowd. All these numbers were finely rendered and received a well deserved applause.

No attempt was made to secure members to the order, other than extending a general invitation and the presenting to each eligible gentleman as he passed out an appplication blank. They were also presented with a ticket to the smoke talk for men only to be held at the lodge room Tuesday evening, May 9.

The city men are now at work on extensive repairs on Squantum causeway that has been almost unsafe for travel since the winter storms.

There is one thing in connection with the erection of the John Hancock tablet that pleases Dr. Everett, and that is it was made and erected inside the appropriation.

There was a very large gathering at the Granite City club on Wednesday evening, and the whist prizes were taken by Mrs. John Curtis and Mrs. Dexter E. Wadsworth.

The annual sale and supper of the Fragment society of First church will be held in the chapel next Wednesday afternoon and evening, as will be seen by the announcement in another column.

It is a year or two since the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company has entertained the ladies, so the banquet at the Vendome, Wednesday evening, was a very happy occasion. The Quincy members and ladies were present.

The Ledger has received this week another interesting letter from Harry R. Osgood of Wollaston, who is in the 18th U. S. Infantry. He is at Jaro, Philippine Islands, and is doing some lively fighting. It will appear Friday or Saturday.

Run Down.

Mrs. T. H. Kingston had a narrow escape from a serious accident Wednesday afternoon. She was riding a bicycle on Hancock near Beale street, about 5 o'clock, when a six horse team came along. The driver did not attempt to give her room to pass. Seeing that there was no escape from an accident Mrs. Kingston jumped from her wheel and by rolling over and over escaped with a few bruises. The team passed over the wheel smashing it. The driver did not stop to see what damage was done but drove on. His identity was afterward learned and the affair settled up.

Banquet of Elliot Club.

The Elliot Club of Wollaston held its annual dinner Wednesday evening at Young's Hotel, Boston. There were 47 members present. William P. Bailey presided. The guest was the Rev. M. C. Ayres of the Boston Advertiser. The toasts were responded to by the Rev. M. C. Ayres, on "Books and reading;" W. P. Bailey, the "Elliot Club;" George Collyer, "The ladies;" Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln, "The ancient history of Wollaston;" Mrs. D. L. Jewell, "Remiscences;" W. G. Corthell, "The travellers of the club," and W. E. Simmons, "Our appreciation of humor."

☞ A big bicycle trust, capitalized at $50,000,000, is stated as a near probability. Spalding of Chicago is the chief figure in the deal, and nearly 100 large manufactures are interested. The trust will make three grades of wheels, and whoever wants to ride a bicycle must first get permission of the trust. As yet there is no trust that seeks to govern walking, and the men and women who depend upon their own feet for locomotion need have no fear.—Lynn Item.

FOR THE Q.Y.C. CUP.

Five Distinct Types of Boats Entered for the Races.

The races for the Quincy Yacht club's challenge cup will bring together five distinct types of boats.

The radical departure in the bunch form the conventional 21-footer will be Mr. Eustis' challenger.

She will probably have an aluminum mast; two rudders,—one on each side of her stern; a pin with a bulb on the end, and through this pin keel there will be a slot through which a center board will be dropped. This board and pin will be so fixed that they can be swung from side to side, according to the angle the boat is keeling.

The boat which Mr. Walter Abbott will sail to represent the Hull club will be decidedly on the scow model. She has a flat floor, moderate bilge and topsides which flare out and then tumble home until they blend in the crown of the deck without an angle at the gunwale making a "turtle back" deck. She will be 37 feet over all, 8 foot beam and 9 inches draft. She will carry 850 square feet of sail. Purdon, designer of the Recruit laid down her lines.

The Lynn club will be represented by Charles D. Mower's Heiress. In model she is an improved and enlarged Duchess, with a tendency towards the scow type. She is very lightly built, her planking being three-eighths inch covered with canvas. This canvas is coated with a patented preparation and after repeated applications and rubbings down finally attains a glassy polish. She is 38 feet overall, 10 foot beam and 9 inches draft and will carry about 1,000 square feet of sail. Mr. Mower designed and built her himself and if he is not called away to the Seawanhaka races, will also sail her.

The boat which the Annisquam Yacht club will send down from Cape Ann will be owned by a syndicate of Cambridge gentlemen. She will be designed by Crowninshield and built by Louis Jansen of Gloucester. She will be considerbaly shorter overall than either of the other boats, her length being but 34 feet. She will be buried under a cloud of canvas, carrying something like 1,000 square feet of canvas.

It is expected that the Faxon-Keith boat, which will defend the cup, will be a flyer. The Recruits weak point was in working to the windward. Off the wind she would go like a steamboat, easily covering a measured knot at the rate of 14 nautical miles an hour. But when her sheets were trimmed she could not eat her way to the windward as easily as the Duchess. It is to be hoped that the new boat will overcome this difficulty and also be able to do good work with her sheets started. She will carry an immense spread of canvas, equal to any of the challengers.

To Be Patriotic.

Bates avenue, the aristocratic suburb of West Quincy, will hereafter be in the swim, for patriotic David J. Barry, the day officer, is to show his colors. Tuesday Dave purchased a 37-foot pole from the steamer Frances, formerly of the Norwich line, which is being dismantled at Nut Island. This pole is to be planted in Dave's front yard and from its peak there will hereafter fly upon all national and state holidays a handsome flag. It has not been decided as yet whether there will be a band concert and a few sky rockets when the flag is raised for the first time, but one thing is certain the event will not pass unnoticed.

Rebekahs at Whist.

Another largely attended and successful whist party was held by members of George L. Gill Rebekah lodge in Odd Fellows hall Wednesday evening. There were over forty tables, many devotees of whist coming from beyond the limits of the city, including Weymouth, Braintree, Milton and Boston.

After two hours' play, the ladies dealing the first hour and the gentlemen the last hour, came the award of first, second and third prizes and a consolation prize to both gentlemen and ladies. The scores did not run very high, but "Tommy" Crane showed that all his time while in camp with Co. K had not been spent in kitchen work. He scored 53 and took the first prize to the delight of his father; it was a punch bowl. Mr. George F. Spooner took the bust of Lincoln with a score of 45, and Mr. Louis Gomez with 47 took the visiting cards. The surprise of the evening was the big score of Deputy Sheriff Field who succeeded in rolling up 8 points; he was not to be found when awarded the consolation prize.

The ladies' prizes were taken by Mrs. Emma Marnock, a china tea set, on a score of 49; Miss Addie Holton a cocoa pot, with a score of 44, Mrs. I M. Holt the visiting cards on a score of 39; and the consolation by Mrs. Sadie Johnson who scored 13

Q. H. S. Prize Speaking.

Tomorrow evening another prize speaking contest among pupils of the High school will be held in the School hall at 7.45 o'clock. It will be the seventh annual, and fourteen will compete, nine young ladies and five young gentlemen. Three well-known Quincy gentlemen will act as judges.

The prizes will be five in number, and include books to the value of $50 given by Henry H. Faxon, Esq., as follows: First prize, $15; second prize, $12; third prize, $10; fourth prize, $8; fifth prize, $5.

Prizes will also be awarded for essays and translations, and consist of $3 each in books given by Ex-Council'man L. S. Anderson, as follows:

1.—English composition, classes of '99, 1900, 1901, 1902.

2.—Translations from the Greek, classes of '99, and 1900.

3.—Translations from the Latin, classes of '99, 1900, and 1901.

4.—Translations from the French, classes of '99 one, '99 two and 1900 one

5.—Translations from the German, classes of '99 and 1900.

Big Scores.

Adams was defeated in a close game with Chauncy Hall school of Boston, Wednesday. The score was Chauncy Hall, 20; Adams, 19. In the ninth inning it looked as if Adams would win, but with the score 19-20, two outs and three men on bases, Bennett struck out, and Adams lost the chance of at least tying the score.

Burchsted, Turner, Mahon and Donaher did the best playing for Adams, while the whole team showed marked improvements in this game, which is the fifth of the season. Both the infield and the outfield are remarkably strong and all do well at the bat and at running bases.

The score by innings:

	1	2	2	4	5	6	7	8	9
Adams,	3	4	5	0	0	0	4	1	2—19
Chauncy Hall	4	2	0	1	3	3	3	4	0—20

Earned Runs—Adams, 7; Chauncy Hall, 8. Two-base Hits—Morrill, Bridgewater. Three-base Hits—Armstrong. Passed Balls—Burchsted, 1; Barnes, 3. Wild Pitches—Donaher, 4; Time—2 hours, 15 minutes. Umpire—J. O. Hall, Jr.

☞ Referring to the mud slinging and abuse that has been heaped upon the war department and the different military and naval heroes of the recent war with Spain, Rev. Names around which we now put garlands were then bespattered with mud."—Beverly Times.

☞ According to the best of my study and belief, all taxes tend in the long run to diffusion, ultimately falling like the dew on rich and poor alike in proportion to their consumption—not in proportion to their ability to advance the money. Hence it follows that the only way to save the poor from a heavy burden of taxation is to keep the taxes down, not to waste money.—Edward Atkinson.

There is no "patent" about the CHILTON PAINT nor are there any secret processes. Any one having the requisite amount of capital and proper machinery can make just as good paint, provided the right disposition is there. This "disposition" is what is lacking. It has been the disposition of the Chilton Company to always make as good an article of paint as it was possible to turn out, regardless of expense, and it is due to this same "disposition" that it is a fact that more CHILTON PAINT is used in the section of country where it is known than of any other paint.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

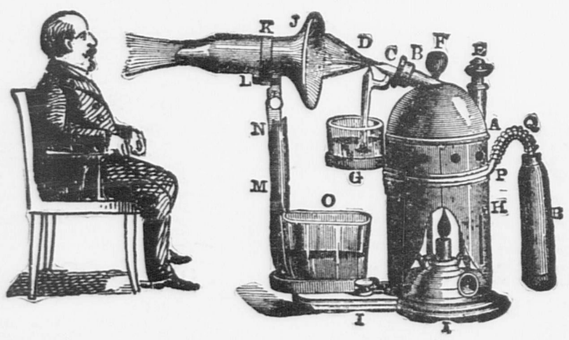

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

BOSTON ENGAGEMENT begins at 301 Shawmut Avenue, cor. Waltham Street, on MONDAY, April 24th. Come early and avoid the crowd. Consultation Free. apr7 1y

"BOSS OF THE RANCH."

Kautz Took the Job From Germans Upon His Arrival at Samoa.

Letter Which Worried Officials at Washington.

The Coghlan Matter Settled to the Satisfaction of the German Ambassador.

Washington, April 27.—The publication of Admiral Kautz' letter referring to his position at Samoa caused absolute consternation at the navy and state departments at first reading, but there was soon exhibited a disposition to minimize the affair, for it was clearly apparent that the letter was nothing more than a strictly private communication passing between members of the same family.

Coming as it does close upon Captain Coghlan's indiscretion, and following the publication of Judge Chambers' letter to his brother, criticizing the Germans in Samoa, the opinion was held that Admiral Kautz's letter could not have other than a harmful effect upon the relations between the United States and Germany.

The letter was brought to the attention of the president, and some sort of a reminder may be sent to the officer to be more careful in his correspondence. No orders have been issued to the Philadelphia to leave Samoa, as the admiral says, so it is probable that he made the statement on that point in the belief that he could adjust the difficulties between the factions in Samoa within that time.

In German quarters the letter was not treated very seriously, and there was no indication that the German authorities would take cogniance of it. The spirit of fun in the letter appealed to some of the diplomatic officials, who laughed heartily over Kautz's description of the young king's make-up, and this amusing feature largely offset any irritation which might have been felt over the criticisms contained in the letter. The impression prevailed, however, that the navy department probably would deal with the indescretion in such a way as it deserved.

The letter was written by Admiral Kautz to his cousin, Mrs. Charles N. Lindley of Cincinnati. It was dated March 23, and in the easy vein of a relative's private correspondence. He said:

"You will probably read a lot of stuff about me in various newspapers, but I can assure you that I am all right and have done nothing that I am ashamed of, unless it is the making of a king, which I was obliged to do today, but he is a very inoffensive sort of young fellow about 19 years of age. He wears a French cocked hat, but no shoes, nor stockings, nor trousers; still, considering the torrid weather, he looks very well in this climate. But I hardly think he would look as well on Fourth street, Cincinnati.

"I am not a king here, but just plain 'boss of the ranch.' The German consul had that position up to my arrival, but since then he has been a very silent partner. I am very much afraid he does not like me—in fact, I am not at all popular here with the Germans. But I am all right with the English, and hope to pull through with time. I have no doubt of being sustained by the government in all I have done. I hope to get away from here in a month from this time, but will not be in San Francisco before the middle of May.

"P. S. I was in error about the shoes and trousers of his royal highness. At the last moment his advisers prevailed on him to put on both, just for this accasion only."

The case of Captain Coghlan may be considered as finally closed. Ambassador Von Holleben called at the White House yesterday and had a conference on the subject with the president, of such a satisfactory nature that the matter is regarded as settled.

The president explained the course the navy department had taken in administering a reprimand to Captain Coghlan. It was also pointed out that the officer's explanation of the incident stated that his utterances had been much exaggerated. On the part of the ambassador there was every disposition to deal as lightly with the matter as possible and not to permit it to become a source of friction.

During the day the navy department administered to Captain Coghlan the reprimand which had been previously determined upon. This was in the form of a letter from Secretary Long to the officer. It is stated at the department that the letter will not be made public before the officer has received it, and probably not then.

What Dewey Thinks.

New York, April 27.—A copyright cable from Manila to The Evening World says: Admiral Dewey was seen by The World correspondent on the Captain Coghlan incident. The admiral is still unacquainted with the details of the famous speech, but he declared that his relations with Captain Coghlan are most cordial.

He received a cablegram from the captain of the Raleigh when that warship reached Algiers, congratulating the admiral on his promotion. Admiral Dewey is certain that Coghlan could not have said anything calculated to place the admiral in a false position.

He showed The World correspondent a letter from Admiral Von Diederichs of the German navy, congratulating him on his "deserved promotion," and also his letter in reply, which closed with the words, "All our differences were of newspaper manufacture." The admiral also says he is on the most friendly terms with Prince Henry of Prussia, who succeeded Von Diederichs as commander-in-chief of the German fleet in Chinese waters.

Disastrous Prairie Fire.

Mitchell, S. D., April 27.—A prairie fire south of here has burned over 35,000 acres of farm land and is still spreading. Two men lost their lives in an attempt to save property.

NOT LABORERS.

Chinese Conjurers Will Be Permitted to Remain In This Country.

Chicago, April 27.—Chin Ling Foo, the Chinese conjurer, and his troupe were discharged yesterday from the custody of the United States authorities by United States District Judge Kohlsaat. The Chinaman came to this country under the provisions of a special act of congress admitting laborers and others for the purpose of participating in the construction and operation of exhibits at the Omaha exposition, and providing that they should leave at the close of the exposition. Because he did not return to China, Chin Ling Foo was arrested while under engagement with the Hopkins circuit of theaters. An application for a writ of habeas corpus followed. Judge Kohlsaat holds that the alien labor law does not apply to performers in the same sense as to laborers. The troupe will be permitted to remain in this country as long as it chooses.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 27.—Attorney General Knowlton sent to the legislature his opinion that the general court has the right to revoke charters of the Boston gas companies if it finds such a measure necessary in order to effect their consolidation.

A solution of the high building problem was reached by the legislative committee on cities. The committee reported a bill which affects the whole state, and provides that 100 feet is the extreme height to which any building in the state may be erected. Buildings upon United States land, grain elevators, chimneys and ventilators and spires and towers of churches are exempted.

Reference to the next general court was reported on the petition that the action of the Boston park commissioners in approving the ornamentation of the new Westminster chambers be ratified, and the petition that the building be permitted to remain at its present height.

The bill providing for a trial by jury of persons sentenced for contempt of court was rejected by a vote of 39 to 82.

The bill imposing a graded excise tax upon the receipts of street railway companies was rejected by a heavy vote.

Bribery In Delaware.

Dover, Del., April 27.—Attorney General White yesterday presented to the Kent county grand jury information in regard to the attempted bribery of legislators and the tampering with bills before the late legislature. Subsequently the grand jury returned a true bill against Representative Mark L. Davis and two true bills against E. D. C. Hegeman, assistant clerk of the senate. Davis is charged in the indictment with offering a bribe to Assemblyman Lattemus to vote for J. E. Addicks for United States senator. One of the indictments against Hegeman charges him with tampering with the race track bill, which, when it reached the governor, practically provided for the licensing of horse racing, pool selling and lottery schemes upon the payment of $500. The other indictment charges Hegeman with forgery in connection with the enrollment of the bill.

Smith In Hot Water.

Albany, April 27.—Governor Roosevelt announces that he has decided that Lieutenant Colonel Smith of the Seventy-first regiment must go before a court of inquiry to determine his fitness and competency to continue as a commissioned officer of the National Guard. The governor states that he has gone carefully over the findings of the board which investigated the conduct of the officers and men of the Seventy-first regiment in the Santiago campaign, and the testimony given before that board and his determination to bring Lieutenant Colonel Smith before a court of inquiry to determine his fitness and competency is based on what he has ascertained from those documents.

Another Strike.

Providence, April 27.—Just as the striking weavers in the Pawtuxet valley cotton mills decide to give up the fight for a greater increase in the price of weaving than their employers see fit to concede them, and the most serious labor fight in the history of the Pawtuxet valley is about to come to an end, trouble has developed among the woolen weavers. The 41 weavers employed at the mill of the Kent Woolen company at Centreville struck yesterday for a restoration of the prices paid prior to the cutdown in 1898. The Kent Woolen company's mill is situated at Centreville. Fancy cassimeres are made and the product is sold through a New York house.

Charged With Arson.

Brookfield, Mass., April 27.—William J. Teagan of West Warren, who is charged with setting fire to a building occupied by him as a grain store, was bound over yesterday to appear before the grand jury. He furnished bonds in the sum of $1000 for his appearance. Witnesses testified to finding fire in five different places about the buildings while Teagan was at the postoffice.

Endowment of $1CO,000.

Princeton, N. J., April 27.—A friend of Princeton university, whose name has not been disclosed, has endowed a new chair to the value of $100,000, to be called the professorship in politics. The first incumbent will be chosen at the June meeting of the board of trustees.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:44; sets, 6:40.
Moon rises—10:15 p. m.
High water—12:45 a. m.; 1:15 p. m.

Showers have occurred in the Atlantic coast states. The temperature is considerably above the seasonal average in the central valleys and the middle western states, with a maximum of 94 degrees at Concordia, Kan. A storm of marked energy is moving slowly eastward over the British Northwest Territory. Fair and warmer weather will prevail in New England, with showers along the southern New England coast. Easterly winds, probably becoming fresh and brisk, will prevail along the New England coast.

For Charity's Sake.

Baltimore, April 26.—Rev. Dr. H. M. Wharton has issued an appeal for $50,000 with which to establish a home, farm and industrial school for the orphans of the soldiers and sailors who have lost their lives in the Spanish-American war and the resulting conflicts in the Philippines. The home is to be located near Washington, and is to be composed of cottages with "mothers," with all the privileges of a family.

Jacobs' Stealings.

Lancaster, Pa., April 26.—An examination was made yesterday of W. M. Jacobs' books, and it was found that he had defrauded the government out of about $125,000 with his bogus revenue stamps, the books showing the difference between the number of cigars actually produced at the factory and the number that Jacobs reported to the revenue officers as having been made.

Capitalized at $5,200,000.

Pittsburg, April 26.—The Standard Metal company, having for its object the control of the output of the United States in the manufacture of car journal bearings and bronze and brass specialties generally, has just been formed with a capital of $5,200,000. The headquarters of the company will probably be in Pittsburg. There are 10 concerns in the combination.

Six Klondikers Killed.

Victoria, B. C., April 26.—A story has reached here by the steamer Tees to the effect that a party of six returning Klondikers, one of whom is said to have been bringing out considerable treasure, have been drowned near Fifty Mile, where the trail is now impassable. The story was given out at Skaguay by a late arrival, but it is unconfirmed.

Purcell Punished.

St. Louis, April 27.—One of the fastest and most vicious prize fights ever seen in this city took place in the West End club last night between Jack Moffatt of Chicago and Frank Purcell of San Francisco. The latter was clearly outpointed and severely punished. Purcell tried hard to land a knockout blow, but failed. The decision was given to Moffatt at the end of 20 rounds.

Fighting In Samoa.

Auckland, N. Z., April 27.—Advices just received here from Apia, Samoan islands, dated April 18, report that severe fighting has taken place between large bodies of friendly natives and the rebels. The casualties, it was thought, would not exceed 20, and no Europeans were among the injured.

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1-4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2.00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

ON THE RUN.

Rebels Scatter Before Americans' Charges.

Complete Rout of the Flower of Aguinaldo's Army.

Many Daring Acts of Bravery by Western Regiments.

Lawton's Advance Remarkable For Its Resistless Energy.

American Commission Hampered In Its Work of Dealing With Friendlies.

Manila, April 28.—The flower of the rebel army was completely routed yesterday by General MacArthur's division, which crossed the Rio Grande and advanced on Apalit.

Most of the rebels fled to Apalit station, where two trains were waiting them. They left hurriedly, presumably for San Fernando. The towns of San Vinente and Apalit were simultaneously burned and evacuated by the natives. Twenty prisoners were captured, including a Spaniard.

The American troops also captured a brass cannon and a quantity of arms and ammunition, and the same evening they captured a Maxim gun on the railroad. The fighting lasted from noon until 4 o'clock. The American loss is one man of the Montana regiment killed and three officers and six men wounded.

The enemy were very strongly intrenched on the river bank, near both sides of the railroad bridge. General Wheaton sent Colonel Funston across with two companies of the Twentieth Kansas regiment, a couple of privates swimming the swift stream with a rope, under a galling fire, for the purpose of guiding the raft.

The men crossed in squads of 20 and attacked the left flank of the rebels, who scuttled, like rabbits, into covered ways and trenches.

The rest of the regiment was compelled to cross the bridge in single file along the stringers. All the woodwork and much of the iron work had been removed. The First Montana regiment followed the Kansas across the bridge.

The First Nebraska regiment, acting as a reserve, attacked the rebels in three lines of trenches, driving them out, killing 16 and wounding many.

In the meantime a large body of Filipinos, estimated at no fewer than 3000, led by General Antonio Luna, on a black charger, that was evidently coming to reinforce the rebels who were engaged with the Nebraskans, appeared in the open field about two miles to the left.

Emerging from the jungle the enemy formed an open skirmish line, nearly two miles in length, with very thick reserves behind. They then advanced at double quick, until they were about 2000 yards from the American line, when General Wheaton ordered his troops to fire.

The rebels, who were evidently unaware that the Americans had crossed the river, broke and ran in the direction of Macabele. The other Filipinos fled toward Apalit station.

The heat in the early part of the afternoon was terrific, but a drenching thunder storm which came late greatly refreshed the Americans.

General Lawton's advance has been a remarkable demonstration of the resistless energy which characterizes all his undertakings. The last troops forming his column only reached Norzagaray yesterday. The men were badly played out, as during the past two days they have dragged bullock carts over roadless jungles and through swamps, cutting their own way for miles. They will rest three days and then, with Colonel Summer's command, consisting of the Oregon and Minnesota regiments, the troops will resume the march westward, co-operating with General MacArthur's forces in the important enterprise.

The ambulances, with a strong escort, are bringing General Lawton's wounded and a few of those who have been prostrated by the heat across the country to the railroad.

A report has gained wide currency among the volunteers that the government intends to ask that there be no fighting after Calumpit is captured, and that it is the intention to replace them at the front with regulars which are being brought here on board transports.

The committee of Filipinos organized to mediate between the Americans and Aguinaldo fears to approach the rebels after the refusal of the latter to receive the Spanish commissioners, who were bearing a white flag. The committee, after consulting with the American commissioners, proposed to tell Aguinaldo that while no terms except unconditional surrender could be offered after the length to which the war had been carried, they could assure the rebels that they would be treated according to the American traditions of leniency to the conquered, and that there would be no punishments or confiscations of property if they laid down their arms.

The leaders of the committee told United States Consul Williams that they would go if he would accompany them, believing the rebels trusted Mr. Williams. The latter, however, refused, having no authority in the matter. He said: "I do not believe the Filipinos would harm me, but they might detain me for months."

The American commission is hampered in its work of enlisting the support of friendly Filipinos by the fear, expressed by many of them, that the "anti-expansionists" may obtain control of the American government and cause the withdrawal of the American troops from the Philippine islands, thus, they claim, leaving the natives who have assisted the Americans to the mercy of Aguinaldo's followers. Under these circumstances men of property are reluctant to risk the results of becoming identified with the American regime.

TRIED THREE PITCHERS.

But It Did Not Save the Bostons From a Most Severe Drubbing.

Philadelphia, April 28.—For general all-around off color, the game put up by the Boston champions rather outclassed anything seen in this place for these many years.

Klobedanz started in to pitch, but he did not linger long. Captain Duffy sent "Kloby" to the stable, substituting Streit. The latter had evidently mislaid his sense of location, for he could not find the plate except at rare intervals. At the end of the sixth inning it looked as though Streit would fall out of the box, and Chick Stahl relieved him in the seventh, Yeager taking Stahl's place at right field.

Doesn't Love Gomez.

Santiago, April 28.—General Portuendo who was chairman of the executive committee of the former military assembly and who has been appointed public prosecutor for the supreme court of the province of Santiago, is very bitter in his feeling toward General Gomez. In the course of an interview yesterday he characterized Gomez as "always insubordinate and ambitious to become a dictator." Portuendo expresses himself as confident that the United States government will fulfill its pledge to give Cuba a government of her own. He does not anticipate any serious outbreak of brigandage; and he promises, as public prosecutor, to secure the conviction and execution of all outlaws in the province if, as he puts it, there be any left.

DEATH IN ITS WAKE.

A Terrible Cyclone Sweeps Over Two Missouri Towns.

Kirksville Has a Death List of at Least Fifty.

Fire Follows and Incinerates Many of the Unfortunates.

Storm Also Visits Newtown, Where Fifteen Persons Are Reported Killed.

Kirksville, Mo., April 28.—A storm that had been threatening all the afternoon broke upon Kirksville at 6:20 o'clock last night in all the fury of a cyclone. A path a quarter of a mile wide and as clean as the prairie was swept through the eastern portion of the city, and 400 buildings, homes and mercantile houses, were levelled to the ground in scattered ruins.

In the heavy rain that followed the people who had escaped turned out to rescue the injured. For two hours not much was accomplished, as all was confusion, but by 8 o'clock 25 dead bodies had been taken from the ruins. It is expected that the list of dead will reach between 50 and 60, if it does not exceed that. Almost 1-00 people were more or less injured. An adequate estimate of loss of life and property cannot be had before noon. Each blanched face reports a new calamity.

Intense darkness prevailed after the cyclone, and the rescuers were at a disadvantage for a short time until fire broke out in a dozen places in the ruins and shed light over the scene. No attempts were made to extinguish the fire, partly because the rescuers had no time and partly because of the need of light. On both sides of the storm's path the debris was piled high and burned fiercely. In all probability a number of bodies have been incinerated.

The storm first struck the eastern portion of the city near that part occupied by the boarding houses of the students of the American school of oesteopathy, state normal school and McWard's seminary. It was just supper time for the students, and it is thought very probable that the list of dead will be well filled with students, as a large number of these boarding houses were demolished.

As far as known these three institutions of learning escaped the storm. The storm then went northwest and wiped out Patterson's nursery, pulling the trees out of the ground and hurling them through the city.

A second section of the cyclone followed the first, 20 minutes later. It came as an inky black cloud widely distributed and covered the whole town, but passed above the houses, doing no material damage. It undoubtedly struck the ground a few miles out of Kirksville.

A tornado, probably the same one that swept over Kirksville, also struck Newton, a small town in Sullivan county, and caused terrible destruction. It is reported that 15 people were killed in the city, and that many others were killed in the country near there. A great number of buildings were blown down. Heavy rain followed the tornado, adding greatly to the damage. A Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad bridge is said to have been washed out. Only a partial list of the casualties can be obtained.

Good Afternoon.

The credit of the city continues excellent in fact it was never better, although some claimed it would be a blow to Quincy if we went to the Legislature and asked the privilege to refund a portion of our municipal debt. The Mayor went to the Legislature, and it is true the fact was advertised all over the country by the financial journals, but this week when bids were asked for the sewer loan they were extremely low, so that $75,000 worth of three and one-half per cent. bonds yielded a premium of $3,353.

Now that Quincy has the privilege of extending a portion of the very heavy maturing debt this year, and all the "damage" has been done to our credit, it is an affair among ourselves, and there should be no hesitancy in availing ourselves of the privilege. Our tax rate for two or three years has been too high and it should be reduced, and what is better it can be kept down.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ There is no doubt that the Boston horse show has been a success, from a social, equine and financial standpoint. The great beauty of Boston society lies in the ease with which all succcessful people can break into it by persistent effort. That is why there is so large a percentage of society which likes to advertise itself on exhibition at the horse show and other purely mercenary exhibits. — Charleston Advocate.

☞ What Capt. Coghlan said was probably true, and that is why the Germans feel sore about it. Still, the truth is not to be spoken on all occasions, and Capt. Coghlan should have known that. It is dangerous, sometimes, for gentlemen to make speeches after dining at a New York club.—Malden Mail.

☞ Croker still refuses to tell where he got the money which he now possesses. This would be right if it were not charged that he secured his great fortune through public corruption, and his hesitancy in showing the contrary is a virtual confession of guilt.—Newport News.

☞ While the organization of new trusts still continues the sale of their securities perceptibly decreases. Perhaps this is because all the gudgeons have been caught, perhaps it is because some of them are getting their eyes open.—Providence Journal.

FINNS PROTEST.

And They Have Sympathy of Liberty-Loving People.

The little hall, set firmly on the rocks, at the top of the hill on Nelson street, was hardly large enough to hold those of our residents who claim Finland as their mother country, who gathered Thursday night to protest against the taking away by the Czar of Russia of the rights and liberties of their mother country, and reducing it to a province of barbarism and military despotism. The audience was not wholly confined to Finns for several Americans and Swedes were also present.

The meeting opened with a song by a quartette in the Finn language accompanied by guitars. Rev. K. F. Henrickson, who also presided, made a brief address in the English and Finn language, in which he outlined the object of the meeting. History tells us that Finland had always been obedient, and Russia had no right to do as she was trying, and we shall protest before the whole country.

Rev. Robert W. Peach, who followed, said it did not make any difference which language was spoken, the sentiment of the heart for liberty was as strong. Everyone who loves liberty must sympathize with you in liberty. If there is one power that oppresses people it is the Czar of Russia. There was no such thing as civil or religious liberty wherever that power has swayed. In May the peace commission meets at Haag, and at the same time he is trying to press men of Finland into military service. In closing he wished them Godspeed in their good work.

Other speeches in the Finn and Swedish language were made by Rev. Andrew Troop of Fitchburg, Mr. Nicholson, John Skegberg, Rev. John Lethevellan and Rev. C. Bjornbom.

Interspersed between the speaking there was singing by the audience, and songs by Lizzie Neimi, Ida Tikkenan and Mrs. K. F. Henrikson. There was also guitar music.

These officers were installed:

AT A LOW RATE.

The New Sewer Bond Negotiated at Premium of $3,353.

On Thursday Mayor Keith and City Treasurer Burke opened bids for the $70,000 City of Quincy sewer bonds recently authorized by the City Council. There were twelve bids in all and the most favorable was from Rines & Cummings of Boston at 104.79 which was accepted. This was the same firm which recently took the Fall River loan. The bids ranged from 104.79 to $103.17. The bonds are three and one-half per cent. ones and the net rate will therefore be but three and 15-100. The premium amounts to $3,353 and is applied only to the payment of maturing bonds.

The latest previous advertised sale of the city was in November when $100,000 four per cent. bonds were sold on a basis of three and 3509-1000. The issue of $100,000 four per cent. sewer bonds last June was disposed of at par.

UNDER HOT FIRE.

Harry Osgood in Trying Position in Philippines.

Harry R. Osgood of Wollaston, a soldier in the Philippines, writes the following interesting letter.

Jaro, Philippine Islands,
March 4, 1899.

The despatch boats are leaving pretty often so I will write you when ever I can get a few spare moments to myself. March 1st our company got into a tight place and our boys showed that they are full of sand. When Captain Wheeler is at the command they will follow him anywhere. We went out to the river February 22, and I was put on picket No. 1, away on the extreme right. We had a quiet night, and the next morning was also quiet, but at about three o'clock they sent a volley right among us, and for a minute we were a little confused, as there were only five men on that part and we were a mile away from the main body.

Three of the boys stayed back in the bushes and Menkin and I crawled out on the bank and lay there with only a little grass to shelter us from the enemy. Whenever they would stop firing I would raise my head to see if they were attempting to ford the river and then a shower of bullets would spat all around us but owing to their poor aim we were not hit. After half an hour of this work twenty men from H company came to our relief and we gave it to them so hot they "vamoosed" back in the woods.

Instead of going up to the bridge and marching home with the company we took a short cut and arrived at our quarters before they got there. I took a bath and was taking a little rest when I heard a big gun boom and a few scattering shots and then a volley rang. I knew my company was in a scrap for no other company can give volleys as we do.

I put on my clothes a little quicker than Charlie does when he gets up to go to a fire, and was soon on my way across fields and through woods and after a run of about a mile found old E company on the extreme right lying down and not firing a shot while they were getting a hot fire from the enemy. I couldn't understand it at first, but then I heard Captain Wheeler say "keep perfectly quiet until that next shell goes and then get up and charge."

We waited until the shell burst and then jumped up and started on the run toward the trenches. We had to run over about seven hundred yards of ploughed ground and we couldn't go ahead very fast. We ran about seventy-five yards before the enemy could get over their surprise, and then they began to pour it into us and how those bullets did yip. We were on perfectly level ground and if they had stood up and taken good aim not a man of us would have ever reached the trench.

We ran nearly half the way and then dropped down and laid right out in that open ground while the bullets were spattering all around us. These are the times it takes nerve. When we are going forward it is all right, but to lie down in an open field under a hot fire is the hardest of all. We rested a minute and then made another rush and finally dropped behind a little embankment only three hundred yards away from their trenches and block house.

We were so exhausted that we didn't fire a shot for quite a while and then we had it hot and heavy. Owing to their poor shooting most all of their shots went high but we did some fearful execution. Every minute you would see a flash go straight up in the air which told of another victim.

Under Captain Wheeler's cool directions we fired only in volleys and then moved up to the right to get ready for a last charge. We had fixed bayonets and the word was sent to the left for two other companies which had come up to cease firing and support us when we made the rush, but Major Keller came up and said it was suicide to take that place, as it was about dark and they would come back at night and kill us all.

So under his superior orders, we were relieved by another company and went back to our quarters. If we had made that charge probably a third of the company would have dropped, but we would have given old E company a name in history.

Owing to darkness setting in all our forces were withdrawn and I suppose the insurgents are happy and consider us defeated. They certainly did make a good stand and if they could only shoot, it would go hard with us, as there are thousands of them.

In all that fighting only three of our men were killed and they away in the rear and were struck by bullets aimed at us. Only one man in our company was hit and it was only a graze below the knee. We certainly are lucky but some day there will be a hole made in our ranks, for Capt. Wheeler is always put in the most trying places.

The officers had an argument about taking the last trench and some of them laughed at Capt. Wheeler and said he would never have tried it but old captain said, "By the Gods I was going to if I had not been ordered back, and would have taken it too, for I have got a company that will follow me anywhere.

Most all of them went to drinking and they tried to have him join them but he wouldn't. One of them said come on and take a drink you have had a hard day's work and it will do you good, but captain said I may have had a hard day and I may have a harder one tomorrow and the less liquor I drink the better condition I will be in to stand it.

Some of us don't like him in times of peace, for he always makes a dividing line between his old soldiers and we boys who have joined since the war. But we all admire his pluck and courage and are proud to be under his command.

It looks as if we were going to fight it out with what little force we have got and I am afraid the men will break down under the strain. I am feeling well but I am getting thin and my eyes and head bother me. As I am writing now, the firing has commenced on the river and I must leave this letter unfinished. HARRY R OSGOOD.

Bad For Chambers.

Washington, April 28.—It has been felt proper to admonish Admiral Kautz to be more careful either in writing such letters as that published from Cincinnati or in guarding his letters from publicity, and a letter of that character has been addressed to him. In the case of Chief Justice Chambers, whose brother made public a letter criticising the Germans in Samoa, the effect will certainly be injudicious to the chief justice. Though the letter undoubtedly was a private communication, yet the state department was bound to take notice of the fact that this publication had done much to injure the usefulness of the chief justice, and to render his retention in the office after the reconstruction of the island's government improbable.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

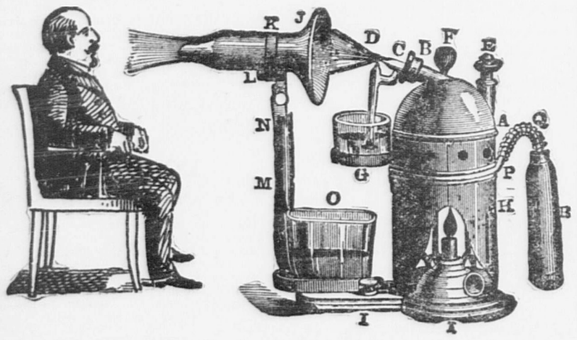

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and, consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invaild while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

BOSTON ENGAGEMENT begins at 301 Shawmut Avenue, cor. Waltham Street, on MONDAY April 24th. Come early and avoid the crowd. Consultation Free.

THE ARMY AND NAVY

Eulogized at a Banquet In Honor of General Grant's Birthday.

General Wheeler's Tribute to Hero of Appomatox.

Admiral Schley Speaks of the Readiness of the Navy In the Late War.

Pittsburg, April 28.—Politics gave way to patriotism at the annual banquet of the Americus Republican club in honor of the birthday of General Grant last night. The army and navy had the call, and the guests of honor were General Wheeler and Admiral Schley. The dinner was, in many respects, the most successful ever given by the club. Covers were laid for 365, and had there been room probably twice this number of tickets could have been sold. Preceding the dinner the guests held a reception. The guests filed into the banquet hall to the strains of the "Stars and Stripes." C. L. Magee was chairman at the dinner table and Clarence Burleigh, city attorney, was toastmaster. Major General Wheeler responded to the toast, "Grant," as follows:

GENERAL JOE WHEELER.

Calm and beautiful the morning of July 23, 1885, dawned on Mount McGregor. All nature seemed subdued. The rays of the risen sun rested upon the green hills and mountains of Vermont, upon the placid waters of Saratoga lake and upon the cottage where the life of the greatest man of the nation was slowly ebbing away. Ulysses S. Grant was in the immediate presence of the foe whom none may conquer, the only foe to whose might the great warrior had ever succumbed. For nine long months had he gazed undaunted into the face of death, keeping him at bay with one hand, while with his pen in the other he bravely finished the work that would make provision for the beloved wife and children he should leave behind him.

A few moments after 8 o'clock the "silver cord was loosed, the golden bowl broken" and the spirit of the patriot-warrior had returned to the God who gave it, and ere the sun had climbed midway to the zenith, the electric wires had told the people in the uttermost ends of the earth that General Grant was dead. In every city, town and hamlet in our land heads were reverently bowed, and sorrow and sympathy were expressed in every countenance.

The southern papers all wrote of the man who 20 years before had compelled the surrender of their armies, and the crushing of the cause freighted with all their hopes. And southern cities tolled their bells in token of their mournful sympathy.

But "sorrow endureth for a night, and joy cometh in the morning," and now that grief and mourning have claimed their tribute, we meet tonight to celebrate the birthday of Grant, the magnanimous, whose memory we delight to honor and reverence, recognizing him as one of the nation's "immortals," whose memory will be cherished together with that of the father of our country.

Seventy-seven years! Almost two-thirds of the life time of the nation have come and gone, leaving their records of events that fill the pages of history since a boy destined to shine forever on one of the brightest of these pages, first saw the light of day in a small village in Claremont county, O. His colonial ancestor emigrated from Devon, Eng., to Dorchester, Mass., in 1630, removing after five years to Windsor, Conn. Noah Grant, one of his descendants, grandfather of the hero, whose birth we celebrate tonight, served during the revolution, and afterwards removed to Pennsylvania, where General Grant's father and mother were both born, their respective families removing later to Point Pleasant. Jesse Rout Grant and Hannah Simpson were married in 1821.

The next year, on April 27, a son was born. Hiram Ulysses was the first name given to the future hero.

Always called by his second given name, by some error he was named by his congressman to the secretary of war as Ulysses Simpson, so his commission for West Point was made out, and so his name remained. Cadet Grant received a brevet second lieutenant commission in 1843; served with peculiar distinction in Mexico, being in every battle save that of Buena Vista.

Returning from Mexico, he received a furlough, married Miss Julia T. Dent in 1848, continuing in the army until 1854, when he resigned his commission, and took up his residence on a farm near St. Louis. He seemed to have met with little success in civil pursuits, and in 1860 removed to Galena, where he became associated with his brothers in the leather trade.

On April 19, six days after the fall of Fort Sumter, he had gathered a company, began to drill them, and offered himself to the governor of Illinois. So modest and unobtrusive was Captain Grant that his old service seems for a time to have been lost sight of. The story of his military career has been rehearsed over and over. All are familiar with his success in the west, and there first looms up the generosity of his character.

And his generosity to his defeated countrymen has made its indelible mark on the character of the American soldier, as shown by their conduct in the war with Spain, when their treatment of the enemy's wounded and prisoners gained world-wide admiration. It was the generous magnanimity of Grant, after compelling the surrender of the Confederate armies, that did more to bring about a reunion of the states than 10,000,000 troops could ever have accomplished.

The modesty of Grant's character was most singular, and in this day of sham and pretense most wonderful. Evidently his early life and its hardships and deprivations had taught him the true balance of earthly things. After reaching the dizzy heights of fame, and in his journey around the earth, standing as their equals among the crowned heads of the world, honored and applauded, he remained as unobtrusively retiring as when he entered upon his great career, and it is the utter absence of all shadow of egotism that makes his memories so unique a production.

In closing his remarks, General Wheeler painted the personal character of General Grant, whom he spoke of as "loyal to God, to country, to friends, to all his undertakings." His determination was unconquerable, his spirit congenial towards those whom he trusted. Two names, said General Wheeler, would go down to ages yet to come side by side. "Grant, the leader magnanimous in victory; Lee, than whom no greater ever survived defeat." Grant deserved his renown in each of his characters as "patriot, warrior and statesman." His family life was one of devotion, tenderness and love, his great desire and end after Appomatox was a reunited nation.

General Wheeler concluded by recalling Grant's remarkable prophecy: "At some future day the nations of the earth will agree upon some sort of congress which shall take cognizance of international questions of difficulty, and whose decisions will be as binding as the decision of the supreme court is upon us."

"Whether this be prophecy," General Wheeler said, "at least it shows that his finger was on the pulse of the age."

Rear Admiral Schley, replying to "Our Navy," said:

ADMIRAL SCHLEY.

The war history of our navy is familiar to you all, and no words I could add of its dash or daring in the recent struggle would seem necessary; the names of its great captains will live imperishably in the affection of our people for whom they wrought and fought.

The names of Jones and Somers and Decatur and Hull, of Stewart and Perry and McDonough and Farragut and Foote; of Porter and Cushing and Bagley and Dewey will last always and with increasing admiration long after the living implements which gave their lives expression shall have fallen away into dust; their thrillingly heroic exploits will be read always with increasing heartbeats and with reverential admiration for their devotion to the cause of the republic.

The legacy of their work means a wider scope to the duties of citizenship and the honor of their glory gives deeper inspiration to that patriotic devotion to name and to kindred which begets that note of confidence underlying the solid structure of this blessed republic of ours. Over and beyond all else in their lives was that consecration to duty in their country's service that set its triumphs and its glory beyond all risks or exposure to themselves and thrilled their hearts and nerved their arms for the battle.

The war through which the nation has just passed has shown that her sons have been faithful to their inherited traditions, and that the safety and welfare of our people are secure in their keeping. Let us hope that the peace it accomplished may be lasting, and that the two nations may under God's providence march forward in undisturbed amity and friendship for the future.

I do not recall in history that a nation ever before declared war upon another and the day following blockaded the enemy's ports. Such was the condition of readiness in our navy that this was possible in the late war, and the lesson it impresses ought not to be forgotten that war to be short, sharp and decisive can only be made so by preparation in times of peace, so that when it must be undertaken it can only end with honor and dignity to the nation.

I rejoice with you all in the prestige that has come to our country through the valiant deeds of her arms, and no doubt I voice the sentiments of everyone when I express the hope that peace and happiness may abide always with our blessed country.

The other speakers were Colonel Alex K. McClure on "Patriotism" and General Willis J. Hulings on "Our Army."

Admiral Schley and General Wheeler arrived from Washington in the morning, and the day was spent in visiting the armor plate works of the Carnegies and the Firth Stirling projectile plant. Later a public reception was held at the Americus club house, and several thousand Pittsburgers shook hands with the two heroes.

General Wheeler was asked if the report was true that he had been assigned to the department of Texas. "I hope not," he replied. "I want to go to the Philippines. There are several good fights left in me yet, and I think I could serve my country to the best advantage in active service in the field. I have not given up hope of being sent to Manila."

The general was shown the headlines in a newspaper and chuckled when he read that the Americans had just gained a signal victory over the Filipinos. General Wheeler said that he had great faith in the volunteers in service in the east.

THE CIGAR STAMP FRAUDS.

Internal Revenue Bureau Will Be as Lenient as Possible to Innocent Purchasers.

Washington, April 28.—Commissioner Wilson of the internal revenue bureau has sent a letter to collectors of internal revenue regarding the disposition of cigars made and stamped by the Lancaster, Pa., stamp counterfeiters. The letter says:

"Referring to seizures of cigars from Jacobs & Co.'s factory, No. 3741, and Kendig's factory, No. 459, Ninth district of Pennsylvania, you are informed that as 5s are the only denominations known to have been counterfeited, you may release the cigars covered by stamps of other denominations, which are regular and in the hands of innocent people. The cigars can be left in the custody of the parties from whom seized if they are responsible, pending further action. Innocent holders, who have purchased cigars and paid for same, will be treated fairly and reasonable offers in compromise accepted. When stamps are undoubtedly genuine the cigars may be released without delay."

The letter shows the distinction between the genuine and the counterfeit stamps, and further says:

"Parties owing Jacobs & Co. and W. L. Kendig for cigars purchased have been advised not to pay such bills, and you will take prompt steps to attach and hold moneys thus due on account of indebtedness to the government for taxes evaded."

LACONIA BANK SUSPENDS,

Finds It Difficult to Meet Demands After Thirty-Two Years of Existence.

Laconia, N. H., April 28.—The Lakeport Savings bank has suspended payment and will probably liquidate. The bank has been in operation 32 years, and has been paying small amounts to depositors during the past two years. At the present time there is $227,000 due depositors. The officers of the bank have announced that they will soon make a statement. Ex-Mayor Pulsifer is vice president, secretary and treasurer of the institution.

The condition of the bank the first of last October was published to be as follows: Liabilities: Amount due depositors, $255,638.20; guaranty fund, $90,000; interest, $3613.44. The assets were: Market value, $249,061.64; value on books, $248,251.64. Of this there was cash on deposit in the national banks, $7340.70; cash on hand, $1884.30. The bank was incorporated in 1867.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 28.—There was a long debate in the house yesterday over the bill for state inspectors of nurseries, but the bill was finally passed. Lively opposition was made by a few house members to the bill for a $500,000 appropriation for state highways.

The committee on ways and means reported a bill providing that the commission on inland fisheries and game shall consist of five members, two members in addition to those now serving, to be appointed by the governor, one for five years, and the other for four years, their terms to begin Oct. 1 of this year, and their successors to be appointed for terms of five years. Any member may be removed by the governor. The chairman of the board is to be appointed by the governor on Oct. 1 of each year, and he is to receive a salary of $1800 per year. The other members are to receive $5 per day for each day actually employed, and travelling expenses.

Bills for the incorporation of the Y. M. C. A. of Haverhill and to amend the charter of the city of Chelsea were engrossed under suspension of the rules.

The committee on public service reported a new draft of the bill for the appointment of a commission to equalize the salaries of county and judicial officers. The commission is to consist of five persons, to be appointed by the governor this year, and a similar commission is to be appointed every five years, beginning this year.

In the senate the committee on the judiciary reported a bill providing that any officer who wilfully delays the service of a warrant for arrest or a search warrant shall be fined $50.

The same committee reported a bill providing that no justice of the peace shall solemnize marriages unless he is a city or town clerk, a city registrar or assistant registrar, clerk of courts or assistant clerk of court, or has been designated by the governor. The governor may designate justices in each community, one for every 5000 inhabitants, who may not act until they have received a certificate from the secretary, fee $5.

Great Chance For Wheat.

Washington, April 28.—Mr. Mertens, in charge of the consular agency at Graо, has informed the state department that the Spanish millers are petitioning the government for the temporary suspension of all import duties on foreign wheat. He says that the shippers in the United States should watch this matter closely through the daily press and be prepared to take instant advantage of the temporary suspension should it be put in force.

Laconia Plants Change Hands.

Laconia, N. H., April 28.—The hosiery mills of the Hodgson & Holt Manufacturing company were sold by order of the assignee yesterday, the property being bought by the Belnap Mills company for $10,000. The Abel Machine company, also the property of the Hodgson & Holt company, was purchased by John T. Busiel for $14,600. Both plants will undoubtedly be in operation soon.

Unity Club.

Mr. W. G. Corthell was in charge of the regular meeting of the Unity club, Wollaston, which was held in the vestry of the Unitarian church on last evening.

President Finch called the meeting to order and Secretary Baker read the minutes of the last meeting. The president announced that the annual banquet would be held at the Un ited States Hotel on the evening of May 26.

Mr. Corthell gave notice that at the next meeting he would move to amend the constitution, so that next season the regular meeting nights would be Wednesday instead of Friday, as at present. Mr. Bishop gave notice that he would move that the annual meeting be held on the meeting next preceding the banquet.

Upon a motion the president appointed Mr. Corthell, Mrs. J. H. Litchfield and Mr. W. E. Simmons a committee on nominations.

Mr. Corthell introduced a pleasing innovation in the conducting of the meeting and that was to intersperse the music throughout the programme, instead of lumping it at the end, as has always been done.

The interesting papers were read, and with Mr. Corthell's extemporaneous remarks upon scenes with which he was familiar in Italy, made an entertaining two hours. Mrs. Brock spoke on "How Italy is governed;" Dr. W. G. Curtis on "Romantic Cities of the past;" and Mrs. Hicks upon "Milan Cathedral."

The musical programme, which was in charge of Mrs. S. P. Moorehouse, was very brilliant. The programme.

Quartette, "Earth and Heaven," by Mercadante, Mrs. F. A. Page, Mrs. E. A. King, Mr. Moorhouse and Mr. E. W. Arnold.

WEAKENING.

Filipinos Have Had Enough Fighting.

Confer With Otis Regarding Terms of Surrender.

The Alleged Republic Is Refused Recognition.

Aguinaldo May Be Using Army as a Cloak For His Congress.

Another Bombastic Proclamation In Reply to One Issued by Americans.

Washington, April 29.—News from General Otis, announcing that the Filipinos had taken what is regarded as the first step toward surrender, came just at the beginning of the official day here. There was a feeling of profound relief expressed at once on all sides, for during the last three days the officails have been much depressed by the reports that came from the front.

The bulletin, dated at the close of yesterday, from Manila, stating that the negotiations for peace had not been successful, but that another conference would occur today, did not have any substantial effect in repressing the expressions of satisfaction. It is remembered by the officials that General Toral at Santiago did not surrender at the first instance, and that several days were occupied in the negotiations which finally resulted in the capitulation.

In some respects the situation at Calumpit bears a striking resemblance to that existing at Santiago just prior to the breakdown of the Spanish resistance. The Spaniards were hungry and insufficiently supplied, just as are the insurgents in Luozn. They sought first to escape the humiliation of a surrender, to march out with the honors of war, to carry off arms, but they were obliged to abandon all these points, just as the insurgents will be forced to do in a short time, according to the expectations of the officials here.

Secretary Alger was naturally highly gratified at the news. He approved thoroughly General Otis' reply to the native delegation, but he made it clear that there was no disposition on his part to interfere with General Otis and the Philippine commission in making terms with the Filipinos to any greater degree than he had done in the conduct of the campaign. The secretary said that the commission had full power to arrange the terms of surrender.

Manila dispatches, detailing the account of the overtures by the Filipinos, say that Colonel Manuel Arguelese and Lieutenant Jose Bernal, chief of General Luna's staff, entered General MacArthur's line bearing a flag of truce. They immediately took a train to Manila, where they conferred with General Otis regarding terms of surrender. Their advances for peace, however, proved fruitless for the time being. Colonel Arguelese and Lieutenant Bernal told General Otis that they were representatives of General Luna, who had been requested by Aguinaldo to ask General Otis for a cessation of hostilities in order to allow time for the summoning of the native congress, which body would decide whether the people wanted peace. General Otis replied that he did not recognize the existence of a native government. There will be another conference today.

The insurgent officers walked down the railroad track to the Kansas regiment's outpost at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The Kansas captain in command there escorted them to General Wheaton's headquarters, where they were provided with horses and sent to the headquarters of General MacArthur. The latter invited the officers to sit down at lunch with him and conversed with them for some time. He refused, however, to speak authoritatively on the subject of their errand, referring all inquiries to General Otis.

The natives were then escorted by Major Mallony of General MacArthur's staff to Manila, reaching there at 3 o'clock p. m. General Otis' aide, Lieutenant Sladen, was awaiting their arrival at the depot with a carriage, in which they were driven to the palace entrance. The officers attracted much attention. They were dressed in uniforms of checked blue and white cloth, and wore straw hats. They carried no side arms. They were escorted directly to the office of General Otis. Mr. Schurman, president of the Philippine commission, and Mr. Denby, a member of the commission, soon joined the party there.

The news of the arrival of the insurgent officers under a flag of truce spread through the city rapidly, and many officers gravitated to the corridors of the palace, while a crowd of natives gathered in the square opposite the palace. At 5 o'clock the two native officers, escorted by Lieutenant Sladen and Major Mallony, left the palace. They did not look at all elated as a result of their talk with Genera Otis and the members of the Philippine commission.

Aguinaldo is evidently selecting the army as a cloak for his congress, hoping by subterfuge to overcome General Otis' consistent policy of ignoring the Filipino government. The Filipinos' argument is that it is impossible to arrange an armistice without the sanction of the congress. General Otis punctured this assumption by remarking that if Aguinaldo could make war without the congress, he could stop it without reference to that body.

There is a suspicion that it was hoped by means of a conference to ascertain what terms they could expect. If they saw that anything is to be gained by continuing the war an armistice would afford them an opportunity for recuperating their demoralized forces.

It is an interesting commentary upon Aguinaldo's scheme that only 60 of the 300 members of the Filipino congress have taken the oath of allegiance which their constitution requires.

A Filipino proclamation replying to the proclamation of the Americans has appeared. The proclamation is signed by Madini, for the president, and is dated at Caniasdro, April 15. It is in the usual grandiose style and declares that President McKinley issued the proclamation in order to force the American congress to ratify the cession of the islands under the treaty of Paris.

"This contract of cession was made with the Spaniards after Spanish domination had been ended by the valor of our troops," the proclamation asserts. The proclamation complains that the Filipinos were not represented at Paris during the negotiations of the treaty, and that they are without assurances of the fulfilment of American promises. It dilates upon the alleged Anglo-Saxon hatred of blacks, and asserts a desire to enslave them.

Deploring a lack of foreign aid in prosecuting the war, the proclamation concludes: "We stand alone, but we will fight to the death. Coming generations will pray over our graves, shedding tears of gratitude for their freedom."

As Viewed In London.

London, April 29.—All the morning papers contain editorials congratulating the United States upon the prospect of peace in the Philippines and complimenting the bravery and endurance of the American troops, which have produced the much desired result. All insist that the United States cannot treat with the rebel government. All approve the demand of General Otis for an unconditional surrender, and urge that he should be given full powers and not be hampered by instructions from Washington.

PUT UP A FINE GAME.

Philadefphias Played For All They Were Worth and Shut Out the Bostons.

Philadelphia, April 29.—In the face of the ball put up by the Phillies not a team in the league would have been licensed to win from them. With the exception of an almost pardonable wild throw by Cross their work afield was perfect.

Orth pitched a grand game. He had perfect control, not a man being passed to first, and only five hits, scattered through four innings, were made off his delivery. Nichols was also in prime fettle. He held the Phillies down to six hits, scattered through five innings. He gave four bases on balls, however, two of which resulted in runs.

Captain J. B. Coghlan and other officers of the warship Raleigh occupied a box in the upper pavilion. In the sixth inning the players of the two teams lined up in the diamond, Councilman Leo Myer called out for three cheers for the gallant captain, and they were given with a will by the players and the spectators. The captain bowed his acknowledgments, and then there was another outburst of enthusiasm.

Held In $20,000 Bail.

Philadelphia, April 29.—The hearing of former United States District Attorney Ellery P. Ingham and ex-District Attorney Harvey K. Newitt, who are charged with attempting to bribe Secret Service Agent William J. McManus in connection with the great counterfeiting conspiracy, which was unearthed in this city last week, was concluded yesterday, and United States Commissioner Edmunds increased the bail of each defendant from $10,000 to $20,000, which they both furnished.

Woman Wanted to Assist.

Dallas, April 29. — Tom Robinson, colored, was hanged yesterday at Hillsboro for assault. He claimed to be innocent. He invited Mary Adams, his victim, and her mother to be present at the execution. Mrs. Adams attended and wanted to "pull the rope."

KILLED HER HUSBAND.

Mrs. Ross Claims That She Only Intended to Frighten Him.

Had Threatened Her and Was Very Abusive.

Only Regret She Has For the Crime Is For the Sake of Her Son.

Stoughton, Mass., April 29.—Mrs. Mary E. Ross, who shot and killed her husband, John P. Ross, at Sharon, yesterday, was brought to the Stoughton lockup by the Sharon police. In the course of an interview she said that she married Ross last August, and that her life since then had been a continual quarrel; that he had always been very abusive, and she thinks that at times he had shown symptoms of insanity. They occupied the rear tenement of the Morse block in Sharon, and had been notified to remove in a month, and the time would have expired yesterday. Mrs. Ross says that her husband was very angry at having to remove from the building, and made many threats. He went to Boston Thursday and returned with some liquor. She says he was very abusive to her, and grabbed her by the throat and threw her to the floor, dragging her in this manner from the house.

When she attempted to return he taunted her and she decided to go for an officer. She succeeded in gaining entrance to the house to get her belongings, and, going to a bureau drawer, she removed her money. Fearing that her husband would use the revolver which was there she removed it also. She then attempted to get her hat, she says, when her husband grabbed her by the throat again and attempted twice to strike her, but she evaded both his attempts.

She then drew the revolver and told him that she would hurt him if he did not let her alone. As he did not take any further notice of what she said she cocked the revolver and pointed it at him, she says, to frighten him. He immediately attacked her, grabbing her by the throat, and in the scuffle which followed the revolver was discharged and in making a last attempt to strike at her, Ross fell prostrate at her feet. She says she did not intend to shoot him, and her only object in pointing the weapon as she did was to frighten him and discourage any further attacks.

She expresses no regret at her husband's death, and she is calm and collected. She says she did not realize that she had wounded him badly until he had fallen and became unable to rise.

She has a son by a former husband, and she says that it is only for his sake that she has any regret of the affair. She said her husband was somewhat under the influence of liquor, but not drunk, at the time.

Welcomed by Marblehead.

Marblehead, Mass., April 29.—The two Spanish gunboat prizes—the Sandoval and the Alvarado—arrived at this port yesterday, and the reception given at their arrival was an enthusiastic one. At Fort Sewall the school children had assembled, each being provided with a flag. There was cheering, singing and waving of the flags, while the Beach Combers' battery fired a salute, which was replied to in like manner by guns on both craft. After the gunboats had dropped anchor an informal reception was held, the guests and the selectment being photographed in a group at Abbott hall. Last evening the selectmen and a number of prominent townsmen were received on board the gunboats.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, April 29.—One of the chief topics of discussion about the state house yesterday was the effect of the license limitation bill for Boston, which has caused considerable of a flurry among liquor dealers in this city. The house spent the forenoon in a debate on the temperance education bill, which was finally rejected, and then took up the inheritance tax bill, which was amended in several ways and at length put over until Monday.

In the senate the bill for a new house of correction for Suffolk county was passed to a third reading, and among the bills passed to be engrossed was one for another clerk for the Suffolk superior court.

Leave to withdraw was reported by the committee on metropolitan affairs on the petition for the abolition of the board of estimate and apportionment in Boston.

The adverse report of the labor committee on prohibition of employment of children under 18 years and of women in places where liquor is sold or prepared for sale was rejected, so that the bill can be discussed and acted upon in regular order.

The bill for an eight-hour day for city and town employes, if the citizens so vote, was finally passed to be engrossed.

When the bill extending the civil service exemption to veterans of the war with Spain was brought up there was not a vote against ordering the bill to a third reading.

Mr. Hodgkins explained to the senate the mechanical and physiological reasons why the street railway committee reported against requiring platforms of electric cars to be inclosed for the protection of the motorman, and said that not one motorman asked this provision, while a good many of that class objected to it. Mr. Moran championed the bill as humane and just, and desired by many motormen. Mr. George thought that, on the whole, the bill would do more harm than good. On his motion the bill was amended by striking out the provision for individual penalty, and by postponing until Oct. 1, 1900, the date for its taking effect. It was then ordered to a third reading.

Weld Boys Won.

Cambridge, Mass., April 29.—The postponed race between the four freshman crews of the Weld and Newell Boat clubs of Harvard university was rowed yesterday. The result was a victory for both the Weld crews and a new record of 9 minutes 21 seconds for the course, which was seven seconds better than the best previous performance. The Harvard freshman rowing material had been divided impartially between the Weld and Newell clubs. Two crews will be picked from among the 32 men who rowed yesterday to form the regular freshman squad and continue training for the rest of the season.

Mind Probably Unbalanced.

Boston, April 29.—While undoubtedly suffering from mental aberration, caused, it is believed, by brooding over failure to obtain work, John Shahbazian yesterday shot his wife four times, from the effects of which she will probably die. She is now at the city hospital and her husband is under arrest. The family are Armenians, and came to this country during the prevalence of the Armenian massacres in Turkey. For two years the husband worked in the rubber factory in Malden, but of late he has been out of employment. This fact has so worried him that his brain has evidently been affected.

A Hearty Welcome.

New York, April 29.—Cheers and the waving of hats greeted President McKinley, Mrs. McKinley and their party when they reached the Manhattan hotel yesterday afternoon. The demonstration took place just as the president stepped from his carriage. It came from a crowd that had been waiting for nearly an hour to see the chief executive. A number of policemen guarded the entrance to the hotel and kept back the crowd, who cheered the president and presidential party lustily.

Lived 105 Years.

New Bedford, Mass., April 29.—New Bedford's oldest resident, Miss Mary Spencer, died suddenly last evening. She was 105 years, 2 months and 20 days old. She was a member of the Daughters of the Revolution and of the Daughters of the American Revolution, being the oldest member of both. She was also the oldest cotton operative. She was the last of a family of 11 children.

Strikers Give It Up.

Exeter, N. H., April 29.—The strike of the 16 girls known as the "closers on" in the stitching room at Gale Bros.' shoe factory is settled. The stitchers have decided to return to work at the prices offered when they left, which was a compromise increase of 2½ cents on a demand for 5 cents increase per case.

Bid Hotels Barred.

Worcester, Mass., April 29.—The license commissioners sprung the sensation of the year here last evening when they refused liquor licenses to the Bay State and Lincoln hotels, the two largest and best known hotels of central Massachusetts, "for cause." No reason is given for the decision.

Bridegroom Fatally Hurt.

Providence, April 29.—Jacob Cohen, 55 years old, a jeweler, collided with a horse and wagon yesterday afternoon, receiving a fractured skull. He was riding a bicycle at the time of the collision. His injury is deemed fatal.

Victim of Alcohol.

Chester, N. H., April 29.—Cyrus E. Roberts was found dead in his house, where he lived alone, yesterday. Coroner Baketel pronounced the cause of death to be chronic alcoholism. Roberts had been dead for several days.

WELL MAINTAINED.

General Business Situation Continues to Be of a Most Encouraging Character.

New York, April 29.—Bradstreet's says: Favorable weather condtions find reflection in reports of good retail distribution of spring and summer goods, and in fair filling-in orders from jobbers. Demand from first hands for general merchandise is, if anything, quieter, in keeping with the "between season" period, now at hand. Industrial activity continues specially marked, a pleasing feature this week being the practical absence of the unrest, particularly in the building trades, noted for many years past about May 1.

While favoring retail distribution, the springlike weather conditions have been the reverse of stimulating as regards quotations of wheat and cotton. In these and in hog products the tendency of values has been toward a lower range. Winter wheat crop advices have continued irregularly unfavorable.

Cotton has weakened on better reports as to planting progress, and the margin of profit on manufactured goods has, therefore, temporarily widened.

New demand has been notably quiet in iron and steel this week. Prives exhibit all their old strength, and here the margin of profit on finished products is undoubtedly very good.

Wool, as a whole, is quiet and steady, but a relatively higher range of values abroad is indicated by continued good sales of Australian bonded wool to be re-exported.

Copper is notably among the products advancing this week, aided therein by large consumptive demand, but chiefly by talk of the great consolidation of copper producing companies, announced towards the close of the week.

A fair trade is doing in boots and shoes, and the slight advances announced earlier are well maintained. Leather is firmly held, strength being imparted to this and finished products by the small stocks of hides available.

Partially compensating for the falling off in exports of natural products, particularly cereals, is the immense expansion in exports of manufactured goods.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

A LARGE DEATH LIST.

Results From Tornado's Visit In Missouri Towns.

Nearly Fifty Were Killed In Kirksville Alone.

At Least Fifteen Met the Same Fate at Newtown.

The Number of Injured at Both Places Will Reach Over a Hundred.

Kirksville, Mo., April 29.—On the border of the storm which swept over this city, the clouds were dull gray, but the core was inky black. its roar deafened everybody in its path for the minute, and most of those who escaped unhurt report having been rendered unconscious for brief periods.

The cyclone first took effect, as far as known here, two miles south of Kirksville. It plowed a way through the town and went on northeast for 15 miles. The storm zone in some places is swept as clear as a threshing floor. Along other parts a tangle of timbers, trees and bricks knee deep is seen, but the debris is pulverized as if it had gone through a stone crusher.

As a result of the tornado, at least 1000 persons are homeless and nearly 50 dead bodies and 70 injured persons have been recovered from the ruins. More than a dozen of the injured will die.

Although rescuers have been searching the ruins ever since the storm spent its fury, many are still missing, and it is thought that a considerable number of the unfortunates were consumed — the flames that broke out soon after the storm had ceased. The work of rescue continues, but it may be days before the total number of victims is known.

When the tornado struck the city most of the residents were at supper. The tornado cut a clean path one mile long and 600 feet wide through the residence section, leaving death and destruction in its wake. Buildings were demolished or twisted apart and scattered to the winds. A conservative estimate places the aggregate amount of damage at $200,000, the individual losses ranging from $100 to $8000.

The wind played many pranks, and there were some miraculous escapes. J. C. Coonfield and his family were eating supper when the tornado struck their home. The house was picked up and carried across a slough and dumped against a hill. The building was not completely wrecked and the family escaped with only a severe shaking up. Houses on both sides of the residence of W. M. Hull were blown into splinters, but the wind merely twisted his house off its foundation, leaving it intact. The house was in the center of the district, and it was used as a hospital after the storm.

For a time the people in that portion of the town not touched by the storm were panic stricken, but as soon as they recovered their wits they went to the aid of their unfortunate townsmen. Calls for help were sent to surrounding towns and were quickly responded to. The wounded were carried to the homes of hospitable neighbors and given immediate attention. Twenty-five doctors from Moberley, Macon and other points came to Kirksville in response to urgent calls for medical assistance. The visiting doctors co-operated with the local physicians and the work of caring for the wounded was expedited.

Hundreds of persons visited the stricken district yesterday and a large number of sightseers came from neighboring towns. The special officers would not allow anyone without authority to go through the ruined district. Kirksville streets have been hub-deep in mud ever since the first spring shower, and the rain that followed the tornado has made them impassable for wagons. This hinders the work of gathering the dead and makes the compilation of a complete list of victims impossible for the time being. All business has been suspended, and the only stores open for business are those dealing in drugs.

The scenes that met the gaze of the rescuers were horrifying. An aged man and his wife had evidently been eating their evening meal when the cyclone struck and carried their home away. They had clasped each other in their arms and were found dead on the ground some distance from where their home had been. No trace of their house has been seen.

Several of the dead were found in spots which would have been the center of houses had the building not been blown to splinters. This was the case with Mrs. Panschatt, who suffered a most terrible death. Her headless body with its arms clasping her lifeless baby was discovered on the floor of the house which was left as a raised platform in an open field. The head is precisely as it had been done with a knife, and was about 20 feet distant.

Two children had been lying in a cot in one of the destroyed homes. The house was carried away, but the floor of the first story and the foundation was left, the winds lifting the house from the sills and tumbling it a long distance. The cot on which the little ones lay was lifted up with them on it and carried a block and a half and set down on the ground. Neither of the children was hurt. Trees are filled with bed clothing and other household goods.

Scenes of utter distress and desolation were pictured in the little tornado-swept burg of Newtown. A day of ceaseless search among the ruins and work for the injured and suffering followed the storm, and a night of gloom and despair. There are about 15 dead and over 30 injured, while half of the place is in ruins and 50 families are homeless.

The storm struck Newtown at 6:15 in the evening. It came without warning, and few were able to take advantage of their storm cellars. Striking the eastern end of the town, it cut a clean swath 500 to 600 feet wide through the best portion of the place, sweeping everything before it. Over 30 houses were torn to splinters. On one street alone, a row of 30 houses was entirely demolished. Here scarcely anyone escaped death or injury. The walls of buildings fell with a crash that sounded above the roar of the storm, burying people in the ruins. Frame buildings were twisted and lifted from their foundations; others were utterly demolished, pieces of them being carried for miles. Others shifted in their positions, apparently unhurt; one was turned squarely around, while another was turned upside down.

The storm lasted five minutes. When it had ended, the sun came out for a few minutes, and shone brightly over a scene of ruin.

Numbers of citizens plied the ruins incessantly, answering the cries of the injured from this place and that, carrying the dead to the depot and the wounded to places of safety.

Houses of the survivors were thrown open to the unfortunate, and all possible was done to allay suffering. Chillicothe sent a squad of physicians, who materially aided he Newtown rescuers.

When morning broke, the search was begun with renewed activity, and has been kept up. Nightfall found the searchers still at work, with no knowledge of the actual number of dead and wounded.

Jury Acquits Mrs. George.

Canton, O., April 29.—The jury in the case of Mrs. George, charged with the murder of G. D. Saxton, returned a verdict of acquittal. A mighty cheer went up from the crowd in the courtroom when the verdict was announced. The cheer was almost instantly taken up by the people who packed the streets. Mrs. George was immediately surrounded by a great throng, who desired to congratulate her.

MRS. ANNA GEORGE.

The crime for which Mrs. George was indicted and tried was the murder of George D. Saxton on the evening of Oct. 7, 1898, in Canton, O. Saxton was a brother of Mrs. McKinley, wife of the president; was well-to-do and unmarried. Mrs. George had been married, but was divroced from her husband. It was charged that the divorce was procured in South Dakota at Saxton's request, and that Mrs. George had repeatedly threatened to kill him because he had not kept a promise to marry her.

A Doctor's Terrible Mistake.

Montreal, April 29.—Seven years ago Thomas Stewart, then 10 years old, lost the sight of one eye, the blade of a penknife having been accidentally run into it. Dr. Alexander Proudfoot attended him. Recently Dr. Proudfoot advised the removal of the useless eye as the only means of preserving the other intact. This was agreed to, and the task was entrusted to Dr. Proudfoot, who is assistant oculist and aurist to the general hospital. The operation took place at the family residence, and at its conclusion it was found that the healthy eye had been removed. On recovery from the effects of the anaesthetic the patient found himself blind.

Mrs. Sloane Is Now Mrs. Belmont.

New York, April 29.—Henry T. Sloane was yesterday granted an absolute divorce from his wife, Jessie A. Sloane. The custody of the Sloane children, Jessie, Emily and Eleanor, was given to Mr. Sloane. Mrs. Sloane is deprived of the right to any part in Mr. Sloane's property. The separation of the couple was announced last December. Perry Belmont and Mrs. Sloane were married at 8:30 o'clock last night at Greenwich, Conn., by Rev. Walter M. Barrows, pastor of the Second Congregational church of that city.

Awarded to McGovern.

New York, April 29.—Terry McGovern of Brooklyn, the featherweight boxer, met Joe Bernstein of Manhattan, in a 25-round bout last night, and, after forcing the fighting from start to finish, was declared the winner. Referee White based his decision on the fact that McGovern was practically on the aggressive throughout the 25 rounds.

Off For Philippines.

San Francisco, April 29.—The United States transports Senator and Ohio sailed for the Philippines, via Honolulu. The vessels bear the 13th United States infantry and several hundred recruits for service in the Philippines, besides carrying hundreds of tons of machinery and supplies for the army and navy.

Foreigners Not Wanted.

Pekin, April 29.—It is stated on good authority that most of the European drill instructors in the Chinese army have been dismissed. This is taken as confirming the reported tendency of the dowager empress and the reactionaries to discard, as far as possible, foreign aid.

Somebody's Conscience Relieved.

Washington, April 29.—A check for $2500 was received yesterday by the treasurer of the United Staes from an attorney in New York city, who states that it was sent at the request of a client, for credit of the government of the United States. The money was treated as a conscience contribution.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Conclusions of Lieutenant Ellicott on Warship Wrecks.

FINE PRESENT FROM A MONARCH.

King Oscar of Sweden Sends a Jewel to Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn and Offers Knighthood — Improvements In Tents For the Army—Spanish War Pensions.

Lieutenant J. M. Ellicott has carefully examined the wrecks of the Spanish ships at Manila and has drawn some interesting conclusions from the effect of the fire of the American fleet, says the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. He calls attention to a number of features which will probably engage the remedial action of the ordnance officers.

Lieutenant Ellicott finds that the sides of iron and steel built ships do not arrest projectiles enough to explode them. In other words, the shells perforate the sides of steel cruisers without much damage beyond tearing a hole through the metal, and if the aperture is above the water line there is no great danger.

There has always been an effort on the part of ordnance officers to develop the steel shell so as to penetrate armor, and this desire and attempt have produced a shell which, it now appears, goes through the side of a ship so successfully that the shell will not explode and do the damage it should. Another important point is that the gun shields upon which the crews depend for protection from an enemy's fire cannot be trusted to preserve the gunners from disaster when the ranges are over 2,500 yards. With the increased range the shot secures a velocity which speedily annihilates a gun shield and makes it more fatal to the gun crew behind it than the shell would be. He also finds that a warship will be placed hors du combat by flames and the destruction of the personnel long before the vessel is sunk by gun fire.

King Oscar of Sweden has conferred knighthood upon George D. Meiklejohn, assistant secretary of war, and has decorated him with the insignia of the Royal Order of the Sword, says the Washington representative of the Chicago Times-Herald. Secretary Meiklejohn is barred by the constitution of the United States from accepting the knighthood, but he will retain the jewel which the Swedish monarch sent with the patent.

During the war with Spain Mr. Meiklejohn, while acting as secretary of war, was visited by Minister A. Grip, representing Sweden and Norway, who asked permission for attaches of his majesty's army to accompany the American forces through the Cuban and Porto Rican campaigns. Secretary Meiklejohn readily issued the necessary authority and credentials to the foreign officers, who accompanied the minister, and it is presumed King Oscar has conferred the knightly honor on the American in recognition of this courtesy.

Minister Grip brought the patent of knighthood to Secretary Meiklejohn, but the latter was compelled by the constitutional provision to return it to him with an explanation of why he could not accept the honor. It is customary in such cases to send the patent to the state department, which was done in this instance, but the American war office was permitted to return the insignia of knighthood. The insignia of the order is a golden star beautifully mounted and pendent from a bar.

The army has been having some trouble with its shelter tents, according to the Chicago Tribune's Washington correspondent. The reports of the officers in the field indicate that the tents are but poor protection against tropical rains and that they are waterproof only by the addition of heavy rubber blankets, which add to the weight carried by the soldier, to the manifest impediment of his progress. Already quartermasters have under consideration a sample tent which will be tested in the Philippines. It is devised by Captain John S. Parke of the Twenty-first infantry, who has been in Washington and who has just gone to Manila to join his command. The Parke tent is of heavier material than the old shelter tent and is made of twilled duck. It is so arranged that it may be used as a hammock for the support of two men, the tent poles being hammock supporters. The poles also form the handles of two intrenching tools, a pick and a shovel, each made of aluminium, of which material the poles are made. The tent will also serve as a covering for the blanket roll carried by the troopers.

The same officer has invented a substitute for the old wooden field desk, the cumbersomeness of which has been an annoyance to the officers. The new device is a bag to be slung over the shoulder, weighing about 10 or 12 pounds, against the 150 pounds of the old desk. Compartments are provided for the various blanks and reports which must be made out by officers in the field, and there are tubes attached for the preservation of writing materials, mucilage, etc.

Veterans of the civil war will wonder when they read that within less than a year from the beginning of the war with Spain 11,000 volunteers have applied for pensions, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat's Washington representative. In some regiments the average has reached one in three. In others it is lower. But the amazing fact is that some regiments of volunteers which were never under fire have now 200 to 800 applications for pensions on file. Over 90 per cent of the thousands of claims filed by these late volunteers are for disease incurred in the service and the most of them are for "malaria."

Drift of Opinion.

The suggestion of a stable keeper that men in his line of business offer to water horses at their yards is a good one. Every owner of a horse knows how important the frequent watering of the animal is, and since the public drinking troughs have been declared dangerous, on account of the prevailing distemper, the offer of the horseman is generous and timely. He is willing to do for others what he would like others to do for him, and we have no doubt his suggestion will be approved.

It will be interesting to notice next winter whether the cake walks will be resurrected as a social pleasure for another season. Until this past winter they have been forgotten for several years. This season has seen them some times two or three in a single evening and at least once a week most of the time. It is probable that cake walks will become stale and unprofitable before the season ends, and it is indeed about time that they became looked upon as such, for their novelty has worn away. — Brockton Enterprise.

A Handsome Job.

Badger Bros. are just finishing the New York city monument to President Arthur upon which they have been at work since last fall. It is a very large sarcophagus monument with carved caps. The die is panelled upon four sides and inlaid with heavy bronze faces; on the opposite sides of which are wreaths. All is let into the polished work. The monument will probably be shipped next week, and is well worth an inspection. It may be seen at the Willard street yards of the firm.

THE PRIZE DRILL.

Camp 27 Withdrew and Camp 17 Won Easily.

The Good of the Order Committee of Camp 27, S. of V., held an entertainment and prize drill at Faxon Hall, Friday evening.

Previous to the prize drill there was an entertainment consisting of vocal songs and duets by local and out of town talent. The prize drill was to have been between squads from Camp 27, Camp 30 of Dorchester and Camp 17 of Brockton, but one of Camp 27 could not be present and it was limited to Camps 17 and 30.

Lieut. Colbert of Co. M., 5th Regt., Sargents McGrath and Crane of Co. K, officiated as judges and had no difficulty in awarding the banner to Camp 17, to which it was presented by Mrs. L. C. Dewson, president of the Ladies' Aid Society.

The entertainment consisted of selections by Richardson's orchestra, solos by Mr. Walter I. Holmes, Mr. Ella Holmes, Mrs. L. C. Hewson, Mr. Crowell of Camp 96, and Mr. Clark; Sailor's Hornpipe by Miss Garland Mischeler accompanied by her sister; musical sketch by Messrs. Murphy and Cripps of Camp 96; bone solos by Master Flynt, accompanied by his mother, and selections by the Sons of Veterans quartette, consisting of Messrs. Holmes, Merrill, Prouty and Foss, with Mrs. Rhines as accompanist.

Following this prize drill which closed the entertainment, a collation was served and the balance of the evening was devoted to a social dance at which Capt. H. R Holmes was floor director and L. C. Hewson, F. S. Merrill, A. S Gardner, Edward Prouty and Fred Foss the aids.

The good of the order committee, who had charge of the entertainment were, M. C. Homes, J. L. Cleverly and Charles E. Richardson.

Presentation.

The resignation of Mr. Frederic Allison Tupper, the very successful head-master of the Quincy High school for several years, took effect today, and he has moved to Brighton to assume his new position. At the High school yesterday morning, during his brief absence from the class room some works of art were smuggled in, and upon his return he was greeted by a storm of applause. Before he could understand what it meant, Mr. Henry W. Porter, one of the sub-masters, made a brief speech, and presented Mr. Tupper with three pictures richly framed, from the pupils, and two casts, "Winged Victory," and a best of Homer from the teachers. The pictures were the Aurora by Guido, a colored photo of St. Marks, and a rich platinum print of a flock of sheep.

Mr. Tupper responded and took the opportunity to thank his friends and also to review the progress of the school. During his supervision a beautiful and well appointed building had been erected, and the course of studies enlarged. He extended to all his cordial good wishes.

Mr. Tupper's remarks were greeted with applause and the school yell, and then work was resumed.

The pictures were on exhibition at the prize speaking.

Widening Coddington Street.

Coddington street needs widening badly. It is very narrow for the large amount of travel to the Coddington school, the beaches and to Mount Wollaston cemetery. At the junction with Washington street it is the most dangerous place in the city.

On Monday evening at 8 o'clock the City Council will hold a public meeting to see what is best to be done about it. Owners of estates have been notified to make any objections they may have; but probably little or no objections will be raised, as it seems to be a public necessity.

The cost of widening at the present time will be very small; probably not one-half what it would be a few years later. The property along the street would not be damaged but litle, if any, except the old three-cornered building at the junction, which needs to be moved, whether the street is widened or not. It has, and always will be, an eye-sore wherever located; and the sooner it is raised to the ground the better.

Mr. Charles Crow Long and Miss Jennie Stephen Howie were united in marriage in the First Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening, April 26. The church was filled with friends of the bride and groom, many from Chelsea, Cambridge and other places being present. The pulpit platform was beautifully decorated with plants and flowers. At eight o'clock the organist, Mrs. James Marr, passed from the prelude to the familiar notes of the wedding march. The bride, leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Alexander Howie, and attended by Miss Mary B. T. Milne, bridesmaid, and Miss Christina Kerr of Cambridge, maid of honor, was met in front of the puplit by the groom, attended by Mr. Alexander Howie, Jr., and the tenderly solemn ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Robert Westly Peach. Messrs. David and Edward Kerr of Cambridge, William Smith of Boston and Thomas Milne of Quincy, were the ushers.

NOW ESTABLISHED.

Woodward Institute No Longer an Experiment But a Success.

The annual report of Miss Small, the principal of the Woodward is of especial interest this year, not only for the accomplishments of the school, but because of its reference to the fitting which children receive in our public schools before entering the institute. The report in full:

It is with a large measure of satisfaction that I present to you the fifth annual report of Woodward Institute.

This school can no longer be considered an experiment it is an established fact. It is beginning to feel the impetus which a "past" gives to any institution, and to take an honorable position among the secondary schools for girls.

To furnish skilful instruction in the subjects now considered most necessary for a liberal education, to teach the mind to think, to train the body to respond to the demands made upon it, to give ethical instruction that will never be forgotten, even though it be not always followed, to develop each girl's individuality,--these are among the aims of the Woodward Institute.

Originality that does not degenerate into eccentricity is desirable. A school like an individual, should have its distinguishing characteristics.

In the accomplishment of our purpose, we have not blindly followed the course of other schools, nor have we rashly attempted to depart from well-established pedagogical methods.

We have intended to develop the best that is within us, in the wisest way granted us to know, for the individual and for the community.

Among other questions that have arisen, we have carefully studied the needs of the time and of our city as to courses of study, the number of years to be spent therein, and the ages that can best be united for secondary work. We have tried to respond in the way that apparently best fulfills the conditions and intentions of our Founder's will.

Never has the faculty of the school been so united in its efforts, and consequently never before so successful in the results accomplished.

This year, for the first time, the full course of study is being carried out in all classes.

CLASS OF 1899.

The present class numbers twenty-five members. Numbers alone do not indicate success; but this our first Woodward class is satisfactory both in numbers and in scholarship. The rank "Eair" in every study is required for graduation.

Nine girls in this class are preparing to enter college as follows: Radcliffe, 1; Wellesley, 1; Smith 1; Bryn Mawr, 1; Boston University, 3; Mass. Institute of Technology, 1; Boston Normal school, 1.

The lower classes are now making commendable progress.

Our teaching in English, foreign languages, and mathematics is greatly retarded by the meagre attainments of our pupils in grammar and arithmetic, when they enter the school. This lack is apparent year after year.

To overcome these deficiencies, in addition to our prescribed lessons means patient endeavor, unselfish effort, and extra time given by our teachers, all of which energy should be spent upon the advanced courses.

I am aware that pupils easily forget, and need constant review; the immature mind needs time for the thorough digestion of any subject; indeed, the Woodward course of study strongly emphasizes this very fact. However, before attempting work in the secondary school, I would have girls know well the multiplication table and ordinary aritmetical processes, as well as the parts of speech and the construction of a simple sentence. Certainly this is not an excessive demand.

I would suggest to the parents and teachers, preparing girls for Woodward Institute, that quality not quantity is what is needed. A greater thoroughness of preparation, more training to habits of attentive study, and willingness to attempt the difficult, and the results will be more satisfactory to all concerned.

I know full well the large variety of subjects and the limited time allowed for each in our elementary schools; the remedy for superficiality, it seems to me, must come from the efforts of the individual teacher, in teaching for the education of the ones rather than for the promotion of the many; and when each teacher bravely does what she feels ought to be done, the elementary schools will better satisfy the demands of the secondary schools, which, in turn, will send forth graduates better fitted for work in college, in the home, or in the many positions open to women wage-earners.

OUR NEEDS.

In addition to our desire for pupils better prepared for entrance requirements, one of the pressing needs of the school is a piano for class work in the music room.

The physical laboratory has never yet been equipped with necessary apparatus, and, consequently, teaching in that department is somewhat handicapped.

OUR WANTS.

It was intended at the opening of the school in April, 1894, to adorn the school building with pictures and sculpture; however, as a hall was even then needed, it was decided to postpone any such expenditure of money until the addition had been completed. The money then saved was added to the fund and therefore became unavailable for the purpose intended; since that time, our income has necessarily been expended for our immediate needs. The Principal hopes that the Alumnae and friends interested in the education of girls, will kindly remember to place Woodward Hall in the list of their benefactions.

The ground on the south-east side of the building could be prepared, without large expense, for tennis, basket-ball, and other out-of-door games which would give the girls an opportunity for pleasing as well as beneficial exercise.

SPECIAL DAYS.

Founder's Day was celebrated by an address by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore.

Decoration Day was observed by the school with an appropriate programme consisting of essays, readings, recitation, gymnastic exercises, singing and fancy marching.

The graduation exercises consisted of singing by the school, and an address by Dr. A. B. Kendig of Brookline, followed the next evening by the usual reception.

The regular work of the school is of so much importance that we can not often allow extra time to be given to entertainments which, though pleasing to an audience, give but a slight idea of the real work of the school.

Our daily teaching is our best recommendation; it may not furnish the visitor with brilliant recitations, but it will show, on the part of both teachers and pupils, faithful, conscientious effort, from which beneficial results can but be obtained.

We wish that more of the parents would make themselves familiar with the regular class-recitations, where can best be seen the work in each department. Visitors are always gladly welcomed.

Our school depends for its success not only upon the efforts of teachers and pupils, but also upon the attitude of the parents, and the wisdom of the members of the Board of Directors, as well as upon the financial skill of the Board of Managers.

When each agent fulfils its special function, these factors make the product known as the Woodward Institute.

BE STRONG.

Be strong to bear, O heart of mine!
Faint not when sorrow comes.
The summits of these hills of earth
Touch the blue skies of home.
So many burdened ones there are,
Close journeying by thy side.
Assist, encourage, comfort them,
Thine own deep sorrow hide.
What though thy trials may seem great?
Thy strength is known to God!
And pathways steep and rugged lead
To pastures green and broad.

Be strong to love, O heart of mine!
Live not for self alone,
But find in blessing other lives
Completeness for thine own.
Seek every hungering heart to feed,
Each saddened heart to cheer,
And where stern justice stands aloof
In pity draw thou near.
Kind, loving words and helping hands
Have won more souls for heaven
Than all the dogmas and the creeds
By priests and sages given.

Be strong to hope, O heart of mine!
Look not on life's dark side,
For just beyond these gloomy hours
Rich, radiant days abide.
Let hope, like summer's rainbow bright,
Scatter thy falling tears,
And let God's precious promises
Dispel thy anxious fears.
For every grief a Lethe comes,
For every toil a rest.
So hope, so love, so patient bear;
God doeth all things best.

TWO "FORRESTERS."

In Georgia in the fork of the Coosawattee and Connesauga rivers live the Forrester families. They have been known for many years as the "Fighting Forresters" because of their propensity for pugilistic encounters. Old Hiram Forrester had for a long time been known as the "Bull of the Woods," and had never been licked by an antagonist.

He had two sons, Bill and Ben Forrester, who inherited much of their father's love for fighting. Bill was about 19 and Ben a year and a half younger, but the brothers were pretty evenly matched in size, Bill being five feet six and weighing 150 pounds, while Ben was five feet five and weighed but a few pounds less than his elder brother.

Both were bull necked, blue eyed and sallow complexioned youths, with shocks of fiery red hair covering their bullet heads. Slow in movements, after the manner of the typical Georgia mountaineer, they were also quiet and slow of speech, and neither was ever known to betray the least excitement, no matter what the emergency.

One day I was passing through the settlement, when, sitting on a stump by the roadside, I saw Ben Forrester, with his big slouched hat pushed back, nibbling a straw in a meditative manner, as if revolving some serious problem in his mind. One eye was blackened as if by a blow, and his right hand was bound up in a piece of rag.

"Hello, Ben!" said I, drawing rein. "You seem to have been in a scrimmage."

"Yaas, jest had a little scrap."

"Why, I didn't take you for a fighter."

"I hain't be'n tell this mornin."

"Who have you been fighting?"

"Jest fit Brother Ben."

"What! Fighting your own brother?" I said in amazement. "Tell me about it."

"Wull, hit war this way: Me an Ben's allers be'n the best uv frien's. Pap has tole us time an ag'in that we didn't have no spunk. He says that by the time he war our age he'd licked every feller uv his size in the settlement. But we hain't nuver tuck to fightin tell this mornin.

"We war out in the fiel' knockin round, when Ben, he perches himself on the fence an looks so durned indepen'ent down on me as I stood leanin ag'in a tree that hit suddently come into my min' that he thought he war a better man than me.

"'Look a-here, Ben,' says I, 'don't look at me in that kin' uv a quizzikil style.'

"'I'll look at ye as I please, an ye can't he'p yerse'f,' says Brother Ben.

"'Then p'raps ye think ye're a better man than me,' I said an felt my dander rise at the very mention uv his biggitiness.

"'Ef ye don't think so, p'raps ye'd better try me,' says Brother Ben.

"'Jest crawl down off'n that 'ere fence, an I'll show ye in 'bout three shakes uv a sheep's tail which air the best man,' says I.

"No sooner said than done. Ben he lipt down f'om the fence an flopped his whings an crowed like a rooster. Wull, that jest sot me afire all over. I squared myse'f an let drive, an Ben staggered back ag'in the fence. I made fur 'im, an he kotched me under the eye, an then we went at it in good yearnes'. Hit wus blim, blim, blim, fur 'bout two minits, an we didn't neither uv us have much the 'vantage.

"Then we stopped to blow a bit, an Ben come at me ag'in. I met 'im ha'f way, an the way we fit war a caution to the Jews. Finally we clinched, an Ben tripped me up, an we both come down kerwhollop, Ben on top.

"'That's onfair to trip,' says I, with my mouth ha'f full uv dirt an leaves. 'Lemme up an fight fair.'

"Ben turned loose, an we riz a-puffin an a-blowin like two young bulls in the spring uv the year. Finally I hauled away an struck Ben a lick under the chin while he war off'n his gyard, an he reeled back'ards; then, bowin his neck, he made a rush at me, an I could see the Ole Scratch in his eyes.

"We scuffled and shuffled round an tore up the groun' tell we war both wet with sweat, an still neither one uv us didn't have no 'vantage over t'other. But I seed that Ben war a-gittin winded, an I struck out ag'in. He dodged, an I run jam up ag'in the fence, an Ben fetched me a reg'lar maulin lick on the side uv the head.

"That made me good an mad, an I turned round an peeled him one on the nose that fetched the blood. 'Hooray!' says I, 'fust blood's mine.'

"Ben wheeled round, an I pasted him ag'in, but that didn't stop him a bit. He jest come at me with both han's, an we clinched ag'in, an down we went in a pile an laid thar pantin an clinchin fur about a minit, when I thought I'd give him another trial, so I let go, an we both staggered to our feet.

"'Got 'nough?' says I.

"'Not ha'f,' says he.

"'Do ye still think ye're the best man?'

"'I'm a better man than ye ever dared to be,' says he.

"'All right,' says I, spittin in my han's, 'here goes to prove it,' an at it we went ag'in. Ye know Ben's arms is jest a leetle but longer'n mine, an he could tech me afore I could git in a lick, when we stood square up to each other. So I swung round my lef' han', an as he flung out his right to ketch the lick I peeled him side uv the head with my right an knocked him into the middle uv the road.

"He stood thar sorter dazed fur a ha'f a minit, an then he charged ram sheep fashion an butted me in the stummick, an the lick knocked the breath out'n me. As I sorter doubled over from the lick he struck me a sorter glancin blow on the head, an I ducked an ketched him round the middle an flung him over my head.

"'Purty good fur you, Bill,' I hearn some un say, an, glancin round, I seed pap settin on the fence a-grinnin from year to year. While I had my 'tention drawed to the ole man Ben tuck the 'vantage uv me an give me a lick in the burr uv the year that made me see seben stars.

"I wheeled round an peeled him in the mouth an knocked two uv his teeth out. He stopped to spit, when I lit into him fur all he war wo'th. Ye see, I knowed that pap war watchin us, an whichever got the wo'st uv it'd hafter settle with the ole man, Hiram. I fetched a jump an struck Ben right an lef', an he went over back'ards, but as he went he carried me with him, an then I felt somethin come down on my right thumb an knowed Ben had it in his mouth.

"I tried to jerk loose, but he friz to that thumb wos't'n one uv these ere thunder cooters what don't turn loose the'r grip tell it thunders. I knowed somethin had to be done, so I reached round with my left han' an grabbed up a han'ful uv sand, an I begun to cram it into Ben's eyes.

"'Ouch!' yelled Ben. 'Lemme up. I've got 'nough.'

"'Still think ye're the best man?' I axed.

"'Lemme up; I'm satisfied.'

"So I let him go, an we both sot back an looked at each other fur 'bout a minit, neither one uv us havin breath 'nough to speak.

"'Ye haint a'-gwinter set up thar on the fence any mo' an suck yer teeth at me,' says I.

Ben looked sullen and cowedlike, but he shuck his head. Then I knowed the grudge war settled. But ye jest orter a-seed us. Ben's nose an lips war swelled 's if he'd be'n through a yeller jackets' nest. His eyes war bloodshotten, an his clo'es war nigh 'bout tore off'n him. My lef' eye war closed an my thumb war a plumb sight, an my shirt war ripped clean down to my wais'ban', an thar we sot like two badly bunged up roosters.

"'Git up, ye young raskils,' says pap, 'an go down to the branch an wash yerselves. Ye ain't sich bad grit, a'ter all. I feel ruther proud uv ye! Nex' time ye wanter try yer spunk jump on to somebody what's not in the fambly. Hit's ag'in' the rules fur the Forresters to fight 'mongst each other,' an then he turned an walked off up the road whistlin his favorite chune when he feels right good."—J. T. McVay in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

BIAS MADRAS SHIRT WAIST FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

The bias treatment of striped fabrics is always a graceful one, especially where the stripes are made to represent a succession of downward-turning V's. With the exception of the back yoke, collar, and cuffs, our shirt-waist design which is taken from Harper's Bazar is to be made of Madras and is cut upon the bias. The fronts are made in narrow upward-turning tucks, which begin about one and one-half inches from the centre and extend to the shoulder seam at the arm-hole, the tucks at the deepest point, i. e., where the shoulder seam and collar join being about six inches deep. The box pleat is separate and adjustable, and may be of white or of the darkest shade in the material. The fulness at the front of the waist is gathered on each side of waist line. The back of the waist has a centre seam at which the lines must be carefully matched. The same care must be exercised at the under arm seam if the pretty effect of the illustration is to be preserved. The back of the yoke has two down-turning points, between which the slight fulness is gathered. At the waist-line this fullness is laid in flat inward-turning pleats. The sleeves are a perfected pattern of the conventional shirt sleeve, with slight fulness gathered into square-pointed cuff. The collar is of the deep turn-over variety, which is already popularly shown in the smart shops.

Designated by Nicknames.

In many places in Great Britain, and especially in some of the fishing villages of Cornwall and of certain parts of Scotland, such a thing as a genuine surname is never even heard; every man in the place is known by a nickname.

In most of these villages this has been brought about originally by the fact that all the inhabitants have only had very few surnames among them. One or two prevailing families have represented the population and have married and intermarried till trying to distinguish a man by his surname has only created confusion. And even some of the nicknames have begun to act in the same way. At a village not very far from Wick the writer knows of some fisherman who had originally been nicknamed "Dumpy," and had left so many descendants that other specific nicknames had been necessary to distinguish which of the "Dumpys" was meant on given occasions.

At another village, not far from this one, several nicknames have in the same way become the only known family names. The writer was once in the general shop here when a small boy came in and asked for some article, stating that it was for Blower.

"Blower?" said the shopkeeper, "which Blower? There are scores of Blowers!"

The child answered at once:

"It's for 'Bowleggit' Blower, 'Red 'Lugged' (eared) Blower's laddie."—London Answers.

Roman Stage Carpentry.

The excavations in the theater of Dugga, in Tunis, show that the Romans possessed for their theaters a system of stage carpentry equal if not superior to the appliances now in use. An ingenious contrivance enabled those who stood underneath the stage to see what was proceeding above. A number of trapdoors opened in the center of the stage, and grooves have been discovered showing the way in which scenery and stage furniture were lowered and raised. Eight large holes led to several dry wells three yards deep under the stage, while a large receptacle served to store the curtain during the performance. The floor of the stage was covered with mosaics.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 30—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—How shall we divide our time?—Eccl. iii, 1-15.

The proper use of our time is one of the most important duties of life. It is a gift of God which once gone never returns. Our success in life depends upon our ability to properly divide and properly use the time which God allots to us. In these days, when the demands upon the time of those who are active and industrious are so multitudinous, the question of the proper dividing of time becomes all the more important. Alfred the Great of England divided his day into three periods of eight hours each—one period for work, a second for recreation and the third for sleep. Thus he accomplished much in life.

The wise man in the topical reference teaches us that God has set a time for all things. The changes that are going on in life are constant, and yet nothing is done haphazardly or without system. There is a time for every work of God, and each comes in its season. If God finds it necessary in order to carry out His purposes in life to have a time and a season for everything, how much more certain it is that if we are to accomplish the purpose for which God made us we must have a time for the duties of life and perform them at their time.

Just how each one is to divide his time is a question that he only can decide. But there are certain principles which should have due influence upon all in the use of time. 1. We should use our time in conformity to the will of God. Time is a precious gift of God that should be consecrated to Him, just as we consecrate our money or our talents to Him. 2. In the division and use of our time ample provision should be made for all religious duties and devotions. The spiritual is often neglected for the material and sacrificed for that which is of less importance. Many who allot sufficient time each day for the feeding of the body make no provision for the soul, yet it is just as necessary that the soul should be fed as the body. 3. We should divide and use our time in the light of eternity in view of the fact that time will some time end and we shall be called upon to render an account for the use we have made of it. We should strive to use each moment, hour and day of our lives as we shall wish we had used them when the end of our time here comes. No better motto or rule for the proper division and use of time could be suggested than that.

Bible Readings.—Ps. xxxix, 1-5; xc, 10-12; Eccl. xii, 1; Isa. lv, 1-6; Math. vi, 24-34; Luke xix, 41-44; John ix, 4; xii, 35; Rom. xiii, 11-14; II Cor. vi, 1, 2; Gal. vi, 9; Eph. v, 15-21; Col. iv, 5, 6; Rev. x, 5, 6.

One as Good as a Thousand.

One positive promise of the Lord on any particular subject is as good as a thousand, and the Lord is just as sure to fulfill that promise as though it was repeated over and over again. We do not need, even from each other, a number of promises on the same subject. This is especially true in matters of religious experience. One positive promise of heart purity, if there were but one in the whole Bible, is as good as a thousand, and yet the Lord, in order to impress this subject upon our minds, has given us hundreds of promises bearing on the subject. We do well to collect these promises and keep them in our minds. And yet we will bear in mind that if there were but one promise the Lord would hold Himself bound to fulfill that one just as fully as though the promises were more numerous. Let us get hold of one good promise in every matter of religious experience, and let us hold on to it just as tenaciously as though we had a hundred.—Christian Standard.

Sunshine.

"Sun of my soul, thou Saviour dear," is a line that ought to be said or sung every hour of the Christian's life. Some good people are the prey of naturally despondent temperaments. Such need a double supply of grace and must pray for it. So must they whose digestion is weak and whose nerves are oversensitive. The worries of business or household cares, the loss of sleep or the derangement of the bodily machinery, puts such Christian folks under a cloud pretty often. Today they sing like larks—tomorrow the barometer goes down, and they are in the dumps again. Such people should look after their bodily health as a spiritual duty. Moreover, they should keep their Christian faith where it would not be exposed to every east wind or drenched to death by every shower that falls. Keep a good supply of tonic Bible texts within reach, and take them freely the next time that an ague fit comes on.—Rev. T. L. Cuyler.

Religion With Trimmings.

Many church members turn up in Sunday clothing at popular conventions and for all dress parade occasions, but when there is a real battle with evil to be fought they are missing. As one has well said, "The tendency in our day is to take our religion with too many trimmings."—D. W. Whittle.

The True Life.

That is the true life—the life of active employment, whatever be the work God has given you to do, and the station He has appointed you to fill. I repeat, the busy, active life is always the happy one.—Dr. Macduff.

Impressions.

Only a ray of sunshine,
Only a passing thought,
But it left an imprint on the heart
Like iron, deeply wrought.

Only a swift winged arrow
Shot from the bow of love,
But it healed a weight of sorrow
That ages failed to move.

'Twas but a fleeting shadow,
But it lent a tender grace
And covered the look of anguish
Reflected on the face.

—Philadelphia Ledger.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

Senator Frye Tells How to Expand It.

Giant Strides Have Been Made In Our Country.

Must Keep Watchful Eye Upon Jealous Nations.

Vast Riches Await Development In the Philippine Islands.

Should Hold Them as Our Own For the Good of People Who Inhabit Them.

New York, April 27.—United States Senator William P. Frye was tendered a banquet here last night in recognition of his labors in behalf of New York harbor improvements.

SENATOR FRYE.

The dinner was given by the following associations: Produce Exchange, Marine association of the port of New York, the steamship interests, Cotton Exchange, the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' association, Board of Trade, Board of Marine Underwriters, National Board of Marine Underwriters, Coffee Exchange, Metal Exchange and the Stock Exchange.

Ex-Mayor William L. Strong was chairman of the general committee of 200, and Gustav H. Schwab was secretary.

Governor Roosevelt and Senator Platt made addresses previous to the one delivered by the guest of the evening. Mr. Frye said in part:

"The more I see of this world the more I am delighted with this republic. God scattered his gifts here with a prodigal hand. These gifts were bestowed upon intelligent, resourceful men, who made fairly good use of them. Since the close of the Civil war our progress has been the marvel of the world. We have outstripped the nations in agriculture, in mining and manufacturing. Our growth in wealth and population has surpassed our wildest dreams; our home market became the best on earth, actually absorbing almost our entire product. This operated in one respect to our disadvantage; it tempted us to contentment, induced us to neglect foreign markets, their requirements and necessities. When, through a bitter experience, we learned that our product was a third larger than our consumption; that our surplus would surely increase year by year; that we must have a foreign market or, crab-like, progress backward, we found ourselves face to face with a most serious problem. Our commercial rivals were strongly entrenched everywhere; with subsidized steamship lines entering all the great ports of the world, with banking facilities, business agencies long established, and a thorough acquaintance with trade requirements.

"We entered upon the solution of the problem with courage and intelligence. The manufacturers of our country formed an association, embracing membership from nearly every state in the Union. What has been accomplished? Last year we imported in round numbers $767,000,000 of goods, and exported $1,302,000,000 of our products, leaving a balance of over $500,000,000 in our favor. Our exports exceeded those of the United Kingdom.

"It is easy to account for our exports of agricultural products; hungry people bought our wheat, needy manufacturers our cotton, craving appetites our tobacco. But the products of our manufactories were compelled to meet the fiercest competition, to seek the same markets sought by England, Germany, France and Belgium. In this commercial war the advantages were not all with us. Our coal and iron were accessible, while our rivals sought them deep down in the bowels of the earth. Our working men were better fed, clothed, housed and paid than theirs, did more intelligent work and accomplished greater results. The inventive genius of our mechanics was decidedly superior to theirs. We had another advantage. Transportation was lower with us than with them—a very important item in the cost of the finished product.

"What of our future? Our success last year is most gratifying, but our necessity for foreign markets is certain to increase. Our wonderful inventive genius, the brain power of our workingmen, our present and our prospective machinery, the sagacity, enterprise and skill of our manufacturers, all promise still greater advance. In a few years we shall have a population of 100,000,000. What shall this increase do? Farm? Only a small percentage; for now we produce enough for our own, and can supply the necessities of Europe, while Europe is steadily increasing her agricultural acreage, rendering her dependence upon us less and less. It is safe to say that 60,000,000 of our people will, in that time, be dependent upon non-agricultural pursuits.

"The commercial war upon which the world has entered will become fiercer and fiercer. Germany will be our most dangerous rival. Her wages paid are not one-half of ours. Shall we reduce ours to the plane of hers? That might breed a discontent which would endanger the republic; would certainly reduce the purchasing power of our people, and still more increase the surplus. Shall we run our mills on one-third or one-half time? That would reduce our purchasing power and largely increase the cost of our product. I do not believe that our railroads can reduce freights much unless a new motive power is found, but our water carriers can, and probably will. Freight ships will be increased in carrying capacity and rates still further reduced.

"Consider for a moment another, and, in my opinion, a most important aid to our foreign commerce. Where is the most promising field for it in the near future? Surely in the Orient. Humboldt, more than 50 years ago, declared that the commerce of the Pacific would in time exceed that of the Atlantic; and what intelligent man today doubts the realization in the near future of what then seemed a dream? Do not England, France, Germany, Russia and Italy, by their conduct, recognize that the prophecy is to be fulfilled? How shall we secure our share of this commerce?

"While all the nations of Europe are our commercial foes; while just now they fear us more than ever before, and, as China witnesses, are lining up to stop our advance, we have abundant cause for courage and hope. The unexpected has happened, increasing our confidence in the future tenfold. Humanity and a decent self-respect forced us to a declaration of war against Spain. The conflict was short, sharp and decisive. In a few months that proud kingdom became a suppliant for peace. Cuba is commercially ours; for, while we refused to accept sovereignty there, and intend to yield all claim to authority whenever a stable government is formed, that government will owe its life to us; its people cannot fail to remember that their freedom from oppression, from exacting and burdensome taxation, from hunger and starvation, is a gift from us. Gratitude and contiguity will surely give us the trade. When peace abides there, and good government assures protection to life and property, commerce will enormously increase. Porto Rico is ours, and its trade will be.

"But more promising than the acquirement of many such islands is the acquisition by us of the Philippine archipelago, undoubtedly the most fertile and productive unexplored land under the sun. In 1837, with rebellion rife, according to United States Commissioner Harden, the exports were $41,342,000, the imports, $17,343,000; balance in favor, $23,999,000. Give the islands a good government, protection to life and property, an advancing civilization, increasing intelligence, fair wages, honest collecting of revenues, railroads and highway, improved agricultural implements, cable communication with our country and telegraph lines between them; and who doubts that commerce will, in a few years, be quadrupled? The bulk of it will be ours, even with the open door, for we shall have the advantage of England, Germany and France in distance and freight rates. The islands are marvelously rich and productive; not more than one-quarter of the tillable land under cultivation. The forests, of best mercantile woods, are boundless.

"But the value to us of the domestic trade of these possessions is insignificant compared to that regarded from a commercial-strategic point of view. They front the entire China sea, are only two days' sail from Hong Kong; they introduce us to the Orient, with its 700,000,000 or 800,000,000 of people, with imports now exceeding $1,500,000,000 annually, which advancing civilization will double in a few years. They give us, for the first time, a tremendous moral force, a most potent voice for the preservation of the open door in China. Who can estimate the value in the future of such a commanding position to our foreign commerce?

"What shall we do with the Philippines? In my judgment there will be no uncertain sound in the answer of our people. They have been acquired honestly, and in their acquirement we have dealt generously with Spain. We will hold them as our own, for the good of the people who inhabit them and for the immense advantage, commercially, they promise us. We will make it possible for them, some time in the future, to form a stable Republican government, capable of making treaties, enforcing their rights under them, and observing their obligations. In the meantime, we will not restore a rod to Spain or sell a rood to any nation on earth, nor will we permit our supreme authority to diminish or be questioned by any power within or without the Islands.

"I am encouraged and strengthened in my faith that the republic will survive the acquisition of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, and that the advantages to be derived by us, commercially, will compensate us a hundredfold for all the cost, while the war, waged for humanity's sake, will, if we are faithful, lay up for the republic treasures in Heaven."

The Rain Tree of Ferro Island.

The island of Ferro is one of the largest in the Canary group, and it has received its name on account of its iron bound soil, through which no river or stream flows. In the midst of the island there grows a tree known as the raining tree, the leaves of which are long and narrow. It continues in constant verdure winter and summer, and the branches are covered with a cloud which is never dispelled, but, resolving itself into a moisture, causes to fall from its leaves a very clear water in such abundance that cisterns placed at its foot to receive it are never empty.—Ladies' Home Journal.

SPANISH GUN FOR CHICAGO.

Cannon From the Maria Teresa Will Be Placed In Lincoln Park.

Chicago has the honor of being the first city to secure a trophy of the battle of Santiago Bay in the shape of a cannon captured from the Spanish battleship Maria Teresa. It will be placed in Lincoln park within a few days. Several weeks ago the commissioners learned a few of the guns would be condemned as useless by the war department and they immediately took steps to secure one for Lincoln park. They received word from Washington recently that through the efforts of Congressman Henry Sherman Boutell the big gun would be brought to Chicago.

The gun on its arrival at Lincoln park will be placed at the foot of North avenue. It is a steel gun 20 feet long, weighs 5½ tons, and will be accompanied with the shield behind which the Spanish gunners took refuge during the memorable engagement which practically drove Spain from this hemisphere. The gun was used while the battle of Santiago was in progress, and not until Admiral Cervera's flagship was compelled to surrender did it cease pouring projectiles into the American fleet. It is now at the Washington navy yard, but together with the shield, in all weighing between 10 and 12 tons, will be loaded on a Pennsylvania car and sent direct to Chicago. Congressman Boutell visited the navy department and secured the necessary permission from Secretary Long for the shipment of the trophies within a day or two. The Lincoln park commissioners are hoping to secure two other guns from the sunken Spanish fleet, one of which will be placed in front of the Lincoln monument and the other beside the Grant monument, so that on next Fourth of July a salute from the Spanish cannon will be part of Chicago's programme in celebrating the first anniversary of the victory of Santiago Bay. Commissioner Joseph Dunton is enthusiastic over the success of the board in securing the cannon for the park. "The credit principally belongs to Congressman Boutell," he said, "who was unremitting in his efforts to secure the coveted trophy for Chicago."—Chicago Tribune.

NEW BODY OF CAVALRYMEN.

Colonel English's Rough Riders For the Philippines.

Yankton, S. D., is the headquarters of a regiment which, if the intention of its organizers is carried out, will become famous under the name of "the rough riders of the Philippines." The organizer of the regiment is Colonel E. F. English of Yankton, a veteran, who served with distinction in the civil war. Colonel English was born in New Haven in 1844 and when 17 years of age enlisted as a private in the First Connecticut cavalry volunteers. He served three years in this regiment, was made prisoner and was afterward promoted to captain, but, on account of wounds, was not again mustered in. He afterward entered the national guard, with the rank of major, was promoted to lieutenant colonel and then colonel. He has traveled extensively and speaks Spanish fluently.

The regiment of light cavalry that Colonel English has raised and tendered to the president for service in the Philippines is composed of two troops each from the states of Illinois, Nebraska and South Dakota and one troop each from Missouri, Minnesota, Wyoming, Iowa, North Dakota and Montana. The men have been carefully selected with a view to service in the Philippines and are as intelligent, agile and "fit" a body of cavalrymen as could be found in any army in the world.

The men are to be mounted on ponies that are found in the Philippines, and which are especially adapted for use in the climate of the island, where the rough riders are organized to fight. The regiment will carry no sabers, the saber being a weapon with which the men are not familiar, and one that would be of little use to them in the style of fighting to which they are accustomed. Instead, they will be armed with repeating rifles and revolvers, and, being crack shots to a man, they will be experts at bush fighting or any other style of scrimmage where accurate shooting is required, and the nature of the ground necessitates a quick adaptation to the enemy's guerrilla tactics.—Cor. Galveston News.

New Pyramid of Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., is to rival its ancient namesake in Egypt. At least a company of Memphis capitalists have had plans drawn for an office building which will reproduce, in its exterior, the celebrated pyramid. The new pyramid is to be 150 feet square at the base and will run to a point 150 feet above the ground. The main floor will be used as a great convention hall or opera house, with a seating capacity of 15,000. The upper six stories will be devoted to offices. The building, which will cost $50,000, is to be built on the banks of the Mississippi, thus carrying out the similarity with the Egyptian pyramid, which stood on the banks of the Nile.—Chicago Tribune.

Spring Rain.

The rain began at a rushing pace
As into the barn we fled,
So dry and cozy—the dearest place
Of shelter for heart and head.
We stood on the worn and dusty floor
And watched the storm through the open door.

The hills were lost in a driving mist,
And the whirling leaves came down.
The rain from the sloping gable hissed
And fell in a cascade brown
Over the eaves where the swallows hid
And the fluttering pigeons cooed and chid.

Oh, the warm, sweet scent of the piled up hay,
And the cool, sweet scent of the rain,
And the faint blue, brightening far away
Where the heaviest clouds had lain;
Then a bird's low trill—and a silence; then
The whole world laughing in light again!

And whenever a spring storm dims the sky,
And the rain sweeps wild and warm,
Oh, back in the old barn door am I,
And three of us watch the storm!
Three who will meet no more—no more—
Watch the storm through the open door!

Folding Beds.

It was an eagle eye and an active brain that first conceived the idea of a Folding Bed. The original Folding Beds were clumsy and hard to operate, but American genius can accomplish most anything, and the newest folding beds are works of wonder and ingenuity. You can have a perfect sitting room nicely furnished with your choice of an ornamental wardrobe with long mirror front, a chiffoniere, or luxurious couch. At night, by the slightest touch of your hand, these pieces are converted into comfortable dreamy beds. They are at least worthy of your inspection. Prices, $15.00 to $35.00.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED.

Catarrhal Deafness.

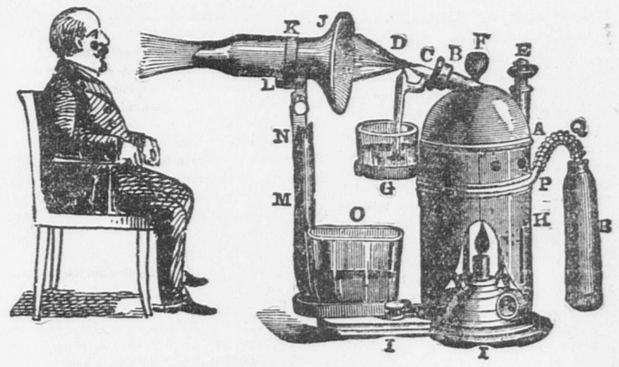

It may be truthfully remarked that among the numerous causes producing impaired audition or deafness, catarrh of the ear and its appendages forms one of the most frequent.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that in the article published in the February number, on "Catarrh, its Causes and Cure," we defined Catarrh as being an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and that it possesses two distinctive stages, viz., the acute and chronic. To these we will add that in both forms of the complaint, a thickening of the investing membrane is the result, and consequently lessening of the cavities in which the diseased mucous surfaces abound. Those tubes which convey air to different parts of the human workshop—the body—possess all the amplitude necessary for supplying air in suitable quantities to the system; yet it their calibre becomes circumscribed, either by inward or outward abnormal growths—as by swelling of the investing membrane—their duties are interfered with, and the human body suffers. When this condition is found pervading the mouth, larynx, windpipe, and the largest tubes of the lungs, under favorable auspices many years may elapse before the adventitious formation acquires sufficient importance to affect the general health; but when the small and delicate air passages, as the Eustachian tubes for instance, are involved, it will readily be seen but little change in their structures is needed to utterly destroy their official function and usefulness. The air becoming impinged in the tympanic cavity by the force acting from without, the movement of the membrana tympani becomes regular and free; but if the channels through which are supplied the necessary resisting agent, the air, be obstructed by thickening of their inner surfaces by inflammatory action, or if the tubes become clogged with catarrhal mucus, it will readily be seen that the occlusion of air from the middle ear must inevitably occur.

Hence impairment of audition. The real question at issue is, "Can you cure Catarrh?" to which we emphatically reply. "Beyond the question of a doubt."

Very well, then, catarrh of the ear can be cured.

AND THIS IS THE WAY IT IS CURED.

La Grippe, the prevailing epidemic, and its baleful progeny banished forever.

Examine carefully enclosed drawing. Observe how the invalid is introducing into the diseased throat, head and lungs, by inhalation, minute particles of the healing balsam, which are projected into the air by this wonderful French invention.

Don't fail to perceive that by this great invention the tubercle bacilli in the lungs are destroyed without impressing the entire system, as by the Koch theory. Mark how, when the medicament is atomized and thrown upon the air it may be inhaled throughout the entire respiratory tract, applying the healing balsam to the diseased parts.

CURED WHILE YOU SLEEP. The entire atmosphere of your sleeping chamber is charged with this healing substance and inspired by the invalid while he sleeps. Moreover, a small room may be selected and charged for two or three treatments daily.

These instruments are not for sale, but are loaned to invalids accepted for treatment.

But even this wonderful treatment is not enough to successfully combat the great destroyer, Consumption. Valuable internal remedies must be associated with inhalation. Medicines peculiar to this unique system of treatment have been discovered and formulated by Dr. Sweet, making in all a method of cure unexampled in the world. Two out of three so-called incurable cases of Asthma or Consumption restored.

Catarrh always curable by this method. No cases of consumption accepted in the third stage. No case of Asthma accepted when the heart is seriously involved. For the cure of all other important Chronic Diseases or Lameness, Dr. Sweet possesses equal facilities.

Diseases of Heart and Lungs, Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh Can Be Cured.

BOSTON ENGAGEMENT begins at 301 Shawmut Avenue, cor. Waltham Street, on MONDAY, April 24th. Come early and avoid the crowd. Consultation Free. apr7 1y

Boston Museum.

Viola Allen has played eight weeks to phenomenal receipts in "The Christian" at the Boston Museum, making the most remarkable run on record in years in Boston, and Monday evening next, May 1st, begins her ninth week. Despite the length of her stay, public interest in this brilliant actress and her play has not waned but her management has decided that it is now advisable to limit the sale of seats in advance to Saturday, May 20th, as Miss Allen desires to depart for Europe early in June. The next three or four weeks probably present the only remaining opportunities the people of New England will ever have to see Miss Allen as Glory Quayle in "The Christian," an impersonation that has advanced her in one season to the place of leading artiste of the American stage. Miss Allen will not play this character after next season, which is booked exclusively in southern and western cities. She will not be seen in Boston again in any play in two years. All people who desire to witness Miss Allen's impersonation of Glory Quayle will do well to secure their seats at once, by mail or express order, accompanied by remittance, directed to Mr. Thomas Lothian, treasurer of the Boston Museum, as an extension of her run now seems quite unlikely.

Castle Square Theatre.

The summer season at the Castle Square theatre will be begun the coming week with the romatic drama "Cumberland '61" written by Franklin Fyles, and very successfully produced throughout this country two seasons ago. The play made a powerful impression upon Boston audiences when brought out at the Boston Museum, and a similar success may confidently be predicted for its coming Castle Square production. The realistic effects for its stage settings will be elaborately supplied and all the scenes will be from studies made especially for this production. The settings of the second act the ruined church, and of the fourth act, the burning bridge, will be made particulary effective. The cast announced is as follows: Benner Ainsley, J. L. Seeley; John Lenox, Lindsay Morison; Leslie Murdoch, William Humphrey; Gordon Grayne, Charles Mackay; Adolfus Drayton Lenox, Tony Cummings; Dirk Kansett, N.H. Fowler; Alice Ainsley, Lillian Lawrence; Mrs. Victor, Maud Odell; Pink, Mary Saunders.

Keith's Theatre.

The programme at Keith's for the week of May 1st, includes such well known artists as Watson, Hutchings and Edwards, in an amusing Germau dialect comedy sketch; the Eddy family, in some wonderful acrobatic work and high class tumbling; Lawrence Crane, magician and illusionists; the Six Sennetts, eccentric acrobats; the captivating Coulson Sisters in skipping rope dances; A. O. Duncan, America's greatest ventriloquist; Knight Brothers, in acrobatic songs and dances; and Mudge and Morton, in a delightful musical act. The biograph has reels of entertaining and interesting motion pictures. Papinta is underlined for the May 8.

Merry Mount Tennis Club.

Wollaston has had for fifteen or more years a tennis club. Fifteen years ago the club had courts in what is known now as Merry Mount Park, where during the season several tournaments were held.

Later these grounds were given up and the club started in 1887 on new grounds, situated at the corner of Elmwood avenue and Arlington street.

Here the club was a success both in sociability and recreation. Well known names appear on its rolls, Mr. C. W. Smith being its president. Other members were C. W. Godfrey, J. F. Emery, E. H. Brock, J. H. Osborne, E. H. Sprague, A. T. Leavitt, Dr. George B. Rice, G. P. Merryfield, H. W. Battison, A. C. Sprague, and many others.

In 1892 the club was forced to abandon its courts and a new site was procured on Safford street, its present courts. At this time dirt courts took the place of grass courts. Many new members were admitted including these names, E. S. Litchfield, Clarence Packard, C. E. Goodspeed, William Fenton, Jr., Frederic Sanborn, C. L. McClintock and James S. Whiting.

In the season of '95 and '96 many old members dropped out, but last season through the efforts of a committee appointed by the club many new members were admitted, and as Dr. Dwight, the great tennis authority, said that tennis was by no means declining, we expect to gain new members this season.

At the annual meeting the following officers were elected:

H. H. Albee, President.

C. E. Munroe, Vice President.

R. B. Witham, Secretary and Treasurer.

Executive Committee, the above named officers and J. F. Emery, J. M. Nowland, W. P. Bailey and C. W. Bates.

Grounds Committee, William P. Bailey, George Soule and C. W. Bates.

Membership Committee, Walter Sampson, Dr. Munroe, William P. Bailey and R. B. Witham.

The grounds will be in condition in a few days for playing.

An open tournament will be held on May 27, to be continued on May 30, and invitations will be sent to neighboring clubs for these days.

G. A. R. Hall.

A committee, members of and appointed by the W. R. C., No. 103, of this city are advertised to give a first-class entertainment at Hancock Hall, May 9. The object is to raise funds to build a G. A. R. Hall; something that is needed in our city very much. The W. R. C. is a body of energetic women working to aid humanity, as many can truly say that have felt the helping hand through the past cold and dreary winter, and all last summer when others were enjoying the cool sea breeze, each week found those faithful women laboring and sweating over articles to be sent away to our noble boys in blue.

If some of our patriotic citizens could see the uncomfortable quarters those noble women occupy at the present time from week to week, and the discomforts that are caused thereby. I am sure we should soon have a comfortable hall.

We earnestly hope the citizens of Quincy will aid us in our grand undertaking, both for our benefit and the benefit of our beautiful city. Let not it be said that we are lacking in patriotism to the boys of '61.

The committee consists of five members: Mrs. C. W. Moore of Atlantic, chairman; Mrs. Emma A. Leavitt of West Quincy; Mrs. Kate Hayden of Quincy; Mrs. Alberta Hewson of Quincy; and Mrs. Emma Newcomb of Wollaston. Tickets for sale by all the members.

—The association of clergymen who have petitioned the legislature to rescind the act of the general court of 1635 under which Roger Williams was expelled from Massacusetts, are being subjected to some ridicule by the paragraphers. This is a mistake, These gentlemen are in earnest, and the purpose of their memorial is commendable and praiseworthy. They do not expect to accomplish anything beyond the correction of the record. They regard the expulsion of Roger Williams as an act of narrow bigotry and they desire that the state of Massachusett shall publicly and officially procaim to all the world the fact that religious toleration and liberty of conscience constitute an essential and permanent element of our constitution. —Boston Beacon.

Object to New Rule.

At the last regular meeting of the executive committee of the Quincy Yacht club a hearing was given to the skippers of the Beatrice and Eleanor, relative to the new rule of the Association, restricting the sails of the 25-foot class and the advisability of asking for a special meeting of the Association. The committee took the matter under advisement and subsequently voted to invite other clubs to join the Quincy Yacht club and call a special meeting of the Association to see if this obnoxious rule cannot be rescinded, as it works a great injustice to last year's boats.

Mr. Henry M. Faxon was appointed a committee of one to have the new float built.
